Garrett County, Maryland • Thursday, November 20, 2008 • www.therepublicannews.com

IF YOU HAVE YET to tackle the layers of autumn leaves in your yard, you might as well forget it now, as it seems that winter has made an early arrival on the Mountaintop. Garrett County was blanketed with about nine inches of snow early this week, and at least that much more is predicted to arrive by Friday evening, as a new storm system from the northwest is on the county's doorstep. Working hard to beat the snow in the above photo, taken late last week, was Susan Peterson, Old Crellin Road, who was accompanied by her trusty canine. The more-frigid-than-normal temperatures are to remain for the next several days. Photo by Glenn Tolbert.

Former PGC Police Officer Is Arrested On Assault Charges

A former Prince Georges County police officer was arrested for assaulting his fiancée in reportedly several incidents.

Maryland State Police conducted a felony traffic stop on Deep Creek Drive and Sang Run Road, McHenry, after a lookout had been broadcast. The suspect, Johnathon Lyle Booska, had reportedly committed two domestic violence assault on the victim.

The first assault allegedly occurred earlier in the day at a McHenry residence, when Booska pointed a rifle at his fiancée and reportedly threatened to kill her. He then allegedly threatened her again with a knife at approximately noon. She reported that he choked her to the point of her passing out.

Booska was placed under arrest by Maryland State Police and transported to the McHenry Barrack under numerous charges and violations. He is being held on $75,000 bond.

A loaded Glock 17 handgun was recovered in the vehicle within arms' reach of the suspect. The gun did not have any rounds in the chamber, but the magazine had rounds loaded and no rounds were discharged at any time.

EISWERT SWORN IN AS NEW DISTRICT COURT JUDGE — Oakland attorney Leonard J. Eiswert was sworn in as the new District Court judge for Garrett County in an induction ceremony held last Friday. Conducting the ceremony was Sondra Buckel, Circuit Court clerk, left. Judge Edward Malloy, seated center, will be relieved of his duty as guest judge in the district court. Seated to the right (hidden) is Judge Ben Clyburn, chief judge for the state of Maryland. Elswert, who has been in private practice for many years, replaces the late Judge Ralph Burnett, who died early last year. Others attending the swearing in ceremony were three of Elswert's five children and their families, his wife Kathy, co-workers, county commissioners, and friends. A reception was held at St. Peter's Catholic Church social hall following the ceremony.

Oakland Men Sentenced For Drug Charges

Two Oakland men pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court recently to possession of a controlled dangerous substance (heroin).

Judge Frederick Wright sentenced Zachary Markundutch Mossman, 24, and Eric Jerome Mossman, 20, each to four years in the Division of Correction. Each man's sentence was reduced to 18 months. Upon their release from the Garrett County Jail, the Mossmans will be on unsupervised probation for five years.

Related charges, including CDS possession with intent to distribute and possession of drug paraphernalia, were dismissed, based on their pleas.

The charges stem from a traffic stop conducted by the Maryland State Police in May on I-68. According to court records, the Mossman vehicle was stopped for a speeding violation. A positive alert by a K-9 and a subsequent search by police officers revealed heroin, marijuana, and drug paraphernalia in the Mossman vehicle.

These sentences are to run consecutively to other 18-month sentences the Mossmans recently received. The second set of sentences stem from another traffic stop conducted by Garrett County Narcotics Task Force (GCNTF) officers in June.

According to court records, an informant advised that the Mossmanswould be

Second Meeting Held For Public To Discuss GC Humane Society Issues

Twenty-five persons attended a public meeting at Garrett College last Saturday afternoon to discuss possible changes in the way the local Humane Society handles alleged animal abuse and neglect cases. A state law currently places most of the authority to investigate those cases on "an officer of a humane society."

"There is a place for the Humane Society; there's no question about it," Accident resident Kermit Yoder said at the 2½-hour meeting. "It's done a lot of good in this area since it's been started. But I think somewhere it's kind of went by the wayside, and it needs to be rearranged."

This was the second meeting organized by Yoder about the issue. He met with the Garrett County commissioners last month and proposed several amendments to the state law. Humane Society members and seven livestock owners also attended the October meeting.

The commissioners suggested that Yoder and the society meet again and, together, come up with "good, legitimate" changes to the law for possible presentation to the General Assembly.

The presidents of the Garrett County Humane Society, HART for Animals, and PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety) declined Yoder's invitation to attend the Garrett College meeting.

"We believe that the presence of any of our volunteer members will not produce the results you expect," the organizations' presidents wrote in a letter to Yoder. The leaders went on to state that they did not believe that the law (Title 10, Subtitle 6) needed to be

University Of Maryland To Honor Oakland With New Residence Hall

by Megan Lahman

For the first time ever, the town of Oakland will have a building named after it on the campus of a Maryland public university. The University of Maryland at College Park announced last month that construction for a new dormitory, which is being named Oakland Hall, will begin sometime in 2009 and will tentatively open in either the fall of 2011 or spring 2012.

"It's an honor. I'm thrilled that they're naming a new residence hall after the town," said Mayor Asa McCain, who attended University of Maryland for some of his graduate studies.

Back in the 1950s, the Board of Regents created a rule that all residential halls on campus would be named after geographical locations throughout the state. Specifically, dorms on South Campus are named after all the counties of Maryland (Garrett Hall was built in 1948) and dorms on North Campus are named in alphabetical order after the various county seats.

The last hall to be built on North Campus was La-Plata in 1968. Two university-owned apartment complexes opened in the late 1970s and early 1980s were named Leonardtown. Oakland is the town next in line.

The residential hall will house 650 students, most likely freshmen, and will be a traditional dormitory. Unlike other dorms on campus though, the floor plan arrangement is going to be similar to a suite, in which there are three or four double bedrooms that share a bathroom and a small hallway.

"This dorm is going to be like nothing we've ever had here before on campus," said Jan Davidson, associate director of administrative and business services for resident life.

After years of disagreements between the university and the state's university system about building new dorms on campus, Chancellor Brit Kirwan approved the $88 million project for Oakland Hall this past September.

The final approval for the project happened on October 15, when the construction and funding for the hall was approved by the Maryland Board of Public

Changes Made To Garrett Co. Policies On Administering Medication In Schools

There have been several changes to the policies and procedures involving the administering of medication to students in Garrett County schools. It is the policy of the Garrett County Board of Education that the administration of medication to students is to be discouraged while they are in the schools.

Treatment schedules which allow doses to be given at times other than during the school hours are preferred and encouraged. However, when in the opinion of the authorized prescriber, it is necessary for the student's best interest that medication is given during school hours, such medication may be administered in accordance with established county procedure.

All prescription, over-the-counter, and herbal medications to be given in school must be ordered by a person authorized to prescribe the medication in Maryland. Maryland law defines authorized prescriber as a physician, nurse practitioner, certified midwife, podiatrist, physician's assistant, or dentist.

The original prescription container should accompany all medications to be administered in school. Parents should request two containers (one for the school and one for home) from the pharmacist when getting a prescription filled.

Additional Sex Offense Charges Filed On Local Man

Detectives with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office filed further criminal charges on Jackie Garland Friend Jr., 50, Oakland, who is currently an inmate at the Garrett County Jail.

Friend, who is currently being held on sex offense charges, drug charges, and traffic charges, was reportedly served additional criminal charges stemming from alleged illegal sexual contact with another female juvenile.

Further investigation led to the reported discovery of another victim. Friend allegedly had sexual contact with a 13-year-old during the first week of November 2008 and also during August of 2005, when the female was 10 years old.

Detectives obtained an arrest warrant charging Friend with two counts of third degree sex offense, two counts of fourth degree sex offense, and two counts of second degree assault.

Friend is currently awaiting another bail review. His previous bail was set at $100,000.

Oakland Hosting "A Great Small Town Christmas"

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) and Main Street will host a variety of events throughout the holiday season, all under the name of "A Great Small Town Christmas."

The schedule of events is as follows:

Friday, Nov. 28: Town stores will of "Black Friday" sales throughout the day. The crowning of the Snowflake Queen and princess will take place at 6 p.m., followed by a parade to herald the arrival of Santa Claus at 6:30 p.m. The Southern Garrett Marching Band will participate and will play Christmas carols.

Santa will then be at the "Santa Shack," located along Second Street, from 7

"DEER IN WINTER" is a familiar scene to most Garrett Countians, and is depicted effectively in this oil painting by Chip Evans, now on display at the Garrett County Arts Council Gallery, located along Alder Street in Oakland. Evans is one of more than 30 local artists who have their work exhibited at the Gallery right now in a show titled Winter Scenes. Every piece, from oils to drawing to photographs, shows images of the colder season. The exhibit will be on display through Jan. 3. See story on the arts page.

Great American Smokeout Today; Help Available

In recognition of the Great American Smokeout, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) reminds Marylanders that phone-based counseling and free nicotine replacement products are available to assist with tobacco cessation efforts.

This annual event, celebrated this year on November 20 (today), is designed to encourage smokers to quit for one day, with the hope that they will no longer use tobacco products. It provides an ideal time for citizens to take advantage of the services offered by the Maryland Tobacco Quitline at 1-800-QUIT-NOW (784-8669).

Quitline provides free phone-based counseling in English and Spanish, as well as free nicotine replacement (NRT) products while supplies last. NRT is available to tobacco users who are age 18 and over and meet basic health requirements. Other benefits of the Quitline include an interactive Web site and referral to community cessation services.

"Quitting smoking is one of the most important steps individuals can take to improve their health," said DHMH Secretary John M. Colmers. "The Great Amer-ican Smokeout provides an excellent incentive for Maryland smokers to call the Quitline to help them succeed."

Quit coaches are available from 8:00 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week. Further information about the Quitline and its services is available online at www.smokingstopshere.com.

Rotary Clubs To Begin Christmas Donation Drive

The Rotary Clubs of Garrett County (Oakland and Grantsville) recently announced the kick-off of their annual effort to collect items to be distributed to the needy for Christmas. Last year, this effort distributed food certificates as well as gifts and toys to 400 families county-wide.

Gifts and toys are provided for children age 16 and below. Deliveries were made to 57 families in the Grantsville and Friendsville areas in 2007.

The primary method of obtaining gifts and food for these families is through donations. A series of displays or trees are placed in businesses and other places throughout the community. Tags indicate what is needed, such as "small toy fire truck, age 8." Individuals wishing to help may simply remove a tag, purchase the item, attach the tag to the gift, and place it under the tree from which the tag was removed.

Tags are also provided on all trees in Grantsville to remind participants that dollars are also needed to purchase food certificates. The local Rotary will pick up the item and arrange delivery.

Joe Bender of the Grantsville club noted that the gift tag trees for the Grantsville area are located at Beachy's Pharmacy, the Grantsville Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library, Penn Alps Restaurant, First United National Bank & Trust, First People's Community Federal Credit Union, and M & T Bank.

Persons who cannot obtain a tag and still wish to be part of the project may call Bender at 814-6662-4366, and a tag will be provided.

Monetary donations are also needed. Checks should be made payable to the Grantsville Rotary Christmas Project and mailed to: Grantsville Rotary, P.O. Box 358, Grantsville, 21536, or dropped off at any tree location.

"The collection period runs only through Dec. 10 (approximately three weeks), so those who are interested should act now," Bender said.

Collections throughout the county are assembled and sorted into family units with delivery made to the homes on Dec. 13.

GIFT TAG TREES are currently available at numerous locations in the Grantsville area. Placed by the Rotary Clubs of Garrett County, the trees aid in collecting gifts and toys for needy families in the county. Last year, deliveries were made to 57 families in the Grantsville and Friendsville areas. Pictured above with one of the trees is Joe Bender of the Grantsville Rotary. See story for details.

Two Taken To Ruby After Single-Vehicle Accident

A single vehicle accident on Rt. 42, Friendsville, sent two people to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., on Saturday.

Phillip Cecchini, 32, Oliver, Pa., was driving his 2004 Ford F-250 north on Rt. 42, approaching Hoyes Road at approximately 1:30 p.m. The vehicle came out of a curve to the left, and for unknown reasons, crossed the southbound lane onto the soft shoulder.

The vehicle struck and snapped a utility pole and overturned. Female passenger Tammy Cecchini, 32, Oliver, was fully ejected onto the roadway. Both driver and passenger were transported to Ruby Memorial by Friendsville Rescue Squad.

Investigation into the accident continues, with possible charges pending.

Local Lawmakers To Hold Meetings

Sen. George Edwards and Del. Wendell Beitzel will hold their annual pre-legislative meeting for constituents this Saturday, Nov. 22, at 10 a.m. in the Garrett College auditorium.

The local lawmakers will be available to discuss questions pertaining to state issues, legislative matters, and the 2009 General Assembly session.

Prior to Saturday's meeting, Edwards and Beitzel will meet with the Garrett County commissioners on Friday, Nov. 21, at 10 a.m. at the courthouse to discuss the county's legislative requests for the General Assembly session.

Both meetings are open to the public.

Fur Ball Tickets Now Available; Sponsors Sought

Fur Ball Gala tickets went on sale last week, both online and at selected local businesses. This event, called the "Fur" Ball because it benefits a planned animal adoption center, is to be held at the Oakland Community Center (armory), from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. on New Year's Eve.

The gala is sponsored by HART for Animals, the local nonprofit group that is spearheading the adoption center project. Fur Ball director Nina Tate-Elliott said she hopes to find additional sponsors for the event.

"We really want people to dig deep into their pockets and think with their hearts," she said. "People don't have to be business owners to sponsor the ball – to do something good, not only for the animals but also for the county."

Decoration chair Candy DeGiovanni said: "When entering the Fur Ball, people will see a Winter Wonderland: white lights, a beautiful dinner setting, and a 'relaxed elegance' atmosphere. People should dress in what makes them 'look good and feel good.'"

The price of the ticket includes dance music by Queen City Funk & Soul, a sit-down dinner provided by "Catering by the Champions," a champagne toast at midnight, access to the Casino Room and the Silent Auction, and a cash bar.

"Guests will enjoy a wonderful selection of appetizers and a choice of entrees – prime rib and stuffed chicken breast – and chuckle at some of the names, such as 'Barklava' and 'Spaniel Copitas," said a Champions spokesperson.

Before Dec. 1, tickets are $125 per couple and $65 per person. After that date, ticket prices are $150 and $75. Fur Ball tickets can be purchased at Animal Crackers in Accident; Bear Creek Traders and Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty in McHenry; Studio 24E and the Book Mark'et in Oakland; and the Print Shop in Grantsville.

They can also be purchased online at HART's web site, hartforanimals.org, or by writing to furball@hartforanimals.org.

First Flu Case Reported In Maryland; DHMH Says Still Time To Get Shots from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene

Seasonal influenza has officially hit in Maryland, according to Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) officials. The first laboratory confirmed case of Type A (H1) seasonal influenza has been diagnosed in a child in the Baltimore metropolitan region. Last season, the first confirmed case was reported on Dec. 6, 2007.

"Seasonal flu is here in Maryland and I encourage everyone who has not already been vaccinated this season to contact their physician or health care provider to make arrangements to get immunized against this illness that affects thousands of people every year," said John M. Colmers, DHMH secretary. "It is not too late to get the vaccine and supplies are plentiful."

Persons interested in receiving the flu vaccine may make an appointment by calling their doctor or the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111. The cost of the influenza vaccine is $25, and the pneumonia vaccine is $50.

The seasonal flu is highly contagious. It spreads from person to person as a result of coughing or sneezing. It is also spread by direct contact with infected people and contaminated surfaces or objects. Flu symptoms usually begin one to four days after being exposed to the flu virus. Flu symptoms include fever, body aches, fatigue, coughing, and sore throat.

Yearly vaccinations are important because the strains of influenza that circulate change over time. This season's vaccine is aimed at three strains, which have recently been in wide circulation: Type A Brisbane (H1N1), Type A Brisbane (H3N2), and Type B Florida. Plenty of vaccine is available in Maryland by contacting your health care provider or local health department.

The flu vaccine is recommended for persons at high risk for influenza-related complications and severe disease, including:

- Children of 6 months to 18 years of age;
- Persons 50 years of age and older;
- Pregnant women;
- Persons of any age with chronic medical conditions; and
- Persons undergoing therapy or with a condition that may weaken their immune systems.

Persons caring for someone in these groups should also be vaccinated to avoid spreading the disease. These persons include healthcare workers, household contacts of individuals at risk for complications from the flu, and daycare/school workers.

Ways to decrease your chances of getting the flu are:

- Get your flu vaccine.
- Avoid prolonged contact with individuals showing possible symptoms of the flu.
- Maintain a healthy lifestyle to build your immune system.
- Eat balanced meals, including plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables; drink lots of water.
- Get plenty of rest.
- Wash hands frequently.

If you believe you are ill with the flu:

- Contact your health care provider for management of flu symptoms or treatment of any complications.
- Get rest and drink plenty of fluids.
- Cover your mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing.
- Use alcohol-based hand sanitizers and wash your hands often.
- Avoid crowded places like shopping malls or public transportation.
- Avoid unneccessary visits to hospitals or other settings where people with other conditions may get your flu and be affected severely.
- Stay home from work or school whenever possible to avoid spreading the flu to your friends and coworkers.

Help us track influenza in Maryland:

This year, Maryland has implemented an Internet-based Maryland Resident Influenza Tracking Survey, a first in the nation. This tool is designed to enhance the state's existing influenza surveillance by monitoring influenza-like illnesses among residents who may not seek medical care.

Those who choose to volunteer may sign up via the Internet to receive weekly online surveys where they can report any flu-like symptoms for the previous week.

Interested Maryland residents may log on to dhmh.state.md.us and click on "Seasonal Flu Information" under the "Hot Issues" box. The link to the survey is marked "Maryland Resident Influenza Tracking Survey."

Franchot Says To Delete E-Mails Promising Refund

Working to protect Marylanders from scams that threaten their financial security, Comptroller Peter Franchot this week issued a warning after being advised by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of a phishing scheme which involves an attempt to trick taxpayers into supplying personal and financial information to fraudulent websites.

The primary means of transmission of the scam is through e-mail, which is disguised with subject headers designed to intrigue the reader to open the email and/or attachments.

"We take the security of our taxpayers' personal information very seriously," said Comptroller Franchot. "My office makes every effort to get the word out once we are alerted to such scams. Marylanders should keep in mind that my office and the IRS never send unsolicited e-mails about your taxes.

"If you have any questions about an e-mail or letter you receive regarding tax information, bills, or refunds, the first thing you should do is call my office or the IRS; never open the e-mail or send money to an address without verifying it first."

The latest scam involves an official looking e-mail message which appears to come from the IRS, and alerts people about a refund owed to them. The e-mail instructs recipients to respond, click on a link, or open an attachment in order to get their 2008 Economic Stimulus Refund.

"The IRS never sends unsolicited e-mails about your taxes, and if you have already filed a 2007 federal tax return with the IRS, you don't need to do anything else to get a stimulus payment," said Franchot.

Anyone who receives suspicious e-mails addressed from the IRS can help stop potential scams by forwarding the email to the IRS at phishing@irs.gov.

Two Trapped In Overturned Car, Taken To GCMH

Two people were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital yesterday morning after a single vehicle accident left them trapped in an overturned vehicle.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 2800 block of Broadford Road, Oakland, at approximately 10 a.m. Wednesday.

It was determined that Catherine Lohr, 64, Swanton, had reportedly been traveling north on Broadford Road, just past Kings Run Road, when she lost control of her 2001 Ford pickup truck.

The vehicle then crossed over the southbound lane and traveled into a fence, which caused the vehicle to overturn. Both Lohr and her passenger, a 77-year-old male, were trapped until fire and rescue teams arrived and cut off the roof of the car. Both were taken to Garrett Memorial for undetermined injuries.

Oakland and Deer Park volunteer fire department responded to the scene, as well as Southern Rescue and Garrett Medical Transport.

No charges were filed. The accident was determined by police as a result of the weather.

Man Arrested On Disorderly Conduct And Other Charges

A Kingwood, W.Va., man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies yesterday on several criminal charges.

Deputies responded to BFS Foods, Mtn. Lake Park for a reported disorderly subject, which led to the arrest of Michael Lee Taylor, 24. Taylor was charged with disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace-hinder passage, alcoholic beverage-disturbance in public, driving on a suspended license, driving under the influence of alcohol, and driving while impaired.

He was taken to Garrett County Detention Center to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Taylor was also found to have an active bench warrant in Garrett County from 2006, which was subsequently served on him at the detention center.

Man Arrested By For Driving On Revoked License

A traffic stop on a 2008 Pontiac in the McHenry area led to the arrest of a Texas man.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies conducted the stop for traffic violations last evening at approximately 10 p.m. Brandon Wayne Sykes, Missouri City, was charged for driving on a revoked driving privilege.

He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Where is Our Bailout?...

Who would ever think that one could purchase a share of Ford Motor Company stock for $1.19, or a share of General Motors stock for $2.10? Those were the prices of these shares at 11:40 this morning.

It is, frankly, quite scary. The collapse of the American auto industry would be devastating to our already floundering economy; however, an outright government bailout under current circumstances would be a bad idea.

Granted, the general downturn in the economy has squeezed the auto industry as it has just about every other business. But this particular industry was in trouble even before the slide because of its current structure, product, and business methods. Thus, throwing billions of dollars at it without some major reconstruction work would be an absolute waste. One might as well just toss those dollars in a furnace.

American automobile companies have lagged far behind those in other nations in the production of gasoline-efficient vehicles. In recent months, purchases of the typical American gas guzzlers have come to a screeching halt, for obvious reasons. As with many American companies, there are also labor issues, as foreign companies pay their workers far less than is expected/demanded by the unions.

Then there are the true "fat cats" of the auto industry, several of whom flew on corporate jets to Washington to beg Congress for those billions of dollars. There evidently was no hesitation in these beggars' decision to spend an estimated $20,000 each in round-trip expenses on those private jets, versus flying on commercial airlines with the common folk for less than $300 per round-trip. One Congressional panel member correctly described it as "like showing up at the soup kitchen wearing a high hat and a tuxedo." Unbelievable. These guys just don't get it.

It was also reported just yesterday that enormous end-of-year bonuses for these corporate "leaders" are still expected to be "awarded." (Note the quotations.)

The failure of these companies should not be rewarded, especially with taxpayers' money and especially with no real plan in place to restructure the industry. If, indeed, the "big three" do not survive, the aforementioned devastation will occur, and, sadly, hundreds of thousands of workers are going to suffer. The domino effect toward other industries and businesses will be significant. But this may be what it takes for new auto manufacturing companies to emerge that will operate in a far more efficient manner and produce vehicles that are both energy efficient and less expensive. Certainly there will be plenty of experienced auto workers available to fill those new jobs.

If the big three go bankrupt, then the economy takes a hit as do hundreds of thousands of people. From those ashes, perhaps, would rise American car companies created by entrepreneurs that actually meet the needs of drivers, leading to financial success.

A lot of American workers are hurting right now, including those of us in the newspaper business. One is compelled to ask, where is our government bailout? Instead, we who are also struggling are paying the taxes to cover the bailouts for banks, mortgage companies, and now possibly the auto industry.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

I read the letter to the editor in last week's paper from Jodi Roberson regarding EMS services in Garrett County. I think some clarification is in order, not only for Ms. Roberson's sake, but for anyone who may not understand the relationship between the paid and volunteer EMS providers.

The implication in Ms. Roberson's letter was that paid providers are a waste of tax dollars because they weren't there for the call she references. It must be clearly understood that the county employs seven providers to assist with coverage to all four EMS stations in the county. When they are on duty, they are assigned to be in that station and their response is immediate. At no time since the inception of this program has an available paid crew failed to respond within the allotted time for a first alert.

However, seven employees cannot provide 24/7/365 coverage to the entire county. Our crews work closely with the rescue squads to cover the known gaps in coverage to the extent we can.

It is certainly not my place to speak for the volunteer ambulance companies, but I am close enough to their situation to know that they are absolutely dedicated to serving their neighbors. But given the lack of volunteers, the increasing demand for ambulance service, certification and training requirements, etc., it is becoming more and more difficult to provide this service.

The rescue squads are looking for new volunteers every day, EMT classes are offered often (though many are canceled because of a lack of students). Perhaps more individuals, particularly those with a healthcare background, should sign up.

In the future, I would encourage anyone who has questions or issues to contact the rescue squads or me directly. This option is certainly a more practical line of communication and would allow for and ensure factual information to be discussed.

Anyone seeking more information about volunteering may contact me at 301-334-7619.

To the Editor:

We at Northern Garrett Rescue Squad would like to take this opportunity to thank the citizens for their support over the past year. This year has brought forth many changes, and there were times when we were uncertain as to the future of our organization, but after much negotiating and some influences from those higher up, we are still going strong and looking forward to serving the public for many years to come.

We recently held our annual Gun/Cash Bash as a fundraiser to help with expenses, and want to thank all those involved with the preparations and those who supported this event by buying tickets, selling tickets, and/or attending. Thanks also goes out to the local businesses/individuals who donated door prizes for this fundraiser.

Our auction was also a big hit, with the auctioning of numerous items, including a beef donated by Dr. Zakaluzny, a homemade sassafras bed, handmade quilt and pillows, a sofa table, power saws, an authentic Pittsburgh Steeler jersey, and a pull-along utility trailer. Many thanks to those who donated/supplied these items for the auction.

We look forward to doing this event again next year and for many years to come, and hope for everyone's continued support.

Thanks again all involved in helping make this year of serving the citizens a huge success.

To the Editor:

To the people of Garrett County, you should be very proud of your Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Several weeks ago I was admitted there with pneumonia, and the following day I had a heart attack. Dr. Thomas Johnson and the nurses, along with God, saved my life. Everyone I came into contact with was very professional and helpful. Each person there has a special calling. The treatment I received was great, and I appreciate all the care and kindness shown to me.

I was born and raised in Garrett County and have a place at Deep Creek Lake, where I spend the summer. God willing, I will be back there next summer. I have family in Garrett County, so it is partly home to me. I'm proud that I was born there, and was in the first graduating class of Northern High School. Go, Huskies!

Thanks to the doctors and nurses of Garrett County Memorial.

To the Editor:

For several months, rumor mills have been working overtime. Letters to local newspapers have been printed with many incorrect, misleading, and improper comments.

We were originally told by the state morticians' board to "lock the doors and don't answer the phones." Our lawyers said to not make any comments, as they would jeopardize our cases as they moved through the courts. Our separate company, Stonebrook Inc., which owns the real estate, didn't close and we answered the phones, much to the chagrin of the board, because we were open, although not as a funeral home.

Our license was suspended on April 9 for three violations; none of the four mentioned in last week's letter to the editor, and none of which merited the action taken by the board. We were not informed of this meeting, not allowed representation, not able to face our accusers, and not allowed to defend ourselves, violating many of our U.S. and Maryland constitutional rights.

After suspending our licenses, why did the board wait 110 days — until July 28 — to appear at our door to remove them. We wonder. Reading through the minutes of the board from January to November on their web site, you can't find us anywhere among these minutes.

We attended a supposed hearing on August 23. Later, we found out that this was not a board meeting to take action, but a committee of a few officers, members, employees, and counsel. We are still waiting for our hearing.

Contrary to another letter to the editor, dozens of people have had tens of thousands of dollars returned to them and insurance policies have been changed to suit them. All that's needed is a letter to us stating your intentions. Many families said they would return to us when we are back in operation. However, the vast majority of our families elected to stay with us and wait until the board returns our licenses.

During this interim time, the Fredlock Funeral Home is conducting business here, in this area. They will come to your home to make arrangements for viewings, funerals, cremations, etc., like they already have done for many satisfied families in our usual service area. You need not travel to Piedmont for this service.

The emotional and physical stress has taken a toll on all of us, and we continue to ask for your prayers and support.

Sincerely,
Brad Stewart

To the Editor:

After reading letters to the editor the last few weeks, dealing with grandparents getting custody of grandchildren, I decided to write.

I currently have custody of my two granddaughters. My experience with Social Services has been time consuming and at times exhausting. There has been court (Darryl Walters), fingerprinting (Rick Kutchman), home inspection (Kelli Warnick), and social workers (Sharon Corley) and Mr. Larry Bruch, who pulled it all together.

My first thought was that this took too long and was so stressful. I came to realize that they have laws and rules to protect the children. That is exactly what I want as a grandma. Once I realized that we all wanted the same thing, it made sense to have these guidelines.

Everyone I have worked with at Social Services has been polite and respectful. Anytime a problem has developed, I call Sharon Corley, and she helps in any way possible. She's been amazing in helping me through piles of paperwork. It is their goal to keep children with a family member.

While it hasn't been easy, I'm glad for all the help I've received. It will be a long process, with court every six months, monthly home visits, documented doctor visits, etc., but I just might survive this thanks to Social Services.

Sincerely,
Shari Ashby

To the Editor:

Regarding your Nov. 13 editorial about Warm the Children: One of the most heart-warming aspects of The Republican's Warm the Children program is its maturing from a newspaper-sponsored effort into a true community-wide one, with the newspaper serving as a partner, not a sole proprietor.

When we began Warm the Children in 1988, the focus was entirely on the newspaper providing all the services the program required — including providing volunteer shoppers. Early on, though, it became apparent that success depended on community involvement. This began with recruitment of volunteer shoppers, and then evolved into a partnership where the newspaper does what it can do best — tells its readers about the program, and asks for monetary donations. Volunteers from the community manage the rest of the program — which means mainly, of course, the shopping.

Not all newspaper publishers I visited were enthusiastic about embracing Warm the Children for their communities... In fact, most were not. One even asked me, "How is that going to make me money?"

But when I approached Bob Sincell and his family, their reaction was instantaneous. They immediately saw that Warm The Children was a win-win for all involved. With Bob's support, his son Don's leadership, and his daughter Mary Matthew doing the quarter-backing and grunt work, the program was off and running from day one.

No community does its Warm the Children program better than Garrett County. Garrett County has become a model for others to imitate.

To the Editor:

In the 2008 newsletter sent out by Our Town Theatre, there was a very nice article extending thanks to me for my fundraising endeavors on behalf of OTT. In particular, the Community Investment Tax Credit (CITC) program was featured, mentioning my efforts in successfully raising much-needed funds via this Maryland state program.

As part of a competitive application process, OTT, a non-profit organization, was awarded tax-credit allocations which, in turn, have been utilized as incentives for businesses, corporations, LLC's, etc., to make donations to the theatre. These contributions, worth $500 or more, can earn state tax credits equal to 50% of the amount donated, in addition to deductions on both federal and state taxes. Based on the income and tax structure of the individual business, the net cost of the donation can be as low as $0.27 for every $1.00 contributed.

I truly appreciate the kind words of thanks to me, but absolutely need to extend my sincere appreciation to the wonderful individuals who responded to my requests by making generous contributions as partners in the CITC program! Without their cooperation and involvement there would not have been successful results.

Thank you so very much to the following: Allegheny Welding & Machine, Craig & Associates, Craig Ingram, David E. Tuel, M.D., D.C. Development, Dental Health Group, Englander's Fountain & Antiques, First United Bank & Trust, G&S Coal Company, Garrett Automotive Company, Grand Central Furniture & Gifts, Hobby House Press, Huxford & Associates, Ihor A. Zakaluzny, M.D., Willetta W. Mateer, CPA, Klaus D. Mielenz, Ph.D., Linear Inc., Lynbrook of Annapolis, Mountaineer Log & Siding, Life Transitions/Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, Pawn Run Associates Ltd., Pineview Veterinary Hospital, and Sincell Publishing Company.

It has been a pleasure to have been associated with all of the above, and on behalf of the entire board of Our Town Theatre, please accept a standing ovation for your generous participation! This is the kind of support that makes community projects possible. Thank you.

If anyone is interested in making a CITC contribution to OTT by December 31, 2008, please contact me at 301-334-6563.

To the Editor:

I'm sorry to have to inform Carrie Werdebaugh, her uncle Brad Stewart is not honorable nor will God be on his side. The following are facts, not rumors.

On Nov. 26, 2007, we gave Stewart a check for $8,596 for the pre-need services for my 89-year-old mother. On the contract it stated that the money was to be deposited in a First United Bank trust account. I have a letter from the bank informing us that my mother has no pre-need contract on record.

I have a letter from the Maryland Board of Morticians which indicates Mr. Stewart's License Number M009558, case number 2008-011, has his license suspended and he cannot practice.

I mailed him a certified letter which was returned unopened and have since delivered to his secretary. I requested the return of money plus interest or the pre-need contract be rolled over to another funeral home, and he has not responded.

I have an e-mail from the office of the attorney general informing me that this case is being addressed by the prosecutor's office in Oakland.

I have sent all information to William Winters, who is investigating all these cases, preparing to seek charges via the prosecutor.

Others with pre-need contracts with Mr. Stewart may want to contact the following to obtain correct procedure for filing a claim: William Winters, 313 E. Alder Street, Oakland, MD, or Maryland Board of Morticians, 4201 Patterson Avenue, Baltimore, MD 21215-2299; telephone 410-764-4792; Attention: Ruth Arty.

To the Editor:

I was appalled to see Frank Maisano's rant to the editor in the October 23 edition of The Republican. Mr. Maisano is entitled to his opinion, but to personally attack Mr. Jon Boone — calling him "crazy" — is an outrage.

Are the hundreds of citizens who have questioned whether developing multiple industrial landscapes on our most beautiful mountains crazy too? Do we deserve to be disrespected by the wind developers because we don't swallow their lies?

Mr. Maisano, in his diatribe, asserts that industrial wind development "will have virtually no environmental impacts." Mr. Boone's allies aren't rich like Florida Power and Light, they aren't powerful like Wayne Rodgers, the Garrett County commissioners, and T. Boone Pickens, but they are right here. They have been roused by Mr. Boone, and they resist four-acre clear-cuts for 440-foot-tall turbines with 40-foot-wide roads to connect them to power lines to serve fat cats in Gambrills, Annapolis, and Washington at the taxpayers' and ratepayers' expense.

Wind power does have a place in reducing our dependence on coal, but that place is widespread use by homeowners, business owners, schools, etc., turning their power meters back — not large-scale industrial developments which replace zero coal-fired power plants and that best serve as tax shelters for the rich.

We need more good citizens like Mr. Boone to take a stand for Garrett County against outside-money interests.

Stephan Moylan,
Pleasant Valley

To the Editor:

A nation of laws, not of men, was the intent of America's founding fathers in setting up this great experiment of democracy. Barack Obama has shown contempt for America's laws by not submitting documentation to prove his place of birth that was court ordered almost three months before the Democratic Convention.

Instead he posted his Hawaii birth certificate on his web site. But Hawaii will give a birth certificate to individuals not born in the U.S. if they meet certain criteria, so it is not sufficient proof that he was born in the United States.

In Article II Section 1 of the Constitution, our Bible-reading founding fathers provided that no person except a natural-born citizen (excepting those at the time the Constitution was adopted) shall be eligible for the office of president, echoing Deuteronomy 17:14-15, which says to not put a foreign leader over you.

The fact that Mr. Obama has not complied with the court order leads one to think he is either disrespectful of the law or that he is hiding something. Some state secretaries of state have told their electors to hold their votes until this legal matter is resolved.

If this costs him the presidency some will cheer his chutzpah — a "that's my boy" attitude — for almost putting a slick trick over on the U.S. Those who would have voted for any Democrat who was on the ticket, however, are likely to be disappointed that he didn't reign in his personal ambitions sufficiently to lend his talent in support of a candidate who could legitimately be president.

Sincerely,
Nancy Dobson,
Oakland

changed.

"This legislation has taken many years to be enacted at the federal and state level, and we do not have objection to the law as it currently exists," the presidents wrote.

They indicated, however, that they would be willing to meet privately with Yoder at a mutually convenient time to discuss the interpretation of the law.

Nevin Umbel, Friendsville, moderated Saturday's meeting. Umbel is pastor of Sand Spring Church of God and a former Garrett County Farm Bureau president.

"I feel that probably a lot of the problem is misunderstandings on both sides," Umbel said about the rift between animal owners and the Humane Society.

He noted his disappointment that society members chose not to attend the meeting, but that it was their right to make that choice. Umbel added that the only way to resolve an issue is for both sides to sit down and talk about it together.

OAKLAND BANK RAISES FUNDS FOR CYSTIC FIBROSIS – Clear Mountain Bank's Oakland office recently participated in the Great Pumpkin pin-up fundraiser program to help support the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Money is raised by selling pumpkin cut-outs that can be personalized by the purchaser and displayed. The bank staff raised more than $400 to support the program. Pictured left to right are Selena Reckart, Brenda Shields, Donna Uphold, Marti Keener, Rolanda Bonner and Jonna Frazee.

Those in attendance at Saturday's event discussed several of their concerns about the organization and animal care in general. Their points included the following:

Humane Society members and animal caregivers both need to be more educated about animal health and care; animal owners need to take more responsibility in helping each other; there is a need for more large animal veterinarians in this area; the state law is ambiguous and needs clarification; and the Humane Society should be trained in how to deal with people.

Maj. Randy Resh, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, said Humane Society members were good, passionate people who cared very much about animals, but they often lose sight of the person.

"I have seen the Humane Society treat people improperly, but I've also seen other people treat members of the Humane Society improperly," Resh said. "So it goes both ways."

One of the audience members' main concerns was that society members investigating cases often do not present any identification to persons being accused of abuse/neglect.

Ramona Kitzmiller, Oakland, said someone claiming to be with the Humane Society had once falsely accused her of not providing food and water to her show horses. Kitzmiller said the woman went on her property when she was not home, spoke "very inappropriately" to her son, and demanded to see the horses.

"Someone should have presented themselves with a badge, and let us know where they're from and who they are and why they're there," Kitzmiller said. "Nothing should have gotten verbal."

She added that she would like to see that things are more fair, and that one particular person should not be able to make a judgment call. "It should be a judgment call from the Humane Society in general," Kitzmiller said.

Audience members were also concerned about people being able to anonymously accuse others of abusing animals. It was noted that false accusations are used by some people as a way to harass others.

Resh said his office does not respond to complaints without the person providing his/her name and contact information. He said some people use the Humane Society as a "pawn" to cause other people grief.

Meeting participants came up with a short list of concerns that they would like to see incorporated into the state law. A vote was taken, and the majority of participants favored the following:

- People reporting alleged abuse/neglect cases should be required to submit signed complaints that include contact information to investigating authorities. It was noted that complaints could still remain anonymous to the accused. The requirement would be a way to stop harassment cases.
- Humane Society members should be required to take training in animal health/care and be certified.
- Humane Society members should be required to carry a photo identification card and present it to people whom they are investigating.
- It should be stated in laws that the Humane Society is required to give people a "second chance" before it seizes their animals.
- Humane Society investigators should undergo background checks and submit to drug testing, just as bus drivers, teachers, police officers, and other professionals must do.

The Humane Society, HART, and PAWS presidents addressed the drug testing issue in their letter to Yoder:

"To suggest that any of these volunteers, who are professional and upstanding members of our community, should undergo a drug test slanders people who are doing this work simply out of compassion and are not county employees," the presidents wrote.

Umbel suggested that the meeting participants submit their list to the county farm bureau for its members to review and make suggestions. The bureau could then present the final document to the county commissioners.

Yoder said a state farm bureau lobbyist was already interested in the issue. The lobbyist was unable to attend Saturday's meeting, but the event was recorded for his consideration.

"So the farm bureau is involved now," Yoder said. "They're aware of it. They're upset with the situation, and they say, too, laws need to be changed."

Umbel ended the meeting by stating that it would be better to establish a dialog with the Humane Society than trying to "ram laws done their throat." He encouraged meeting participants to "extend the olive branch" to the society one more time and say, "Let's sit down and talk."

Letters

To the Editor:

I have been traveling in India and several countries in Europe this past month, and I have not heard one negative word about President-Elect Barack Obama. I have owned property in Garrett County on DCL for over 50 years, so I am not a stranger to the politics of Garrett County.

Frankly, it is disheartening to read Dr. Ronel Willams' analogy of George Orwell's 1984 and the narrow-minded letter to the editor from Brenda Glotfelty. What a shame to have such poor losers in our county.

We have had an abysmal past eight years under the Bush administration, or should I say regime. The war in Iraq is a prime example of a war of innuendos, of false information so the son could do what the father would not. George H. followed the United Nations mandate to not go in to Baghdad, but not George W. I call the war in Iraq "daddy's war," a war that has taken over 4,000 young Americans and has done more to promote terrorism than to conquer it. Even Secretary of State Colin Powell resigned under his own volition for the second term, which I believe was his way to protest the policies of the U.S.-led Iraq war.

Is this the legacy that Dr. Willams and Ms. Glotfelty cherish under the current administration? I really do not know how anyone with any intelligence can say that President-Elect Obama is remotely tied to terrorism or is leading the greatest country in the world to socialism. Only a very narrow-mined, ill-informed individual would think this.

May I ask of Dr. Williams or Ms. Glotfelty: Are either you taking advantage of our U.S. social security and health care systems? Is this not socialism?

I am a registered Republican and a senior citizen, but I still have an open mind and am able to make informed decisions. I am very proud that I voted for Barack Obama. I repeat some comments of letters this past week: Give President-Elect Obama the support and respect he so aptly deserves; give him a chance to lead us out of the Bush administration financial debacle, the Iraq war; bring the U.S. back to being the most respected country in the world, respect which has been virtually destroyed; renew the American dream of posterity, honor, and respect that is inherent in our wonderful democratic nation.

Ralph Schmidt

To the Editor:

Two years ago my husband and I bought a house along Gorman Road. We noticed after purchase that, in our front yard, there was a locust tree that had started to fall and had forked itself on a cable pole. Immediately below it was an electric transformer. We were told that if the tree fell on the transformer, it could "possibly" create a power surge and blow out our appliances, and "possibly" worse.

After quite some time and contacting different agencies – and I won't give names – it seemed that no one cared about our problem. Finally, I was given the name of Paul McIntire of the state roads garage at Keyser's Ridge. He came to our house, looked at our problem, and agreed that it was a potential hazard.

After a lot of worry and phone calls, I am so happy to report that the tree is down! A special thanks to Mr. McIntire and whomever he had to contact, and to Asplundh for getting rid of this hazard.

It's nice to know that when you are up against bureaucracies, there are still people who care. Mr. McIntire, I cannot thank you enough for caring and for your help.

Sincerely,
Ginny Slaubaugh,
Oakland

PATRICIA C. RUCKERT

Patricia Catherine (Gardner) Ruckert, 83, Grantsville, died suddenly on Friday, Nov. 14, 2008, at her home.

Born April 15, 1925, in St. Louis, Mo., she was a daughter of the late Alfred and Ruth (Lent) Gardner. She was also preceded in death by her beloved husband, John Johan "Jack" Ruckert; one brother, Ronald Gardner; and one sister, Gloria Gardner.

She is survived by her six children and spouses, Sherrill Ruckert and husband Donald Wilson, Steven Ruckert and wife Susan Miller, John Ruckert and wife Patricia, Thomas Ruckert and wife Diane, Gregory Ruckert and wife Carol; and Lynne Webb and husband John; and her brother-in-law, James Ruckert.

Pat will be missed by her 14 grandchildren, Alia Norman, Dante Wetherow, Owen Wetherow, Jennifer Garrett, Brad Ruckert, Jody Ruckert, Jennifer Rachic, Brooke Bruner, Kate Ruckert, Lauryn Ruckert, Jocelyn Corban, Brian Webb, Jordan Webb, and Carly Webb. She is also survived by 10 great-grandchildren.

Pat and Jack eloped in January of 1943 and were married in Biloxi, Miss., prior to Jack's overseas assignment in the U.S. Air Force during WWII. Together, they raised their children in Greenbelt, Rockville, and College Park. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1993.

At the time of her retirement from the Student Housing Administration at the University of Maryland, she and Jack built their retirement dream home together in Weems, Va. There they enjoyed 20 years of sailing and gardening, while sharing the grandparenting of seven of their grandchildren.

Family, home, and church were always at the center of Pat's life wherever she lived. In addition to these, she also served as a volunteer in Hospice and the Free Medical Clinic in her area. Following the death of her husband, Jack, Pat moved to Grantsville, near New Germany State Park, where she shared her life and home with son Tom and wife Diane and their two daughters, Kate and Lauryn for the past eight years. Here she enjoyed many family gatherings, with the celebration of her 83rd birthday as the most recent, at which all of her children were present.

In each community of her life, Pat was a wonderful friend to many, always to be seen out power-walking with friends and family, and, unseen, offering deep personal support to those in need of her caring, prayerful ways.

We hold you in our hearts Pat, with much love and deep appreciation of your faithful grace in our lives.

Friends were received at Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, where a Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on Tuesday, Nov. 18, with the Rev. James Hannon officiating.

Interment was held in St. Ann's Cemetery, Avilton.

Expressions of sympathy may be directed to Maryland Salem Children's Trust, 605 Salem Drive, Frostburg, MD 21532; or St. Ann's Church Building Fund, c/o St. Michael's Church, 44 E. Main St., Frostburg, MD 21532.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

"From the Heart"

From the heart, a light that shined when everything was dark.
From the heart, a comfort that heals when everything falls apart
From the heart, a love that was always true.
From the heart, hugs and praise just for being you.
From the heart, a warmth that kept us all strong.
From the heart, sang family....
the endless song.

All their lives, everything was from the heart, and though they are away, they are not apart because their love is forever...now is the time for us to be together. They will always be with you and me, just like it was from the start. Their love, my Grandma Edie and our Aunt Hazel, it was from the heart. It was from the heart.

Sadly missed by,
Chad, Denny Wayne, & Chastity

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I heard from Sheila a pretty grim long-range forecast for the upcoming winter. Colder and snowier than usual for December and February, but a January thaw. I understand that the Almanac predicts the same thing.

But who thought that winter would arrive so soon after a lovely Indian summer in early October? Things changed big-time in mid-October when a significant amount of snow rolled in. Several inches of snow covered the ground, and it was cold, too. But then in early November it was pretty nice for Election Day and my birthday.

But that respite only lasted a couple of weeks. Last weekend turned very wintry; another cold snap with plenty of new snow, and, according to a reliable source, the winds were fierce at Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday morning.

Someone said to me recently we should put a wind turbine on the church's roof. It probably could generate enough electricity to power the church and maybe the parsonage, too.

The forecast winter storm for Monday afternoon arrived right on schedule. I hope the forecast is wrong: 7 to 10 inches of new snow. My lane is already pretty bad.

After a week on a cruise ship in the Caribbean, my mother, Ruth DiPaolo, got a rude shock in the turn of the weather here at home in Bittinger last Saturday. I was very worried about the possible weather on the cruise because a hurricane did significant damage in Cuba, but it calmed down into a tropical depression, so they only had one minor schedule revision and some slightly rough seas, but not anything major. Her little dog, Pipi, was delighted to see his mistress.

Denver and Naomi Beitzel spent an extended week with their son Terry and his wife Sylvia and their new arrival, Myra.; a lovely little baby with lots of dark hair like her mother, but according to Naomi, she looks like Terry. She also is "a good baby." No wonder, since her parents are very attentive to her every need.

Her loving and proud grandparents plan to return to Harrisonburg, Va., on Thursday to enjoy this wonderful stage of a new baby's life, and probably to escape this wintry blast we are enduring.

Anyone who has doubts whether Obama is up to the job should be reassured. He shows the quality and inspires me to support him 100 percent. Not a dangerous left-wing radical, but a thoughtful, intelligent, moderate whose primary focus is to find the best possible solution for the multiple and serious problems we face as a nation. And he is busy doing his homework during the transition: reading the newspapers, reading books about his role models – Abraham Lincoln and the first 100 days of the FDR presidency — keeping in close touch with the present administration, and looking for the best support team for himself.

I think almost everyone agrees that climate change is a problem that must be addressed, but it will require some changed lifestyles. So, that may be a challenge Obama will face.

And the $750 billion rescue package for the economy. Every day I hear more bad news about the economy. Today, my bank in my New York days, CitiGroup, announced massive layoffs.

The main purpose of the massive bailout was to free up the credit market. But when the automobile industry needed a loan to keep it afloat, the only place they could turn to is the federal government. If one more important industry in America fails, our new president will then face a full-blown depression!

I got reacquainted with a friend I met during our University of Maryland years when she was a friend of my brother Rodney and Nancy Eihler Geisler. We often brought friends up to Garrett County to show it off. Patty Hanaway remembers visiting our farm and riding some "fat ponies." When she moved back with her husband from Delaware to Garrett County and bought property in Kitzmiller, she encountered my column and got back in touch with me. She enjoys my writings about nature and my liberal point of view about politics.

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church has completed its first addition project and had a dedication for the new sanctuary this past Sunday. The next phase of the project is a family-life center.

Cindy Richardson returned to Bittinger last Friday. She had a wonderful time in Buffalo, N.Y. When Cindy lived in Buffalo, she helped Susan piece squares for a quilt which was donated to a breast cancer silent action.

We have yet to know if Pastor Randy scored an elk. He did receive some bruises and scrapes when his horse ran away with him.

I saw a fascinating book: a big book published by the Garrett County Historical Society about the host of one-room and small schools scattered throughout the county. Just in the Bittinger area we had, I believe, four schools.

I saw a photograph of Bittinger School from the school years 1913-14. The teacher was my Buckle grandmother, Linnie Miller. Among her students was Ralph Buckle.

Another local teacher was Ida Reckner. Another area school was Beachy School, just up the road from my house where my father and his brother and sister attended. Another was located at the intersection of Legeer and Foxtown roads, and there was a school along Maynardier Ridge Road.

It is hard to imagine those students walking to school on a day like today. They must have valued education highly.

A soup and bake sale will be held on Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Bittinger fire hall. The soups will be chicken noodle and chili at a cost of $6/quart, and crab and corn chowder at a cost of $7/quart. You must pre-order the soup by calling Linda Buckel at 301-245-4287.

This event is to benefit the "Pete Buckel Christian Education and Leadership Endowment Fund" and the "Angel Bell Project."

Lottie Brenneman, Linda Buckel and Lana and Larry Roby attended a March of Dimes fundraising event on Monday evening in Cumberland. Larry was the featured chef at the event.

I am excited about this coming weekend because my Claire and Caitlin will be home for a weeklong Thanksgiving break from college.

I have many helpful friends in the community, and you know who you are. I want to thank those who provide baked goodies that include cinnamon rolls and cookies, and also Chinese food; and for the physical labor of plowing my lane, cleaning my house, and providing personal care. And thanks for the many visitations and highly valued friendships.

UM Women To Host Thanksgiving Service, Nov. 25

The United Methodist Women of the Deep Creek Methodist Ministries will be sponsoring a Thanksgiving service to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 7 p.m. at Hoyes Chapel of the DCUMM.

Jennifer Bentlejewski will be the guest speaker sharing information on how to go about "Enjoying the Holidays without the Guilt."

An offering will be taken and given to a needy family in the Terra Alta area who have been facing adversity.

Following the service, the congregation will meet in the fellowship hall to enjoy a variety of pies and for a time of fellowship.

Everyone is invited to come and share "in this time of Thanksgiving for all of the bountiful blessings we all receive each and every day, and to join together for a time of enlightenment and fellowship."

Senior Center To Offer Yoga Classes

Yoga classes have been scheduled for Mondays and Fridays from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center, Oakland.

Shirley Knowles will be the instructor and says that "Yoga is an excellent way to get exercise with gentle stretching."

Classes are open to any age and are $7 per class session.

The Arts

Gallery Now Hosting Winter Scenes Exhibit

The Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council is currently featuring artwork of snowy sights. "Winter Scenes" will be on display through Jan. 3.

The work of more than 30 local artists is displayed. This is the largest number of artists ever to participate in the annual winter show, according to Keith Roberts, executive director of the arts council.

"We are very pleased that so many artists have submitted work for this year's winter show, and we encourage everyone to come to the Gallery and enjoy it," Roberts said.

The exhibit includes watercolors oil paintings, monoprints, colored pencil drawings, and photographs depicting snow covered landscapes, trees, fields, landscapes and cityscapes. There are also paintings and photographs of natural ice sculptures in various configurations and settings.

"Keep in mind that if you see something like one of these pieces, work at the Gallery is for sale," Roberts noted. The artwork at the Gallery will benefit both local artists and the arts council, which is a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the arts and making them available to everyone in Garrett County."

OTT GIVES "FAIR TRADE" DVD – A copy of the award-winning PBS documentary "Black Gold" about Fair Trade was recently presented to the Ruth Enlow Library by Our Town Theatre. The program describes how for every $3 cup of coffee, a coffee farmer may receive only 3 cents. Fair Trade coffee, tea, and chocolates, which guarantee a livable wage to the farmers providing them, and sustainable farming methods for growing them, are available through many organizations, including Equal Exchange, a partner with Lutheran World Relief. Equal Exchange items will be sold at Our Town Theatre's Christmas Market on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at St. Peter's Parish Social Hall In Oakland. Local residents are encouraged to shop there for holiday gifts made by local artists and support their community theatre at the same time. There will be music, a Christmas café, bake sale, and a $5 raffle for a sleigh ride. For more information, persons may call 301-334-5640. Jane Avery, artistic director of Our Town Theatre, is pictured at left as she gives the DVD to Lynn McDaniel of Ruth Enlow

The Gallery is located at 206 E. Alder St. in Oakland. Hours are Monday-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Additional information about the Winter Exhibit is available by calling the arts council at 301-334-6580.

Debra Wolf Book Signing Set For Nov. 29

Debra Wolf will be signing copies of her poetry book, Serving from the Ladle, in front of Waldenbooks at the Country Club Mall in Cumberland on Saturday, Nov. 29 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Serving from the Ladle is a collection of poetry by Wolf focusing on themes about faith, family, the outdoors, adventure sports, and a small inner collection of poetry for children.

Her book is available for purchase at Walden Books, the Oakland BookMark'et, and from Barnes and Nobles, Amazon, and Publish-America web sites.

Wolf has been writing poetry for 30 years. She has worked as a poet-in-residence and has been nominated as a candidate for poet laureate for the state of Maryland. She currently works as a journalist for The Dominion Post, Morgantown, and The Inter-Mountain, Elkins, newspapers.

For more information, persons may contact Ben Devore at Walden Books by calling 301-729-4300.

Former Musician Of 'Symphony At Deep Creek' Dies

Jesse Levine, violist, conductor, teacher, and a regular performer with the former Symphony at Deep Creek, died on Tuesday, Nov. 11, of pancreatic cancer. He was 68.

Levine was a professor in the practice of viola and chamber music and coordinator of the string department at the Yale School of Music, taking that post in 1983. He was also a principal musician with the Symphony at Deep Creek, a former annual summer orchestral program of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Levine often served as soloist, as well as guest conductor, with the group, collaborating with the late Erick Friedman, director of the symphony and renown violinist.

"Jesse was such a big part of our music festival in Garrett County, both as a conductor and as a violist," said Kathryn Sincell-Corwell, who was the executive director for the Symphony at Deep Creek. "He was so supportive of our endeavors and was always the best of friends. His wife, Jill Pellett Levine, is also a violist and was a big part of our festival. She is planning to stay in New Haven [Conn.] in their home, where she and his two sons [Alexander and Josh] took care of him his final two weeks."

The National Public Radio aired a tribute to Levine this week, noting in that program that "as a musician, he was a total professional; as a father, husband, teacher, and colleague, he was known for his loyalty, devotion, sense of humor, strength of convictions, and compassion."

Robert Blocker, dean of the Yale School of Music, said Levine will be missed.

"Jesse dearly loved his students and our school," the dean said. "In his quarter-century on our faculty, he shared his commitment to the highest standards of artistic excellence. His major contribution to the School of Music was inspiring his students to discover their distinct musical voice, and his influence will be felt for generations. We are deeply saddened by the loss of a wonderful artist, teacher, colleague, and friend, but are grateful for his contributions to music and to our school."

As violist or conductor, Jesse Levine performed in Europe, South America, Israel, Australia, Mexico, and throughout the United States. He was principal violist of the Buffalo, Dallas, Baltimore, and New Jersey symphony orchestras, and the music director of several orchestras, most recently the New Britain (Connecticut) Symphony Orchestra. He served as the music director of the Norwalk Symphony Orchestra, the Orquesta del Principado de Asturias in Spain, the Chappaqua Orchestra, and the Feld Ballet. He led master classes and other teaching forums throughout the world. As a member of the Bruch Trio he has recorded the music of numerous composers, including Mozart, for Summit Records.

Donations in memory of Jesse Levine may be made to Pancreatic Cancer Research at the Yale Cancer Center, 157 Church Street, New Haven, CT 06510, or online to the Pancreatic Action Center Network.

An Eye For Art

by Angela M. Sincell

What is art? Who's to say one thing is "more art" over another? Or perhaps who is an artist and who isn't? And why is it so hard to distinguish?

History tells us that a person who painted or sculpted was an "artist," and that someone who created a functional object out of clay, glass, wood, etc., was an "artisan." An explanation from www.dictionary.com when searching both "artist" and "artisan":

"An artist is one who is skilled in one of the fine arts, such as a painter, sculptor, or writer, who is able by virtue of imagination and talent or skill to create works of aesthetic value; an artisan is one who exercises any mechanical employment. A portrait painter is an artist; a sign painter is an artisan, although he may have the taste and skill of an artist. The occupation of the former requires a fine taste and delicate manipulation; that of the latter demands only an ordinary degree of contrivance and imitative power."

If you were living in the time of Plato, this definition would have contradicted what he believed. He held artisans above artists and said, "The carpenter knows how to fashion in real life what the painter can merely imitate; therefore artists have no real knowledge at all, trafficking only in the outward appearance of things."

The distinction between artist and artisan is important here because there was such division between the two that arguments ensued and many who considered themselves to be artists were laughed at in their time.

Lois Fichner-Rathus states in her book Understanding Art: Fifth Edition that "simply put, the distinction between fine art (artist) and functional object (artisan) is linked to the historical and cultural context in which a work was created."

The answer to the question of "What is art?" will probably never be answered. It's simply too broad. So why talk about such a broad subject? Because in museums and galleries around the world, a person will stumble across a piece that is so bizarre and abstract, or even just so common place or labeled "easy to make" that he/she will start to wonder if it truly belongs in the art world. The differences between an "artist" and "artisan" are still in question to this day.

Take for instance Marcel Duchamp's "Fountain" (1917). The piece is a porcelain urinal, turned upside down and labeled "R. Mutt," an alias for Duchamp. If you don't believe me, look it up.

When the piece was first submitted into the 1917 Independents Exhibition in New York City, the jury rejected it for being "ludicrous, obscene, and unimaginative." But once it was learned that it was indeed a Duchamp piece, critics started looking at this common placed object with new eyes. They commented on its "purity of line and the graceful symmetry of its structure."

Duchamp was trying to make a statement – if only we approached all things in life with the attentiveness we habitually give to works of art; if only we saw the world aesthetically – meaning if only we were able to be so involved or concerned with pure emotion and sensation as opposed to pure intellectuality.

Art is about being open to what you see. Being non judgmental allows you to not only experience the feelings that a piece creates inside you, but also to hopefully live through the eyes of its creator.

Try it once: let a piece overwhelm you. I promise it will open up an entirely new world for you. If you are unable to feel anything, don't be discouraged; training the eyes on what to look for and how to look takes time and lots of exposure

Just as music, sports, writing, politics, etc., can awaken within a person a deeper passion than one ever could have realized, the visual arts can do the same. My passion lies in visual arts, particularly fine art photography. But to me, it doesn't matter if it's a painting, a sculpture, a photograph, a piece of jewelry, or a woodwork – it's all magnificent!

And to further my enthusiasm, I've decided to write about art; analyze it, critique it, glorify it – not my own art, of course, but instead the brave artists that cover the walls and stands of the galleries in our county with their fine pieces. There are so many talented people here, and sometimes, I feel, they do not get the kind of recognition or understanding that they deserve. Therefore, I feel it is my duty, and privilege, to give our community perhaps a smaller glimpse into the world of art, and hopefully, create an even larger interest in it.

With that said, I'd like to take you into the pottery world of Ron and Loric Skidmore. A potter, considered an "artisan," is typically known for creating pots, pitchers, bowls, plates, etc., mainly functional pieces. However, after seeing the pieces they create, I would put them into the category of artist, hands down!

In all honesty, I don't know that much about pottery in terms of the process of making it. But I can recognize passion in a work of art, one that has character and is unique. This and more is achieved in Ron and Lorie's work, currently being shown at Garrett College's Art Gallery. They aim for individuality in every piece.

And it's not just in the forms they make. It's in the colors and the designs, it's in the textures and abnormalities. Nothing gives a piece more depth than imperfection. And I'm not talking about flaws that would keep you from purchasing their work. I'm talking about their pieces not being "perfect" or "conforming/sticking to the norm." Sometimes I think people put too much emphasis on the "perfection" of a piece and then it loses its character.

When an unperfect piece presents itself, it's an opportunity to snatch it up! Because there will never, ever be another piece like it. It is an original, one-of-a-kind. And there is almost always a story of how it came to be the way it is. What more could a person want than a piece with that much history to it! Every piece that Ron and Lorie have made is such a piece. They don't make these pieces for production's sake, but more for their own artistic journey.

You can't find that kind of inherent meaning in a piece of pottery that would come from a manufacturer, because no one is going for a "deeper meaning."

Artists put a bit of themselves into each piece they create. A basis for Ron and Lorie's work comes from a Chinese term, "ch'i," that has many spiritual meanings. It is "the universal breath or energy that gives us our material existence, and is reflected in our appearance. Some people are endowed at birth with an impure energy, and their true nature is hidden like a pearl in muddy water."

Ron and Lorie's artistic nature or spirituality, which they feel can go unrecognized, comes out through their pottery, and as Ron stated to me, "The work speaks for itself."

And I agree. Each piece emits their energy and personality. They have fun with their pieces, they experiment,

Laurel Ridge Pottery On Exhibit At Garrett College

The Art Gallery of Garrett College is hosting an exhibition of recent ceramic artworks created by Lorie and Ron Skidmore, local artists with a home business named Laurel Ridge Pottery in McHenry. The show includes functional and decorative stoneware pottery, made primarily on a potter's wheel, with varying sizes of vases, pitchers, bowls, and wall pieces that suggest landscape forms. It will be on exhibit through Dec. 7.

The public is invited to a reception and holiday celebration in the gallery on Friday, Dec. 5, from 7 to 9 pm.

Ron Skidmore, professor of art at Garrett College, has been teaching a variety of art disciplines for more than 20 years. He holds a bachelor's degree in art education from Frostburg State University and master of fine arts in printmaking from West Virginia University. This exhibition displays his recent endeavors focusing on experimental techniques in ceramics, such as glaze applications and combinations to produce specific effects.

He said participation in a workshop with Japanese potter Takao Okazaki has inspired new avenues of expression for the artist by using clay additives to emulate ancient traditions in pottery making.

Lorie Skidmore is a Garrett College graduate with an associate of arts degree in fine and performing arts. She has been making pottery for 12 years. She is currently working with the College and Me program at Garrett College, and has begun teaching private lessons in her home studio. Her work involves a wide array of functional and decorative pottery, and she is especially proficient at firing a wood kiln.

Ron and Lorie together have recently completed several large drawings and many large pottery forms as a commission for the newly renovated Residence of the Embassy of Mauritania in Washington, DC.

This exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on evenings and weekends during special events. For more information, persons may contact the art department of GC at 301-387-3024.

SKIDMORE POTTERY ON EXHIBIT – The handiwork of two local accomplished artists is currently on display at the Art Gallery of Garrett College. Recent ceramic artworks created by Lorie and Ron Skidmore, who have a home business named Laurel Ridge Pottery in McHenry, will be on exhibit through Dec. 7, and a reception for the couple will take place on Dec. 5. See story and review. Pictured are two examples of the pottery, most pieces of which depict a landscape theme.

"Telebration!" Set For Sunday At A McHenry Business

A night of storytelling called "Telebration!" will take place around the world this weekend. The local event will take place on Sunday, Nov. 23, in the Perkins Restaurant meeting room, McHenry.

Storytelling will begin at 6 p.m., with an optional dinner scheduled for 5 p.m. Participants may order off the regular Perkins menu at their own expense. Listeners are welcome.

"Stories are free; dinner is on you," noted Dr. Gail N. Herman, local Telebration! organizer.

Towns, villages, cities, and families are being encouraged to take part in this international event, according to the National Storytelling Network and Telebration! organizers.

"Stories are a way to celebrate our folk literature and cultures, as well as life's everyday adventures and life-changing experiences," Herman said. "Remember, stories have been sung in ballads, told in rhyme, and, of course, told from experience and memory."

At the local event, several storytellers will start the evening off, and then listeners may share in the telling with their memories and stories.

"One story begets another," Herman said.

Local Writer Publishes Book

Oakland native Norma (Baker) Harper recently had her children's paperback, The Three Little Acorns, published by Tate Publishing. The book was inspired by her grandsons, Brandon and Jonathan, and continues the playtime adventure they started of finding and naming acorns in the backyard.

"Three little acorns – Wally Boy, John, and Henry – were the very best of acorn friends," said a Tate Publishing spokesperson. "They lived together on the same branch of the same tree. Suddenly one day, a vicious wind blew them apart. Follow this endearing story of friendship as each acorn finds his way home – encountering animals and places they had never seen before – to the company of friends."

Harper is a 1959 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and now resides in Cumberland.

The Three Little Acorns is for children ages 4 through 8 and is available in select local bookstores, tatepublishing.com/bookstore, and Amazon.com.

and if they fail, they try and try again. That's the way art should be made.

So if you can, please go to Garrett College's gallery to see Ron and Lorie's work. And promise me to really take the time to look at each piece. Your idea of pottery may change from one simple visit.

Sincell is a 2000 graduate from Southern High School and a 2005 graduate from Towson University. She holds a bachelor's of science degree with a double major in art and mass communications. Questions, comments, and suggestions may be e-mailed to asincell@therepublicannews.com.

Bowser Couple To Celebrate 60th

Ernest O. Bowser and the former Helen L. Resh of Louisville will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 25.

The couple were married at Maple Grove Church of the Brethren in Grantsville on Thanksgiving Day in 1948 by Rev. Alonza Fike.

Mr. Bowser is a WWII Army veteran, having served in the European theater. He retired from the former Sugardale Provision Co. after 34 years. Mrs. Bowser retired from AmeriTrust after 15 years in the banking business.

They are the parents of David Bowser, Ravenna; and Deb Carlile, who lives in Alliance with her husband Dan. Grandchildren include Benjamin and wife Jade Bowser, Brian and wife Christine Bowser, Brady Bowser, and Lindsey and Kelsey Carlile.

Since their retirement, the couple have volunteered with Meals on Wheels for over 15 years. They are active members of Mt. Pleasant Church of the Brethren and the Hartville AARP.

Helen has been active in Christian Women's Connection. She is well known for her cookie plates that she and Ernest have delivered over the years to shut-ins and sick friends.

A reception will be held this month to honor the couple.

Open House Planned To Celebrate 50th Anniversary Of Yoder Couple

Edgar and Ellen Yoder, Grantsville, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house on Saturday, Nov. 29, at Maple Glen Mennonite Church, Grantsville, from 6 to 9 p.m. The event is being hosted by their siblings.

The couple's wedding was held at Maple Glen on Nov. 27, 1958, with the Rev. Ivan J. Miller officiating.

Attendants were Kenneth Yoder, Monroe Yoder, Cora Anna Yoder, and Rachel Miller.

The couple retired from dairy farming in 1994. They are members of Maple Glen Mennonite Church.

Edgar is currently employed with Silver Knob Pallets, and remains active with the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

The family requests that no gifts be given, but invites all friends and family to attend the open house.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Three couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buckel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

Guy Duane Joseph Jr., 25, and Christina Sue Keller, 27, both of Mtn. Lake Park.

Rodney Craig Hartman, 41, and Janice Jean Hartman, 47, both of Bayard, W.Va. (former husband and wife).

Timothy John McBride, 52, and Shari DeWitt, 48, both of Accident.

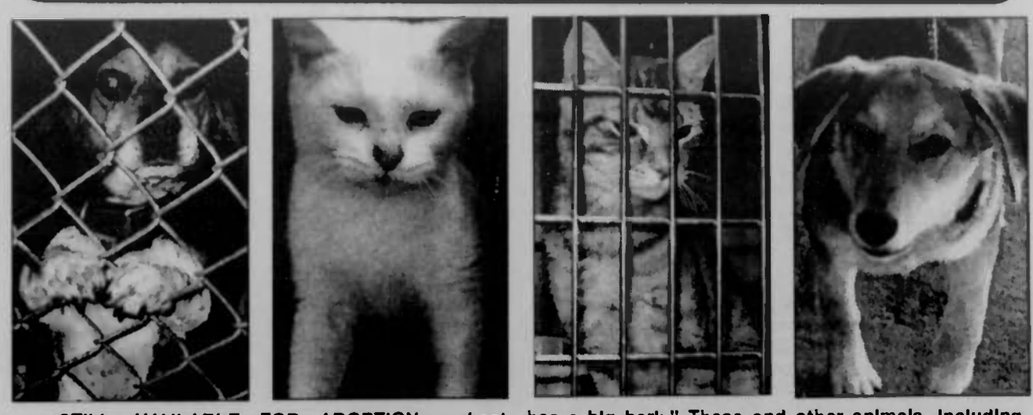
Adorable Adoptables



STILL AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION – Last week's featured small beagle, left, is still available for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "She will play fetch with you and is a happy dog," said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also in need of new homes are a white female cat and a male orange tabby, both found in Oakland. At right is a canine that was picked up in McHenry and has not been reclaimed. "This sweet beagle collie mix is just so adorable," said the spokesperson. "She is not real big, but has a big bark." These and other animals, including last week's female blue tick and two brown tabbies that were picked up along Oakland-Sang Run Road near the shelter, are available for adoption. "Please provide shelter for all your outdoor pets, and make sure they have fresh water at least twice a day," the spokesperson said. "Hay is available at the shelter for free to be used in dog houses." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

STUDENT OF THE MONTH PROGRAM

Students and staff congratulate September and October Students of the Month. Freshmen winners were Katie Dignan and Cody Rodeheaver; sophomore winners were Kaitlynn Fratz and Jacob Bosley; junior winners were Mitchell Mast and Bradley Sisler; and senior winners were Kelsey Jones and Aaron Valentine.

BLOODMOBILE

The annual fall blood drive is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 9 to 2. Any student age 16 and older may sign up on lunch shifts. Sign-ups will be held Monday through Friday. All 16 year olds must complete the parental permission packet, which will be given out when they sign up. A schedule will be distributed prior to Thanksgiving break. Any faculty member wishing to donate should send requested time and name to Ms. Harman in Room 108 or send it by e-mail.

WINTER WISH WEEK

SGA is planning Winter Wish Week once again since it was a huge success last year. The goal is to grant even more wishes than last year. In order to secure gifts and plan appropriately, we will be distributing a "wish" form to all students and staff prior to break. Homeroom teachers will be receiving packets of wish slips along with instructions. Anyone wishing to donate may do so. Checks should be made payable to Northern High School for deposit in the student government account. Just like last year, a list will be compiled of requests. That list will also be sent to faculty and staff for those who are interested in donating specific items. "Feedback last year was nothing but positive," said a spokesperson for SGA. "We truly appreciate everyone's generosity. Thanks again."

CINDERELLA'S CLOSET

For those who don't know, Room 108 has a closet full of formal wear for those students interested in purchasing, trading, etc. dresses for special occasions. Any student who has an event coming up that requires a formal/semi-formal dress may see Ms. Harman in Room 108 before or after school. Students can stop by to make an appointment. Ms. Harman is constantly taking donations. "Please feel free to donate any used dresses, formal wear, accessories, shoes, etc.," said Harman. Those who wish to receive money for their donation can ask a price, which will then be given directly to the donor. Donor forms are available in Room 108. This is also tax-deductible. "Thanks to the many who have donated already."

FFA

Once again, the North Garrett FFA chapter will be selling pine wreaths. The wreaths will be made by the students in the plant science/greenhouse management class beginning on Tuesday, Nov. 25. The prices are as follows: 14 inch – $10; 18 inch – $15; 24 inch – $20.00

ATHLETIC BOOSTER DINNER

There are extra Athletic Booster Dinner tickets available. The cost per ticket is $30, which includes one meal. Additional dinner tickets may be purchased for $14. The dinner will be held this Saturday, Nov. 22, in the Northern High School cafeteria. Those interested in purchasing a ticket should contact Janet Harvey at 301-746-8517 or Tracy Brenneman at 301-746-8668.

STUDENT NIGHT LIVE

The drama club's first theatre production, Student Night Live, will be playing at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Dec. 9, 10, and 11. Admission is $5, with children under age 8 admitted for free. A portion of the proceeds will benefit Hunter's Hope. Hunter's Hope was established in 1997 by Pro Football Hall of Fame member and former Buffalo Bills' quarterback Jim Kelly and his wife Jill after their infant son Hunter was diagnosed with Krabbe leukodystrophy, an inherited, fatal, nervous system disease. Those interested in learning more about this charity should go to www.huntershope.org.

GIRLS' SOCCER FUNDAISER

The girls' soccer team will hold its annual basket bingo on Saturday, Nov. 29, the first day of deer season, at 6 p.m. Bingo will be held at the high school. Tickets are $20 in advance and $25 at the door. They are on sale now. Those interested in purchasing a ticket should see a girls' soccer player or e-mail tstough@nh.ga.k12.md.us. Checks should be made out to Northern High School.

CLARIFICATION ABOUT JEANS

There has been some question recently by students and staff alike about what is acceptable in regards to holes in jeans and what is not. Holes are allowed, but must be below finger tip length.

FUNDRAISER

National Honor Society will be conducting fundraiser that will consist of guessing the number of candies in a jar. The fundraiser will be held during lunch shifts until next Wednesday, Nov. 25. Guesses are 50¢ each or 3 for $1.

YEARBOOK

Discount Card Fundraiser: The elite discount cards are on sale now for only $10. These cards offer discounts at over 20 local businesses, including The Ridge and Ledo's Pizza, and can be used over and over. They are valid until Jan. 1, 2010. "They also make great stocking stuffers," said a spokesperson. Cards are available from any yearbook staff member, Ms. Theriot, and/or Mr. Marshall. They will also be for sale on lunch shifts until tomorrow. Friday, Nov. 21.

YEARBOOK COVER

There will be a raffle held for a students to win a picture on the cover of the 2008/09 yearbook. There will be 12 student winners. Tickets are $2 a piece, and the drawing will be held next Monday, Nov. 24. The picture will take place next Tuesday, Nov. 25. Further instructions will be given to the students who are chosen as winners. Students can purchase tickets off Ms. Theriot or Mr. Marshall.

HUSKY PAW MART

A new shipment of NHS clothing and school supplies have come into the school store, located in Room112. The store is open in the morning before homeroom.

STEAM MEETING

There will be STEAM training tonight Thursday, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. All students who wish to participate in compliance checks must attend this training. Students who participate and attend STEAM meetings are eligible for service learning hours.

International Yodeler To Sing At Accident Bear Creek Church

The Bear Creek Church of the Brethren and Pastor Kevin Staggs invite the public to attend the annual Thanksgiving covered-dish dinner scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 23, at 6 p.m. followed by a gospel music concert at 7 p.m.

Gospel music singer and yodeler Iver Leivestad will be performing. He received an award from the Country Gospel Music Association in 2000 as Yodeler of the Year for the Eastern Division. Since that time, he has received the Yodeler of the Year three additional times divisionally and internationally. He received the Platinum Heart Award in 2003, and the prestigious Yodeler of the Decade award in October 2008. He has also received awards in the categories of comedian and whistler.

According to a church spokesperson, "Iver Leivestad is a splendid vocalist and songwriter. As a vocalist, he can sing practically any style from the ancient hymns of the church to the songs of Roy Rogers. While his intention is to minister, he is also entertaining. He loves laughter, and stirs it up briskly with imitations of some of the world's most beloved evangelists, singers and yodelers. Above all, Iver loves the Savior and has served Him as a pastor, instructor, evangelist, and music minister."

The Bear Creek Church of the Brethren is located at 1088 Brethren Church Road, Accident, just past the Accident Elementary School. Regular Sunday morning services include Sunday School for all ages at 9:30 a.m. and worship at 10:30 a.m. For further information, persons may contact Pastor Kevin Staggs at 304-788-2867 or Linda Sanders at 301-334-2792.

Praise, Worship Service Planned At Cherry Glade

The community is invited to a Thanksgiving praise and worship service at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church on Sunday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m.

The church is located at 4051 Accident-Bittinger Road.

The contemporary praise and worship will be led by Grantsville-based One Way.

Nonperishable food items will be collected for House of Hope, a private, non-profit local program based in Oakland that provides food to persons not able to provide for themselves.

High School Artists Create Sculptures Using Recyclables

Forty-three students from Northern and Southern high schools recently competed in the fourth annual regional "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest. Sponsored by Garrett County's Solid Waste and Recycling Division, the event was held at Garrett College on Nov. 1.

The students used such items as newspapers, old Christmas lights, card board, plastic bags, cassette tapes, metal hair clips, and an old cell phone charger to create their sculptures.

Prizes were awarded for first- and second-place winners for each grade entered (9th through 12th).

First-place prizes were awarded to Brittany Judy, a 9th grade student from Southern; Keesha Fazenbaker, 10th, Northern; Ashley Folk, 11th, Northern; and Kristen Dewitt, 12th, Northern.

Second-place prizes were presented to Abby San-Julian, 9th, Southern; Cara Stough, 10th, Northern; and Nicole Sisler, 11th, Southern. Tim Miller and Shawn Adams, both 12th grade students from Northern High School, tied for second place.

"Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling is very proud of all the students who participated in the contest," said recycling coordinator Kim Madigan. "The sculptures were outstanding. The judges – Garrett County commissioner Fred Holliday, Dr. William Yant, and Odette Lueck – commented this year was particularly hard in selecting the winning sculptures. In the end, Dr. Yant made a generous donation, which made the tie for second place in the 12th grade division possible."

Six of the regional winners – Shawn, Tim, Brittany, Keesha, Ashley, and Kristen – traveled to Baltimore on Nov. 7 to participate in the 2008 state "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest sponsored by the Maryland Department of the Environment.

Winners were selected in five different categories: creativity, workmanship, originality, most popular, and overall best sculpture.

Shawn won the first-place prize for overall best sculpture, and Tim placed first in the creativity division.

"There were almost 50 entries in the competition from all over the state of Maryland, and our students faired well at the event," Madigan said. "We were especially excited to be honored with two first-place prize winners from Garrett County."

The "Rethink Sculpture" contest is held in celebration of America Recycles Day, a national event that unites businesses, environmental and civic groups, governments, and agencies to promote recycling, source reduction, and the purchase of products made from recycled materials.

The regional contest and the students' Baltimore trip were made possible by donations from Madigan's Auto Sales, Coca-Cola Enterprises, Smiley's Pizzeria and Pine Lodge Steakhouse, Garrett 8 Cinemas, Lakeside Creamery, Simon Pearce, Dr. Ihor Zakaluzny, the Junior Woman's Civic Club, Mtn. Laurel Garden Club, Cap Glass Inc., Ours Auto Salvage, Total Biz Fulfillment, J.P. Trucking, and Dr. William Yant.

An Opportunity Grant was awarded by the Garrett County Arts Council in support of this event. All of the winning sculptures have been displayed at the Arts Council Gallery in Oakland.

For more information about the recycling sculpture contest or any of the free recycling programs available in Garrett County, persons may call Madigan at 301-387-0322.

NHS SENIORS PLACE FIRST IN STATE COMPETITION – Tim Miller, above, and Shawn Adams, below, brought home first-place prizes from the recent state "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest in Baltimore. Both artists are in the 12th grade at Northern High School. Tim's "Crabby" sculpture won for creativity, and Shawn's bird creation won for overall best sculpture. Forty-three Northern and Southern high school students competed in the regional "Rethink Recycling" Sculpture Contest prior to the state event. See story. Medications should be brought to the school by the parent or responsible adult. This should always be the case with narcotics.

Students may possess and self-administer an asthma inhaler, or other emergency drug that is dispensed for a student. This is only on the prescription of a health practitioner, and if it pertains to the student's asthma or other airway-constricting disease. Students may also possess and self-administer this medication while in school, at school-sponsored activities, or on a school bus or other school property, if the following conditions are met:

•Student must have prior written order from the health care provider on the medication order form;

•Student must have prior written approval of the parent or guardian that is named on the medication order form;

•The school nurse shall assess the student's ability to demonstrate the skill level necessary to ensure proper and effective use of the medication in school;

•A student may be subject to disciplinary action if he/she does not use the medication in a safe and proper manner;

•Written authorization from the health care provider and parent, as well as an assessment by the nurse, should be done annually for the student to be able to self-administer these medications; and •Documentation of the above process and health care provider's order must be maintained in the student's health records.

The medication order form has also changed. The Garrett County School system will now be using the Maryland State School Medication Administration Authorization form.

The Garrett County policy and Procedure for the Administration of Medication may be viewed at www.ga.k12.md.us or by contacting a child's school nurse.

Works, which is responsible for approving all state funded construction projects and contracts. The board consists of Governor Martin O'Malley, Comptroller Peter Franchot, and Treasurer Nancy Kopp.

The reactions on campus from students have been mixed. Most are happy that much needed on-campus housing is in the works, while some students were confused about the name of the hall.

Shortly after the new residence hall was announced to the campus community, students from Rockville felt that the new hall should be named after their well-known hometown. Joshua Swanner, head of the Undergraduate Student Government's Residential Affairs Committee, issued an editorial in the student newspaper, The Diamondback.

"I just wanted to make it known that it's Oakland's time to shine, and students need to respect that," said Swanner, who is a senior government and politics major from Ellicott City.

The exact date of the groundbreaking isn't known yet, said Associate Director Davidson, adding that the competitive bid process for contractors is under way. Once that is over, the groundbreaking date can be determined, he said.

Despite the wait for construction to begin, Mayor McCain believes that the town of Oakland has much to be proud of.

"As a town, we've always felt that here in Western Maryland we don't matter or get much recognition, but this shows something different," he said. "It shows that the University of Maryland is aware of our area, which is quite exciting."

Editor's note: Ms. Lahman, a native of Garrett County, is a senior journalism student at the University of Maryland.

making a trip to pick up heroin and oxycodone. GCNTF officers conducted a surveillance, and after spotting the Mossman vehicle on I-68, a traffic stop was made. Following a K-9 scan and a search of the vehicle by officers, 15 heroin capsules and three oxycodone pills were found.

The births of two babies were announced this week, one girl and one boy.

A daughter was born to Melissa Dawson and Donald Davis, Bayard, W.Va., on Nov. 6 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Kevin and Lori (Getson) Didawick, Elk Garden, W.Va., on Nov. 6 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Can't believe it's been two years since God called you home
You must know we love you and miss you even more.
The work you did touched many as they recall your kindness that brought them joy.
We're thankful for our memories of good times which brought us laughter and now tears, for it's no more.
We know you are at a better place resting in peace.
In life we loved you dearly. In death we love you still.
In our hearts you hold a place no one can ever fill.

Cerebral Palsy Treatment Options

Cerebral Palsy is a condition in which there is an impaired ability to coordinate body movements. The condition usually appears during early childhood, and may result from brain damage that occurred during the first stages of life. The cerebrum is the area of the brain that regulates sensation and voluntary motor function. Damage to this area may result in palsy. This condition may be caused by a maternal infection during pregnancy, genetic causes, or abnormal brain circulation before birth. Premature or low birth weight infants may be at an increased risk of cerebral palsy. Signs and symptoms may include decreased voluntary muscle coordination, muscle spasticity, stiff muscles, and difficulty speaking. Other symptoms include difficulty walking, difficulty swallowing, or difficulty with specific tasks, such as writing.

There are many treatment options available for persons affected by cerebral palsy. Non-drug treatment may include physical therapy, speech therapy, and occupational therapy. Medications also may be prescribed to alleviate symptoms. Muscle relaxants, such as Baclofen work to reduce muscle [illegible] who experience seizures may benefit from carbamazepine. Botulinum toxin may be injected to help reduce muscle movement.

Lakers Go To 4-0 By Winning Own McDonald's Tournament

By winning their own McDonald's Big Mac Classic this past weekend, the Garrett College men's basketball team upped its record to 4-0.

The Lakers cruised to a 92-71 victory over Philadelphia CC on Friday, and then handed Potomac State College an 87-69 defeat on Saturday.

Montgomery Germantown defeated PSC in Friday's other game, and then topped Philadelphia CC on Saturday, 93-81.

Leading the Lakers for the second time this season in the win over Philadelphia was sophomore forward Francis Gunn, who recorded 21 points, while freshman guard Rodney Clark recorded 17 points and two steals. Power forward Terrance Taylor was also a key contributor, finishing with 12 points and eight rebounds.

Also pulling down eight boards for Garrett was point forward J.T. Lewis, who added eight points, two steals, and three assists. Brian Koonce and Reco Siler each scored nine points.

Netting a game-high 23 points was Philadelphia's Corey Bathia. Malik Tappe and Antonio Boyd also reached double figures with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

"Playing as a team and finding the open man is always among our goals," said GC head coach Dennis Gibson. "Everyone contributed; we could have easily had nine players in double figures.

"I was especially proud of how we controlled the paint, even though we lack any real size and shot blockers."

One thing the Lakers did lose in the contest was the services of both Gunn and Koonce, who sustained minor injuries and were unavailable to play against Potomac State on Saturday.

Reco Siler, a 6-1 sophomore guard, stepped up, though, and hit a game-high/career-high 22 points, going 4-for-5 from three-point range in the process.

Sophomore forward Mark Smith also hit a career-best 19 points, plus a team-high 12 rebounds in his first start for Garrett.

Leading by six at intermission (38-32), the Lakers stretched their lead to as many as 26 points in the second half, as all nine players contributed to the win.

Lewis finished with 14 points plus 10 rebounds and seven assists. Taylor hit 10 points, and Rodney Clark was right behind with nine. Former Northern High standout Chris Speicher contributed eight points.

"I was surprised by how handily we won this game, playing without both Mo (Gunn) and Brian (Koonce)," Gibson said. "I knew we would miss Mo's scoring, but both of these young men rebound well, and that was a major concern when you look at the size and athleticism of Potomac State's team. Mark Smith and Reco Siler were phenomenal with their defense and rebounding.

"These guys made me a good coach, hitting shots when we needed them and making big defensive plays," he continued. "Lewis handles the ball so well and is unselfish. And I couldn't be happier for a guy like Reco. He is such a hard worker and is often overlooked.

Terrance also did a great job under the boards.

"When you win by this margin though, everyone is playing well," he added.

The Catamounts (3-4) were led in scoring by Vance Hosby and Travis Williams with 18 and 16 points, respectively. Marcus Quarles also reached double figures with 10 points.

Garrett's Siler and Lewis were both named to the all-tournament squad, as were Hosby and Williams of Potomac State, and Robert Pettis of Germantown.

The Lakers were slated to play another home game Tuesday night against Westmoreland, but that contest had to be postponed because of winter weather conditions. They are slated to host the Essex Campus of the Community College of Baltimore County this Saturday in a 7 p.m. clash, and entertain Arundel CC next Tuesday with a 7:30 p.m. tipoff.

Garrett Falls To Baltimore In Season Opener, Pounded By Potomac State

It has not been a good start to the season for Garrett College's women's basketball team as the Lakers lost to Baltimore City, 50-34, Saturday in a Maryland JUCO conference game, and were then pummeled by Potomac State College last night, 112-62, in Keyser.

The Lakers have nine freshmen on this year's roster, with four being starters.

"Even though it was one of our poorest performances, I think they learned a great deal," said Garrett coach Thea Garland about Saturday's game. "I think there was a lot of first-game jitters because we're definitely a lot better team than we showed."

Brittany Boyce led the Lakers on Saturday with 10 points, but was no match for Chardra Lomax of Baltimore City, who recorded 21 points for the Red Devils, hitting three three-point goals.

Janay Collins and Shantise Riley provided the Lakers with six and seven points, respectively.

Baltimore's Tanika Jeffers netted 10 points.

Baltimore had five three-point goals to Garrett's zero.

Against PSC last night, the Lakers struggled to keep pace with the Catamounts, who held a commanding 55-25 lead at halftime.

Lacresha Hankins had a game-high 19 points for Garrett, hitting seven of eight free throws. Brittany Pendleton added 11 and Brittany Boyce had 10.

Seven Potomac players scored in double figures, with Maddie Crosby leading with 18 points and four rebounds. Teammates Brittany Skyles and Julieanna Buckley scored 16 and 15 points, respectively, and Skyles made four three-point shots.

A dozen points came from Denise Johnson, who had four steals for Potomac in the game's opening minutes.

Elante Payton and Shaniece Bank added 11 points each. Amanda McKim scored 10, and had six steals and four rebounds.

Potomac outshot Garrett 45-24, and in three-point goals, 8-0.

Garrett will play its first nome game this Saturday at 5 p.m. against Cecil.

Winter is here!!!
Snow shoveling is a frequent cause of muscle strain to the lower back and shoulders. The use of proper body mechanics can greatly reduce or eliminate injuries due to shoveling:
• Always remember to bend your knees and lift with your legs and not your back.
• Lift smaller amounts of snow rather than large shovelfuls.
• Avoid excessive twisting and bending.
• Take frequent breaks when shoveling. Stand up straight and walk.
• Dress appropriately with layers of clothing to avoid hypothermia.
• Pay attention to how your body feels.

Thank You

I would like to take the time to thank those who helped me get through my lengthy recovery from knee surgery. First and foremost I need to thank God and my wife and family for being there throughout the entire ordeal.

I would like to thank Dr. Tuel and his staff, Dr. Gonzaga and the O.R. staff and Dr. Johnson for his room visits. Special thanks to the third floor nurses and nursing assistants for their great care during my several stays. Thanks to all the girls from therapy for helping restart the movement process. Thanks to the two nurses from Option Care, Brenda & Lesa for their weekly visits to change the dressing on my IV lines. A huge thanks to my employer, Dennett Road Manor, Mrs. Cuppett and all my coworkers and friends for all their thoughtfulness and generosity. Thanks to the members of White Church and the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren for their thoughts, prayers and love donation. I also wish to thank the Garrett County Home Health nurses for their many visits and a special thanks to my home therapist, Marina, who not once, but twice, helped me to regain strength and motion in my knee.

I am sure that I have probably forgotten someone, but there have been so many over the past six months. I hope that some day I will be able to return at least some of the kindness and generosity given to me. Until then may God bless each and every one of you.

Sincerely,
Dave Livengood

Turkey And Deer Harvest Numbers Up In Maryland

Maryland hunters benefited from cool autumn temperatures this year and reported an increase in the fall turkey and early season deer harvests, compared to those of 2007.

"The improved fall turkey harvest is due to a combination of favorable weather and a recent increase in the population in western Maryland," said Pete Jayne, DNR's associate director for game management. "This time last year we were experiencing widespread impacts to deer from hemorrhagic disease, which attributed to a decrease in hunter success in 2007. I'm glad to say that Maryland is largely free of the disease this year and hunters are benefiting from a slight rebound in the population."

Preliminary data show that hunters checked in 25,655 deer during the early bow, crossbow, and muzzleloader seasons this fall, compared to 19,988 for the same period last year. Bow hunters reported a harvest of 3,805 antlered deer (94 sika) and 7,573 antlerless deer (121 sika) from Sept. 15 to Oct. 31, representing a 19 percent increase from last year's total of 9,549 deer for the same period.

Crossbow hunters harvested 285 antlered deer (10 sika) and 633 antlerless deer (11 sika) during the statewide Oct. 1 to Oct. 15 crossbow season, up 30 percent from last year's 705 deer.

Muzzleloader hunters reported 4,858 antlered deer (328 sika) and 8,501 antlerless deer (157 sika), a 37 percent increase from the 9,734 deer taken during the early season in 2007.

Fall turkey hunters also benefited from the seasonable weather. Hunters reported harvesting 215 wild turkeys during the one week season that ended on Nov. 1, up five percent from the 2007 season harvest of 205. Fall turkey hunting is only permitted in the three westernmost Maryland counties. Allegany County reported the highest harvest with 100 turkeys, followed by Garrett (80) and Washington (35).

Firearm season and the remainder of the archery and muzzleloader seasons are scheduled for later this year, so 2008 harvest numbers will not become official until all seasons are completed and the data tabulated in late February.

Bag limits, season dates, and other hunting information can be found online at www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide. The 2008-2009 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping, issued with each hunting license, contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons.

Local Booters Perform Well In All-Star Classic

Soccer players from both Northern and Southern high schools had key roles in the eighth annual M&T Bank Senior All-Star Soccer Classic, played Sunday afternoon at Frostburg State University.

Making the most significant contribution offensively in the boys' match was Northern's Daniel Warnick, who recorded a hat trick in a 6-0 victory by the Green team over the White team.

The Green squad consisted of players from Northern, Allegany, Bishop Walsh, Keyser, Hyndman, Salisbury, and Calvary Christian.

Warnick scored three consecutive goals in the match, one in the first half via an assist by Levi Ours of Calvary Christian, and a pair of goals in the second half. His first second-half goal was scored off an assist by Collin Sainz of Allegany, and his second was from a pass from Husky teammate Zac Lipscomb.

The White team consisted of players from Southern, Mountain Ridge, Fort Hill, Hampshire, Frankfort, Pendleton County, and Petersburg.

The other three Green team goals were scored by Tyler Sechler of Salisbury (2) and Andrea Maracci of Allegany.

Warnick was named the Most Valuable Player on offense for the Green team.

Northern's Kara Savage was named the offensive MVP, and her Northern teammate Amber Kling was selected the defensive MVP for the Green team in the girls' match.

The Green team, which was shut out 3-0, consisted of players from Northern, Southern, Allegany, Keyser, Petersburg, and Calvary Christian.

Southern's Destinee Fulk had six saves in goal for the Green team.

Scoring for the White team, which consisted of senior all-stars from Mountain Ridge, Frankfort, Bishop Walsh, Fort Hill, and Hampshire, were Crystal Moreland of Frankfort (2) and Amanda Meneghini of Fort Hill.

RAFFLE WINNER ANNOUNCED – Dave Taylor was the winner of a new 50cc scooter/moped through a raffle sponsored by and benefiting the Southern High School Cheerleading Squad and Spirit Club. The scooter was donated by John Martin, owner of M&M Cycles & ATVs, Oakland. Karen Dewitt won a gift certificate donated by Uno Restaurant, Deep Creek Lake, and Leah Moran won $25. Pictured, left to right, are Martin, varsity cheerleader Bryanna Chidester, Taylor, and varsity cheerleaders Torri Riley and Beccie Reckart. The coaching staff and members of the squad and club expressed their appreciation to those who contributed to the raffle through their time and donations. "Over $1,000 was earned, and those proceeds will be used to help defray the costs of equipment, uniforms, paints, brushes, markers, paper, and other types of Cheerleading Squad and Spirit Club expenses," said Coach Harry Biggs.

Turkey Day 5K Run Set For November 27

The 12th Annual Turkey Day 5K Run, sponsored by the Mtn. Ridge cross country team, will be held on Thursday, Nov. 27, at 9 a.m. in Westernport, Md.

Race day registration begins at 8 a.m. at the Westernport American Legion and the race starts at 9 a.m. Entrants are encouraged to pre-register by Nov. 20.

Awards will be presented after the run at the Victory Post #155 American Legion on Route 36 in Westernport.

Pumpkin pies and plaques will be awarded to the overall male and female winners and pumpkin pies will be awarded to the first three winners in 26 age divisions. Walkers are welcome and awards will be given to the first three overall, male and female finishers, as well as the first three male and female finishers in the 60 and over age group.

Registration is $15 with an early registration discount for families who run together (2 for $28; 3 for $40; 4 for $50; and 5 or more for $60). Persons may also sign up on race day for three-person Alumni/Family team competition. All pre-registered runners will receive long sleeve T-shirts and shirts will be available on race day while they last.

Firearms Deer Season To Open Saturday, Nov. 29

Maryland's traditional two-week deer firearm season will open Saturday, Nov. 29. It is the most popular deer hunting season, with nearly half of the annual harvest taken during this period.

Total harvest over the two weeks is expected to be between 40,000 and 45,000 deer, making it a crucial aspect of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources' efforts to manage the white-tailed deer population in the state.

"Deer hunting continues to be the most effective tool to regulate deer numbers in Maryland," said DNR Deer Project Leader Brian Eyler. "Balancing the deer herd with its environment and the needs of our citizens is an agency priority. A well managed deer herd is an important component in achieving healthy watersheds by protecting vital plant communities."

The total firearm season bag limit in Deer Management Region A (Allegany and Garrett counties) is two deer; one antlered and one antlerless.

On DNR-managed public lands in Region A, firearm season is open for antlered deer only from Nov. 29 through Dec. 12 and for antlered or antlerless deer on Dec. 13. However, no more than two antlerless deer may be taken in Region A on DNR-managed public lands with any combination of the bow, muzzleloader, and firearm bag limits, excluding Junior Deer Hunt Day.

On all other lands in Region A, firearm season is open for antlered deer only from Nov. 29 through Dec. 11, and antlered or antlerless on Dec. 12 and 13.

The total firearm bag limit in Deer Management Region B (all counties except Allegany and Garrett) is two antlered deer and ten antlerless deer during the season that opens on Nov. 29 and runs through Dec. 13.

The first Sunday of firearm season — Nov. 30 — is open for deer hunting on private lands in Allegany, Anne Arundel, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Garrett, Harford, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, Washington, Wicomico, and Worcester counties. Deer hunters took 3,702 deer from private properties across all counties open on Sunday last season.

Hunters are urged by the DNR to inspect any permanent and portable tree

NO "CHICKEN LITTLE"!

If you're a homeowner, what do falling prices mean to you? You might assume that it's a bad time to sell. But guess what? It could mean it's the perfect time to buy the home of your dreams!

Do the math, and you see that market downturns can actually work in your favor. Homes are listing at prices that are truly affordable. If you've already built equity in your current home, you could parlay that into the purchase of a terrific property.

When prices do rise again, and you know they will, you will have made an excellent investment for the future. If the home you really want was previously offered at $500,000 but the price has fallen - let's say 20% to $400,000 that's a sweet deal, even if your own home has lost some value.

In any home purchase, there are usually some concessions: location, style of architecture, or any number of features. If you made some concessions when you bought your current property, and you can replace the negatives with the positive features you've found in another home, now is the time to make your move!

Once the market turns around - and again, you know it will - you'll find your appreciation will be greater in the new, larger home. It's an upgrade at an opportune time that makes good investment sense. Call a professional real estate agent today for a free, no obligation consultation. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

TWO FOR TWO! – 13-year-old Noah Manges bagged this 6-point near Friendsville on Junior Deer Hunt Day, held this past Saturday, his second buck in two years of hunting. Noah is the son of Dan and Shawna Manges of Friendsville and is an 8th grader at Northern Middle School.

BROTHERS BAG BUCKS – Two brothers were victorious in their hunt on Junior Hunt Day, which was held last Saturday. Garrett Cosner, 11, pictured above, bagged a 5-point, and his brother Darren, 8, pictured below, took a button buck, both in the southern Garrett County region. Garrett is a 7th grader at Southern Middle School and Darren is a 3rd grader at Yough Glades Elementary. They are the sons of Tim and Darlene Cosner, Oakland.

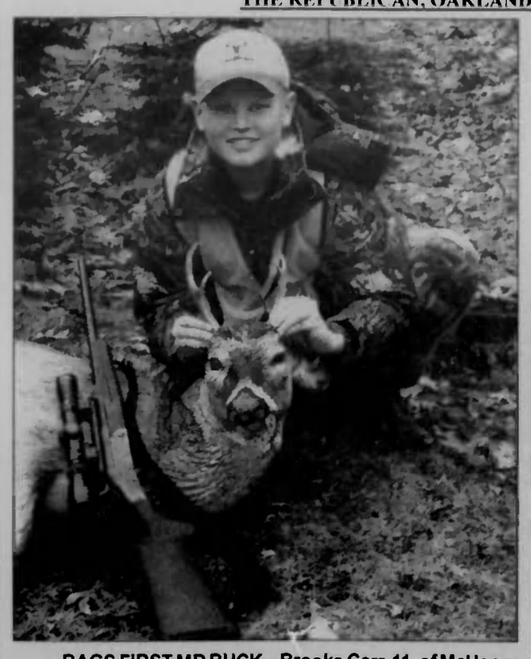
YOUTH PARTICIPATES IN JUNIOR HUNT DAY – Talon Uphold, fourth grader at Yough Glades Elementary School, recently participated in Junior Hunt Day and shot a 130 lb. spike. The 9-year-old was hunting with his father, using a .223 rifle, in the Oakland area. His parents are Eric and Amy Uphold, Oakland.

JUNIOR HUNT DAY VICTORY – Nakita Rodeheaver, 11, shot her very first deer, a 100-lb. button buck, with a .243 Winchester rifle. She participated in Junior Deer Hunt Day, which is a day specifically set aside for hunters ages 16 and younger. Garrett County's junior day was this past Saturday. Rodeheaver was accompanied by her father and brother.

SIBLINGS BRING IN TWO BUCKS – Evan Paugh, 7, and his sister Karrington, 10, both used a .223 rifle to bag two button bucks, Evan's first and Karrington's third, this past Saturday in Kempton during Junior Hunt Day. They are students at Yough Glades Elementary and are the son and daughter of Jason and Jessica Paugh of Oakland.

THIS EIGHT POINT BUCK was bagged by Atlee Wise, 7, while hunting with his father on Junior Deer Hunt Day. The deer was his first, using a .243 rifle. He is the son of Joe and Jackie Wise, and is a student at Broad Ford Elementary.

MASON BROS. HAVE SUCCESSFUL HUNT – Junior Hunt Day was a success for a pair of Oakland area brothers, with Colt Mason, 13, (above left) bagging a spike buck, and 8-year-old Chase (above right) harvesting a doe. The sons of Andy and Laura Mason were hunting on their family farm with their dad. Colt attends Southern Middle School, and Chase is a student at Yough Glades Elementary.



BAGS FIRST MD BUCK – Brooks Carr, 11, of McHenry bagged his first Maryland Buck oh last Saturday's Junior Hunt Day with a youth model .243 rifle. The four-point was taken in the company of his dad Phil Carr and his "pap," Ed Carr.

HAS SUCCESSFUL HUNT – Chris Murdock bagged his first buck, a 6-point, while hunting on his uncle's farm in Grantsville. Chris is the son of Vicky and John Bowser, Grantsville.

stands before using them. Harness-style safety belts should be used while climbing into or out of a tree stand, as well as while in the stand. Hunters are reminded to always exercise the fundamental commandments of firearms safety while afield.

Deer hunting provides outdoor recreation for more than 68,000 Marylanders, is a vital tool in managing deer populations, and contributes more than $150 million to the state's economy each year, according to the DNR..

Complete bag limits, season dates, and other deer hunting information can be found online at http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide/deerregs.asp. The 2008-2009 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping issued with each hunting license contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons.

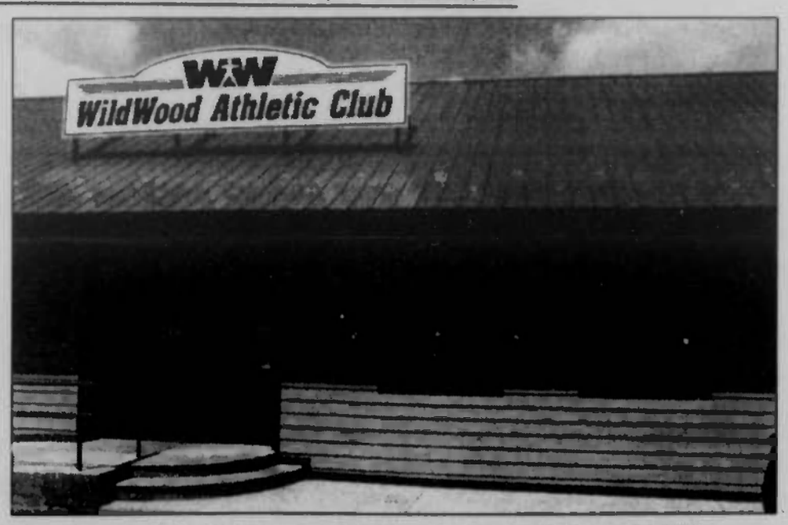
Holiday Tours To Include WildWood Athletic Facility



WILDWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB TO BE ON RED CROSS TOURS

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross is gearing up for the 17th annual "Home for the Holidays" House Tours, slated for Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on this year's circuit, and one of those sites will be the WildWood Athletic Club in Oakland.

When Beachy Lumber/OC Cluss closed its doors for the last time, an opportunity to create a training facility emerged. After extensive research and remodeling, WildWood Athletic Club opened for business on May 1, 2007. The two-story building covers approximately 15,000 square feet. Natural pine wainscoting, floors, and beams will be visible to guests as they enter the lobby. To the immediate left is an enclosed group exercise/martial arts area which features a stage, mirrors, and a sound system. Adjacent to the main desk, two separate doors provide access to each of the locker rooms.

Large beams provide the entry to the room of cardio machines including treadmills, ellipticals, stationary bikes, and a rowing machine. Each unit features its own TV entertainment system. All of the weight machines offer a view of the large flat-screen television. Upstairs, guests will find a private dual purpose room that functions as massage room and an acupuncture room.

In the basement, rubberized flooring divides the 7,000-square-foot space into two areas, including a workout room with more than 5,000 pounds of weights, and two full batting cages, one for baseball and one for softball.

To celebrate the holidays, fresh pine wreaths will be displayed throughout the facility, as well as old-fashioned Christmas decorations. Bows and apples will adorn a 7½-foot artificial tree. WildWood members will be invited to place personal ornaments on the tree. As a reminder of the true meaning of the season, a handmade Nativity scene will be visible under the tree.

The Christmas Eve setting in the lobby will be completed with a fireplace mantle salvaged from the old Deer Park Hotel, as well as a sleigh full of brightly wrapped packages. An antique sled, cross country skis, and a toboggan, in addition to many other pieces of winter sports equipment, will be on display, decorated with garlands of pine, red berries, pine cones, and poinsettias.

In addition to the health club, tour takers may stop at a home in Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, a Markwood Drive residence, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

As in the past, tour participants will be asked to remove their shoes before entering the sites, and no photographing or videotaping will be permitted.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153, 301-334-9727, or 301-334-4465.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are now engaged in the 11th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to the fund this week. An advertisement with information about how to donate can be found elsewhere in today's issue.

GC Health Dept. Employees Team Up For "Healthy Habits" Program

by Amy Ritchie,
GC Health Department

Worksites can play a vital role in increasing opportunities for healthy eating and physical activity and, in turn, address the overweight/obesity epidemic and disease related complications.

Obesity is a rising epidemic across Maryland. Nearly 59% of Maryland adults were overweight or obese in 2004.

The public health impact of overweight and obesity is substantial, both in terms of disease burden and cost. Obesity has been linked to higher prevalence rates of chronic diseases and conditions, including hypertension, high cholesterol, diabetes, arthritis, and asthma in Maryland.

The average full-time employee spends 9.2 hours working per day. Worksites can be key to reaching a large segment of the adult population in Maryland, including Garrett County. Incentives exist for corporate health promotion, as healthy employees are likely to be more productive and incur lower medical costs.

Employees at the Garrett County Health Department are participating in a six-week wellness program designed by their employee wellness team. The name of the program is "Fall Into Healthy Habits."

Participants are divided into teams with three employees each, and teams are named for an NFL team. Participants can earn up to three points per day for their team if they do the following:

1. Drink at least 48 ounces of water a day.
2. Eat five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables a day.
3. Do 30 minutes of aerobic exercises a day.

Employees have opportunities to earn bonus points each week. Some examples of ways to earn bonus points are donating to the Maryland Charity Campaign, keeping a five-day food diary, weighing in weekly and either maintaining or losing weight, participating in an employee wellness fitness assessment, getting a flu shot, and donating a canned good to the House of Hope.

To help employees with healthy habits, bottled water and fruit has been made available for a fee, and Lunchtime Movers, a half-hour exercise class, is available to participants on their lunch time an average of two days a week.

Team captains collect their team members' total points weekly and submit them to Morgan Anderson and Stephanie Farbar, two Southern High School students who are participating in the High School to Careers Program and are working at the Health Department.

To help employees survive the holidays, another six-week program will be offered beginning Dec. 14. More information regarding this program will be available in the near future.

The form that Health Department employees are using to track their water, fruit, and vegetable intake, as well as exercise activity, is available on the Health Department web site at garretthealth.org.

If you or your place of employment is interested in starting an employee wellness program, contact the Health Department's Health Education & Outreach office at 301-334-7730.

RESTORATION WORK BEGINS ON MT. BEULAH CHURCH – Eleven craftsmen from the Somerset, Pa., Amish community completed the first phase of restoration work on Mt. Beulah United Methodist Church in New Germany last Tuesday and Wednesday. Under the supervision of Henry Brenneman, the workers put a new white metal roof on the 126-year-old structure and shored up its leaning bell tower (pictured above right). The work was made possible through donations and fundraisers conducted by the Mt. Beulah Restoration Association. A spokesperson announced this week that Regis McKenzie, Frostburg, won the group's recent quilt raffle. The next phase of the restoration project will involve foundation repair. For more information about the initiative, persons may call association president Diana Deal at 301-746-7222. Photos by Diana Deal.

GriefShare Mtgs. Offered At St. Mark's Lutheran

GriefShare, a 13-week series of meetings at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, will begin anew on Nov. 25. GriefShare is a non-denominational Christian support program for those in the grieving process.

The program is designed to help those who have lost someone close to them, especially a child or spouse, according to Dick Schrock, who is spearheading the series. There are thousands of GriefShare grief recovery support groups currently meeting throughout the United States, Canada, and more than ten other countries.

Each session features a 30-minute video presentation highlighting one or more aspects of the grieving process, followed by guided individual and group discussion.

While the individual sessions do relate to each other, they are not interdependent. Those who miss a session or two will not feel left out, Schrock noted.

St. Mark's is offering the program to the community free of charge. The sessions are scheduled on Tuesdays at 6 p.m. in the church Fellowship Hall at 6 South Second Street, Oakland. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Christmas Open House Scheduled

The Accident library will hold a Christmas open house on Wednesday, Dec. 3, from noon until 6 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. For more information, persons may call Janet Otto at 301-746-8792.

Southern High Students Of The Month Chosen

Southern High School students were recently named Students of the Month for October, as chosen by the faculty and staff. The following students were recognized: Elizabeth Ann Beeman, English; Megan Stolbom, math; Jacqueline Fries, science; Sara King, social studies, Derek Tasker, CTE/auto mechanics; and Michael Wayne Upole Jr., marketing.

Beeman, a junior, is the daughter of Tom and Betty Beeman, Swanton. She is involved in the theater program at Southern and plans to attend Garrett College for two years. She hopes to then obtain a degree in psychology from Pembrook University.

Stolbom is the daughter of Cheryl and David Stolbom, Oakland. She is a sophomore at Southern High, where she is on the softball team and participates in Best Buddies. She plans to attend college after graduation to become a first grade teacher.

Fries, a junior, is the daughter of Monica and James Fries, Oakland. She is the junior class president, yearbook co-editor, a HOBY ambassador, and is on the distinguished honor roll. She also participates in cross country and indoor and outdoor track. She plays the piano and is involved in community service. She plans to attend college following graduation to pursue a career in the medical field.

King, a sophomore, is the daughter of Shannon and Brad King, Oakland. She is involved in cheerleading, student council, outdoor and indoor track, and is on the honor roll. She is also a national champion in sport aerobics.

Tasker is a senior and was chosen as the career and technology/auto mechanics Student of the Month. He is the son of Angie and Willie Thomas, Oakland. He is a member of the Envirothon Team at Southern and participated in the Carnegie Center Science Fair. He plans to attend a technical school to become an automotive technician.

Upole, a senior, is the son of Rose Upole, Deer Park. He is a member of the cross country and wrestling teams, as well as being on the distinguished honor roll. He plans to graduate from college with an accounting degree and earn his CPA.

PERKINS RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH CHOSEN – The October RAM (Random Acts of Maturity) Perkins Student of the Month is Kellie Friend, who was nominated by Steve Cosner. Friend is the daughter of Michael and Chasidy Friend and lives in Oakland. "Kellie is the type of person who is more than willing to use her skills to help others," noted Cosner. "Over the past two years I have seen her prepare literally thousands of drinks for runners in the Savageman Triathlon." Recently Friend demonstrated her leadership skills during the state cross country meet to organize and place the junior varsity team throughout the three-mile course. "Kellie is truly an unselfish person with a good heart and a take-charge attitude," said Cosner. "Many people have her to thank for much of what she does." The SHS staff congratulations her for demonstrating what it means to be a leader who serves others. Above, from left, are Brooks Elliot, Friend, and Cosner.

Jason B. Rush Gains Promotion At First United

William B. Grant, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of First United Bank & Trust, announces the promotion of Jason B. Rush, pictured, to senior vice president and director of operations.

Rush has over 15 years experience in the banking industry. Since joining First United in 1993 as an assistant compliance officer, he has been promoted several times, serving most recently as vice president and director of operations.

He is a graduate of Frostburg State University with a bachelor of science degree in political science, a graduate of Maryland Banking School, Maryland Banking Graduate School, and American Bankers Association National Compliance School.

In the community, Rush is the treasurer of Garrett County Agriculture Fair, serves as a softball and t-ball coach for the Central Garrett Little League, and is a member of Garrett County Livestock Association, the board of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, and the Garrett County Farm Bureau board of directors.

He resides in McHenry with his wife Angie and their children, Morgan and Jacob.

"Jason's expertise and experience in banking make him a tremendous asset to the bank, and his dedication to the bank shows daily in his job," said Grant. "He has been a key member of executive management, and this promotion recognizes the important contributions he has made to improving the performance of the bank."

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Army National Guard Pvt. Michael C. Haggerty recently graduated from basic military training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C., to be a member of the Army National Guard or Reserve Split-option Program.

The program allows students between their junior and senior year of high school to attend national guard or reserve weekend drills, while still in school and pursue a military career specialty after they graduate from high school.

During the nine weeks of training, Haggerty studied the Army mission, history, tradition and core values, and physical fitness, and received instruction and practice in basic combat skills, military weapons, chemical warfare and bayonet training, drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, basic first aid, foot marches, and field training exercises.

He is the son of Crystal Friend, Petersburg, W.Va., and grandson of Phyllis Friend, Swanton. He is a student at Petersburg High School.

Never a good time.

Eleven years have gone by
Upon us we find winter arriving,
If only you could return, a complete family we would have.
The nights are becoming very, very cold and darker they seem.
But now the stars are brighter and the twinkle we can clearly see.
One of them bright and beautiful, and twinkling you must be.
Knowing you are there healthy and whole, we fear no longer the darkness and peace is to behold.
Praying for ours will continue.
Just like yours our days too are numbered. God's free will He has given to us. With every beginning there is an end and then another beginning.
A better place awaits us, with you, among those twinkling stars.
Now and for always you are in God's Eternal care.
Life is short and sometimes so unfair.
No answer to the reason why.

Never a good time.

Love you more now than ever,
Dad, Mom, Bill, Ed, Susanne, Brenda & Nephew Ryan

Ecumenical Serv. For Thanksgiving Eve Set In Oakland

St. Mark's Lutheran Church of Oakland and the Episcopal Church in Garrett County (St. John's and St. Matthew's) will once again host an ecumenical Community Thanksgiving Eve service of worship on Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 7 p.m.

The service will be held at St. Mark's, located at the corner of Center and South Second streets in Oakland. Pastor C. Scott Robinson will serve as celebrant, and Pastor Chip Lee will preach.

The worship service will include special music and congregational singing, led by St. Mark's Choir.

Proceeds from the collection will go to the local Warm the Children campaign. All are welcome.

Lutheran Parish To Host Advent Prayer Services

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish will celebrate the first Sunday of Advent, Nov. 30, with a joint worship service at Zion Lutheran Church at Jennings at 10 a.m., and will begin Advent evening prayer services on Wednesday evenings.

Throughout the Advent season, the parish will use the "Holden Evening Prayer" services each Wednesday. The service will begin at 6 p.m. and will be followed by a soup and bread supper.

The schedule is as follows: Dec. 3 at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger; Dec. 10 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain; and Dec. 17 at Emmanuel.

Written in 1985-1986 while Marty Haugen was the musician-in-residence at Holden Village, a Lutheran retreat center in Washington State, this setting of vespers follows the traditional form while using contemporary and inclusive language, according to Rev. Randolf Richardson, pastor of the parish. The worship includes the Service of Light, an evening hymn (Joyous Light of Heav'nly Glory), evening thanksgiving, the annunciation, the Magnificat, litany and prayers, and a final blessing.

Pastor Richardson extends an invitation to all persons to attend these services.

Adult Education Prog. To Hold Intake Sessions

The Adult Education Program at Garrett College will hold intake/assessment sessions at the Southern Outreach Center (Oakland armory) on Wednesday, Dec. 3, and Friday, Dec. 5, at noon.

Persons 16 years of age and older interested in taking classes to prepare for the Maryland High School diploma exam are asked to attend one of the assessment sessions.

Preparation classes will then be held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from noon until 3 p.m. at the Southern Outreach Center. For more information, persons may call 301-334-8304.

NEW HOPE FOR RESTORIHG HEARING

The tiny "hair cells" of the inner ear play a crucial role in hearing by translating sound vibrations into electrical signals that the brain can interpret as sound. Problems arise when these sensory receptors are damaged or destroyed due to accumulated insult of loud noise. Because mammals are unable to regenerate hair cells, any loss is deemed to be permanent. However, scientists have recently reported that they have been able to regrow these tiny cells in the lab by utilizing genetic engineering to transform non-sensory cells into hair cells. While gene therapy is still highly experimental in people, gaining an understanding of this potential treatment may provide a breakthrough that will benefit people with hearing loss.

Two important steps you can take to help protect your hearing are wearing ear protection in loud, noisy environments and having your hearing checked regularly to stay on top of possible hearing loss. If you've never had a hearing test, or if it's been awhile since your last one, take the time today to give us a call at AUDIBEL. If wearing a hearing aid is indicated, we can show you a variety of instruments and determine which is best for you.

P.S. Currently, the function of hair cells can be replaced by cochlear implants.

*Annual Percentage Yield. Offer effective 11/10/2008 and will be paid based on eligible initial balance of $25,000 or more or $100,000 or more, maximum $1,000,000. This is a variable rate product; interest rate may change daily. For 6 months from the date of deposit, the interest rate will be at least the initial promotional rate, but could increase. Initial APY would be: $25,000 - $99,999.99: 3.00%, $100,000+: 3.50%. At the end of the promotion period, the rate will be the standard variable rate offered for Premium Money Market accounts and will be paid on eligible balance. As of 11/10/2008, non-promotional balance tiers and corresponding APYs would be: $10,000 - $24,999.99: 1.00%, $25,000 - $49,999.99: 2.00%, $50,000- $99,999.99: 2.25%; $100,000 - $249,999.99: 2.50%; and $250,000+: 2.50%. $10,000 minimum daily balance required to avoid a monthly service fee of $16. Fees could reduce earnings. Premium Money Market is a consumer account. Businesses not eligible for this promotion. Federal regulation limits total transactions paid (excluding unlimited "over the counter" withdrawals) to six per statement cycle, of which three may be by check, draft or debit card. Excess transactions will result in a per transaction fee and if repeated could cause the account to be changed to a non interest-bearing account. No brokered deposits accepted. Offer limited to one promotional account per customer. This is a limited-time offer and subject to change without notice.

A Susquehanna Senior Checking, Power Checking or Premium Choice checking account is required for new customers ($25 minimum balance to open) in order to be eligible for promotional rate on the Premium Money Market. Senior Checking has no minimum balance requirement or fee. Give Thanks Humility and thanksgiving walk hand in hand. A little humility can make us feel truly thankful. Conversely, an attitude of thanksgiving can help us experience true humility. Humility is a strength that liberates us; it frees us to enter into a right relationship with God.

Let us resolve to keep the spirit of thankfulness and humility that we experience on this Thanksgiving Day. Let us worship God with thankful hearts and humble ourselves before Him in praise.

"Be joyful always; pray continually; give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you..." (1 Thessalonians 5:16-17).

The Power of Prayer

Your prayers may or may not change the world, but they will almost certainly change you. Prayer has a calming as well as an uplifting and reflective effect. Sometimes the time spent in prayer is the only time we have in our busy lives to actually reflect on important aspects of our lives. When our lives are filled with turmoil, asking God for peace can be amazingly effective at quieting our anxieties. And prayers of gratitude remind us how much we have to be thankful for, while letting God know that we are truly grateful. Sometimes we don't really know how to pray or what to pray for. At those times, a simple prayer may be the best, such as "Lord Jesus, have mercy on me." Certain times of the day may be more conducive to prayer, such as morning and evening. A prayer of thanksgiving each morning is a great way to start each day, and a prayer of reflection at the end of every day is a good way to reflect on our successes and defeats. But perhaps we should remember the advice of St. Paul, who advised us to pray constantly, keeping God forever in our minds and in our hearts.

Rejoice always, pray constantly, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.

R.S.V. 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18

Acai Berry and Antioxidant Activity

Acai berry comes from the acai palm tree that grows in the rain forests of Brazil. It is also known as palm berry and cabbage palm. The skin and pulp of the fruit contain several active substances including anthocyanins, proanthocyanidins, and fatty acids. The herb has been shown to have anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties in laboratory studies. Although little is known about the effects on humans, it is marketed as a metabolism booster, athletic enhancer, and weight reducer. Acia berry is currently being studied for potential use as an oral contrast agent in magnetic resonance imaging studies (MRI) of the gastrointestinal tract.

In a recent study, twelve healthy volunteers consumed one serving each of either acai juice, acai pulp, applesauce, or a nonantioxidant drink. Those who consumed acai pulp and applesauce showed higher levels of antioxidant activity in the blood. Both acia pulp and juice showed antioxidant activity in the human body. While acai berry has shown some activity against leukemia cells in the laboratory, it is not known if acai berry exhibits the same activity in the human body

'Trace'-ing one of a crime show's songs

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: Where is Juliet Darling this season on "Dirty Sexy Money"? –Billie Ehresman, Port St. Lucie, Fla.

A: If the character already hasn't been seen again between the time this answer was written and now, expect it to happen in the not-too-distant future. The producers of the ABC show were being cagey about exactly when actress Samaire Armstrong would reprise the role.

Series creator and executive producer Craig Wright told reporters last summer, "Her character was always bound for the outside world. We all love her as an actress, and I don't want anyone to think her absence has anything to do with anything but just making good stories. When she comes back, we want her to be powerful and specific and special – which is what she is."

Q: I was watching an episode of "Without a Trace" called "Freefall," and I loved the song at the end of it. I was wondering the name of it, the group that does it and if it can be purchased at stores or over the Internet. –Elaine Vasilopoulos, Cortland, N.Y.

A: Any search for the music from that episode of Anthony LaPaglia's CBS series yields one result – "Fix You" by Coldplay – so that must be it. It's on the group's CD "X&Y," but it also is available from a vast number of sources on the Internet. Type the title and the group's name into a search engine, and you shouldn't have any problem proceeding from there.

Q: I really enjoyed "Flashpoint" earlier this year. Will it be back? –Mary Anhalt, Sheboygan, Wis.

Samaire Armstrong

A: Yes. At this writing, no definite date had been set for the return of the Enrico Colantoni-Amy Jo Johnson drama about a police hostage-negotiation unit, but CBS was impressed enough by the summer ratings for the show (produced, and also shown by, Canada's CTV network) to order a second round of episodes.

Q: My husband says Josh Groban was on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" as a child. I don't think he was. Who is correct? –Linda Black, Hanover Park, Ill.

A: Groban was born in 1981, and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" ended in 1977 – so simply on math alone, you win.

Q: I never got to see the ending of the show "Greatest American Dog," and I sure would like to know who won. –Ruthann Gacey, Sallisaw, Okla.

A: Presley, then a 16-month-old boxer, and his owner, Travis, walked away with the $250,000 grand prize when the CBS series ended its summer run.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• If you're like the average American, you watch television for 4 hours and 34 minutes every day.

• It was Canadian journalist, editor and poet Mark Abley who made the following observation: "Modern English is the Wal-Mart of languages: convenient, huge, hard to avoid, superficially friendly and devouring all rivals in its eagerness to expand."

• Those who study such things say that an adult right whale requires 400,000 calories a day to survive. They also note that the mainstay of these mammals' dict is a flea-sized crustacean called a copepod.

• If you live in Georgia, you need to be careful about that wagging tongue: In that state it's illegal to spread a false rumor

• Now that the election is over, it might be interesting to note that more than half of all Americans can't name their elected official in the U.S. House of Representatives. And only 40 percent can name all three branches of the U.S. government. (For those of you in the other 60 percent, they're the legislative, judicial and executive.)

• If you're planning to head to Kansas for a vacation next summer, you might want to plan to hit the small town of Cawker City during August. That's when the home of the world's largest ball of twine hosts a weekend-long Twine-a-Thon festival.

• One hurricane can generate up to 200 times the energy of all the world's power plants combined.

• Are you a locavore? In all likelihood, you don't even know what a locavore is — until very recently, I didn't, either. It was the 2007 Word of the Year as chosen by the New Oxford American Dictionary, and it refers to a person who eats nothing but local food.

• On Nov. 28, 1582, playwright William Shakespeare, 18, and Anne Hathaway, 26, pay a 40-pound bond for their marriage license in Stratford-upon-Avon. By 1592, Shakespeare was well-established in London's theatrical world as an actor and playwright.

• On Nov. 30, 1886, the Folies Bergère in Paris introduces an elaborate revue featuring women in sensational costumes and quickly gains a reputation for its spectacular nude shows. The theater-staged revues featured as many as 40 sets, 1,000 costumes and a crew of some 200 people.

• On Nov. 26, 1922, in Egypt's Valley of the Kings, British archaeologists become the first to enter King Tutankhamen's tomb in more than 3,000 years. Inside Tutankhamen's sealed burial chambers was a collection of several thousand priceless objects, including a gold coffin containing the mummy of the teenage king.

• On Nov. 24, 1932, the first FBI crime lab officially opens in Washington, D.C. The lab, which was chosen because it had the necessary sink, operated out of a single room and had only one full-time employee, Agent Charles Appel, who began with a borrowed microscope.

• On Nov. 27, 1942, French Admiral Jean de Laborde sinks the French fleet to keep it out of German hands. Laborde ordered the sinking of two battle cruisers, four heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, one aircraft transport, 30 destroyers and 16 submarines.

• On Nov. 29, 1963, President Lyndon Johnson establishes a special commission to investigate the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The Warren Commission report concluded that there was no conspiracy. However, in 1978, the House Select Committee on Assassinations concluded that Kennedy was "probably assassinated as a result of a conspiracy."

• On Nov. 25, 1980, Sugar Ray Leonard regains boxing's welterweight title when his opponent, reigning champion Roberto Duran, walks away from the fight in the eighth round. After the match, his doctor reported that Duran had eaten too much too quickly after the weigh-in and had a stomachache.

Do Dogs Smile?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: How do dogs learn to smile? Years ago, I adopted an 8-year-old Borzoi that had been terribly abused. "Frank" was a very fearful dog, but with lots of patience and TLC, he calmed down quite a bit and even accepted my other dog, "Farley." One evening while lying on the couch, Frank looked at me and bared his teeth. I thought he was snarling at me, but when I asked another Borzoi owner about it, he said Frank was smiling! Does a dog relate "happy" with smiling? — K.H.S., Fairport, N.Y.

DEAR K.H.S.: Normally, when a dog appears to be "smiling" he either really is baring his teeth (and growling, which is not a happy sound) to warn someone off, or his demeanor — slightly open mouth, tongue hanging out and a general air of happiness — makes one think he is smiling even if it's not a genuine "human" smile.

But I thought that an experienced owner saying that a dog was actually smiling was unusual, so I looked up some information on the breed. And indeed, the Borzoi (or Russian Wolfhound) has this neat little trait: The submissive gesture for this gentle giant of a dog is to curl back his lips and expose his teeth. The "smile" on a Borzoi looks so much like a snarl that most strangers will quickly back away.

So, kudos to you on bringing Frank around, from a shy abuse victim to a loving companion who returned to the natural behaviors of a Borzoi: lounging on the couch and enjoying the company of his family. Thanks for a great story.

NeXT GEN Team To Share Climate Proj. With Public

The Southern Middle School NeXT GEN FIRST LEGO League (FLL) team has started a new season, with this year's theme as "Climate Connection."

The team's job is to research how climate affects the community. Members must identify a climate problem in their area, analyze climate data about the problem, discover what the community is doing about it, and then develop and share their solution with the community. They will then compare the local community with a community elsewhere that is dealing with the same climatic issues, as well as identify any solutions the second community may have come up with.

The team has identified the problem of short growing seasons in Garrett County. One member, Levi Lantz, and his brother Aaron have been successfully growing tomatoes in a high tunnel for the past several years to increase the growing season. The team took that idea and extended it to the county's strawberry research that is ongoing.

This past year, there were fresh strawberries at every Mtn. Fresh Market in Oakland; however, several of the breeding plants were lost in a late April frost. So NeXT GEN TEAM BEGINS SEASON PROJECT – Dr. Harry Swartz explains his strawbarry rasaarch plots and sharas his idaas with the Southarn Middla School FLL (First LEO Laagua) taam NeXT GEN about his plans to build a graanhousa lab he for his strawbarry braading program in Garratt County. Tha taam projact this yaar is "Climata Connaction," and mambars must rasaarch and analyza data in order to discover what the problam is and what tha community is doing about it. The team than develops and sharas a solution with tha community. The team also took a fiald trip to Hickory with Bruce Tallaferro. They visitad the planatarium with Jim Hart (below), who praaantad a program to halp the team calculata the aun's angla throughout the yaar in Garratt County. Taam mambars will be able to adjust tha greenhouse solar panals to capture the maximum anargy from the aun. From laft, baginning in the front row, are Daniel Adams, Rachael Huxford, and Colin Lynch. Second row: Zach Frick, Levi Lantz, and Rebecca Lee. Hart is in the far rear. Tha team was also visitad by Harold and Kan Harris of Harris Pools, Oakland. During one of the weakly practica saasions, they explained solar water heating options that they install in the local area. Tha team will be working with the Fafco company to design a retractable solar panal to haat circulating water throughout the "green" greenhouse. See story for datails.

NeXT GEN has teamed up with researcher Dr. Harry Swartz from the University of Maryland to help him design an energy and cost efficient "green" greenhouse for Garrett County climate.

The team will be sharing their research and robotic missions tonight, Thursday, Nov. 20, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center at 6 p.m. Following the demonstration and research presentation, Willie Lantz and Dr. Swartz will hold a strawberry growers meeting for anyone interested in growing strawberries next year.

The public is invited to attend. No reservations are required.

RAINBOW GIRLS DONATE TOYS – The Oakland Rainbow Girls recently presented a donation to the Toys for Tots program in support of Worthy Advisor Sarah Hanlin's service project. For 61 years, the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve's Toys for Tots program has collected new, unwrapped toys for children to be distributed at Christmas. John Parsons, Toys for Tots coordinator for Allegany and Garrett counties, accepted the donation from the Rainbow Girls. Parsons stated that since the toys were collected in Garrett County, they would be given to children in Garrett County. Pictured, left to right, in the front row are Hannah Hintz, Julianna Sharpless, Clarissa Lloyd, Tiffany Longacre, Carrie Herman, Hope Otto, Kelsy Geer, Sierra Cook, Alexandria Cortez, Christina Cortez, Hanlin, and Parsons. In the back row are Mother Advisor Debbie Raynovich, Alyna Raynovich, and Pledge Mother Arda Sharpless. More information about the International Order of Rainbow Girls is available online at gorainbow.org. Persons may also call Debbie Raynovich at 301-387-4545 or Ardra Sharpless at 301-334-8618.

W.Va. Woman Jail Term Extended For CDS Possession In GC Jail

Tammie Doreen Gonzalez, 36, Gormania, was found guilty in Garrett County District Court by Judge Edward Malloy for her charge of possessing contraband in a place of confinement. She was sentenced to six months with five months and 20 days suspended, and all fines were suspended.

Gonzalez was already serving a jail term when officers were led by an anonymous tip that she was carrying a form of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

A shakedown of the women's section of the Garrett County jail was done and it was revealed that the defendant was carrying pills. Gonzalez was allegedly carrying three So-ma pills, one Phenegran pill, and five Tramadol pills. It was determined after an investigation that a prescription was needed for the pills.

In an unrelated case, David Spencer Glotfelty, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty for burglary in the fourth degree and was sentenced to 10 days in jail with all fines suspended by Judge Malloy Officers responded to an Oakland apartment complex for a report of a burglary in July. After arrival, contact with the resident of the apartment was made and it was stated that Glotfelty had pried open the back door to the apartment and let himself in.

The victim had come across Glotfelty looking through the drawers of a computer stand. He said he was looking for a phone book.

The resident said that Glotfelty was only allowed in the apartment if the resident or resident's mother were there, which neither were at the time of the break-in.

According to the case report, Glotfelty seemed disoriented and started to shout obscenities directed at the resident and officers. He was then arrested and charges were filed.

In another district court case, Clifford Frank Elliott, 36, Oakland, was handed a guilty verdict for violating an ex parte protective order. He was sentenced to 5 days in jail, with fines suspended.

Charges stem from his arrest in June for allegedly violating a protective order placed by his wife. According to reports, he followed his wife home and blocked the driveway preventing her from leaving. He then got out of his vehicle and started to yell at his wife.

Elliott left the residence prior to officers arrival. A warrant for his arrest was then placed .

James Lipscomb Jr., 41, Kitzmiller, was found guilty by Judge Malloy for trespassing on private property, and was sentenced to 10 days, with all 10 days suspended, and fines of $25. He will serve unsupervised probation for 1 year.

Lipscomb was arrested for trespassing in June onto private property in Kitzmiller. The owner had repeatedly told the defendant he could not hunt on his property. After catching the defendant in June, the owner confronted him and Lips-comb proceeded to verbally threaten the property owner.

Gary Edwin Friend III, 22, Friendsville was handed a probation before judgement (PBJ) for his charge of DUI per se. He was given supervised probation for 18 months, and fines of $150.

His charge stemmed from his arrest in May after failing to stop at a stop sign. Officers conducted a traffic stop and found he was driving on an expired license.

He was not prosecuted on seven other charges of possession of marijuana, possession of paraphernalia, DUI, DWI, failure to stop at a stop sign, driving with an expired license, and negligent driving.

Cindy Lou Kimmell, 44, Deer Park was placed on the STET docket for her charge of assault in the second degree, with conditions being to complete a substance abuse course.

Kimmell was arrested in July by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies for an alleged domestic assault between her and her daughter.

According to the case reports, Kimmell was intoxicated and had left the house. Her daughter locked her out of the residence and a fight ensued where it was reported that she struck her daughter across her cheek.

Larry Paul Winebrenner, 29, Hagerstown, was placed on the STET docket for a charge of confining an unattended child. Conditions of the stet are to cooperate with social services.

Winebrenner was charged in March after officers had reported to his house for unreported reasons. His children were unattended, one being nine and the other three.

It was reported that he had left the property for a short while, his destination undisclosed. Officers proceeded to call the mother of the children to inform her that her children were left at home unattended. She returned home and Winebrenner returned shortly thereafter.

Winebrenner was not prosecuted on a charge of unauthorized removal of property and a charge of unlawful taking of a motor vehicle.

Timothy Allen Welch, 43, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on a charge of assault in the second degree by Judge Malloy. He was arrested in July for allegedly being the aggressor in a dispute with his brother in his father's home.

William Ray Whitacre Jr., 21, Kitzmiller, was not prosecuted on two charges of second degree assault and a charge of false imprisonment by Judge Malloy. Whitacre was arrested in July for allegedly assaulting a male victim by punching the victim repeatedly.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Vet Shortage Mirrors Nat'l Trend; Local Scholarship To Be Offered

by Terri Rodeheaver

While there is no shortage of project animals slated for exhibition at this year's Garrett County Fair, one shortage that is being keenly felt by anyone involved in livestock production is the that of large animal veterinarians in this region, and across the nation.

According to the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA), the number of large animal vets has dropped from nearly 6,000 in 1990 to less than 4,500. There is no single reason for the shortage of large animal vets. A multitude of factors are creating what Dr. Gregory Hammer, president of the AVMA, calls a "crisis situation."

Livestock producers are competing for a limited number of veterinarians who enter the practice each year. While projections show that the number of vets needed will grow by 22,000 by 2016, the 28 vetermarian schools across the United States produce approximately 2,500 new graduates each year, a number that has not changed in three decades. Of those graduates, fewer and fewer new vets are entering large animal practice.

Multiple reasons exist for the shift away from large animal practice. An increasing number of vet students are from urban and suburban areas, with no ties to farm life, making it more likely for these individuals to gravitate toward small animal practice.

Statistics generally support the fact that small animal practice is financially more lucrative, and with new veterinarians graduating with an average of more than $100,000 in tuition debt, income potential factors into a new graduate's decision.

Government agencies like the USDA, Center for Disease Control and Prevention, and the Department of Homeland Security utilize large animal vets in food safety programs intended to maintain the safety of America's food supply.

Currently, 25 percent of the positions in the government food inspection service are vacant. Lifestyle concerns also factor into the decisions that veterinary students make about their career paths. Large animal vets face long hours, physically demanding tasks, and extensive travel to treat their patients.

In 2007, for the first time in history, the majority of vets were women. Currently, 78 percent of vet students are women, and statistics show that historically, women have been less likely to practice large animal medicine.

Earlier this year, Dr. Gregory Hammer appeared before a Congressional subcommittee urging the USDA to implement the National Veterinary Medical Service Act (NVMSA). Passed in 2003, and funded in 2006-2008, this law established a loan repayment program valued at 1.9 million dollars for veterinarians who pledge to practice in a variety of underserved areas of veterinary medicine, including large animal and food supply practice.

At this same hearing, USDA officials who were charged with administering the loan forgiveness program testified that they lack the capacity to administer the program, saying that "such programs have never been the function" of the agency. Members of the Congressional subcommittee warned that continued funding of the program is at risk if no movement is noted by the USDA.

While the bureaucratic stalemate in Washington is doing little to positively impact this emerging crisis, local veterinarians and livestock producers are mobilizing efforts to solve the problem themselves.

Dr. David Rawe of Casselman Veterinary Services Inc. in Grantsville relocated to Garrett County from Kentucky in 1982 to start his practice.

In the 26 years since Dr. Rawe established his practice, a number of associates have affiliated with his practice for varying lengths of time. Dr. Rawe's comments about the challenges he faces in his practice are consistent with those identified by the AVMA.

"Most of the time, young vets are coming out of school loaded down with tuition debt," he said. "It is debt that most of them have to incur in order to get the knowledge they need to be practicing vets. But when they graduate, they are almost compelled to seek out jobs with salaries high enough to supply them with a living, in addition to paying off huge school loans.

"As a vet with a practice in a rural community, one of my biggest challenges is being able to offer a salary high enough to recruit and retain a vet who is among the shrinking number who are interested in a large and small animal practice in a very rural setting. When you add the lifestyle challenges associated with large animal vet work to the picture, it is pretty easy to see why there is a shortage of large animal vets, especially in rural areas."

Shifts in the region's agriculture base have also impacted Dr. Rawe's practice.

"Not too many years ago, I had a client list that included 270 dairy farmers," he said. "Today, our practice provides vet services to 145 dairy farmers. These aren't dairy farmers who changed vets. They left the dairy industry all together. Now, the clients we continue to serve are spread even farther apart. Some days, we spend more time driving than we do actually caring for animals out in the field. With the tight margin in farming, it is impossible to incorporate the full cost of time spent traveling to a farm into our fees. A lot of days, it is a challenge to make the math work."

A new associate recently joined Dr. Rawe's practice. Dr. Illaina Euvrard comes from Hamilton, Ohio, and attended Ohio State University's School of Veterinary Medicine.

"Salary is only one challenge when recruiting a new vet," Rawe said. "One of the tools I use in my recruiting efforts is a web site sponsored by the professional association within the field. When I began the search for the latest associate to join my practice, I discovered 51 other practices were also looking for vets, and there were 10 resumés posted. It is a very competitive market when it comes to recruiting staff."

In hopes of influencing local youth to consider a career in veterinary medicine, Dr. Rawe and his staff are engaged with several youth from Garrett County, promoting veterinary medicine as a potential career choice. The vets practicing with Casselman Veterinary Service are often seen being accompanied by county high school or college students who are considering a career in veterinary medicine.

"My belief is that we will be much more likely to convince a Garrett County native to return home after vet school than we will be at convincing someone who has no roots in the area to relocate and stay here," he said. "When students spend time with us, they get to see if being a vet is really what they want to do. They get a first-hand taste of what a career in rural veterinary medicine looks like."

Like many professions that are feeling the pinch of having more vacant positions than there are qualified candidates to fill them, finding new and different ways to solve the staffing shortage is essential.

In Oct. 2007, the loss of Dr. Joyce Colbert dealt a significant blow to livestock owners in the region. Dr. Colbert's practice focused on large animals, and 100 percent of her practice was conducted through farm visits. Her death created a critical shortage of veterinary coverage for producers throughout Garrett County, and Tucker and Preston counties in West Virginia. Dr. Colbert's family has created a scholarship in her memory, to be used to support the education of individuals studying veterinary medicine.

Administered by the Tucker Foundation, the scholarship fund will become endowed when it reaches $20,000. The Tucker Foundation is a non-profit endowment foundation that currently manages more than 17 million dollars of benevolent funds donated to various causes.

Once endowed, the scholarship will be awarded annually to youth studying animal science, or a related degree with the ultimate plan of attending vet school.

In the meantime, producers are reaching out to potential vets who have connections to the region. They are working to build relationships with these individuals long before they are faced with the decision about where to establish their practice.

Individuals and organizations interested in contributing to the Dr. Joyce Colbert Scholarship Fund in her memory can contact Dave Moran at 304-288-9533.

ALL LIVESTOCK TRAVELING to exhibitions within Maryland, or to other states, are required to have a health check performed and documented by a licensed vet prior to participating in these events. For several years, the Garrett County Livestock Association and Maryland Cooperative Extension have arranged for a vet to be present when 4-H and FFA youth bring their project animals to the fairgrounds to be weighed and tagged as required by their projects. The vet in attendance can complete literally hundreds of health checks in a single day at a single location, helping to eliminate the substantial burden that travel time places on the county's large animal vets. Pictured above is Dr. Jennifer Barnard as she completes the required health check on Annie Graham's lamb. Dr. Barnard, who practices at Shippensburg Animal Hospital in Shippensburg, Pa., is a Garrett County native, and showed livestock through the county's 4-H and FFA programs. She obtained her license to practice veterinary medicine in Maryland to enable her to return to Garrett County and volunteer her services to assist 4-H and FFA youth in meeting the health requirements for their project animals.

LAND JUDGING PARTICIPANTS – The Southern High FFA recently competed in the Maryland State FFA land judging competition near Easton. Individual team members evaluated three soil pits and landscape sites for agriculture and home site use. The team placed third overall out of 13 teams across the state of Maryland. Rebecca Winegardner placed fourth individually, and Dale Marple placed 14th individually out of 54 participants. From left are Jacob Stahl, Dale Marple, Rebecca Winegardner, Nathan Tichnel, and Todd Custer.

ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION – Several members of the Northern Garrett FFA recently attended the 81st National FFA Convention in Indianapolis. At a record-breaking number, 54,731 members attended the event in October, which included an agricultural career show. Some members also took part in a three-day community service project for the National FFA Days of Service. From left are Scarlett Fost, Ashley Rodeheaver, Jordan Fratz, Andrea Upole, Alex Beltzel, and Bradley Rodeheaver.

Local Leadership Academy Holds Opening Session

The Western Maryland Rural Leadership Academy (WMRLA) held its first session on Saturday, Nov. 1, at the Western Maryland 4-H Center near Bittinger, with 12 individuals participating.

Participants shared breakfast in the lodge hall, where they learned about each other and did team building through a series of activities led by Lacie Ashby, Allegany County 4-H Educator; Mary Ellen Waltemire, regional extension director for the west region of Maryland Cooperative Extension; Tammy Humberson, 4-H program assistant; and Josh Gambetta, VISTA volunteer.

Participants prepared lunch during a campfire cooking session, and Dr. Roger Hanshaw, assistant director for resources for West Virginia Cooperative Extension Service spoke to the group about the importance of being a leader. Dr. Hanshaw helped the group understand that there are many types of people, but leaders are needed to get them moving in the right direction.

Dr. Hanshaw also led the group in a discussion of critical issues facing farmers in western Maryland.

Ann Sherrard, Garrett County 4-H educator, led the group in an interactive session utilizing an electronic audience response system. The group was asked questions about agriculture facts and attitudes about the future of agriculture. The participants were able to respond by pressing the button on the "clicker." Each individual clicker communicates with the computer to immediately show the result on the screen.

The final event for the day was a panel discussion on local rural leadership. Joyce Bishoff, dairy farmer and chairperson of the board for the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and Delmer Yoder, past president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, shared their experiences with the group about leadership activities.

The next session of the WMRLA will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Frostburg Public Library from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The program for the day will be led by Dr. Kerry Odell, provost of Potomac State College. The topic for the day will be "Group Organization and Leadership."

The January meeting of the WMRLA will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 6, at the Will o'the Wisp starting at 5:30 p.m. with Senator George Edwards discussing legislative process and legislation affecting agriculture and natural resources.

The Western Maryland Rural Leadership Academy is a monthly program aimed at improving the leadership skills and community involvement of rural citizens in Garrett and Allegany counties. The year-long academy is jointly sponsored by Maryland Cooperative Extension, University of Maryland, and local business and organization sponsors.

Anyone interested in joining the academy or desiring more information may contact the extension office in Garrett County at 301-334-6960 or Allegany County at 301-742-3320 on or before Monday, Dec. 1.

PRESTON FSA URGES VOTERS TO PARTICIPATE IN COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTION

Eric McCartney, executive director for USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, urges producers in Local Administrative Area (LAA) 1, Grant and Pleasant districts, to vote in the county FSA Committee election by December 1, the deadline for casting ballots.

"County FSA committees provide producers with the opportunity to help implement federal farm programs in their communities," said McCartney. "It is vital that all farmers and ranchers, especially women and minorities, participate in the elections process to ensure that the opinions expressed in committee meetings reflect the area's agricultural sector."

Producers must return ballots to the Preston County FSA office by the close of business on Monday, Dec. 1. Newly elected committee members and alternates will take office January 1.

County FSA committees help administer federal farm programs at the local level. Committee members make decisions on conservation programs, commodity price support loans and payments, disaster assistance payments, and other agricultural issues.

The Preston County FSA Committee consists of three elected members who serve three-year terms. Committees may also have one or more female or minority advisors to further represent the local interests of women and minority farmers. Each year, one-third of all committee members are elected across the country. More than 8,000 county committee members serve in more than 2,300 local FSA offices nationwide.

For more information about the Preston County FSA Committee election, persons may visit the FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923. Information is also available at: http://www.fsa.usda.gov/FSA/webapp?area=newsroom&subject=landing&topic=cce.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 11th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

CARFAX VEHICLE HISTORY REPORTS

4-H Beef Raffle Winners Noted

The Garrett County 4-H Program recently completed its annual fundraiser by raffling off four quarters of beef. The First United Bank & Trust donated the beef to the 4-H program. This is the 38th year that the bank has supported the 4-H program through the purchasing and donation of an animal during the annual 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale at the Garrett County Fair.

Winners of one quarter of a beef each were as follows: J.J. Adkison, Accident, sold by Kevin Haenftling, North Star 4-H Club; Susan Carey Powell, Frostburg, sold by Lydia Powell, Finzel 4-H Club; Connie Garlitz, Avilton, sold by Miranda Rounds, Avilton 4-H Club; and Gerald Carr, Oakland, sold by Nichole Harvey, Maple Mountain 4-H Club.

The top five ticket sellers were Shawnna Shaffer, Maple Mountain 4-H Club, 414 tickets sold; Wyatt Wright, North Glade 4-H Club, 342 tickets sold; Keaton Thomas, Friendsville Fireflies 4-H Club, 242 tickets sold, Kevin Haenftling, North Star 4-H Club, 228 tickets sold and Felicia Blaubaugh, Finzel 4-H Club, 180 tickets sold.

4-H ANNUAL FUNDRAISER – The Garrett County 4-H program recently held a beef raffle as its annual fundraiser. Pictured above drawing the winning ticket is Serena Rodeheaver of First United Bank & Trust with Todd Custer, a 4-H member who raised the beef. See story for details.

The top club sellers were Maple Mountain 4-H Club, 757 tickets sold; Finzel 4-H Club, 546 tickets sold; Country Explorers 4-H Club, 360 tickets sold; North Star 4-H Club, 348 tickets sold; and Friendsville Fireflies 4-H Club and North Glade 4-H Club, 342 tickets sold.

After expenses, the remaining raffle monies will be used in support of County 4-H programs and activities such as Achievement Night, leaders' recognition, teaching materials, awards, ribbons, out-of-county scholarships, promotional literature, and camp scholarships.

"Congratulations to the winners and a big thank you to all 4-H families and friends for supporting 4-H through our annual fundraiser," said Ann Sherrard, extension educator, 4-H youth development.

County Youth Earn Diamond Clover Awards

Ten 4-H members from Garrett County were recently recognized at the Maryland State 4-H Awards and Recognition Program in Greenbelt. They were also honored at a local event held at Garrett College.

Each member received a Diamond Clover pin, an engraved silver clock, and a certificate signed by the dean of the college at the University of Maryland.

Those earning the Level 5 award were Angie LaMastus, Katelyn Gnegy, Aaron Lantz, Ethan Broadwater, Abby Sherrard, Kevin Haenftling, Kara Savage, Nathan Tichnell, and J.B. Gnegy.

To earn the award, each completed eight tasks, including serving as club leaders, assisting younger members, attending regional or state events, providing leadership for activities, and participating in public speaking events.

Earning the Level 6 Diamond Clover award was Cody Ferguson. This level requires the 4-H member to develop a community service project, work with an advisory committee, raise funds, recruit volunteers, and obtain final approval from the Maryland State 4-H program leader.

Cody coordinated a project at the western Maryland 4-H Center to improve the handicap accessibility for youth attending outdoor education at the site.

Maryland is the first state in the nation to offer this type of award. It consists of six levels that each require a 4-H'er to plan and accomplish a broad range of tasks. The tasks are age-appropriate and grow in quantity and difficulty as the member grows. Participants may choose from among many tasks, and are encouraged to explore a wide variety of 4-H projects and activities to enable them to acquire skills that will benefit them for the rest of their lives.

Low Water Closes Boating Ramps At Yough River Lake

Because of lowering lake levels from normal seasonal drawdown, all boat ramps at Youghiogheny River Lake are now closed for the season.

The Somerfield North, Spillway Recreation Area and Mill Run Recreation Area boat launch ramps will re-open on April 4, 2009, providing there are favorable weather conditions and lake levels.

Beginning May 23 through Sept. 1, a boat launching fee of $3 per day will be charged at all three of these ramps.

For questions regarding recreation opportunities at Youghiogheny River Lake, persons may call the Lake Office at 814-395-3242 between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

GC Continuing Ed To Offer Computer Skills II Course

Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development division has scheduled a hands-on computer course entitled Computer Skills II. The course will be held at the Southern Outreach Center in Oakland on Dec. 2 and Dec. 4 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

The course is designed for individuals who wish to obtain additional skills and knowledge of basic computer operations. Topics to be covered include: Window operations; files; folders; diskettes/CDs; accessing the Internet; web pages and e-mail.

The instructor will be Beverley Williams, local Small Business Counselor, and co-author of The 30-Second Commute: The Ultimate Guide to Starting and Operating a Business From Home (McGraw-Hill 2004).

For additional information persons may contact Patricia Baer, Southern Outreach Center Coordinator by calling 301-334-8304, or via e-mail at patricia.baer@garrettcollege.edu. To register for these courses, persons may contact Continuing Education and Workforce Development by calling 301-387-3069.

AURORA/EGLON

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

The Mtn. Lions are hosting a buckwheat and sausage dinner at the Mt. Grove Community Center building this Saturday, Nov. 22, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Adult dinners cost $7, children's dinners are $4, and preschool age children and under eat for frec. Proceeds will help fund some of the club's community projects.

HUNTERS' BREAKFAST

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a hunters' breakfast with the menu including: buckwheat cakes, pancakes, fresh sausage, sausage biscuits and gravy, bacon, home fries, eggs, and drinks. The price is all-you-can-cat, with adults costing $7, children ages 3-11 costing $3, and children under age 3 eat for free. The fire hall is located on Rt. 50 East, Aurora.

UNION SENIORS

Vice president Dee Douglas presided at the Nov. 13 meeting of the Union District Seniors. A total of 33 people attended the covered dish dinner, and Mary Jane Hanline provided devotions using Psalm 100, along with Thanksgiving meditations.

A county decision has been made to no longer hold county-wide parties, as attendance has been poor, and small clubs cannot host them. Holiday celebrations with special meetings, or any other type of celebration, will be up to local clubs. Because of poor participation, trips by bus to outside locations will now be combined with Monongalia County seniors. A shopping trip will be scheduled to Uniontown on Wednesday, Dec. 3. those interested in going need to make arrangements by calling Janice Tackett.

The December meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Dcc. 11. A turkey will be provided for the annual Christmas meal, and those attending are asked to bring a covered dish. Those attending are also asked to bring a non-perishable food item to be given to the Terra Alta Food Pantry instead of participating in a Christmas ornament exchange. Deanna Arnold will be responsible for devotions at the December meeting.

It has been decided that Union Seniors will be represented by John and Lisa Grasser at the Coalition on Aging (COAL) meetings.

A weigh-in that was held at the Eglon Clinic this week began a weight control effort to keep weight level down during the holiday season. The program requires weekly weigh-ins. County nurse Gelina Abitia distributed information on scams involving body fitness drugs and machines.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The public is invited to a Union Thanksgiving service hosted by Stemple Ridge Church on Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 7 p.m. The message will be brought by Pastor Shawn Roberts from Maple Grove Assembly of God.

BLOOD MOBILE

There will be a American Red Cross blood mobile held at Union Ambulance squad hall, Aurora, on Wednesday, Dec. 3, from 1 to 7 p.m. This will be the last local blood drive until spring.

PERSONAL

Correction: Kari Harsh's name was spelled incorrectly in the recent announcement about her white-coat ceremony.

Dale and Wilda Harsh, Aurora, were visited by their son and daughter-in-law, Roy and Mary Harsh, Fairfax, Va. They returned home on Sunday.

Members of Maple Spring Church enjoyed a Sunday Thanksgiving dinner, carry-in style, this past Sunday. Beautiful decorations and a snowy day made it a perfect indoor occupation.

Joseph and Stephanie (Childers) Hauser, Stemple Ridge, welcomed a little boy, Joseph Wade, born Sept. 11. He weighed 8 lbs. 8 oz. at birth and is already up to 14 lbs. His older brother Jacob may be slipping him extra nourishment. Congratulations to the family.

Patsy Nair has returned to her home, but is still battling pneumonia. Continue to remember her.

Mary, Shawn, and Craig Rembold spent the weekend in Pittsburgh, Pa., with the boys' grandmother, Eileen Rembold.

Visiting Friday to Sunday with Troy and Ruby Judy were their son Barry and his children Eddie and Alivia. They have since returned to their home in Forest Hills, Md.

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club held their annual achievement program on Monday, Nov. 10. With a chili and finger-food dinner, they began an evening of looking back at accomplishments. Parents and members also honored leaders Linda Lewis for 35 years of service and Elaine Roth for 30 years with a bouquet of flowers and a plaque for each of them. Those interested in joining the club should contact one of the leaders for more information.

Don and Neva Frantz recently visited their son and family, Melvin Ray, Melissa, Dakota, Violet, and Harmony Frantz, at Ft. Meade.

A number of relatives and friends attended the 90th birthday celebration open house for Lorain Hanline, Aurora. The affair was held at the Union squad hall with the grandchildren helping with preparations. Norman and Janice Hanline, Oakland, are the parents of the grandchildren.

Honor Society Induction Noted

Nicole Alexander, a junior at Preston High School, was inducted into the Excalibur Chapter of the National Honor Society on Oct. 19 during a ceremony held at the high school theater.

Members are chosen by their teachers for excellence in the four elements of the National Honor Society: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Members must also sustain a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or above.

Miss Alexander is the daughter of Barry and Jennifer Alexander of Terra Alta, granddaughter of Larry and Violet Alexander, also of Terra Alta, and granddaughter of Jim and Winny Sisler of Oakland.

The student is currently enrolled in honor classes and is interested in photography and art. She hopes to attend the University of the Arts in Philadelphia, Pa., after graduation from Preston High.

She is an active member of the Fire House Youth Group Ministry and the Praise and Dance Team, and assists with the nursery and junior children's church at the Crellin Assembly of God.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

TERRA ALTA BETTERMENT INC.

Terra Alta's annual Tree-Lighting Ceremony will be held on Dec. 5 at the community building after a parade through town. Santa Claus will be on hand with gifts to share. Refreshments will be served, compliments of the Terra Alta Betterment Inc. (TABI), the Terra Alta Civic Club, and Jean Yester.

There will be a live nativity and entertainment, plus drawing for the two Buckwheat Festival hogs donated to TABI by Clear Mountain Bank and Gregg's Pharmacy.

This annual event is made possible through the help of area businesses and residents who donate money and toys. The businesses will be open late on Dec. 5 and 6, so residents are encouraged to support them and shop locally.

HAPPY HANDS

The Corinth United Methodist Church will host the "Happy Hands for Christ" puppet ministry on Sunday, Nov. 23, at 4 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend. For more information or directions to the church, persons may call Pastor Timothy J. Kelley at 789-2520.

TERRA ALTA PUBLIC LIBRARY

The annual book sale was a success again this year. Donations will be accepted again after February 2009.

The National Endowment for the Arts has sent the second series of the "Big Read" audio guides. These are introductory guides to the following titles: A Lesson Before Dying by Ernest J. Gaines, A Wizard of Earthsea by Ursula K. LeGuin, The Thief and the Dogs by Naguib Mahfouz, The Shawl by Cynthia Ozick, Housekeeping by Marilynne Robinson, The Adventures of Tom Sawyer by Mark Twain, and Old School by Tobias Wolff.

Numerous books and other items were donated to the library recently. Douglas and Carolyn Auvil donated a book in memory of Donald Conklin. The Decision Support and Accounting Offices of WVU Hospital donated a number of books in honor of Lisa Gardner.

The late Juanita L. Gardner was the librarian at Terra Alta Public Library for 20 years. She was instrumental in the start of the library, with her first commitment being a member of the board of directors for the first year, and then accepting the position of librarian. She retired in December 1993. The following people donated books in her memory: Tiny Conley, Nancy Repine, Amy Stephens, Ron Biondi, Marsha Colebank, Leisa Lee, Hope Burnside, Forrest and Patty Pennington, Dwight and Sharon Haskiell, Betty Metheny, Ima Thomas, Lisa Gardner, Bernice Didio, Dorothy Burgess, Joe and Patricia Smith, Ralph and Emma J. Gibson, Rich and Lynda Hopkins, Howard and Barbara Metheny, Jim and Harriet Freeland, Tim and Nan Peters, The D&B Bridge Club, TRIAD Engineering, WVU Hospitals, Charles and Bonnie Eppert, and Jere Craig, Dorothy Bolyard, Decision Support and Accounting Offices of WVU Hospital, Wayne and Sue Williams, and Rex and Bobbi Wilcs.

Nancy Sturgeon donated several large print fiction books recently. Morgantown Library shares its large print with Terra Alta on a regular basis. Others donating have been Jason Chambers, Mary Ann Feather, Brian Schoolcraft, Pat Grimm, Arvilla Squires Estate, Nan Peters, Lorrie MacArgle, Ashley Mahowmand, and Stephen Hart.

4-H WRANGLERS

The Preston County 4-H Terra Alta Wranglers had a potluck dinner and awards ceremony on Nov. 13. First-year pins and certificates were given to Lacy Moats, Todd Moats, Savannaha Roberts, Niki Nice, Katie Nice, Stephania Redmond, Zoe Hanks Kushner (100% participation), and Falcia George.

Friend Volunteer certificates were given to Carol Burdick, J.R. Losh, Danny Hull, Rodney Mayne, Keren Hull, Bill Dunson, Bud Dunson, Cindy Sisler-Moats, Robert Barto, Donny Murphy, Fred Metheny, Leroy Nice, Jene Powel, and Chad Beanman.

The 4-H Award for Bronze Clover Volunteer Leader went to Amy Hanks. Special appreciation went to Tammy Hamrik, Danny Hull, and Joyce Hull.

Starting in December the 4-H will hold meetings at the community building in Terra Alta the first Tuesday of every month after school. For more information, persons may contact Lisa at 789-6515 or Amy at 698-9166.

Caregiver Support Group Mtg. Noted

The next Alzheimer/Caregiver Support Group meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 24, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department, 1025 Memorial Drive, Oakland, Conference Room A.

This month's topic will be "Home for the Holidays." Concerns and advice for caregivers during the holiday season will be discussed. Light refreshments will be served. Anyone is welcome to attend.

For those who require respite services in order to attend, the Area Agency on Aging will provide funding to cover that cost. Persons may contact Leonard Terry at the area agency at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., for information.

For more information on the Alzheimer/Caregivers Support Group, persons may contact the health department at 301-334-7740 or 301-895-3113.

Shooting Match To Be Held By Mt. Grove VFD

Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department will hold a shooting match this Sunday, Nov. 23, beginning at 1 p.m.

Shells will be furnished by Mt. Grove, with only 12- to 16- and 20-guage shot guns allowed. Concessions will also be available.

Mt. Grove is located approximately 8 miles past Red House on Rt. 219 South.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that Heritage Coal & Natural Resource, LLC, 208 West Mud Pike Road, Rockwood, PA 15557, has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The operation is to be located near Klondike, Maryland. The proposed operation occupies a 36-acre tract on the west side of south side of Woodland Creek, 1.0 mile west of Klondike, Election District 11 of Garrett County; 652,800N/240,000E. Access to the site is from Hersick Road, 1.0 mile west of the intersection with Klondike Road.

Surface and mineral of the area to be mined is owned by Koontz Coal Company, P.O. Box 228, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. The permit area is located within the US Geologic Survey Barton and Lonaconing, MD 7.5 minute quadrangle, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) office 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532, during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan Jr., N ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568, or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section, 301-689-1440. A public hearing will be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on interested persons' list regarding this application, will be received until December 20, 2008 by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532, Attention: OPA-08-67.

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing, or request to be included on the list of interested persons. 10/30-11/20(4)

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
OAKLAND, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Kevin J. Huelsman, dated January 29, 2007 and recorded in Liber 1284, folio 266 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on DECEMBER 1, 2008 AT 11:00 A.M.

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as Is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $66,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement within ten days of the ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all of the expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sale price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. Purchaser(s) acknowledge the obligation to settle within ten days of ratification of the foreclosure sale. In the event that settlement does not occur within ten days, the purchaser(s) shall be in default. Upon such default, Sub. Trustees shall file a Motion and Order to resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser(s). Purchaser(s) hereby consent to entry of such resale order without further notice. The defaulting purchaser(s) shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water and all public charges including electrical, sanitation and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, are to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents. (Matter #538125)

ALL that piece or parcel of land situated In Election District No. 9, Garrett County, Maryland, and being more particulariy described as follows (Magnetic Meridian August 14, 2000 and Horizontal Measurements being used throughout) to wit:

BEGINNING for the same at a 5/8 inch iron pin set on the Northwesterly side of Blocher Road, a new division corner of a deed dated May 13, 1933, William E. Wampler and Elvie N. Phennicie, Personal Representative of the Estate of Mary E. Wampler, to William E. Wampler and Thelma D. Wampler, his wife, and recorded in Deed Liber No. 604, folio 284, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, said point of beginning also being located at the end of a reference line drawn North 49 degrees 28 minutes 35 seconds West 31.63 feet from an axle found; thence with and binding on the Northwesteriy side of Blocher Road, South 34 degrees 19 minutes 08 seconds West 175.78 feet to a 5/8 inch iron pin set at the end of a reference line drawn North 38 degrees 52 minutes 04 seconds West 47.53 feet from an axle found; thence leaving Blocher Road and by the following three new division lines of the lands of William E. Wampler, et ux. (608/284) North 40 degrees 40 minutes 24 seconds West 513.12 feet to a 5/8 inch Iron pin set; thence North 34 degrees 19 minutes 08 seconds East 175.78 feet to a 5/8 inch iron pin set; thence South 40 degrees 40 minutes 24 seconds East 513.13 feet to the place of BEGINNING.

IT BEING the same property conveyed unto Gregory J. Durst and Chrissy N. Durst, husband and wife, by deed from Morris Warnick and Vicky Warnick, dated October 11, 2005, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Deed Liber 1166, folio 344.

The above-described property (the "Property") also being all the same property which was conveyed by the Grantor by Deed of Trust dated May 11, 2006, to The First National Bank of McConnellsburg, and recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 1219, page 153.

TERMS OF SALE: The Property is being sold and will be conveyed free and clear of the lien of the above-referenced Deed of Trust and all subordinate liens and encumbrances. The Property is being sold and will be conveyed "As Is, Where Is", without recourse, together with and subject to all applicable conditions, restrictions, covenants, limitations, rights of way, streets, alleys, reservations, easements, and appurtenances of record and subject also to all environmental conditions affecting the Property, if any. The undersigned Substitute Trustee makes no warranties or representations, express or implied, with respect to any matters concerning the Property, included but not limited to, condition of the Property, matters of survey or title, tenancies or parties In possession, zoning compliance, housing or other governmental or regulatory violations, etc.

A deposit of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) (the "Deposit") will be required at the time of sale in cash or by certified check or other form of payment acceptable to the undersigned Substitute Trustee in the said Substitute Trustee's sole discretion; the balance to be paid upon ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland; except that no deposit shall be required of the holder (the "Holder") of the note secured by the Deed of Trust where the Holder bids on the Property at the sale and payment of the purchase price by the Holder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of Court ratification, and at the rate of twenty percent (20%) per annum from the date of Court ratification to the date of settlement. No interest shall accrue on the Deposit. If the successful bidder (the "Purchaser") fails to make settlement within fifteen (15) days following the date of Court ratification, time being of the essence thereto, the entire Deposit may, at the option of the undersigned Substitute Trustee, be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages and notice of said forfeiture shall be provided to the Purchaser by the Substitute Trustee. If the Deposit Is not forfeited as liquidated damages, but Is instead retained by the Substitute Trustee in escrow pending resale of the Property, the Property may be resold by the Substitute Trustee at the risk and expense of the defaulting Purchaser, and the Deposit thereafter shall be applied as required to any subsequently realized loss of the Substitute Trustee by virtue of the default by the said Purchaser and the required resale of the Property including any expenses Incidental thereto. All taxes, water, and other public charges and assessments shall be pro-rated on and as of the date of said sale and shall be assumed thereafter by the Purchaser. Following the date of sale, all risk of loss to the Property shall be assumed by the Purchaser. The Purchaser shall pay the cost of all recordation taxes, transfer taxes (including but not limited to that agricultural land transfer tax imposed by Maryland Tax Property Code §§13-302; which said tax may be applicable to the sale and transfer of the Property), document preparation and other costs of settlement. The Purchaser shall be entitled to physical possession of the Property only after settlement; however, the Substitute Trustee assumes no responsibility to place the Purchaser in such possession of the Property. The undersigned specifically reserves the right to reject any bids submitted. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right at the sale to vary, modify, alter or qualify any of the foregoing terms or conditions of sale.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

SUDDEN WEATHER SWINGS

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. We are having the craziest weather I can ever remember! What's causing it?

A. The autumn of 2008 has been marked by weather extremes that we haven't seen in years. The first few days of the season (Sept 22-24) were very cold for September. Then early October was exceptionally warm through Autumn Glory Festival; people were water-skiing on October 14. Behmd that came a sudden cold spell, some unusual warmth, and snow in late October and a few days in the first half of November when the temperature in Oakland nearly hit 70 F. People began to wonder: What season is it, anyway?

When it gets unusually warm, it's tempting to say "Aha! Must be global warming." But then a cold spell clobbers that idea. The important point is to distinguish between weather and climate. In any one place, the ordinary condition is for the weather not to be average.

Weather trends happen on the scale of a continent. If the Weather Channel says a storm is about to hit Seattle, a remnant of the disturbance may reach the Appalachians in about five days. When an Arctic blast comes roaring down from Hudson's Bay, the eastern half of America might be bitterly cold while the west is basking in sunshine. For example, on Monday of this week, it was warmer in Denver than in Atlanta.

A few years ago in this column, on the subject of lake-effect snow, I wrote: "For any lake-effect snow to reach all the way into the mountains of Maryland, it would require a truly exceptional combination of wind, water temperature, and moisture content." In October 2008, that happened, amid several days of sustained high winds. Lake-effect snow reached as far south as Charleston, W Va.

Still, we in the Appalachian mountains got nowhere near the snow that fell on upstate New York. We're usually exempt from the lake effect. In recent days, heavy snow was carried off Lake Erie in an eastward direction, and didn't reach us. (We got our own snow just because of cold combined with moisture.)

As for climate, that's a matter of looking for trends over several decades – even an entire year doesn't tell anything. The climate is an extremely complex system relating oceans, land, and atmosphere, and it constantly changes.

There are all kinds of cycles in the flow of currents in the oceans and the atmosphere. Such cycles affect the weather for decades at a time – the North Atlantic Oscillation (NAO), the Pacific Decadal Oscillation (PDO), the El Nino Southern Oscillation (ENSO), and more. The last is the only one that most Americans have heard of: It begins with a pool of warm water in the Pacific Ocean west of Peru, and affects the weather in North America for a year or so afterward. Each cycle operates on its own time scale, but they interact with one another.

Elsewhere in the world, other cycles are taking place, too. The monsoon season in India is cyclical; and if still another cycle interacts with it, there might be either drought or exceptionally heavy rains. Australia and South America don't come to our attention much, but while we have had several consecutive mild winters, their winters (June-September) have been harsh lately. Snow in Johannesburg, South Africa, amazed everyone living there.

Are these occurrences just weather, or a changing climate? No one knows for sure. The idea that the southern hemisphere is cooling while the northern hemisphere is warming has been suggested, but in the absence of any good reason for that, we have no persuasive explanation.

Big computer programs, called General Circulation Models (GCMs), try to model the climate, but with very limited success. The effects of small clouds, big clouds, high clouds, and low clouds, make the task terribly difficult.

One quip sums it up well: "Telling people that climate changes is like saying men don't have babies."

On a more practical level, one of the most charming books in American history has been the Farmer's Almanac, which offers long-range predictions about weather. The decisions about what crops to plant, and when, are very important in farming. The Farmer's Almanac has gained a reputation for being right more often than it's wrong.

The growth of fur on certain animals is a means of predicting weather with which some folks are satisfied. Any kind of scientific explanation for that is a long way off.

Dr Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

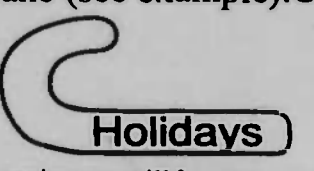
WORD FIND

Here at The Republican offices, things can get pretty hectic, especially during the holiday season. We had a special Holiday quote for you, but somehow all the words got lost! Help us out by looking through the pages of this supplement and gathering up all the words that appear in a candy cane (see example).Candy canes will be in boxed advertisements.

Example Word (not used in quote):



The deadline for entries is Friday, Dec. 12. The winners will be announced in the Dec. 18th issue of The Republican and can pick up their prize at The Republican office in Oakland any time after that.

Correct entries must include the completed quote along with the page number on which the word appears.

*Incomplete or unreadable entries will not be considered!

"HO! HO! HO!" – It's hard to believe that it is nearly time once again for all of us to get ready for another Christmas (and Hanukah, Cuanza, etc.) season, and this special publication is designed to assist our readers with their holiday shopping and various season preparations. It is published earlier than normal this year, as local merchants are already beginning to offer "pre-Black Friday" prices on much of their merchandise. Expected to make his usual – and multiple – visits to a number of locations in the county again this year is Jolly Old St. Nick himself, pictured above with his chauffer Jim Feather and daughter.

10th Annual Joy Of Christ Celebration Set, Featuring 15 Different Performances

The 10th annual Joy of Christ Celebration, held each year at the Oakland Community Center (former armory), will be held Dec. 1 through 5 and will feature 15 different performances.

The event is free and open to the public. No donations are requested or accepted.

"You can't buy a thing, even if you want to," said Paul Browning, organizer.

The free admission includes children's crafts, performer CD giveaways, refreshments and candy, and a Christmas trivia contest.

The event is supported by area businesses and churches, Browning said. It was launched in 1999 when a small group of people wanted to do something for the Garrett County community at Christmastime.

"Our county features a lot of Christmas performances each year, but many people don't attend them because they either aren't familiar enough with the location or their financial situation does not allow them to pay even a $5 admission fee for their family members," Browning said. "In response to this, the Joy of Christ Celebration is an annual Christmas event to offer high-quality seasonal entertainment for citizens and visitors of Garrett County, focusing on the spirit, joy, and historical events on which the Christmas celebration is based."

JOY OF CHRIST OFFERS VARIETY – The 10th annual Joy of Christ Celebration will offer a wide range of entertainment from Dec. 1 to 5, including clogging. All events will take place at the Oakland Community Center (former armory). The Still Kickin' Cloggers will present a program on Monday, Dec. 1, at 6:40 p.m. The group was originally organized in 2003 as a fun way to get great exercise. The cloggers continue to encourage their audiences to stomp, clap, and holler. The group invites all to the free public performance. Audience particlpation is welcome.

Handel's "Messiah" To Be Presented By Garrett Choral Soc.

The Garrett Choral Society, under the direction of Julie Turrentine, will present George Frideric Handel's masterpiece, Messiah. The performances will be given on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. They will be held in St. Peter's Catholic Church, located along 4th Street in Oakland.

Messiah (HWV 56) is an oratorio by Handel based on a libretto by Charles Jennens. Composed in the summer of 1741 and premiered in Dublin on April 13, 1742, Messiah is Handel's most famous creation and is among the most popular works in Western choral literature, and features the well-known "Hallelujah" chorus.

The choral society's performance will feature solos by tenor Michael Horton. A career singer, Horton most recently performed in St. Remy de Provence in the south of France in concert with the New York City Ballet. Other recent performances include Laud to the Nativity of Respighi and the Christmas Oratorio of Saint-Saens in Los Angeles.

Horton is now a full-time resident of Mountain Lake Park, and makes frequent trips to New York City for his entertainment endeavors. His extensive work on the PBS series Mister Rogers' Neighborhood can now be seen and heard worldwide, as many of his featured episodes have been sold for use in foreign markets. He said he is delighted to be part of the Garrett Choral Society's presentation.

Also serving as soloists in the performance will be Jane Noland, Carolyn Deverse, and Mikal Zimmerman, sopranos; Karen Winkelvoss and Mary McEwen, altos; and David Callis and Wayne Callis, basses.

Accompanying the group for the performance will be Lynn Grimm and Muriel Franc, pianists/organists. The approximately 50-member chorus is made up of singers from across Garrett County and from nearby West Virginia.

GARRETT CHORAL SOCIETY

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for youth under 18. They are currently available from any choral society member, or at Jan Florist or Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland.

The performance is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council.

OTT To Host Second Annual Holiday Market

Our Town Theatre's second annual Christmas Market will be held at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Social Hall on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This event is a fundraiser to support local artists as well as to help pay for Our Town Theatre's Backstage building, which is the new scenery, costume, and prop shop located along Center Street in Oakland.

Market activities will include shopping for handmade gifts, a Christmas Cafe with chili and "Fair Trade" coffee and tea, bake sale, gift wrapping, and Christmas music and readings.

A wide variety of gifts will be available at the market, including handmade fine stoneware, watercolors, nature photography and cards, art glass jewelry, ornaments, bottle stoppers, hand-knit and felted gifts and dolls, wooden puzzles, baskets, cutting boards, holiday grapevine wreaths, handmade rugs, silk Christmas flower arrangements and wreaths, Gortner folk art, handmade Christmas cards, Amish cookbooks, Fair Trade chocolates, sports toys and balls, CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) salsa, and fabric bags.

Door prize tickets will be drawn throughout the day, with a sleigh ride with Pleasant Valley Dream Rides among the gifts.

For more information, persons may call OTT at 301-334-5640.

GC Concert Band To Present Holiday Concert Dec. 7

GARRETT COMMUNITY CONCERT BAND

"Christmas Around the World" is the name of the 2008 holiday concert that will be presented by the Garrett Community Concert Band on Sunday, Dec. 7, at the Garrett College auditorium, beginning at 2 p.m.

According to conductor Moe Turrentine, music from a number of different nations will be featured, and a special guest vocal soloist will be Patti Wolfe, former director of operations for the Singing Sergeants of the United States Air Force. (See separate article on Ms. Wolfe elsewhere in this publication.)

Patti Wolfe will sing a pair of American favorites, "White Christmas" and "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas."

Among the international selections will be "A Russian Christmas," "Celtic Carol," "Patapan," and a Ukrainian number titled "Carol of the Bells."

Trim-A-Tree Project Slated In Kitzmiller

The Kitzmiller Empowerment Group will host a Trim-a-Tree Project during the Old-Fashioned Christmas Celebration 2008.

"Through your donations we will adorn the Christmas tree in front of the town hall with bows to honor, remember, encourage, and support loved ones," a spokesperson said.

Bows are $5 each and there will be one name per bow. The colors will stand for the following: red, remembrance; white, support the police, fire and rescue personnel; gold, honor; and red, white, and blue, support the country and military.

The tree decorating and old-fashioned Christmas celebration will take place on Dec. 5, beginning at 6 p.m., at the Kitzmiller Town Hall. The program will feature a visit from Santa Claus, Christmas caroling, sleigh rides, craft for kids and adults, and refreshments. Everyone is welcome to purchase a bow to honor and support loved ones and/or to support a local organization.

For more information, persons may contact Mike Brady at 301-453-3193 or Kathy Elliott at 301-334-7730.

Local Red Cross Chapter To Host 17th "Home For The Holidays" House Tours

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross will host the 17th annual "Home for the Holidays" House Tours. The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The five stops on this year's circuit are as follows: Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the WildWood Athletic Club, a private home along Markwood Drive, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

As in the past, tour participants will be asked to remove their shoes before entering the sites, and no photographing or videotaping will be permitted.

Stories about several of the sites are printed in this special supplement.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153, 301-334-9727, or 301-334-4465.

Oakland To Host "A Great Small Town Christmas"

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) and Main Street will host a variety of events throughout the holiday season, all under the name of "A Great Small Town Christmas."

The schedule of events is as follows:

Friday, Nov. 28: Town stores will off "Black Friday" sales all day. The crowning of the Snowflake Queen and Princess will take place at 6 p.m., followed by a parade to herald the arrival of Santa Claus at 6:30 p.m.

Santa will settle in at the 'Santa Shack," located along Second Street, from 7 to 9 p.m., welcoming youngsters in to tell him their wishes for Christmas this year.

Horse-drawn sleigh rides will be available from 6 to 9 that evening.

Saturday, Nov 29: Horse-drawn sleigh rides will be given from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 5: Santa will again be at the Santa Shack from 6 to 9 p.m., and sleigh rides will be given during the same time period.

Saturday, Dec. 6: Horse-drawn sleigh rides, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Greenery workshop at Jan Florist, noon to 1:30 p.m.; fee: $35.

Friday, Dec. 12: Santa at the Santa Shack and horse-drawn sleigh rides, 6 to 9 p.m.; Alder Street Christmas, specials at the stores along Alder St., and live sheep display, all 6 to 9 p.m. Greenery workshop at Jan Florist, 6 to 7:30 p.m.; fee, $35.

Saturday, Dec. 13: Horse-drawn sleigh rides, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 19: Santa at the Santa Shack and horse-drawn sleigh rides, 6 to 9 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 20: , Santa at the Santa Shack and horse-drawn sleigh rides, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Greenery workshop at Jan Florist, noon to 1:30 p.m.; fee, $35.

"ALL IS CALM, ALL IS BRIGHT" – Area residents will enjoy many picturesque scenes as they make their way to church services, retail stores, and family dinners this holiday season. Pictured is the Garrett County Historical Society Museum gazebo in Oakland.

Church Of God Children To Give Play: Angel Alert!

The Loch Lynn Church of God's Kidz Factory children, from ages 6 to 11, will perform the play Angel Alert! on Friday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m., and again on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m. The program is under the direction of Jennifer Loughry and Krystal Shreve, who invite the public to attend.

The children who are 5 and younger will sing in the Cherub Choir each evening before the performance.

The church is located along Route 560 in Loch Lynn, next to the WKHJ radio station. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3221.

"'Angel' means 'messenger,' and what better way to spread the message at Christmas time than with angels?" a church spokesperson said. "In Angel Alert, our entire children's choir is made up of angels, all waiting to be told when to go to Earth and make the grand announcement. The musical is full of worship and plenty of celebration, since the angels understand the love God has for his people in sending his Son to earth."

GC 2008 Festival Of Trees Slated For Nov. 27-30

Garrett County's 2008 Festival of Trees will take place at the former Oakland Armory building, Nov. 27 to Nov. 30, and will offer activities and special events to give the community a chance to get into the Christmas spirit.

The Festival of Trees is a multi-day family oriented fundraising festival which promises lots of family fun, music, crafts, entertainment, and daily events. Proceeds from this year's celebration will benefit the Dove Center's new building fund.

The festival will be open to the public starting on Thanksgiving Thursday, Nov. 27, from 4 to 8 p.m., with a reduced admission. Offered at the festival will be a light exhibit; tree, wreath, centerpiece, and gingerbread house sales; Mrs. Claus's holiday story; and a family scavenger hunt. Refreshments and craft vendors will also be on site.

GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT OF GIVING – Shown putting the final touches on some entries for the Festival of Trees event are Studio 24E manager Daniel Leatherman, left, and Studio 24E co-owner Nina Tate-Elliot. The festival is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 27, through Sunday, Nov. 30, at the Oakland Community Center. Proceeds benefit the Dove Center. See story for details.

Senior's Day will be Friday, Nov. 28, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. with Holiday Bingo starting off the morning from 10:30 a.m. to noon and again in the afternoon from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The Holly Berry/Teddy Bear Tea time runs from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday, and persons are encouraged to bring a guest or teddy bear to enjoy a variety of flavorful teas, puff pastries, and sweets.

Saturday, Nov. 29, is officially Holly Jolly Kids Day, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with a chance for children to have brunch with Santa and pals from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Reservations are needed.

Also on Saturday, children can write and send their letters to Santa, play games in Frosty's Funland, and enjoy story time with Mrs. Claus. A variety of crafts, activities, movies, storytelling, and music will also be available. All is included in the festival's admission.

Enjoy the holiday tunes of DJ Jonny Rock on Saturday from 7 to 11 p.m., and bid on trees, wreaths, and gingerbread houses during the live and silent auctions. Appetizers will be served, and a cash bar will be available. This is a special ticket event, and reservations are required. Tick-

Six Simple Tips On How To Have The Best Holiday Ever, Even On A Grinch's Budget

It's hard to get excited about the holidays when it costs more to fill up your gas tank than it does to buy a Christmas tree. Making plans for the holiday season is more stressful when you're on a tight budget, and it's easy to find yourself down in the dumps when you'd rather be decking the halls.

So what can a cash-poor holiday elf do to keep her spirits up and gifts under the tree on a shoestring budget?

 Don't panic.

If Santa can supply gifts for the children of the world in one night, anything is possible. You, too, can have an amazing holiday season without breaking the bank or the spirit of the season – it just takes a little planning ahead.

By starting a few weeks early and sticking to a timeline, you can give yourself some much-needed breathing room come crunch-time. You'll even have more time to enjoy the season with family and friends because you'll be tackling your to-do list over time, not all at once.

 Get serious about your budget.

It's time to get serious with your budget. Start by writing down how much you want to spend on holiday gifts, cards, decorations, and celebrations. If your total doesn't reflect the reality of your bank account, start over.

While it's hard to cut costs on special items like Uncle Pete's favorite slippers, these items can easily be covered if they're in your budget at the start. Stick to your budget – but create a slush fund to cover unexpected surprises, like that last-minute secret snowman gift for the office party.

If money is scarce but your list is long, consider starting a new holiday tradition: Send an easily shared group gift to relatives, such as a harvest basket full of tasty seasonal treats. You'll save money by avoiding individual gifts and make gift giving a breeze in the future by carrying on your new tradition.

 It's the thought that counts.

When you give a gift, you're letting someone know you care, no matter how big or small that gift is. If you think you're not spending enough on loved ones for the holidays, remember how special you feel when you get something nice from someone in the mail – it's always nice to be remembered. In this day and age of e-mail and instant gratification, going out of your way to do something kind for someone speaks louder than words or a gift card from a big-box store.

Six Simple Tips

 Look to old traditions for new inspiration.

While taking the entire family for a good old-fashioned wassailing might not be in the game plan this December, taking cultural cues from bygone days isn't a bad idea at all. Some families take to the woods to cut down their own tree for the holiday; others await the annual arrival of the Swiss Colony catalog before kicking off the season.

Your friends and family can start a new tradition easily – all it takes is a fun activity to bring you all together. A time-honored tradition that's fun for the whole family is building and decorating a gingerbread house together. While making one from scratch can be challenging, it's a snap to order a premade kit online.

 Shop smarter to save more.

It's easy to buy more than you need at the mall, so avoid that trap by shopping online or using catalogs to nip impulse purchases.

Another way to shop smart is to take advantage of budget-friendly credit plans offered by many retailers, including Swiss Colony, which can help stretch out payments over time and ease the strain on your wallet.

 The cheapest gift you'll ever give: Love.

By demonstrating your love in little ways during the season, you'll brighten the holidays of everyone around you. Make a CD of your favorite holiday songs for a friend or organize an afternoon of fun-filled sledding with the neighbors.

Afraid of being labeled a Scrooge? Take a lesson from corporate America. You're not downsizing, you're rightsizing by focusing on the things that really matter during the holidays: spending time with friends and family and making wonderful memories together.

How To Keep Real Trees Safe, Fresh, Beautiful

The National Christmas Tree Association offers the following tips to help keep your real tree safe, alive with a fresh pine scent, and providing beauty throughout the holiday season:

•Select the freshest-looking tree available. To test for freshness, gently grasp a branch between your thumb and forefinger and pull it toward you. Very few needles should come off in your hand. Shake or bounce the tree on its stump. You should not see an excessive amount of green needles fall to the ground. Some loss of interior brown needles is normal.

•If not setting up right away, store the tree in water if possible and out of the sun and wind.

•The stand you use should hold at least one quart of water for every inch diameter of the trunk after the tree is in the stand.

•Don't add anything to the tree's water. Research has shown that plain tap water is by far the best. Some commercial additives and home concoctions can actually be detrimental to a tree's moisture retention and increase needle loss.

•Place the Christmas tree well away from heat registers, space heaters, fire places, wood stoves, televisions, computer monitors and other heat sources. These will speed up evaporation and moisture loss of the tree.

More information about the National Christmas Tree Association and live trees is available at realchristmastrees.org.

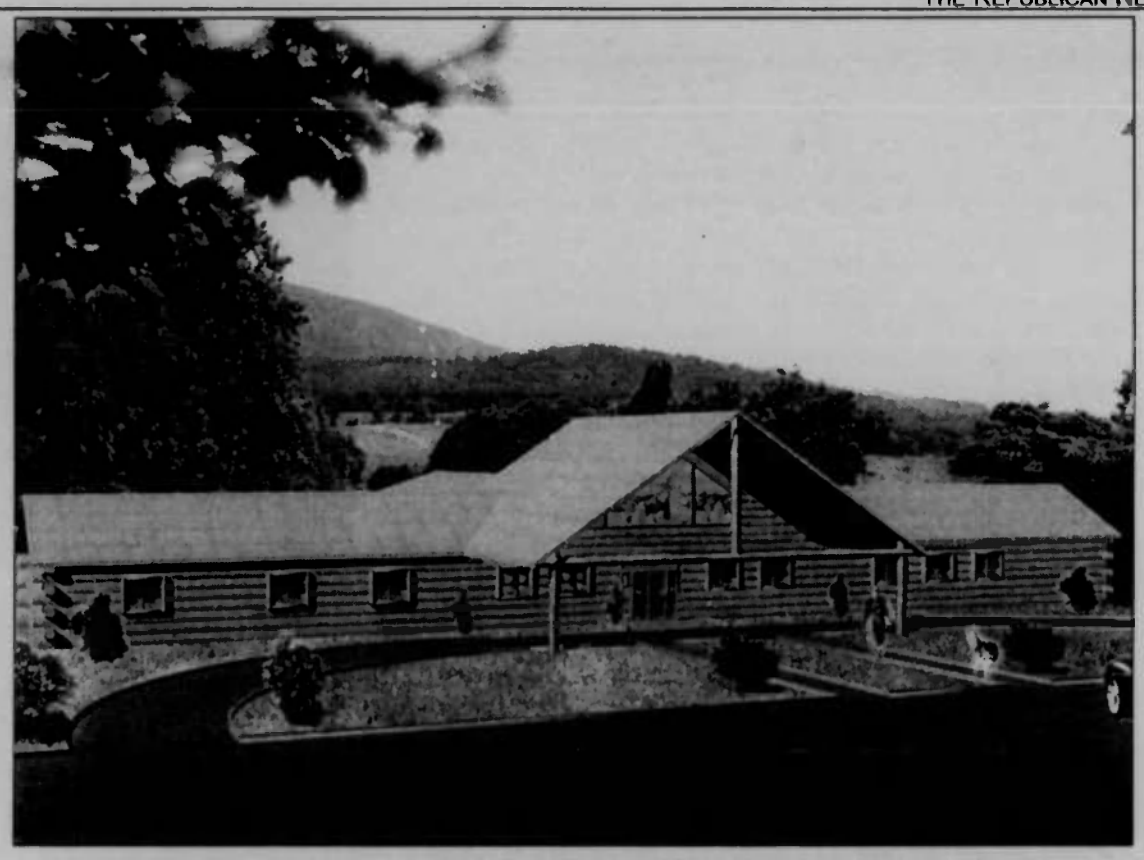
HART To Hold Fur Ball Gala New Year's Eve

HART for Animals has announced that Garrett County's first Fur Ball Gala will take place on New Year's Eve at the Oakland Community Center (former National Guard Armory) on Wednesday, Dec. 31.

HART's new president, Michael Pellet, explained that the Fur Ball will become an annual fundraising event for HART's proposed Garrett County animal adoption center.

The term Fur Ball is used by many national and local animal organizations to denote an elegant party or ball designed to raise funds for "furry friends," he added.

"HART's Fur Ball will be a wonderful diversion for our residents and guests," said Oakland business owner Nina Tate-Elliott, chairperson for the event. "Not only will it be an occasion of casual elegance, suitable for our weather and the holiday, but it will have something for everyone: a great band – Queen City Funk & Soul – delicious food, a cash bar, a casino room, and a silent auction."



HOLIDAY FUNDRAISER TO BENEFIT ANIMAL ADOPTION CENTER – HART for Animals Inc. has scheduled its first Fur Ball Gala for New Year's Eve, Wednesday, Dec. 31, at the Oakland Community Center. Proceeds will benefit the nonprofit organization's proposed animal adoption center (pictured). See story.

HART also has been selling raffle tickets for a 2008 Pontiac Solstice, and the winning ticket will be selected at the ball.

"It will also help Oakland by attracting people into the town at a time when we have fewer activities," Tate-Elliot said about the gala.

Additional details will be provided on HART's web site, hartforanimals.org, or can be obtained by writing to furball@hartforanimals.org.

Tickets for the Fur Ball can be obtained from various local businesses or from HART's web site.

The cost per couple will be $125 if tickets are purchased before Dec. 1, or $150 if purchased during the month of December. Raffle tickets for the Pontiac Solstice are also still available.

HART for Animals Inc. is a 501(c)(3) organization, established in Oakland in 2003 to rescue homeless animals in Garrett County.

Town Light-Up In Friendsville To Be Held Dec. 6

The annual Friendsville Town Light-Up event will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Friendsville fire hall.

The celebration is open to the public. There will be treats, music, and pictures with Santa, which will cost $1 or a canned good.

Easy Ways To Give Back During The Holiday Season

Photolibrary

Your life is busy any time of the year, but with the holidays comes a longer to-do list and more stress. So, how can you embody the giving spirit of the season in an efficient way without breaking the bank (or your back)?

There are easy ways to give back during the holiday season if you just get a little creative and make a resolution to share.

* When you're out raking leaves or shoveling snow, clean up an elderly neighbor's yard as well.

* When cleaning your home to prepare for guests and parties, give extra clothing, furniture, and "stuff" to charity. If something has been stuffed into a closet and hasn't seen the light of day for a year or more, it can go. Old blankets, towels and piles of newspapers can be donated to local animal shelters to help care for abandoned dogs, cats, and small critters.

* Look for opportunities that can be effortless with your everyday activities. For example, take your routine banking activity. By signing up for Bank of America's new "Unite, Give, Cure" checking program, a contribution is made to the American Cancer Society, American Diabetes Association and American Heart Association at each new account opening, anniversary of the account opening and each time a person makes a purchase with one's "Unite, Give, Cure" check card. Visit www.bankofamerica.com/unitegivecure to sign up. Some restrictions, including balance requirements, may apply.

"People want to give back to society and to make an impact on the community," says Patrick M. Rooney, interim executive director of the Center on Philanthropy at Indiana University. "This initiative offers a charitable opportunity that is rewarding to the giving public, these leading nonprofits, and those who count on them."

* Do online shopping through a charitable search engine such as iGive.com. Choose your favorite charity, shop, and the organization receives a contribution based on the amount of your purchase. You can maximize your good works by using your "Unite, Give, Cure" check card, and your purchase will also help benefit the American Cancer Society, American Diabetes Association, and American Heart Association, as well.

* Instead of bringing the token bottle of wine as a host gift to holiday parties you've been invited to, make a donation in your host's name to a local charity.

* Use buy-one-get-one-free coupons to purchase an item for yourself and donate the extra free item.

* Instead of making a list of clothes and gifts you won't usc, ask for donations to be made in your name to your favorite charity.

* Order cards and address labcls through nonprofit organizations, and a portion of your purchase will benefit them. This also helps get the word out about the organization.

* If you get a new gadget likc a cell phone or digital camera, contact the manufacturer of your old device and ask if there is a way to recycle or donate it.

Thcre are easy ways to incorporate giving into your cveryday holiday activities. This ycar, make your holiday count, and remember to give back. You could be on the receiving end some day.

Christmas Cookies To Be Available At Oakland Church

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will hold its annual Christmas Cookie Walk on Sat., Dec. 13, from 9 until 11 a.m. Containers will be provided. The event will take place in the church's fellowship hall.

A wide selection of traditional favorites and many unique varieties of cookies will be available, according to an event spokesperson.

Craft items will also be available for purchase. Proceeds benefit various mission projects of the United Methodist Women.

The church is located at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2391.

Local Residents Asked To Share Holiday Meals

The local Meals on Wheels program does not deliver meals on Thanksgiving or Christmas. Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, therefore, is asking residents to deliver a hot meal on those days to frail, homebound local senior citizens who do not have family in the area.

"Would you be willing to help?" asked an AAA spokesperson. "It is as easy as making an additional plate of food and bringing it to the home of the senior citizen."

Volunteers are usually needed in the northern and southern sections of the county, she noted. Persons who would like to volunteer are asked to call AAA at 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

BUNDLE UP FOR THE OAKLAND CHRISTMAS PARADE, because it's almost always quite cold for marchers and observers alike, as evident in this 2007 photo of the Southern Garrett Marching Band. The annual Oakland Christmas parade is part of the "Great Small Town Christmas" series of events, and will take place on Friday, Nov. 28, beginning at about 6:30 p.m. The crowning of the Snowflake Queen and Princess will precede the parade at 6 p.m. at the gazebo. The special guest of the evening will be the guy in the red suit, who will settle in at the "Santa Shack," located along Second Street, to hear the wishes of little ones. There will be horse-drawn sleigh rides, special vendors, and the official unveiling of the traditional Scott Atwill miniature train display.

"Christmas In The Village" Scheduled At Spruce Forest

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville, will host "Christmas in the Village" on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 8 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 6, from noon to 8 p.m.

More than 400 candle luminaries will be displayed throughout the village, and visitors are invited to stop by the fire-warmed log cabin studios to meet the artists and purchase holiday gifts.

Holiday shoppers can also hear stories in the Miller House, and help the children decorate cookies in the Compton One-Room School.

At the House of Yoder, visitors will be able to witness an "Amish Christmas" and join carolers strolling the pathways through the traditional greenery and garlands. Live music will also be provided in the Village Church.

Refreshments will be served. Admission is free, but donations will be accepted.

ST. PETERSBURG MEN'S ENSEMBLE RETURNING TO ST. MATTHEW'S – St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland will again host the Russian singing group, St. Petersburg Men's Ensemble, in a concert on Saturday, Nov. 22, at the church, which is located at the corner of Liberty and Second streets. The show will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are $10 for general admission, and $5 for senior citizens and youth 12 and younger. The singers pictured are Kirill Sokolov, Alexander Korbakov, Evgeny Vishnevsky, and Vadim Smantser, all of whom have extended credentials as performing vocalists. The men will open with a Bach prelude and fugue, and will then present a wide array of contemporary, classical, and traditional Russian songs. The public is invited to attend.

Military Support Group Offers Help During All Seasons

The local Military Family Support Group is a voluntary organization that helps families meet the challenges of military life, not only during the Christmas season but throughout the year.

"We welcome families of all branches of the armed forces," said a group spokesperson. "We involve the entire family, as well as people from the community. Families get together through the group and share many types of practical and emotional support."

Meetings and activities are scheduled on a regular basis. The group usually meets at Oak Park Church of the Brethren, located across from Southern High School.

Members have been busy boxing up "care packages" to send to troops serving overseas during the holidays. Persons are invited to contribute an item or two to include in

Faith Evangelical Free Church To Open Doors For Red Cross Tours

Faith Evangelical Free Church, located at 1009 Maryland Highway, Mtn. Lake Park, will be a stop on this year's Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross "Home for the Holidays" House Tours. The church is located on the grounds of the former Mtn. Lake Park Hotel.

The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The Faith Evangelical Free church was built in 1990-91 under the direction of contractor Troy Gnegy. An addition that includes a fellowship hall, kitchen, and Christian education rooms was completed in 2007 under the supervision of the S&B Construction Company.

In both projects, much of the physical labor was done by members of the congregation. Memorial stained glass windows from the original church building in Loch Lynn Heights were restored and installed in the sanctuary in 1991. The windows are a sentimental favorite of many current and former attendees, a spokesperson said.

Although the building is relatively new, the church has deep roots in Garrett County. Loch Lynn United Brethren Church was founded in 1895. The original building was constructed in Loch Lynn Heights in 1899 on land donated by Mr. C.M. Rathbun. In 1946, after denomination mergers, the church body became the Loch Lynn Evangelical United Brethren Church.

When the EUB Church and Methodists merged in 1967, the congregation did not wish to be absorbed into this large organization and voted to become independent. Over the years, the church leaders studied doctrine and policies of various denominations, and in 1985 voted to affiliate with the Evangelical Free Church of America.

The EFCA was formed in 1950. It is an association of more than 1,500 autonomous and independent churches "united by a mutual commit-

DREAMING OF A NICE CHRISTMAS FOR ALL ANIMALS? The Garrett County Humane Society Is again accepting donations from persons who want to give a gift that will not be put away forgotten In a closet or returned to a store. "You may give a monetary gift to the Garrett County Humane Society in memory of a beloved pet or person who loved pets," said Lisa Baker, society president. "You may give any amount, just enclose a note with your check that lists the following Information: your name (who the gift Is from), the name and address of whom the gift card is to be sent to, and the amount being donated." This information will be written on a special Christmas card and mailed to the recipient stating that a donation has been given in his or her name. The check should be made payable to "The Garrett County Humane Society" and then mailed to GCHS Treasurer, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. All donations are used to benefit homeless or neglected animals or fund the society's spay/neuter voucher program. Some monies are also used to assist HART (Homeless Animal Rescue and Transport) for transporting animals to rescue facilities or to provide veterinarian services for animals at the county shelter. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.

ment to serve Jesus Christ under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and obedience to the word of God," the spokesperson said. Heading the EFCA distinctives are: "In essentials, unity. In non-essentials, charity. In all things, Jesus Christ." The term "evangelical" refers to the theology of the body and "free" refers to the governing structure of congregational rule, the spokesperson said.

The mission statement of Faith EFC is "Every Member a Missionary." This mission will be reflected in the Christian education rooms of the church during the Red Cross tour. The ministries of missionary groups from around the world that receive various levels of support from Faith EFC will be highlighted. The decorations in the Christian education rooms will have an international theme. Sunday school and Pioneer Club children will make decorations and ornaments for small trees in each room.

The sanctuary and foyer will be decorated simply, with wreaths, poinsettias, and greenery. A wooden manger will be in the baptistery at the front of the church, where it has held a "position of honor" in many children's Christmas pageants over the years, the spokesperson said.

All age groups will have a

Mt. Storm UMC To Host Trim A Tree Fundraiser, Nov. 30

The Mt. Storm area churches will be holding the annual Trim A Tree fundraiser program on Sunday, Nov. 30, at 3 p.m. at the Mt. Storm United Methodist Church to support Toys For Tots and the Mtn. Top Food Pantry, and to make care packages for those in the military.

The program will feature special music as well as guest speakers, one of which will be Rev. Clifford Schell.

Through donations of purchasing bows, participants will be able to adorn the pine tree in front of the church to remember, honor, and encourage loved ones and military personnel, past and present.

A dedication and open house will be held on the same evening for the new food pantry. Refreshments will be served in the fellowship hall, and all are welcome to attend.

Persons wishing to attend are encouraged to bring a non-perishable food item to donate to the food pantry as well as any addresses of soldiers overseas.

For more information or to purchase a bow, persons may call Linda at 304-693-7723, Nadine at 304-693-7556, or Debbie at 304-693-7074.

ALL DECKED OUT FOR THE HOLIDAYS – Tula is dressed in her finest Christmas sweater (and antlers?) and ready for the Garrett County Humane Society's annual holiday fundraiser. The nonprofit organization will have a sales table set up at Studio 24E in downtown Oakland on two different dates: Friday, Nov 28, and Friday, Dec. 12, both from 6 to 9 p.m. Members will be selling various items, including dog scarves, handmade ornaments, and specialized Monopoly games. New this year for coffee drinkers is "Bean-opoly." Profits from this fundraiser will go toward the Humane Society's spay/neuter program and to help homeless animals. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.

Ecumenical Service For Thanksgiving Eve Set In Oakland

St. Mark's Lutheran Church of Oakland and the Episcopal Church in Garrett County (St. John's and St. Matthew's) will once again host an ecumenical Community Thanksgiving Eve service of worship on Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 7 p.m.

The service will be held at St. Mark's, located at the corner of Center and South Second streets in Oakland. Pastor C. Scott Robinson will serve as celebrant, and Pastor Chip Lee will preach.

The worship service will include special music and congregational singing, led by St. Mark's Choir.

Proceeds from the collection will go to the local Warm the Children campaign. All are welcome.

part in preparing the church building for the tours. Additionally, middle and high school youth will present a live nativity on church grounds. "At press time, several local barnyard animals have agreed to participate," the spokesperson said.

Light refreshments will be available in the fellowship hall during the tour.

"The congregation is looking forward to welcoming the community as we support the local chapter of the American Red Cross," said the spokesperson.

In addition to the church, the other stops on the tour this year are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the WildWood Athletic Club, and a private home along Markwood Drive.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153.

Little Pine Log Cabin To Be On ARC Tour

The Little Pine Log Cabin at North Glade Hills will be among the stops on this years Ameriean Red Cross Home for the Holidays House Tours. The event will be held on the first weekend in Deember. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dee. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five loeales are included in the price of one ticket.

"I came to love this plaee as a child when my grandparents, parents, eousins, aunts, uneles, and neighbors came here every summer to camp," said Linda Glotfelty, who owns the cabin with her husband Ross. "I loved the smell of the many pines and I knew I wanted to stay here forever, in a little log eabin. And so my dream began."

The eabin was built in 2000, and was enlarged some years later. When guests arrive at 111 North Glade Hill Drive, they will be greeted with the sounds of Christmas and the sight of an American flag. As they walk through the rail fenee gateway, luminaries will light the way to the home, but first visitors will pass the guest cabin, where a live nativity will be staged.

The windows and doors of the cabin will be deeorated with swags, wreaths, garlands crafted of mountain greenery and pineeones. Entering the door, fragranees of Christmas will weleome guests, may browse by lamp light and candlelight. Christmas trees of various themes will be on display, with a variety of ornaments. Many of the trimmings are handmade and others are findings from the Rosses' travels in the United States and abroad.

Among the eolleetions are Mr. Glotfelty's nativity sets, Mrs. Glotfelty's assortment of first ladies in the inaugural gowns, and singing earolers. Among the speeial antique gifts are a little red dog, given to Linda from her father during World War II; a little log eabin made by Delegate Arthur Green; and Santa in his roeking chair.

The other four stops on this year's circuit are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the WildWood Athletic Club, a private home along Markwood Drive, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the baek of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be plaeed in the yard of eaeh tour site.

Holiday Open House Slated For December 13

The opportunity to let Santa know what you would like for Christmas will be here before you know it. The holly-jolly man will be at the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center on Dec. 13 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for photo opportunities and talks with the kids.

Get a head start on holiday shopping by checking out the nature-related books, sweatshirts, and educational toys available at the center. Or get crafty and make your very own keepsake frame. While shopping, enjoy hot chocolate, homemade cookies, and more.

For more information about the center and about the open house, persons may call 301-387-7067 or 301-387-7314.

Christmas Trees Through The Ages

The National Christmas Tree Association has compiled the following facts about Christmas trees through the ages:

•In 1510, the first Christmas tree is decorated with paper, fruits, and sweets.

•In 1531, the first retail Christmas tree lots appear in German cities.

•By 1600s, Christmas trees are decorated with ribbon, tin shapes, small books, and lace, as well as food.

•In the 18th century, Christmas trees are decorated with lighted candles.

•In 1777, the tradition of the Christmas tree is brought to Colonial America by Hessian troops fighting for Britain in the Revolutionary War.

•In 1851, Mark Carr opens a retail Christmas tree lot in New York City, the first in the United States.

•In 1856, Franklin Pierce, the 14th U.S. president, brings the first Christmas tree into the White House.

Of Sea Captains & Tiny Yuletide Treasures: The Story Behind A Traditional Holiday Tree

The traditional holiday fir, the Norfolk Island pine, has a backstory worthy of a Hollywood movie. When you see these delicately shaped pines at your favorite retail store, you're taking home a bit of nautical history.

Norfolk Island pines, or Araucaria heterophylla, are native to Norfolk Island in the South Pacific. Their romantic history involves a famous sea captain and sultry South Sea islands. In 1774, during his second exploratory sea voyage to the South Pacific, Captain James Cook discovered Norfolk Island.

On a weary vessel named Resolution, Cook and his crew also discovered stately 200-foot giant pines they named Norfolk Island pines. They were prized as a source of pine planks desperately needed for ship building and nearby flax for making sails.

Today, like modern day explorers, a few intrepid seed cone "hunters" from Florida travel to the Hawaiian island of Oahu every two years to revisit the grand Norfolk Island pines that thrive in the warm, tropical breezes and coastal soil.

The harvesters brave dizzying heights of 100 feet to pluck the hardiest seed cones from the whirling branches. The lime green prickly seed cones are then shipped to Costa Farms south of Miami, Fla., where horticultural experts plant them, using six to eight seeds per pot to assure consistently superior pines for perfect holiday decorating.

The soft and compact needles, strong branches, and naturally symmetrical shape of the Norfolk Island Pine make it the ideal holiday tree. It can handle homemade ornaments and keepsakes, and provide endless decorating and gift-giving options.

Kosienskis To Open Home For Red Cross Tours

Jim and Katie Kosienski will open their Meadow Lake Estates home to be part of the 17th annual "Home for the Holidays" House Tours, a program of the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The event will be held on the first weekend in December. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The Kosienski home is located along Markwood Drive in Meadow Lake Estates. The three-story, 8,000-square-foot contemporary home was designed and built by the owners in 2002. It has four bedrooms, three full baths, two half baths, living room, formal dining room, kitchen, mudroom, loft area, two offices, sunroom, and game room. The home overlooks Meadow Lake, with a view that can be seen by most rooms of the home. All three floors will be open for the tour.

The living room features a high tongue-and-groove ceiling and a full wall stone fireplace, which will be the setting for a large and ornate Christmas tree. The kitchen has a wet bar and large island with granite countertops, stainless steel appliances, and black wrought-iron detail on the cabinets. The master suite is furnished with a Dick Idol bedroom suite, and the adjoining bathroom has a spa tub and walk-in shower.

A favorite room of the family is on the lowest level, and it is the game room. There is a refreshment area, pool table, poker table, and darts. Decorated with NASCAR memorabilia throughout, this room is the main gathering place for guests.

The Kosienskis said they enjoy Christmastime, which will be evident throughout the house with decorations of all kinds, including contemporary, country, woodland, and traditional. There will be many Christmas trees throughout the house, each decorated in a different theme to match each room, including one that will be decorated with ornaments from the White House Historical Society. Outside, the property grounds will be adorned with Christmas displays and lights.

In addition to the Kosienskis' home, the stops on the tour this year are Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the Wild-Wood Athletic Club, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the day of the tour. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

Terra Alta Tree Lighting Slated

The annual Tree Lighting Ceremony in Terra Alta, W.Va., will be held on Friday, Dec. 5, at the Community Building at 7 p.m.

There will be a parade, entertainment, and refreshments. Santa Claus will be on hand to give out gifts, and a live nativity will be staged, with animals to pet.

Norfolk Pines

"Miniature evergreens are the trend in home decor, particularly with live trees like the Norfolk Island pine," says Ethne Clark of Traditional Home magazine. "These miniature versions are elegant in a lovely container on the mantel, or decorated in the children's room for fun."

Small enough for a table-top display or large enough to be the dramatic focal point of any room, the pines tuck nicely into tight spaces in apartments, dorm rooms, patios or cozy corners. And, they come in a variety of sizes from 14 to 44 inches tall for a nice floor plant

"These living trees are affordable, eco-friendly ways to decorate and provide years of pleasure," says Jose Smith, chief executive officer of Costa Farms, one of the nation's leading nurseries.

After the holidays, you can place the tree in a pretty pot to beautify your spaces and naturally refresh your indoor air.

ARA

Other creative gift ideas and decorating tips with a Norfolk Island pine include:

* Stumped on a teacher's gift and refuse to buy another candle? Many table-top trees come fully decorated with a gift tag and fit nicely on desks.

* Holiday party coming up? The trees make great hostess gifts.

* Express yourself! Enjoy your family time by encouraging your children to decorate their own tree. Create theme trees like a "tropical Christmas" for your dining and family rooms – adorned with mini flowers, tropical fish ornaments and seashells.

* Don't forget your kids in college. Norfolk Island pines make perfect gifts for students who want to decorate and add green to their rooms.

Caring for your Norfolk Island pine:

* They grow best indoors in a sunny location and prefer to be near a window – but away from direct heat. Avoid direct intense sunlight.

* Indoors they flourish in 50 percent humidity so consider running a humidifier or sit them in a tray of pebbles, watering the pebbles during winter months.

* Keep the soil moist but don't let it dry out or stand in water.

* As a houseplant, the Norfolk Island pine naturally filters the air from indoor toxins and provides much-needed moisture during the dry winter months.

Select from 14- to 44-inch tall trees, fully decorated or ready for your finishing touch, available at neighborhood retailers.

Some Interesting Christmas Trivia

Did you know that:

•"Wassail" comes from Old Norse "ves heill," which means to be of good health. This evolved into the tradition of visiting neighbors on Christmas Eve and drinking to their health.

•A traditional Christmas dinner in early England was the head of a pig prepared with mustard.

•After he wrote A Christmas Carol, Charles Dickens wrote several other Christmas stories, one each year, but none were as successful as the original.

•Alabama was the first state to recognize Christmas as an official holiday in 1836.

•An artificial spider and web are often included in the decorations on Ukrainian Christmas trees. A spider web found on Christmas morning is believed to bring good luck.

•Ukrainians also prepare a traditional 12-course meal. A family's youngest child watches through the window for the evening star to appear, a signal that the feast can begin.

•Animal Crackers are not really crackers, but cookies that were imported to the United States from England in the late 1800s. Barnum's circus-like boxes were designed with a string handle so that they could be hung on a Christmas tree.

•Candy canes began as straight white sticks of sugar candy used to decorated the Christmas trees. A choirmaster at Cologne Cathedral, Germany, had the ends bent to depict a shepherd's crook, and passed them out to children to keep them quiet during the services. It wasn't until the 20th century that candy canes acquired their red stripes.

•During the Christmas/Hanukkah season, more than 1.76 billion candy canes will be made.

•During the ancient 12-day Christmas celebration, the log burned was called the yule log. Sometimes a piece of the log would be kept to kindle the fire the following winter, to ensure that the good luck carried on from year to year. The yule log custom was handed down from the Druids.

•In southern France, some people burn a log in their homes from Christmas Eve until New Year's Day. This stems from an ancient tradition in which farmers would use part of the log to ensure a plentiful harvest the following year.

•Mistletoe, a traditional Christmas symbol, was once revered by the early Britons. It was so sacred that it had to be cut with a golden sickle.

•The custom of singing Christmas carols is very old; the earliest English collection was published in 1521.

•The Puritans forbade the singing of Christmas carols.

•The first Christmas card was created in England on Dec. 9, 1841.

•The first printed reference to Christmas trees appeared in Germany in 1531.

•The tradition of Christmas lights dates back to when Christians were persecuted for saying Mass. A simple candle in the window meant that Mass would be celebrated there at night.

•The traditional flaming Christmas pudding dates back to 1670 in England, and was derived from an earlier form of stiffened plum porridge.

ATWILL TO DESIGN ANNUAL MODEL TRAIN DISPLAY – The annual train display at the Littman Building of First United Bank is in the works for this year's holiday season. Scott Atwill is the designer of the model train exhibit, which local children, as well as those young at heart, look forward to each year. Atwill comes up with a different design each Christmas season, with this year's display scheduled to be up and running by Oakland's "Great Small Town Christmas." One can occasionally make out little nose, chin, and hand prints from the children who gaze in awe, wanting to be a part of the wonderful scene.

(LEFTOVER) TURKEY POT PIE

3 cups diced turkey
2 medium potatoes (diced)
1 small onion (diced)
1 rib celery (diced)
1 cup frozen green peas
½ cup raw carrots (diced)
Salt, pepper, and ½ tsp. parley flakes

Cook all the above ingredients in 2 quarts of rich chicken broth until tender, about 15 minutes. Add enough cornstarch to (barely) thicken. Pour into a 9-inch by 13-inch baking dish.

Topping:

2 cups milk
2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. baking powder
½ stick melted butter

Mix the above and add encough flour to make batter as thick as pancake batter. Ladle on top of turkey-veggie mixture. Bake at 375° for 1 hour. Six servings. Serve hot!

Local Artisans To Take Part In OTT's Christmas Market

Our Town Theatre's second annual Christmas Market will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Social Hall in Oakland. The work of several artists will be on display and on sale, including that of Carolyn Collen-DuBose, a fabrics artist, and Caroline Blizzard, photographer.

"Hazel Tree of the Woods" is the translation of Carolyn Collen-DuBose's Welsh and French last name. Heritage is one influence on this Garrett County art teacher's work.

"I learned to knit first, when I was 10. My mother Eleanor taught me," Collen-DuBose said. "Her mother Lillian was a crocheter, a knitter, and a seamstress. My grandmother Lillian taught me everything I know about sewing. I made doll clothes with her in her home every Sunday after church. These traditional arts connect me with the women in my family."

Carolyn knits hats and bags with 100% wool, then shrinks them, which makes them stronger. She needle-felts animals, snowmen, and 12-inch dolls, a process of fewer steps during which she sculpts 100% wool as if it were clay.

She is transitioning from the art of teaching in Garrett County for 30 years to the art of creating with the fibers that fascinate her. During stints at Kitzmiller, Grantsville, Friendsville, Route 40, and Bloomington elementary schools, Carolyn sold her work in Garrett County Arts Council's Gallery in Oakland, the Garrett College Gallery, as well as at regional gift shops and craft shows. The National Museum of Women in the Arts (NMWA) hangs one of her hand-beaded ornaments on its Christmas tree every year. One of her 30-inch cloth dolls, clothed in a patchwork coat, traveled in the NMWA's Book Arts exhibition Brave Little Girls. She made the doll to accompany Lauren Mills's book for which the exhibition was named.

Completing half-finished projects and new forays into paper and wools are Carolyn's new goals upon retirement next spring.

"I want to finish what I've started. A year from now I may be using different materials to connect my love for family history and genealogy work," Carolyn said.

Caroline Blizzard said she has been experimenting with photography all her life.

"I have always seemed to have a good eye, but as soon as digital photography came along, it really seemed to change things for me," she said. "My grandparents gave me a digital camera for Christmas one year. I began taking some shots that I wanted to see developed larger. Fortunately my mom is also an artist and has the skills and equipment to frame and mat her own work. She taught me those skills and I began framing my photography. Shortly after that I began showing my work at local festivals. It has progressed from there. In the spring I will actually be opening a studio in the Swallow Falls area with my family called Four Storm Artist Studio. We are the 'Blizzards,' after all."

Blizzard said her travels over the past few years have fueled her interest and range in her art.

"It began in Ecuador and the Galapagos Islands, then Mexico to follow the monarch butterfly migration through the Discovery Center," she said. "And this past February, I went to Peru and the Amazon rainforest with an ecology class from the New College of Sarasota, Fla. As you can imagine I took hundreds of photographs of nature and the culture surrounding each location."

Blizzard does custom work, framing, printing, and

Former USAF Singing Sergeant Patti Wolfe To Perform With GC Concert Band Dec. 7

Soprano Patti Wolfe, former manager and director of operations for the Singing Sergeants of the United States Air Force, will be the guest vocal soloist at the annual holiday concert of the Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Moe Turrentine.

Ms. Wolfe was a 25-time soloist on over 25 recordings during her 26-year career with the Singing Sergeants, and has performed at numerous special events.

Among those events was the funeral service for former president Ronald W. Reagan, for which she sang "America, the Beautiful." She was a soloist for the nationally televised 50th anniversary Korean War ceremony, and has been a personal soloist for then Vice President George H.W. Bush, Secretary of Defense Casper Weinberger, and General Colin Powell. She also sang "God Bless America" in a globally televised Sept. 11, 2001, anniversary program before presi-

St. Mark's Offering Advent Series: Women Of Substance; Three Foremothers Of Jesus

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will present a series of Advent worship services in honor of three interesting women of the Old Testament. The series, titled "Women of Substance: Three Foremothers of Jesus," will focus on the fascinating roles played by Tamar, Rahab, and Ruth.

The Advent vespers worship services will be held on Wednesdays, Dec. 3, 10, and 17, all beginning at 7 p.m. Short dramatic presentations will be given by Elizabeth Rees Gilbert as Tamar on the 3rd; Susan Peterson as Rahab on the 10th; and Judy Bertsch as Ruth on the 17th. The monologues are based on the stories about these women in the Bible.

"Tamar, Rahab and Ruth are three Gentile women named in the genealogy of Jesus in the gospel of Matthew," said Rev. Dr. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's. "All three are interesting characters. The story of Ruth is considered by some to be the most beautiful story in the Hebrew Bible. Tamar and Rahab, on the other hand, have wrongly been much maligned over the centuries. This is our chance to let them set the record straight."

St. Mark's will host a youth Christmas service on Sunday, Dec. 21, beginning at 10 a.m., and the traditional candlelight Christmas Eve service.

For more information, persons may contact the church office at 301-334-2668.

Breakfast With Santa Slated In Accident

The Accident Community Planning Group will host "Breakfast with Santa" on Saturday, Dec. 6, at the Accident fire hall. The event will be held from 8 to 10 a.m.

Santa will share the meal with guests and then hand out treats to the children.

dent George W. Bush.

In her first decade with the Singing Sergeants, she performed throughout Europe, Turkey, and China, and presented selections from the opera Carmen in Paris for an audience that included the defense minister.

Wolfe holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the Catholic University of America, Benjamin T. Rome School of Music. Before becoming a member of the Air Force, she performed with the Washington Lyric, Chesapeake, and Wolfe Trap opera companies. She was also the first female cantor at the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C.

In 1997 she was named the USAF Band Senior Non-Commissioned Officer of the Year.

Tickets for the Dec. 7 program can be purchased in advance at The Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council or NuWay Dry Cleaners in Oakland, or at the door. The cost is $8 for adults and $2 for all students.

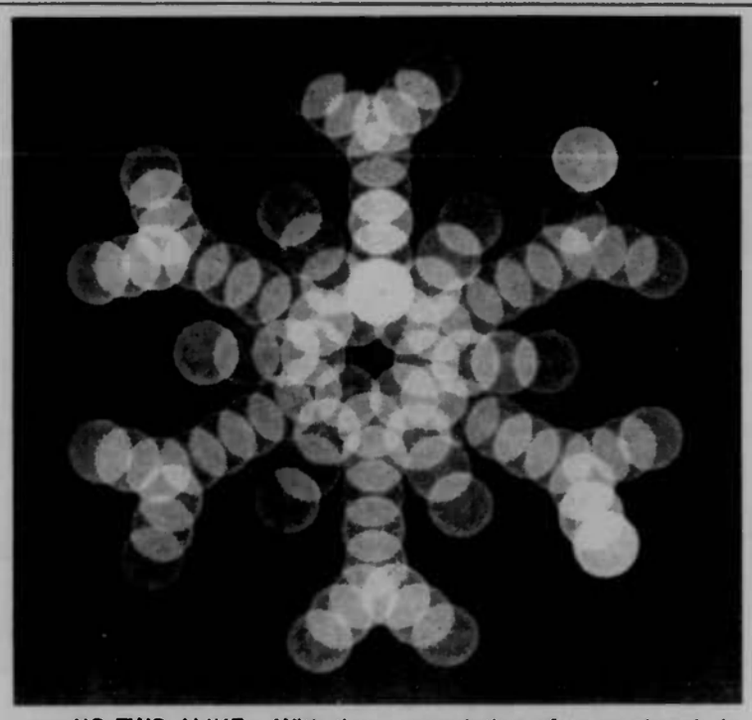
The Cherry Glade Mennonite Church, located at 4051 Accident/Bittinger Road, Accident, will hold a Christmas Eve service, beginning 7 p.m.

Loch Lynn Church To Present Cantata

The Loch Lynn Church of God choir will present the cantata Hark! The Angels Sing on Friday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 21, at 6 p.m.

"The story of Jesus' birth is told through the eyes of angels, watching in anticipation, as the Son of God is sent to earth to become the savior for all humankind," a spokesperson said.

The church is located along Route 560 in Loch Lynn, next to the WKHJ radio station. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3221.



NO TWO ALIKE – With the accumulation of snow already in Garrett County, isn't it interesting to think about all the different shapes of snowflakes? And no two are alike! Snowflakes develop under a variety of conditions depending on the temperature and humidity in the atmosphere. Crystal shape mainly depends on temperature, with plate-shaped or column-shaped crystals, or a combination, forming at a variety of temperatures below freezing. Simpler shapes develop at lower humidity's while more complex shapes form in more moist air. Much of the snow we see are aggregates of many snowflakes that stick together as they fall to the earth's surface.

Candlelight Serv., Youth Sunday Set At St. Mark's Luth.

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will hold its annual Christmas Eve Candlelight Service, an event that has become an Oakland tradition, said Rev. Dr. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of the church. The public is invited to attend the service.

The congregation will also host a Youth Sunday, with a Christmas program by the children, on Sunday, Dec. 21, beginning at 10 a.m.

Youth Sunday will feature the young people of the church as they lead all parts of the service, present special music, and give a short play about the meaning of Christmas. Lynn Grimm, the hand bell director for St. Mark's, will direct them in music featuring bells and chimes.

The Christmas Eve service will open at 10:30 p.m. with the traditional 30-minute prelude of sacred music performed by members of the church and guests.

The service will begin at 11 p.m., with the sermon by Pastor Robinson, special music by the choir (under the direction of Susan Peterson), and the sharing of Holy Communion. Muriel Franz is the church organist.

All members of the public are welcome to the services, or to the church any time throughout the year. It is located at the corner of Second and Center streets in Oakland. The office can be reached at 301-334-2668 or persons may visit the web site at stmarksoakland.com.

PISTACHIO DREAM CAKE

1 pkg. (18¼ oz.) yellow cake mix
1 pkg. (1 oz.) instant pistachio pudding mix
1 carton (8 oz.) nonfat plain yogurt
3 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup lemon lime soda

Frosting:

1½ cups cold milk
1 pkg. (1 ounce) instant pistachio pudding mix
2 cups whipped topping (Cool Whip)

In a mixing bowl, combine dry cake and pudding mixes, yogurt, egg whites, and vanilla; beat on low speed for 1 minute. Gradually beat in lemon lime soda. Pour into a 13x9x2-inch baking pan coated with nonstick cooking spray. Bake at 350° for 20-25 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool. For frosting, combine milk and dry pudding mix in a mixing bowl; beat on low for 2 minutes. Fold in whipped topping. Spread over cake. Store in the refrigerator. Yield: 20 servings.

State Troopers Arrest Two For CDS Possession

Two men were arrested by Maryland State Police Tuesday after two troopers responded to a residence for a traffic complaint and discovered two males allegedly smoking marijuana inside the residence.

Tfc. V. Upole and Tfc. M. Clapper responded to Ferguson Circle, McHenry, at approximately 7:30 p.m. After knocking on the door of the residence, Tfc. Clapper reportedly observed a male suspect inside the residence hand a smoking bong to another male suspect. Matthew Aaron Cuppett, 26, McHenry, opened the door to the residence. The second male was identified as Thomas E. Smith, 20, Accident.

Once the door was opened, the trooped reportedly smelled a strong odor of suspected burnt marijuana emanating from the home. Once inside, the troopers discovered a glass jar containing suspected marijuana, along with the smoking device that was observed through the window in open view.

Cuppett and Smith were placed under arrest, and a search was executed on the residence. The troopers allegedly recovered 16 individual clear plastic bags of suspected marijuana (approximately 8 oz. in weight), three smoking pipes containing suspected burnt marijuana residue, one ceramic plate with suspected marijuana residue on it, and one glass jar containing suspected marijuana.

Cpl. B. Broadwater, Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, was notified and responded to assist.

Cuppett was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of drug

CHRISTMAS ROYALTY USHERS IN THE SEASON – The holiday season has been welcomed across Garrett County in a variety of celebrations and events, including Oakland's "Great Small Town Christmas" series, which opened Friday night with a parade and the crowning of the Snowflake Queen and Princess. Elizabeth Sines, at right, was crowned queen. She is a 9th grader at Southern High School and the daughter of John and Crystal Sines, Oakland. Courtney Teets, seated with Elizabeth, was crowned princess. She is a native of Preston County, W.Va., and is currently a student at Bethany College near Wheeling, W.Va. Marvin's clothing store was the sponsor of the royalty event. Ray Miller of Pleasant Valley Dream Rides is pictured as he guides the horse and sleigh in the parade. A number of activities are planned in Oakland and every other town throughout the county over the next several weeks as the Christmas season goes into full swing. Photo by John McEwen.

Rotary Christmas Project Slated For Saturday, Dec. 13

The Oakland Rotary Club's annual Christmas Project will kick off at the southern end of the county on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8:30 a.m., with gifts and food certificates being delivered to those in need.

The gift boxes will be assembled on Friday, Dec. 12, at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall, Oakland, in preparation for Saturday's deliveries.

The Grantsville Rotary Club will be handling arrangements for the northern end of the county.

Families and friends are invited to take part in this Christmas experience, aimed at helping children, families, and senior citizens enjoy the holiday season.

The Rotary Clubs of Garrett County extends thanks to all volunteers and those who have donated presents.

Those with questions or who are seeking more information may contact Daryl Walters at 301-334-7601, or any Rotary member.

Geographic Discrimination Is Result Of Sunday Sales Vote

by Megan Lahman

For a select few restaurants in Garrett, having the ability to serve wine with dinner on a Sunday is going to mean a world of a difference, not just for their customers, but also for their revenues; but then there are dining establishments that are just as nice, that aren't so fortunate.

"This is completely unfair. Life isn't about everything around the lake. Not being able to have Sunday sales doesn't make sense to us, because wine is important for culture sake," said Sandy Fontaine, who owns the Deer Park Inn along with her husband, Chef Pascal Fontaine.

"We have been in the area for 12 years now, and have always strived to bring something different to the area in terms of dining. Business is not good, and not having Sunday sales is hurting our work," said Fontaine.

The Deer Park Inn isn't the only establishment in the area being excluded. Of the 73 establishments within the county that hold a class B liquor license, which are only given to restaurants, hotels, and bed & breakfasts, only 24 of them qualify to apply for the special Sunday sales license, according to Debbie Owston, administrator for the Board of Licensing Commissioners.

Another business that is facing a similar situation to that of the Deer Park Inn is Brenda's Pizza, which is located along Route 219 atDeep Creek Lake. Currently, it is the only restaurant on the lake that won't be able to have Sunday sales. A unique situation has occurred because of the dividing lines between the East Oakland and West Oakland voting districts.

The districts run next to each other and the highway is the dividing line, meaning on one side of the highway restaurants such as Uno's can serve alcohol on Sundays, but Brenda's is automatically disqualified because it is located in the West Oakland district

Local Choir To Perform Cantata By Sean Beachy

Sean Beachy of Grantsville, a doctorate of music student at West Virginia University, has written a new Christmas cantata "Rejoice and Exult," especially for his wife Debi and the United Community Choir. The choir will present premiere performances of the cantata at Frostburg United Methodist Church on Saturday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. and at St. John's Christian Church in Grantsville on Sunday, Dec. 21, at 4 p.m.

The program will include other special Christmas music performed by the choir including "Carol of the Bells" and "Heard About a Newborn King."

The 50-plus member choir represents the following churches: St. Anne Catholic, St. Paul's United Methodist, Trinity United Church of Christ, Cherry

Commissioners Receive DPU Update Report

The Garrett County commissioners heard an update report from Department of Public Utilities director Linda Lindsey last Tuesday. She gave the status of several water and sewer projects. Those are as follows:

Crellin Water

Lindsey said the scope of the Crellin water improvement project has been refined to make it more economically feasible for the users, while still providing good quality drinking water that meets or exceeds regulatory requirements. The goal of the project is to remove iron from the town's primary well water supply.

"What was being proposed was a very expensive water treatment system for that small water [plant]," Lindsey said. "It entailed a complete iron filtration system."

Additionally, the Crellin plant would have needed to be enlarged in order to accommodate the new system.

As a result, Public Utilities re-examined the project. Lindsey said the department determined that it would be more cost effective to treat the iron using solar salt through a duplex water softening unit.

The cost involved in the iron filtration system was $250,000, compared to the softening unit's price of $12,000.

"This unit will provide the capability of using one filter for water production while the other is recharging, and will also allow for production of water if one unit fails," Lindsey said.

Commissioner Fred Holliday asked if the solar salt would adversely affect residents who are on low-sodium diets. The director indicated that the salt content would be too low, plus DPU would be monitoring the quantity.

She also reported that a second well has been drilled at Crellin and will be utilized as an alternate water

MSP Seeking info On Burglary/Theft Of Prescription Pills

Maryland State Police are looking for leads into a burglary that occurred at Deep Creek Pharmacy, McHenry Plaza, early this morning.

Suspect(s) gained entry through the pharmacy's front window and removed prescription medication sometime during the night. Anyone with information concerning this incident is asked to contact the McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Tobacco Sales To Minors Now A Civil Penalty In Garrett County

A new law to reduce the sale of tobacco to minors in Garrett County went into effect on October 1. According to a release from the Garrett County Health Department, the law established a civil penalty for the sale of tobacco to a minor, essentially identical to the current state prohibitions on the sale of tobacco to minors, but reducing the penalty from a criminal offense to a civil one.

Prior to October 1, 2008, tobacco sales to minors were criminal in nature, a penalty that goes on a clerk's or license holder's criminal record and subjected them to the criminal process for illegal tobacco sales. According to the release, the local law creates a civil penalty that does not get recorded on a person's criminal record and could be paid, like a parking ticket, without trial, thereby reducing judicial resources currently needed for tobacco control. Violations of the local law that established civil penalties will not have to go through the court system unless the citation is challenged.

Beyond those mentioned above, creating a civil penalty brings illegal tobacco sales penalties in line with other similar offenses (e.g., illegal alcohol sales). It also removes the criminal penalty's requirement to arrest and take into custody any minor clerks who are caught selling tobacco to other minors (state law requires that juveniles who are issued criminal citations must be taken into custody).

According to the release from the health department, several counties with code home rule have already enacted this law: Kent, Montgomery, Prince George's, and Howard counties, plus

Grantsville VFD New Firehouse Progress Noted

The Firehouse Committee of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department recently noted that the main building is now completed, and the firefighters are working to move everything from the old fire hall beneath the Fechheimer Shirt Factory to the new facility, which is located on Springs Road, along Rt. 669 near Grantsville.

Funds are still being raised to pay for the building. The social hall base has been laid out, but is currently on hold until more money can by raised by the department.

From now until Christmas, persons are encouraged to purchase a tile in honor of a friend or relative, and a Christmas card will be sent announcing the gift. Tiles are available for $100 each.

Three groups are currently tied for naming rights of the social hall at $15,000 each. There have been 224 other donations, through which 68 tiles have been purchased.

All donations are tax deductible. Checks should be made out to GVFD. It should indicate on the check that the donation is for the new firehouse. Donations can be dropped off at the fire-house, First United Bank, McKenzie Tax Service, or Beachy's Pharmacy in Grantsville.

Checks can also be mailed to the Grantsville Firehouse Committee, P.O. Box 189, Grantsville, 21536.

Man Arrested After Threatening Police With Loaded Gun

A arrest was made on a Mtn. Lake Park man Tuesday evening when a Garrett County sheriff's deputy attempted to serve a bench warrant and was met at the door by the man holding a loaded shotgun.

Richard Linden Fries, 52, after failing to appear in court was the suspect who met the deputy at the door. The deputy moved to a more secure location and called for assistance. Additional deputies responded, including investigators from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation and members with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office Special Response Team (SRT).

Members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Southern Rescue Squad also responded to assist at the scene. A perimeter was secured around the Fries residence and numerous attempts were made to initiate communication with Fries.

Communication was finally made at approximately 12:40 a.m., and negotiations continued until 1:30 a.m. with Fries continuing to hold the shotgun and threatening deputies. Members of the SRT were able to physically subdue and disarm Fries at approximately 2 a.m.

He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Sheriff's Office personnel for minor injuries sustained during his apprehension. Charges of first degree assault, reckless endangerment, and second degree assault are pending.

"CHRISTMAS AROUND THE WORLD" is the title of the annual holiday concert that will be presented by the Garrett Community Concert Band this Sunday, Dec. 7, at 2 p.m. in the Garrett College auditorium. The program will feature holiday selections by composers from various nations, including Russia, Ukraine, and Great Britain. A special guest performer will be vocal soloist Patti Wolfe, a former member of the U.S. Air Force Singing Sergeants who has been an international soloist, sang "America, The Beautiful" for the funeral of President Ronald Reagan, and "God Bless America" for a globally televised Sept. 11, 2001, memorial event. She is a resident of both Annapolis and Sky Valley, Deep Creek Lake. The Garrett CC Band, which includes members from age 16 to 80-plus, is under the direction of Moe Turrentine. Tickets for Sunday's concert, which are $6 for adults and $2 for all students, are available from band members, NuWay Dry Cleaners, The Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council, and at the door. The band is sponsored in part by annual grants from the Garrett County Arts Council.

Maryland's Preparedness Effort Receives High Mark From CDC

Gov. Martin O'Malley today announced that Maryland's Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) Plan received a high mark from the national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

The plan, developed by staff within the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), received a score of 93 out of a possible 100, up considerably from its previous score of 67 received in 2007.

"This score represents a marked improvement and shows Maryland's commitment to make government work," O'Malley said. "The dedication and commitment put forth by Secretary John Colmers and Sherry Adams, director of the DHMH Office of Preparedness and Response, have put Maryland in a much better position to respond to emergencies."

All states are required by the CDC to have effective written SNS plans. These plans detail how the state receives, stores and distributes certain prescription medications. These drugs would be used in an emergency medical situations brought about by natural or man-made occurrences.

"This is a significant achievement and represents an important milestone in our effort to ensure that our state is a prepared state," Colmers said. "I am pleased that CDC recognizes the hard work put into this revised plan by staff in our Office of Preparedness and Response, and our partners."

The DHMH Office of Preparedness and Response drafted Maryland's initial plan in 2002 and revised it in April of this year to include new guidelines, procedures, templates, and other materials. Maryland's local health departments, along with many other state, local, and regional preparedness and response agencies, contributed to the project.

CDC officials visited DHMH in August to conduct the comprehensive review of Maryland's SNS plan.

More information about the national Strategic National Stockpile is available at bt.cdc.gov/stockpile.

Additional information about the DHMH Office of Preparedness and Response can be found at: http://bioterrorism.dhmh.state.md.us.

ALL DECKED OUT FOR THE HOLIDAYS – Tula is dressad in her finest Christmas sweater (and antlers?) and ready for the Garrett County Humane Society's annual holiday fundraiser. The nonprofit organization will have a sales table set up at Studio 24E in downtown Oakland on Friday, Dec. 12, from 6 to 9 p.m. Members will be selling various items, including dog scarves, handmade ornaments, and specialized Monopoly games. New this year for coffee drinkers is "Bean-opoly." Profits from this fundraiser will go toward the Humane Society's spay/neuter program and to help homeless animals. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2738.

Friendsville Man Arrested Driving On Suspended License

A traffic stop conducted on Pysell Road last Thursday led to the arrest of a Friendsville man for allegedly driving on a suspended license.

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy conducted a stop on the vehicle at approximately 7:30 p.m. The driver was identified as Anthony Lee Hankins, 37.

Hankins was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await an initial hearing before a District Court commissioner.

Man Arrested On Drinking And Driving Charges

A complaint came into the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for a domestic assault in the Loch Lynn area. A man was reportedly dragging a female down the road by her hair.

The caller followed the suspect and relayed information to the deputies as they responded to the scene. A traffic stop was conducted on the suspect's vehicle near the intersection of Maryland Highway and Broadford Road.

An investigation was then initiated by the deputies once they made contact with the driver. The suspect was identified as Daniel Stuart Rhodes, 48, Swanton.

It was reportedly noticed by the deputy that Rhodes was intoxicated during the time of the investigation. Field sobriety tests were given to him, which were not performed to the satisfaction of the deputies. Rhodes was placed under arrest on charges of driving while intoxicated.

He was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing before a District Court commissioner.

The domestic assault complaints were deemed to be unfounded, and no charges were filed.

One Driver Cited Following Two-Vehicle Accident

Maryland State Police troopers responded to a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 40 Friday evening that resulted in one citation and no injuries.

Kimberly Ann Harper, 49, Frostburg, was reportedly traveling west on Rt. 40 and attempted to make a right turn onto Garrett Highway. She turned her 1998 Ford ZX2 in front of an eastbound driver on Rt. 40, causing the two vehicles to collide in the intersection.

Harper was cited with failure to yield to oncoming traffic while making a left turn.

Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene of the accident.

Santa's Helpers Have Clothing, Toys Available

For several decades Lou Stouffer of Terra Alta, a former World War II prisoner of war, served in the capacity of "the real Santa Claus," as he annually collected and then delivered toys, clothing, and various other gift items to thousands of area families in need.

Because of health problems and failing eyesight, the 86-year-old Stouffer is unable to make deliveries anymore. However, his neighbors Ernie and Debbie Durr now help him out by allowing their residence to serve as the collection and storage place for such items.

"We have a lot of clothing right now, for everyone from babies to adults, plus some toys and games," said Debbie Durr. "We invite people needing items to contact us to arrange a time to come pick them up."

Much of what the Durrs receive comes from a longtime friend of Stouffer, "Stony" Stonesifer of Westminster, who brings trailer loads of clothing, toys, and furniture from his area several times each year.

Persons who wish to contact the Durrs may do so by telephoning 304-789-2293 after 3 p.m.

Driver Stopped; Charged With CDS Possession

A traffic stop conducted on Saturday ended in the arrest of an Oakland man by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy.

The deputy stopped a westbound 1994 Ford for an equipment violation on Rt. 29. The driver was identified as Jeremy Ray Guthrie, 21. A check of Guthrie's license through Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) confirmed a suspended status.

He was placed under arrest on a charge of driving while suspended. The deputy then conducted a search of his vehicle. Guthrie was reportedly found to possess a quantity of suspected marijuana and smoking paraphernalia on his person. He was additionally charged with possession of controlled dangerous substance (CDS) marijuana and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

He was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing before a District Court commissioner.

Drunk Driving Charges Handed To Swanton Driver

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office were called to the area of Maryland Highway and Broadford Road last Thursday for a report of a drunk driver.

Deputies discovered a silver Nissan Xterra and followed it onto Ollie North Road. The vehicle was stopped and the driver was identified as Tonya Lynn Collins, 36, Swanton. An investigation led to her arrest on charges of driving under the influence and driving while impaired.

Collins was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center for further processing.

Snow shoveling is a frequent cause of muscle strain to the lower back and shoulders. The use of proper body mechanics can greatly reduce or eliminate injuries due to shoveling:
- Always remember to bend your knees and lift with your legs and not your back.
- Lift smaller amounts of snow rather than large shovelfuls.
- Avoid excessive twisting and bending.
- Take frequent breaks when shoveling. Stand up straight and walk.
- Dress appropriately with layers of clothing to avoid hypothermia.
- Pay attention to how your body feels.

WEPCO DONATES TO WARM THE CHILDREN – The WEPCO Federal Credit Union gave a donation of $500 to Warm the Children this week. Vicki Thayer, president, said the staff members are allowed to wear jeans on Fridays, but "pay" $2 into a fund to do so. Then at the end of the year, that money is donated to a charity of the staff's choice. "We are very pleased the WEPCO staff chose Warm the Children," said Betty Ellington, chief volunteer coordinator for the WTC program. She noted that every penny donated to Warm the Children directly benefits local young people in need, since the program is hosted by The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland. There are no overhead fees. Pictured above from left are Sue Fazenbaker, mortgage loan officer at the credit union; Ellington; and Thayer.

Interactive Conservation Web Site Unveiled By Gov. O'Malley

by Elizabeth M. Piazza
Capital News Service

An interactive web site aimed at helping the state plan continued growth and development while preserving ecologically valuable land was unveiled by Gov. Martin O'Malley Wednesday at a press conference in Annapolis.

GreenPrint, a web-based mapping tool, is designed to help the state, local governments, conservation organizations and individual citizens plan land conservation and development by mapping every parcel of land in the state.

Any citizen will be able to use GreenPrint to locate existing and proposed protected areas, as well as find individual parcels. The hope is that this will provide a more interactive discussion among citizens and government officials regarding land use.

Speaking to more than 150 elected officials and conservationists, including House Majority Leader Steny H. Hoyer, O'Malley stressed the need for citizens to work together to make good policy decisions regarding the future of land conservation and development.

"We believe that progress is only possible with the full participation, the full engagement of all of those who hold what Justice Louis Brandeis called the most important political office of all, the office of citizen, of a free and great people who believe we can make a brighter and better future," O'Malley said.

Deciding which lands to preserve and which to develop will play a key role in Maryland's future as the state's population is expected to increase to 6.7 million people by 2030, a 27 percent increase from 2000. Twenty-one percent of the state is already developed and approximately 21 percent is protected.

"The future will be defined by the choices we make on the remaining 58 percent," O'Malley said.

What is important about this is that it has brought the state together with county and municipal governments to share vital information, said Ken Miller, state Geographic Information Systems officer for the Department of Natural Resources. Start-up costs for GreenPrint cost the DNR $600,000.

GreenPrint can be found at http://www.baystat.-maryland.gov/.

O'Malley also announced the acquisition of nearly 9,200 acres of land that will be preserved throughout Worcester, Cecil, Charles, and St. Mary's counties.

About half of the 9,200 acres is located in Worcester County in the Nassawango Creek and Pocomoke River watersheds. The property borders the Pocomoke and Chesapeake state forests and provides a habitat to 90 rare, threatened or endangered wildlife and plant species.

The remaining 4,500 acres, known as the Province Properties, are located in Cedar Point, St. Inigoes, New Towne Neck, and Old Bohemia, and include 20 miles of shoreline along the Potomae River and Chesapeake Bay.

The land will cost approximately $70 million – $14.4 million for the Foster Property and $56 million for the Province Properties. If approved by the Board of Public Works, then Program Open Space, a Department of Natural Resources program that provides funding for state land acquisition, will pay for the land.

In addition, Maryland DNR Secretary John R. Griffin announced that $13.5 million in Rural Legacy grants will be distributed among 20 counties to preserve agricultural, forest and natural areas.

The Rural Legacy Program, which is chaired by Griffin, helps local governments and land trusts protect ecologically vital areas from sprawl development.

Metal Drainage Grate Stolen From Sang Run Rd. Area

Maryland State Police are seeking information on a reported theft of a metal drainage grate from along Sang Run Road.

The grate is missing from a storm drainage ditch along the road at Summit Woods in the McHenry area to cover storm drainage ditches. It would weigh approximately 100 lbs.

Anyone with information concerning this crime or who may have seen something unusual in the mentioned area is asked to call MSP McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Maryland To Host World Stem Cell Research Summit

by Jenn Bogdan
Capital News Service

Maryland will host the 2009 World Stem Cell Summit next September in Baltimore, Gov. Martin O'Malley announced Wednesday at the state's first stem cell research symposium in Laurel.

The three-day summit, which will be held at the Baltimore Convention Center, is expected to bring in 1,500 stem cell researchers, business leaders, and policymakers from across the globe to discuss the future of the field.

"I'm very, very grateful to all of those who made the decision to come to Maryland," said O'Malley, speaking at the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory. "It follows a great deal of recognition that we've been receiving over the efforts that we've made together."

Summit attendees are expected to discuss stem cell policy issues, including how to legally transport stem cells across state lines, said Bernard Siegel, executive director of the Florida-based Genetics Policy Institute, which is organizing the event.

Currently, laws regulating transportation of stem cells vary from state to state, often making transport across state lines difficult.

The summit will include a day for the public to view the participants' research. Summit organizers said a day for public viewing is essential since public support can elect leaders who will fund future research.

Siegel called Maryland an "obvious choice" as host state in light of O'Malley's strong financial support for stem cell research.

Stem cells have the potential to develop into different types of cells in the body, which scientists hope will allow for the repair of damaged tissue. But research on the cells, particularly embryonic stem cells, is controversial because opponents say scientists are sometimes experimenting with embryos viable for human life.

The state has allocated $56 million to stem cell research since O'Malley took office. However, Maryland's stem cell research fund for 2009 took a $1 million cut in the governor's last round of budget reductions in October.

Major medical research institutions, such as Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland, have received much of the state's money for stem cell research.

"We believe in the power and potential of stem cell research in Maryland," O'Malley said. "Therefore, we're investing in this groundbreaking science because we feel in our hearts a compelling need to unleash the healing sciences to the most fragile of our neighbors all around this world of ours."

ROTTWEILERS VISIT LIBRARY – Children at the Accident library's Story Time recently heard a tale about Carl, a Rottweiler who is the subject of several books by Alexandra Day. Local Rottweilers Ira and Belle took center stage during the storytelling event as real-life examples of Carl. Owned by Betsy and Bill Harper, Ira and Belle are certified by Therapy Dogs International and are members of the Ruth Enlow Library's StoryTails team. Joyce Joslin read Carl's Sleepy Afternoon, and then Betsy and Bill explained the history of Rottweilers. "They are one of the oldest breeds around," Betsy said. "Ira and Belle love children, and as puppies were brought up by the breeder's grandchildren." In the front are Betsy and Ira, with Bill and Belle pictured in the back. Gubernatorial Faux Pas...

It seems at this point that Garrett County's picturesque mountain ridges will ultimately be blighted by giant wind turbines, but until construction actually gets under way, this column will continue to be utilized from time to time to rail against them.

Our very own Governor O'Malley, who supports turbines in Garrett County, actually committed a couple of faux pas – probably without even realizing it – just last night on a Baltimore television station. He made the following comment to a news reporter, referring to the possibility of an offshore industrial wind turbine project at Ocean City: "The attractive thing about doing them off the Atlantic Coast is that on a hazy day you won't even be able to see them at all; on the clearest of days they'll be about the size of a thumb."

His comment is quite telling. He is basically agreeing/acknowledging that the turbines are unsightly, but if they are far enough offshore, they will hardly be noticed. The same certainly cannot be said about turbines on top of Garrett County's ridges, which on both clear and cloudy days will always appear much larger than "a thumb."

A second statement by the governor was: "... we not only have the intellect and imagination to harness nature, we also have the ability, compassion, and responsibility to protect and conserve it... whether we will care for our natural world or whether we consume and destroy her without regard for our children or theirs."

A good, positive, meaty statement with which almost everyone would agree. But we should look closely at the final phrase – "... without regard for our children or theirs." It seems a real shame that Garrett County's future generations – our children and theirs – will come into the world and gaze not upon unencumbered, forested, pure mountain ridges, but ridges that are lined with 440-foot industrial wind turbines.

As stated here almost ad nauseam, harnessing the wind and doing all we can to utilize all kinds of clean, renewable energy sources should be the goal of all of us. But this particular technology is so far proving to be expensive, inefficient, and unreliable. So, Governor O'Malley, before wrecking our ridges, how about first going ahead with the offshore plan at Ocean City and see how it goes in terms of production and efficiency? (After all, on hazy days, we won't be able to see them, and on the clearest...)

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

In the November 27 issue of The Republican, page A-13 shows 10 young Garrett County hunters and the deer they shot on Junior Hunt Day. I'll bet all 10 of those deer will wind up on somebody's dinner table. And that's 10 more deer that weren't hit by cars and trucks.

Elsewhere, in the letters to the editor (page A-4), is the very sad story of a sick horse that eventually could not be healed and had to be euthanized.

What these have in common is that killing an animal quickly is more civilized and humane than watching them suffer while dying.

There is not a single hunter, young or old, who wants to wound an animal and have it limp off into the woods to die slowly and miserably.

Meanwhile, along Route 219 between Oakland and Keyser's Ridge, on a typical winter day you can find a half dozen deer carcasses from the night before. Nobody cares very much, because insurance companies pick up the tab. But the county highway department personnel, who scrape up the dead deer, know that the annual vehicular "harvest" of deer is far greater than all those shot during hunting season.

And still, some bleeding-heart liberals back in Annapolis who run the state are appalled that anyone would actually shoot a deer; and because of their distress, we have a very short hunting season that only thins the herd a little each year. In a tough winter, many deer get to die slowly of starvation, unless they're lucky enough to get hit by a truck and die quickly.

Those of us who kill deer only with our cars, not with guns, sometimes kill the deer quickly, but sometimes nearly miss the deer and only hit them hard enough to break a leg. Then the animal limps into the woods out of sight and dies slowly. A trail of blood disappearing across the snow is a genuinely tragic sight, a million miles (emotionally) from the photos of young successful hunters.

Roadkill is completely pointless, and nobody benefits.

I wish all those legislators from Baltimore City and the inner suburbs of Washington could be forced just once to watch a deer die in agony from an auto-induced injury. Then maybe they would wise up and allow a hunting season that would actually feed a fair number of people.

To the Editor:

Nancy Dobson's recent letter to the editor repeated a scurrilous rumor that Barack Obama was not born as a citizen of the United States and thus is not eligible to be president, and that he had defied a court order to produce his birth certificate. A quick check on the Internet reveals that this accusation is false.

On October 24, U.S. District Court Judge R. Barclay Surrick (a Republican) dismissed the lawsuit filed by Philip Berg (a Democrat and Clinton supporter) as being "frivolous and not worthy of discussion." The lawsuit demanded to see the birth certificate, but the court never ordered that it be produced. Several experts have examined the Hawaiian birth certificate in question (the actual certificate, not an image on the Internet), and officials of the state of Hawaii have confirmed its authenticity.

A good summary of these facts is available at http://www.snopes.com/politics/obama/birthcertificate.asp.

To the Editor:

It was a beautiful winter morning in Garrett County. Driving home from Walmart, I turned my 4-wheel drive onto the shortcut. I could not help from being mesmerized by the delightful winter scenes before me as I drove; like scenes on a Christmas card. Maybe even better.

The road had been plowed; however, there was a bit of ice hiding underneath, just enough to keep a driver from getting bored. Then it happened. The most unusual thing. I came over the crest of a hill and there right in front of me was – a turkey. I know, seeing a wild turkey in Garrett County is not unusual, but what happened next was!

At first I thought he was going to wait for me at the side of the road and let me pass. But no, as I got closer, neither looking to his left or right, with head held high, puffing up his chest, he slowly sauntered out into the roadway.

Then it happened. His beak took on the shape of a little "o" and I think I heard him say, "Oops!" as he slipped on the ice! He fell backwards, then caught himself just in time to regain his balance. He heard me laughing out loud. He looked over at me, a bit embarrassed, composed himself, got his feathers smoothed back into place, and carefully continued across the road.

I'd never seen a bird slip on the ice before. I always thought they were more sure-footed than humans. As I continued down the road, I started wondering if perhaps he had slipped for another reason. After all, he had just crossed a cornfield. Perhaps he had gotten into some fermented corn and was a bit tipsy. It's hunting season – did he just have a close call and was still, all shook up? It was the last week in November, a very scary time for turkeys. Was he weak from dieting all month? Any turkey with an ounce of smarts doesn't want to look nice and plump and juicy at that time of year. Or, was he daydreaming about the hen turkey on the other side of the road?

As I came to an icy, slippery stop at Sand Flat Road, I thought, he simply slipped on the ice.

Happy winter driving in Garrett County.

To the Editor:

I had the great fortune of coming home to Garrett County for Thanksgiving and being reminded once again how blessed I am to be a part of this strong, beautiful community. For me, Our Town Theatre plays an important role in preserving and celebrating our way of life and I hope everyone comes to support the theatre at the Christmas Market next Saturday.

Seventeen local artisans will be selling their quality goods, local musicians will be performing holiday music, and refreshments will be available at the Christmas Cafe Market and bake sale. Proceeds benefit the artists and the theatre. It's a great opportunity to take care of your Christmas shopping and invest in the community we all love and cherish.

Fine Fair Trade chocolate and coffee from around the world will also be for sale. Buying products that are "fairly traded" (meaning the producers get a living wage for their goods, and collectively invest profits in community projects like schools and infrastructure) helps support weak economies in developing countries. This promotes sustainable growth and peace. What could possibly put you more in the holiday spirit than that?

One of my favorite poems is framed inside the door of Our Town Theatre. Keepsakes II was written by local high school students and captures the essence of what it means to live in Garrett County: "A million candles can never burn so brightly as the light radiating from the souls of one community."

Before you buy another gift online, come to the Christmas Market and be an active part of our community this holiday. Support the economy by buying local goods, support the work of Our Town Theatre, and support peace by learning more about Fair Trade.

I look forward to running into you at the Christmas Market this Saturday at the fellowship hall of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland (220 S. 4th St.). Stop by anytime between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Happy holidays!

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to write on behalf of Stewart's Funeral Home and the Godly service that was afforded our family in our hour of deepest sorrow.

I do not know the controversy surrounding Stewart's financial problem, nor do I want or need to, as "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." I thank Jesus that He came to forgive each of us and allow us to move forward once more.

I do know, however, that when my husband Tom died, our family was absolutely devastated. Tom was a wonderful, dear man who deserved the utmost honor and care at his time of death. Brad Stewart and his staff could not have treated our family better! Tom's body had to be transported across several state lines, which proved to be a legal feat of its own. Brad implemented this transport effortlessly, enduring a freak April snowstorm in the process.

Although I have little memory of the funeral preparations and actual service, I do know that I was treated exceptionally well. Brad sat with me and our sons and comforted me through a torrent of tears. He then led our sons through the purchase of a casket and aided them in preparation of the viewings.

The boys and I shall be forever grateful to Brad Stewart and his staff. It is my prayer that God richly bless him in his hour of need, as he surely was a blessing to our family in our darkest hours.

Thank you, Brad. We appreciate you.

Sincerely,
Alana Jones

MeHenry Water

Robert D. Beitzel Excavating has completed the McHenry water line extension from Deep Creek Drive to the Ridgeview Valley development along Gravelly Run Road, Lindsey reported. She noted that DPU is reviewing several change orders to satisfy soil conservation issues.

Additionally, a contract was recently awarded to Frank Arnold Contractors in the amount of $169,988 for completion of the water line from Ridgeview Valley to the Sweet Rewards development. The contract has been completed, except for the tie-in at Sweet Rewards, Lindsey said.

The final well report for the project has been forwarded to the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) for the well located along Gravelly Run Road.

"MDE is finalizing their appropriation permit process and should issue the construction permit for the chlorination station shortly," Lindsey said. "The test well drilled on State Highway Administration property near the entrance of Gravelly Run Road did not produce adequate supply; therefore, it has been abandoned, and DPU will restore the property."

She added that the county's purchasing department is working with Dutchland Inc. to procure a 500,000 gallon water storage tank, which will be located on the Ridgeview Valley property.

"The tank is going to cost around $551,000," Lindsey said. She noted that DPU usually estimates a cost of $1 per 1,000 gallons of water for a tank, but this particular tank will be buried 18 inches in the ground for esthetic reasons, thus the additional cost.

Mtn. Lake Park Water

Lindsey reported that the Purchasing Department is also working with Dutchland on procurement of another 500,000 gallon water storage tank for the Mtn. Lake Park Water System. That tank will be located at Landon's Dam and used for additional water storage.

The director said, during a discussion with Dutchland about the McHenry system, the company informed her that it had a 500,000 tank that was constructed for another customer who did not take delivery on the unit.

"They offered the tank to us for $349,000, which is a very good deal," Lindsey said.

She said the new tank would be a great asset to the Mtn. Lake Park system. "And at that cost savings, we really can't really pass it up," the director said.

Lindsey also reported that MDE has issued a construction permit to connect new wells to the system.

Thayerville Water

Casselberry and Associates has prepared its summary of the well construction and testing results on the wells located at the Mountainside Marina Club for the Thayerville Water System, according to Lindsey.

"Revisions to the preliminary engineering and environmental reports will now be completed so that the public hearing on the proposed improvements can be advertised and held," she said.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg asked about the quality of the water.

"Excellent," Lindsey said, adding that the water will only require simple chlorination.

Commissioner Denny Glotfelty asked what areas the system would serve.

In addition to Mountainside, the proposed service area will be located along Rt. 219, just south of Glendale Road, down to Trader's Landing and to condos being built just north of Trader's Landing, Lindsey noted.

"We feel the potential service area for that system will basically go from bridge to bridge," she said.

DCL Western Conveyance

The Department of General Services has forwarded appraisal information to property owners from whom main line easements are required and easements are being procured for Deep Creek Lake Western Conveyance Sewer System, the director reported.

Lindsey also reported that a centrifuge at the Deep Creek Lake Treatment Plant had been experiencing vibration problems. The unit is used in the sludge drying process.

The centrifuge was hauled to a manufacturer approved repair site in Huntington, W.Va.

An inspection revealed that about 50 carbide tiles had become dislodged from their backing plates, causing the unit to become unbalanced and bending the shaft, Lindsey said. The repair cost will be $25,653.

"DPU personnel have researched the technology and other suppliers of similar units and feel that the malfunction is associated with the manufacturing process, not the operation of the unit," the director said.

She noted that the tiles were basically just tack welded onto the unit.

"We don't feel that this is something we should be liable for," the director said about the repair cost.

She said DPU would be pursuing the issue with the manufacturer in an attempt to get the company to pay for the repair.

Reforming Children's Services Could Save Money, Advocacy Group Says

by Megan A. Conlan
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Boosting outreach efforts to families eligible to receive food stamps and increasing women's access to prenatal care are among the recommended changes to current children's services that a Maryland youth advocacy group says will save the state money.

According to a brief issued by Advocates for Children & Youth, an independent group, the changes outlined in the organization's Maryland Can Do Better for Children campaign are feasible despite current budget restrictions. The campaign supports reforms to services in areas such as child welfare and juvenile justice.

"Because these are preventive measures they should actually save the state money," said Matthew Joseph, executive director of the advocacy group, at the Maryland Can Do Better for Children Early Intervention and Opportunity Summit held in Jessup on Wednesday.

By creating more preemptive programs and reallocating other funds the state would cut $3.4 million from the fiscal year 2010 budget, the group's brief said.

One recommended reform is the statewide use of Family Team Decision Making, a method that unites families, child welfare workers and service providers in the decision-making process regarding foster child placement. This method has successfully reduced the number of foster care entries in states such as Alabama and Utah, the advocacy group said.

The estimated reduction in foster care entries from the use of Family Team Decision Making would save the state money. That, as well as other suggested changes, would result in $1.6 million in savings, despite the $3.5 million initial cost of training caseworkers, hiring additional staff and implementing new services.

The group also recommends expanding the use of Multi-Systematic Therapy, a technique that engages juvenile offenders in positive educational and recreational activities and creates a network for their families and surrounding communities. The method helps decrease the number of youths placed in state-operated facilities.

"If we can give them enough opportunities to do good, they're going to do bad, less," said Vincent N. Schiraldi, director of Youth Rehabilitation Services for the District of Columbia.

Through the increased use of Multi-Systematic Therapy and other program changes, the state can save an additional $1.2 million once the costs of the changes are taken into account.

Other areas where reforms could save money include education, economic security, health and racial equity.

The campaign has been endorsed by numerous members of both the Maryland House and Senate, as well as Lt. Gov. Anthony Brown, Comptroller Peter Franchot and Treasurer Nancy Kopp.

Adorable Adoptables

THIS MEDIUM SIZE BLACK LAB is currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. The 1-year-old male is described as "playful." Also currently at the shelter are a very friendly white/tabby male cat and a female blue tick hound. "These, plus last week's small brown dog and other animals, are available for adoption," said the spokesperson. "Many animals come into the shelter once the weather gets colder. So, when getting a pet, make sure you can provide it with a warm, loving home and not put it outside in the cold. Hay is available for your outside pets' boxes, especially for in those plastic dog houses." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Attorney General Cautions Consumers About Potentially Hazardous Toys

Maryland Attorney General Douglas F. Gansler recently discussed toy safety and advised consumers to be vigilant when it comes to inspecting and purchasing toys at Maryland PIRG's annual press conference.

Maryland PIRG is a public advocacy organization that focuses on consumer issues, health concerns, transportation needs, educational needs, and citizen activism. Maryland PIRG released its 23rd annual toy safety report, which has led to corrective action on more than 130 toys over the last two decades.

"As holiday season approaches, consumers need to be aware of potential toy hazards and pay special attention to product recalls relating to toys and children's products," Gansler said. "Parents should read the safety guidelines for purchasing toys for small children and be aware that there are toys currently on store shelves that pose potential safety hazards."

In addition to discussing its annual toy safety report, Maryland PIRG and Gansler discussed the work of the Consumer Product Safety Commission and the new federal law that allows attorneys general to enforce certain federal consumer protection laws.

The new law bans lead and phthalates in toys and children's products, and made several voluntary standards mandatory for toys and durable nursery products.

"Congress took important steps to address the serious health risks that lead poses to children, yet consumers may still find lead-laden children's jewelry and lead painted toys on Maryland store shelves until the protections take effect next year," said Gansler.

The Office of the Attorney General offers a wide variety of resources to the consumer, including an easily accessible link to recalled products across the country, and consumers are asked to check the site located at www.oag.state.md.us/Consumer/recalls/index.htm periodically for updated information.

The annual toy safety report issued by Maryland PIRG may be found at www.marylandpirg.org.

Sunday Sales

where Sunday sales was narrowly defeated.

Further north along Rt. 219 and across the bridge from Brenda's is the Black Bear Tavern. Even though the tavern sits in a district that did, in fact, pass the referendum, owners can't take advantage of their location because they only have a class D liquor license, which is for bars and taverns.

In order to be considered as a restaurant to receive a class B license, the majority of an establishment's income must come from food sales and not liquor, according to the Board of Licensing Commissioners.

"We're in the process of getting re-classified. I'd like for it to happen tomorrow, but it will probably take several months," said Charlie Neely, senior manager of the Black Bear, who also mentioned that the Honi-Honi at Uno's Restaurant is also in the process of changing its licensing classification.

For Cornish Manor along Memorial Drive in Oakland, the recent victory in its district (East Oakland) for Sunday sales yields much promise that maybe for once that establishment could have successful Sunday brunches. In years past, the only Sundays on which brunch earned the restaurant income was Mother's Day and over the Autumn Glory Festival weekend.

"It's been very frustrating, because we've lost business to surrounding areas, and this area is highly seasonal," said Ed Spak, general manager of Cornish Manor.

Spak also mentioned that just because a customer wants a glass of wine with a meal on Sundays doesn't make the establishment a "frat house."

"I can understand why people don't want bars near their churches open on Sundays, but we're a restaurant, which is different," he said. "This county was founded on tourism, historically because of the railroads. We're still an economy based on tourism. I don't care what business you have, but it is directly affected by tourism."

FRIENDSVILLE STUDENTS HELP TO WARM THE CHILDREN – Students at Friendsville Elementary School learned about the character traits of caring and giving by collecting donations for the Warm the Children campaign, a project of The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland. Under the direction of Kent Hubert, principal, students were encouraged to earn money for donating by doing jobs around the house. Parents were also generous with their donations, and teachers made contributions instead of holding a gift exchange. A total of $243.67 was raised. Students who made donations are pictured above and below. Above, front row: pre-K students. Second row: 2nd grade. Third row: 4th grade. Back row: 5th grade. Below: front row: kindergarten. WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are now engaged in the 11th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to the fund this week. An advertisement with information about how to donate can be found elsewhere in today's issue.

Thank you all for your generosity!

GCS's Messiah Performance To Feature Horton

MICHAEL HORTON

The Garrett Choral Society will present George Frederick Handel's Messiah the second weekend in December, and the performance will feature tenor soloist Michael Horton. The concerts will be given at St. Peter's Catholic Church, located along 4th Street in Oakland, on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m.

Horton, who began his career in New York moved [illegible] several years and then Los Angeles, now resides permanently in Mtn. Lake Park. He has most recently performed in St. Remy de Provence in the south of France in concert with the New York City Ballet. Other recent performances include Laud to the Nativity by Respighi and the Christmas Oratorio of Saint-Saens in Los Angeles.

Horton said he is happy to call himself a full-time resident of Mountain Lake Park now, making frequent trips to New York instead of California for his performance endeavors. Highlights of his long career include making several recordings with Linda Ronstadt, including a Christmas performance featuring the glass harmonica (a musical invention of Benjamin Franklin).

His voice can be heard on numerous movie soundtracks, including those of Men In Black, Independence Day, Inspector Gadget, Waterworld, Devil's Advocate, Extreme Measures, First Night, Outbreak, and Mars Attacks. While living in Germany from 1988 to 1993, Horton performed in that country's premiere of Phantom of the Opera, as well as Cats.

Horton first came to Garrett County in 1993 to sing in the classical music series of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

He was a regular voice performer on the PBS series Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, which now can be seen and heard worldwide as many of his featured episodes have been sold for use in foreign markets. He said he is delighted to be part of the Garrett Choral Society's presentation of Messiah.

The group is directed by Julie Turrentine, and will be accompanied by Lynn Grimm and Murial Franc, pianists/organists. The approximately 60-member chorus is made up of singers from across Garrett County and from nearby West Virginia.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for youth under 18. They are currently available from any choral society member, or at Jan Florist or Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland.

The performance is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council.

Auditions Slated At Broad Ford Elem. For Annual Musical

Auditions will be held on Tuesday and Thursday, Dec. 9 and 11, for Broad Ford Elementary School's production of Little Stars.

All children ages 7 and up are invited to audition from 4 to 6 p.m. Adults and teens are needed for the production as well.

"Little Stars is a great new rock and roll musical that's just perfect for young high school students," notes Kim Weimer, director of the production. "Follow the behind-the-scenes story of five finalists (and their neurotic parents) as they compete in the national TV sensation singing competition seeking the next...Little Star."

Local Artisans To Be Featured At Christmas Market

Our Town Theatre's second annual Christmas Market will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church Parish Social Hall in Oakland. The work of several artists will be on display and on sale, including that of Carolyn Collen-DuBose, a fabrics artist, and Caroline Blizzard, photographer.

"I learned to knit first, when I was 10. My mother Eleanor taught me," Collen-DuBose said. "Her mother Lillian was a crocheter, a knitter, and a seamstress. My grandmother Lillian taught me everything I know about sewing. I made doll clothes with her in her home every Sunday after church. These traditional arts connect me with the women in my family."

Collen-DuBose knits hats and bags with 100% wool, then shrinks them, which makes them stronger. She needle-felts animals, snowmen, and 12-inch dolls, a process of fewer steps during which she sculpts 100% wool as if it were clay, she explained.

She is transitioning from teaching in Garrett County for 30 years to the art of creating with fibers. During stints at Kitzmiller, Grantsville, Friendsville, Route 40, and Bloomington elementary schools, the artist sold her work in Garrett County Arts Council's Gallery in Oakland, the Garrett College Gallery, as well as at regional gift shops and craft shows. The National Museum of Women in the Arts (NMWA) hangs one of her hand-beaded ornaments on its Christmas tree every year. One of her 30-inch cloth dolls, clothed in a patchwork coat, traveled in the NMWA's Book Arts exhibition Brave Little Girls. She made the doll to accompany the Lauren Mills book for which the exhibition was named.

Completing half-finished projects and new forays into paper and wools are Carolyn's new goals upon retirement next spring.

"I want to finish what I've started. A year from now I may be using different materials to connect my love for family history and genealogy work," Carolyn said.

Caroline Blizzard said she has been experimenting with photography all her life.

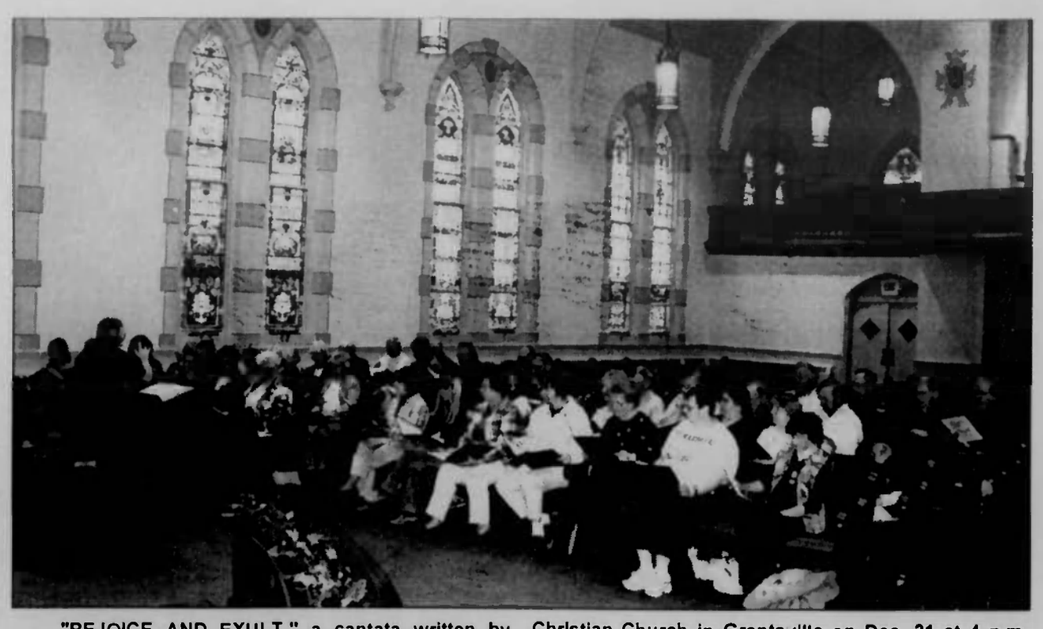
"I have always seemed to have a good eye, but as soon as digital photography came along, it really seemed to change things for me," she said. "My grandparents gave me a digital camera for Christmas one year. I began taking some shots that I wanted to see developed larger. Fortunately my mom is also an artist and has the skills and equipment to frame and mat her own work. She taught me those skills and I began framing my photography. Shortly after that I began showing my work at local festivals. It has progressed from there. In the spring I will actually be opening a studio in the Swallow Falls area with my family called Four Storm Artist Studio. We are the 'Blizzards,' after all."

Blizzard said her travels over the past few years have fueled her interest and range in her art.

"It began in Ecuador and the Galapagos Islands, then Mexico to follow the monarch butterfly migration through the Discovery Center," she said. "And this past February, I went to Peru and the Amazon rainforest with an ecology class from the New College of Sarasota, Fla. As you can imagine I took hundreds of photographs of nature and the culture surrounding each location."

Blizzard does custom work, framing, printing, and matting.

The market will feature the two women's work, along with numerous other local artisans. There will be hot chili available, and shoppers may purchase baked goods at the bake sale, select a Jan Florist holiday wreath, and take home Fair Trade coffee, tea, and chocolates. They can also purchase a $5 raffle ticket for a sleigh ride with Pleasant Valley Sleigh Rides. Free gift wrapping is also available at a special booth. There will be music throughout the day.



"REJOICE AND EXULT," a cantata written by Grantsville resident Sean Beachy, will be performed by the United Community Choir at Frostburg United Methodist Church on Dec. 20 at 7 p.m. and St. John's Christian Church in Grantsville on Dec. 21 at 4 p.m. Choir members are pictured above during rehearsal at Frostburg United Methodist Church. See story for details.

'TIS THE SEASON!
by Lorna Landvik
c. 2008, Ballantine Books, $22, 226 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

You never meant to do it. You were out with friends, that's all, just having a little cheer. The waiter brought you a glass of something bubbly, and in between reminiscing and laughter, the glass was emptied so you had another. You took a wee nip from that one 'til you nipped it clear to the bottom.

And the morning after, you're wondering what happened the night before.

If heiress Caroline Dixon wants to know how the party went, she looks in the gossip pages. Her every move is in there, perfect fodder for the tabloids because Caro is a walking, talking scandal. In the new novel, 'Tis the Season! by Lorna Landvik, it seems as if Caro is the person America loves to hate most.

Caroline Dixon's life is a wreck. Most of her friends have been driven away by Caro's sharp tongue, and her family is horrified by her partying and carousing. Caro makes the tabloids on a regular basis; so much, in fact, that she's at the top of the Most Unadmired Man and Woman in America list. Even the few people who cared about Caro once don't care anymore.

That is, except two people who knew Caroline many years ago.

Astrid Brevald was once Caroline's nanny, back when Caro was a young girl with a chip on her shoulder. She remembers Caro as a funny child, and very loving, despite her parents' indifference. Now, there's a message in Astrid's in-box. It's Caroline, on step number eight of her 12-step program, apologizing for any hurt she may have caused in the past.

On the other side of the world, Cyril Dale gets a similar e-mail. Cyril and his late wife ran a ranch for many years, and 14-year-old Caroline Dixon was once a temporary resident, shipped to the ranch one summer for asking too many questions as her father lay dying of cancer. Even then she had a sharp tongue, but Cyril remembers a sweet girl with attitude hiding a breaking heart.

Not wanting to spend Christmas with only his horses as company, Cyril invites Caroline and Astrid to come to the ranch for an old-fashioned family holiday on the mesa. But he has a surprise gift for the two women, one that almost makes the season a reason for very hurt feelings.

Do your kids clamor for a new Christmas book to be read-aloud each Yuletide? While you're looking for a book for them, get this one for yourself and start your very own personal tradition.

Through a series of e-mails and gossip columns, 'Tis the Season! unfolds as Caroline gains the respect of long-lost friends as well as herself. Author Lorna Landvik knows how to tell a story, and this flurry-of-messages in book form is a definite delight for old fans and new ones.

'Tis the Season! is a book you can read faster than a 5-year-old can rip the paper off a present, and I think you'll like it. 'Tis a wonderful Christmas story to curl up with this year.

LOCAL FAMILY MEETS UP WITH A FEW STARS – An Oakland family traveled to New York City recently and had the opportunity to meet two celebrities on a rooftop during a shoot for the NBC program Law & Order: Special Victims' Unit. John and Mary McEwen and sons, along with Mary's mother Hannah Sincell, went to the city to see nephew/grandson Matthew Sincell in the Off-Broadway play Bury the Dead, as well as a cousin, Patrick Wetzel, in the musical Spamalot, playing at the Schubert Theatre on Broadway. They were able to also reunite with a college friend of the McEwens, Dawn DeNoon of Los Angeles, who is a producer and writer for Law & Order: SVU. DeNoon, who was in West Virginia University theatre department with John and Mary and is originally from Moundsville, W.Va., escorted the family to the roof of a nine-floor building in the city to watch the filming of a scene. They then talked with Christopher Meloni and Mariska Hargitay, the two leads in SVU (Dets. Elliot Stabler and Olivia Benson). Pictured above from left are DeNoon, Mary, Robert, and Michael McEwen, Hargitay, and Alex and John McEwen. In the photo below, Meloni is pictured as he teases Hannah, hidden behind Alex, after she noted that she doesn't watch much television. The episode, which was written by DeNoon, will air on NBC on Jan. 6 at 10 p.m.

THE ULTIMATE GIFT

Humanity craved a ruler wise
To solve problems of that day
A mighty king who would arise
And drive all greed and strife away.

Perhaps a commander brave and bold
Riding from the battle ground
Could be the special one foretold
Of great knowledge and skill profound.

Even a prophet or seer ordained
Would not be perceived with scorn.
Then an angel of the Lord proclaimed
For unto you a child is born.

Under the direction of Debi Beachy and accompanied by the composer on the organ, the cantata brings to life the story of the birth of Jesus Christ.

"Rejoice and Exult" will also be performed by the choir at Frostburg Village Nursing Home on Thursday, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. and at Goodwill Nursing Home on Monday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the first performances of "Rejoice and Exult."

"In keeping with the true meaning of Christmas, a freewill offering will be taken at both locations and given to local families in need," a spokesperson noted.

To date, the choir has helped over 12 families and the Dove Center, giving them over $5,700 from offerings taken at the performances.

Refreshments will be served following each premiere performance.

SANTA AND THE ELVES ARE READY TO LISTEN UP – A Great Small Town Christmas celebration was launched in Oakland last Friday, with a parade and sleigh rides and the unveiling of Scott Atwill's miniature train display. The guy in the red suit was a special guest, meeting with more than 100 children and their parents in the former Jan Florist building along Alder Street. The use of the building was donated by Bill Meagher and decorated by the Decorator's Nook. Santa and his elves will be there again on Dec. 5, 12, 19, and 20. All area children are invited to come visit and list off their wishes. Free pictures will be taken and candy canes will be passed out. Sleigh rides will be offered every weekend. Pictured in front from left are elf Jack Jones, Mr. Claus, and elf Lillian Steele. In the back are Ray Miller of Pleasant Valley Dream Rides and elf Connie Margison.

Christmas Cookies To Be Available At Oakland Church

St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will hold its annual Christmas Cookie Walk on Sat., Dec. 13, from 9 until 11 a.m. Containers will be provided. The event will take place in the church's fellowship hall.

A wide selection of traditional favorites and many unique varieties of cookies will be available, according to an event spokesperson.

Craft items will also be available for purchase. Proceeds benefit various mission projects of the United Methodist Women.

The church is located at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets. For more information, persons may call 301-334-2391.

NHS Boys To Begin Campaign At Alco; Ron Opel New Coach

Athleticism and quickness are two qualities that new Northern High School boys' varsity basketball coach Ron Opel believes his Huskies possess, and he knows that his team will need that and more to have a winning season.

The Huskies will open their campaign next Tuesday at Allegany.

"That athleticism and quickness will serve us very well on defense," he said, "but we lost about 85% of our offense to graduation, so we are going to have to find out who is going to score for us this season."

The biggest chunk of that offensive power last season was in Kory Gibson, who led the area in scoring and is now playing for the Garrett College Lakers.

Other key players who have moved on are Garrett Gulledge, Jeff Smith, Dustin Platter, and Zak Brosnihan.

Among the more experienced players back this year are Ed and Wil Herpel, Thomas Holtschneider, and Trevor Tombley.

"Another of our strengths is that our roster is pretty deep this year, so we should be able to run a lot more," Coach Opel said.

In eyeing his team's schedule, Opel believes that Allegany, Fort Hill, Keyser, and Mountain Ridge will likely pose the most difficulty for the Huskies.

"This should be an exciting year, with this being my first year as head coach and the personnel that we have," Opel said. "Our goals are the same as always – to win the AMAC, the region title, and compete for a state championship."

The Huskies' first home game will be Friday, Dec. 12, when they host county rival Southern.

Northern Girls' Basketball To Face Mtn. Ridge For Season Opener

With three top players returning to the court, the Northern High School girls' basketball team hopes to up its 16-6 record from last year, starting with its season opener at Mtn. Ridge tomorrow.

Returning for three positions on the starting line-up for the Huskies are seniors Kaitlynn Fratz, guard; Megan Wiley, forward; and Justine Harvey, center.

According to Coach Dave Yoder, junior Adria Graham will be an "immediate impact player," as well as Southern High School senior transfer Kerry Conroy, both in guard positions.

Although forming a new team identity after losing five seniors is a recognized weakness, Yoder says he looks to the team's speed, transition ability, and communication on the court as the Huskies' strengths.

Kasie Fratz, Sarah Voelkel, Trish Wiley, Brittany Stein, and Danielle Brenneman were five of Northern's top players lost to graduation.

"Our number one goal is really to just have fun playing basketball," said Yoder. "Other goals are to become a team known for intense defense and rebounding."

Yoder speculates that Southern, Allegany, and Frankfort may be Northern's most difficult opponents; however, he believes that his team will be ready to face each opponent.

Friday's junior varsity game at Mtn. Ridge will begin at 6 p.m., and the varsity will follow at 7:30 p.m.

The Huskies will host Allegany on Monday, Dec. 8, and Union on Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Lakers Up Record To 7-0 By Whipping Butler, Wesleyan

Two more lopsided victories were recorded in a 24-hour period this week by the Garrett College men's basketball team, as the Lakers coasted to a 97-68 win over visiting Butler County CC of Pennsylvania on Tuesday and then handed the host West Virginia Wesleyan junior varsity a 92-70 defeat last night.

The results upped the Lakers' perfect season record to 7-0, which they will put on the line this Saturday in a Maryland JUCO Conference and Region XX Division 1 tilt at Hagerstown Community College.

In Tuesday's defeat of Butler, Terrance Taylor paced the Lakers with 22 points and eight rebounds. Also reaching double figures were Brian Koonce with a dozen points, Rodney Clark with 11 plus seven assists, and Marko Agbaba with 10 points. Reco Siler recorded five of Garrett's 19 steals.

The Lakers had total command of the game at intermission, holding a 49-23 advantage at the break.

Francis Gunn, the Lakers' leading scorer, was lost early in the game when he and a Butler player butted heads, resulting in the need for stitches in his forehead. He scored nine points before the injury.

Despite the relatively easy win, GC coach Dennis Gibson was not overly thrilled with his team's effort.

"It was about what I expected after a five-day layoff for Thanksgiving," he said. "We were not moving into our offense very well, and our defensive play was less than stellar. Plus our continuity was disrupted when Mo (Gunn) had to leave the game.

"All in all, I felt that too many of our guys just wanted to score, and not play both ends of the floor," he added.

Leading Butler (2-6) in scoring was Jermaine Richardson with 20 points, while teammate Rashad Washington netted 13.

Last night's contest with the West Virginia Wesleyan jayvees was completely different, as the Lakers and their hosts were tied at 38-38 at halftime. But Coach Gibson switched to a trapping zone defense in the second half and quickly pulled away to record the 22-point win.

The Lakers had to play without the services of leading scorer Mo Gunn because of his injury that occurred the night before, but point guard Rodney Clark stepped up on offense and scored 16 points to go along with a team-high six assists.

Former Northern Husky Chris Speicher also hit an individual season high 16 points, as did Terrance Taylor, while Brian Koonce, who replaced Gunn in the lineup, netted 15 points, all in the second half.

Hitting a game-high 23 points was Bobcat Roy Schneider, and teammate Shawn Hatano was right behind with 22, a dozen of which were recorded from three-point range. Blaize Scott contributed 13 points.

Coach Gibson was impressed with the smaller, more aggressive Bobcats.

"Their offense was just too hard for us to guard," he said. "They really pulled our post players out and made them guard on the perimeter. We should have learned a lot about our defensive assignments from this game and how to play harder. Everyone assumed we would win because they are JV, but most of those kids dress for their varsity."

Gibson says that the Lakers will face their biggest test of this season to date when they travel to Hagerstown to meet the Hawks this Saturday.

AMATEUR RADIO GROUP COMMENDED – The Joanna M. Nicola Melanoma Foundation recently cited members of the Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) for their help during the "Try to Win" SavageMan Triathlon in September. ARES members from Garrett and Allegany counties joined forces to provide radio communications from checkpoints along the race's 56-mile bike course. Greg Safko, race director, thanked Bill Shomo, president of the Garrett ARES, for the group's "expertise and extra effort, which helped ensure the safe and expeditious conduct" of the charity fundraiser. Safko then presented Shomo and Mark Moynahan, ARES engineer, with a short-wave receiver/transmitter. Brad Frantz, director of the Garrett County Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management, noted that the Garrett Mobile Command Communications Unit will have an operating position for ARES operators and for the permanent installation of the radio. The gift was presented during the Garrett Traffic Advisory Committee's November meeting, held at the Maryland State Police barrack in McHenry. Left to right are Moynahan, Frantz, Safko, and Shomo.

Husky Matmen Return Lots Of Experience; To Open This Friday

With a strong contingent of experienced wrestlers back on the roster this season, Northern High School wrestling fans are optimistic about the Huskies' chances this season, as Coach Scott Stough's squad will open its 2008-09 campaign by hosting both Southern and Walkersville this Friday evening.

The top grappler lost to graduation was Maryland state runner-up Andy Ganoe, who placed second in the 152-pound division.

Among those returning are Dustin Stough, a fourth-place state finisher; Kameron Kamp, who finished fourth in the West Region championships; and Adam Moranduzzo, Josh Duckworth, and Andrew Reynolds, all of whom placed fifth in the region.

Coach Stough said that the obvious strengths of his team are the aforementioned wrestlers who have experience and are back this year, plus he said that he has enough team members to provide some flexibility in the line-up.

As for concerns, Stough said, "We're going have inexperienced wrestlers in a few of the weight classes, plus we've lost Alex Ruff for the season because of injury."

Stough is anticipating the most challenging teams on the Huskies' schedule to be Southern, East Fairmont, and Mountain Ridge.

Qualifying for the state dual meet tournament is among Stough's biggest team goals.

Friday's meet at Northern will pit Walkersville against Southern at 6 p.m., and Walkersville vs. the Huskies at 7:30 p.m.

The Huskies will travel to Southern next Tuesday to take on Frankfort in a 6 p.m. start.

Rams To Open Season Against Huskies; Jon Hegeman Coaching

With a number of talented seniors lost to graduation last spring, new Southern High School boys' varsity basketball head coach and former Ram Jon Hegeman has his work cut out for him, as he and his squad will work to try to improve on last season's record of 11-12.

The Rams will open their 2008-09 campaign on Friday, Dec. 12, against cross-county rival Northern at the Cove. The Huskies will already have one game under their belts, as they will begin their season at Allegany.

The '07-08 Ram roster was gutted by last spring's commencement, as Jeff Stem, Jordan Pacella, Drew Proudfoot, Rhett Rhodes, Tommy Reams, and Jon Ross all concluded their high school careers. The only returning players with experience are Chris Schad and Dan Shockey.

Working hard to earn one of the three spots at guard positions, according to Coach Hegeman, are Reece Duncan, Tyler Ewing, Ryan Troublefield, Ben Myers, Derek Collins, Joe Shaffer, and Schad, while Brian Baker, Scott Livengood, Ethan Brady, William Six, and Shockey are all battling for the forward positions.

Hegeman said that the size of the team will be a major strength, as well as the defensive abilities of the guards.

Consistency in team defense is among his greatest concerns.

Hegeman believes that the most challenging teams on the Rams' schedule will be Allegany, Fort Hill, Keyser, and Preston, but he added, "Really just about everyone on our schedule is going to pose a challenge for our young team."

The Rams' first home game will be on Tuesday, Dec. 16, against Petersburg.

"We have the same goals that just about every team has every year," Hegeman added, "to improve every game and to try to be playing our best basketball when the playoffs start."

Assisting Hegeman with the coaching duties are Ryan White, Jeff Stump, and Mike Harvey.

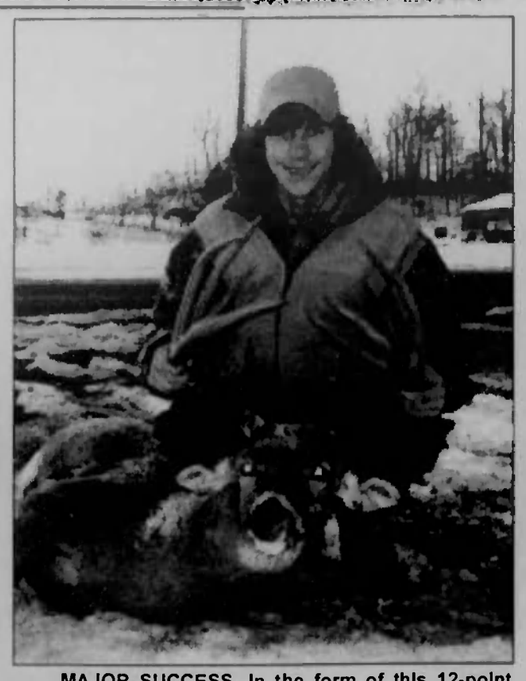
BAGGED A SPIKE – Trenton Rhodes, 11, recently bagged a spike buck in the Gorman area, while hunting with his grandfather. He shot the spike with a .243. Rhodes is a fifth grader at Yough Glades Elementary School, and he is the son of Pam Rhodes.



MAJOR SUCCESS, in the form of this 12-point buck, was achieved by 14-year-old Hunter Riley of Swanton, who brought down this beauty on Saturday, which was opening day of the Maryland firearms season. A student at Southern High School, Hunter is the son of Becky and Joe Riley.

BAGS FIRST DEER – Collin Fratz bagged his first deer, a 5-point buck, during the recent Youth Hunt Day while hunting with his dad on his grandfather's property in Accident. Collin is 9 years old and in the fourth grade at Accident Elementary School. He is the son of Dwayne and Jackie Fratz.

HARVESTING A BUCK for the first time, and on the first day of the Maryland rifle season (Saturday), was 13-year-old Dalton Rodeheaver, son of Mark and Dawna Rodeheaver, Oakland. Dalton got his 6-point, 130-pound buck while hunting on private property.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL HUNT – Luke Lowery, 9, bagged a 7-point buck while hunting with his dad. This is his third deer, and the first that he got during rifle season. A fourth grade student at Grantsville Elementary, Luke is the son of Craig and Anita Lowery, Grantsville.

GETS FIRST BUCK – Kevin Harris harvested his first buck on Saturday, the first day of Maryland's two-week firearm deer season. The 12-year-old was hunting on his grandfather's farm in Swanton. Kevin is a seventh grade student at Southern Middle School and the son of Ken and Clarissa Harris of Oakland.

YOUTH HAS SUCCESSFUL HUNT – Twelve-year-old Matthew Imhoff recently bagged an 8-point buck while hunting with his father on private property. Matthew is a seventh grade student at Southern Middle School and the son of Mark and Bridgette Imhoff, Loch Lynn.

Public Involvement Meeting for Western Maryland
Americans with Disabilities Act

December 18, 2008

The Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA), assisted by the Maryland Department of Education's Division of Rehabilitation Services (DORS), which "prepares people with disabilities to go to work or remain independent in their homes or community," invites interested persons to attend an Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Public Involvement Meeting. SHA is conducting a Self-Evaluation to identify features in the State's public right-of-way (PROW), such as sidewalks, that do not meet ADA's current guidelines.

WHAT: As one of several public meetings SHA is holding throughout the State to gather public input on challenges to accessibility, the event will provide you an opportunity to share your comments and help prioritize future ADA improvement projects. Starting at 5:30 p.m., a brief overview will be given, and displays explaining individual ADA element compliance on sidewalks along State roads in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington Counties will be available for viewing. SHA representatives will be available to discuss ADA compliance issues and answer questions.

WHEN: Thursday, December 18, 2008, 5:30 p.m. 7:00 p.m.

WHERE: One-Stop Job Center – Conference Room
138 Baltimore Street - Suite 102, Cumberland, MD 21502

Garrett Women Fall To Allegany College, 51-57

Brittany Boyce and Janey Collins led in scoring for the Garrett College women's basketball team, but were unable to carry the Lakers past host Allegany College last night, losing 51-57.

Boyce finished with 17 points, and Collins was right behind with 15. The Lakers held a 21-19 lead at halftime.

Allegany's Melissa Ford and Shannon Washington had double-doubles, with Ford providing 25 points and 16 rebounds, and Washington contributing 10 points and 11 rebounds.

"Garrett jumped out early and led most of the game, but our girls kept fighting and we were able to pull it out at the end," said Allegany coach Garrett Sherman.

The Lakers will have a chance to redeem themselves this weekend when they host CCBC Dundalk on Saturday.

QUESTION:
How much is my deductible, and when do I pay it?

ANSWER:
Deductibles are different amounts. The best thing to do is contact your insurance agent, who can tell you the exact amount. Your deductible is due when you pick up your repaired vehicle.

LOOKING GOOD IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD!

When you look your best, you attract attention. A recent survey of five hundred REALTORS® proves that it's no different when it comes to marketing your home.

82 percent of those polled reported that buyers unimpressed by a home's "curb appeal" won't be interested in a closer look. Additionally, 90 percent of the agents explained that a sale depends greatly on first impressions walking through the front door.

That same number also reported that the appearance of a home's exterior is equally important as the interior features and condition. When buyers see your home from the street and the front walk, they feel that what they see is what they get.

When you're ready to list, work hard on your curb appeal and make sure the interior displays the same pride of ownership. Make sure that your real estate agent will have professional photographs accompany your listing on the Internet, as well as in brochures, newspaper ads, and other marketing tools. And make sure that those pictures will be shared with other brokers in the area.

These photos may be the buyers' first "first impression" to look closer. The more pictures you offer, the better your chance for a quick sale. Listings with one photo sold for 91 percent of the listing price, while those with six or more pictures sold for 95 percent of the asking price. When you do the math, you'll see that an attractive home plus attractive marketing is the formula for success! If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

"Home For The Holidays" Tours Slated Fri., Sat.

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross will host its 17th annual "Home for the Holidays" House Tours this weekend. Ticketholders will be able to visit five tour stops on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 9 p.m., or Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All five locales are included in the price of one ticket.

The five stops on this year's circuit are as follows: Ridgeview Valley in McHenry, the "Little Pine Log Cabin" at North Glade Hills, the WildWood Athletic Club, a private home along Markwood Drive, and the Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park.

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 on the days of the tours. Tickets are available at Proudfoot's, Gregg's, and Deep Creek pharmacies, as well as Arrowhead Market at Deep Creek Lake. Directions are printed on the back of the tickets, and Red Cross signs will be placed in the yard of each tour site.

As in the past, tour participants will be asked to remove their shoes before entering the sites, and no photographing or videotaping will be permitted.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-3153, 301-334-9727, or 301-334-4465.

Med. Transcription Classes Planned At Northern Center

The Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College announced that it is accepting applications for medical transcription courses that are to begin in January at the Northern Outreach Center.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment in this career is more in demand than ever before. The issue of properly managing and protecting patient health information has steadily increased the demand for transcription professionals.

According to a Garrett College spokesperson, medical transcriptionists transcribe (type) medical reports from doctor's dictation that document a patient's medical care and condition. These may include office chart notes, history and physical examinations, consultations, letters, memos, admission notes, emergency medicine reports, operative reports, discharge summaries, x-rays, pathology reports, and many laboratory tests and diagnostic studies.

The curriculum consists of three components for approximately 145 of instruction, including medical terminology, introduction to anatomy and physiology of the human body, and medical transcription laboratory. The program will run from January 26 to June 29.

For additional information about the training program, persons may contact Terry Beachy, director of the Garrett College Northern Outreach Center, by phone at 301-895-4700, or via e-mail at terry.beachy-@garrettcollege.edu. To register, persons may telephone contact 301-387-3069.

10th Annual Joy Of Christ Events Now Under Way

The 10th annual Joy of Christ Celebration, held each year at the Oakland Community Center (former armory), is currently under way, with events still to come this evening and tomorrow, Dec. 4 and 5.

The event is free and open to the public. No donations are requested or accepted.

"You can't buy a thing, even if you want to," said Paul Browning, organizer.

The free admission includes children's crafts, performer CD giveaways, refreshments and candy, and a Christmas trivia contest.

The event is supported by area businesses and churches, Browning said. It was launched in 1999 when a small group of people wanted to do something for the Garrett County community at Christmastime.

The celebration's web site is located at www.Garrett-CountyChristmas.com.

The remaining schedule is as follows:

Thursday Dec. 4

6:30 p.m., Nazarene Children's Choir; 7 p.m., Maria Rose and Danny Elswick; 8 p.m., Just 4 Fun Quartet.

Friday Dec. 5

6:30 p.m., Scotch Mist, Celtic Harp; 7:30 p.m. Loretta Hummel and the Golden River Band; 8 p.m., The Gaithers.

gional Commission, and a Community Development Block Grant," Lindsey reported.

"EADS (an engineering firm) is currently revising the plans and specifications to reflect the revised project scope, and the Purchasing Department is preparing to advertise the project for bid," she said.

The director explained that the rehabilitation project has been downsized to the areas that have the most need, mainly Water Street, where the sewer line lies evenly with the river, and a portion of Maple Street.

"Is the cost per user going to be acceptable?" Gregg asked. "That's been a bone of contention for years."

Lindsey said: "We have the project down to where there's just a little over $400,000 loan from MDE. We calculated what the ad valorem rate would be and presented that to the [Friendsville] mayor and town council, and they have accepted that."

Racial Gaps, High Costs Plague Higher Education In Maryland

by Allyson Dickman
Capital News Service

Maryland higher education is too costly and continues to have large racial disparities in success and completion rates, according to a report released Wednesday by the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education.

"Measuring Up 2008: The State Report Card on Higher Education" failed Maryland for higher education affordability. On average, poor and working-class families spend 33 percent of their income, even with aid, to attend a two-year college, said the report.

Since the center's 2006 report card, financial aid for Maryland students has declined, the report said.

The state spends 59 cents for every Pell Grant federal aid dollar. The national average is 46 state cents per Pell Grant dollar, according to the center.

Nationwide, college tuition and fees have increased 439 percent in 25 years while median family income has increased 147 percent, said Patrick Callan, center president.

"It's no wonder we haven't been able to generate enough financial aid to keep up with that level of tuition increase," he said. "Most of our new investments in aid are to absorb increased costs rather than getting more access."

Since 2005, Maryland has had an in-state, undergraduate tuition freeze, which lowered the state from the sixth to 16th highest in-state tuition. The state also tripled need-based aid during the same period, from about $10 million to $28 million, said John Buettner, University System of Maryland spokesman.

Gov. Martin O'Malley has made no decision about keeping the tuition freeze for another year, said spokesman Shaun Adamec.

"It's something the governor would like to continue and we will work to continue, but it's too early to tell," Adamec said. "The governor has been clear that nothing can be off the table, there's no more fat to be trimmed ... and everything we're doing now is going to be painful."

The report also highlighted racial gaps in higher education. About 73 percent of whites graduate from higher institutions in six years while only 42 percent of blacks do, said the report.

"Maryland is becoming generally a majority-minority state," Buettner said. "One of the challenges will be to prepare those students for college educations and for jobs in the economy.

Last year, the University System of Maryland created the Closing the Achievement Gap Initiative. Each school is developing a plan to close gaps between races, genders, incomes and at-risk students. For example, some colleges are increasing or modifying developmental courses and outreach programs to help freshmen transition better into college, Buettner said.

There is also a gap in college enrollment and high school credentials. About 32 percent of blacks are enrolled in college and 89 percent have high school credentials. Meanwhile, 42 percent of whites are enrolled in college and 94 percent have high school credentials.

"The gap is not a new phenomenon," said Dr. Lezli Baskerville, National Association for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education president. "They are persistent, as are the disparities in funding for historically black colleges and historically white colleges."

The association recommends more funding for historically black institutions, enrolling more minority students at well-funded universities and increasing aid to institutions with more low-income students.

"At this time of new beginnings and transition, if we rethink the policies of the nation that have ill-served the country and kept the nation divided along economic and educational lines, this data can be instructive as to the type of policy changes that are needed," Baskerville said.

Maryland did earn an A– in preparing students for secondary education. The state also has a high number of residents with bachelor's degrees, but only 26 percent of blacks have a bachelor's degree, compared to 42 percent of whites.

"Our presidents are committed to making higher education greater because ultimately it benefits our state, it benefits our work force and it strengthens our economy," Buettner said. "The report is a good bellwether for higher education and its status in the U.S., but it does gloss over what's currently happening in ... Maryland."

APPROXIMATELY 600 VISITORS attended the Inaugural Garrett County Festival of Trees held Nov. 26-30 at the Oakland Community Center. Events featured 25 themed trees; 16 wreaths; two swags; six centerpieces; two holiday cakes; and four gingerbread structures. "It was our very first year and we are excited with the results and positive feedback," said Pam Trickett, festival chair. "I was totally surprised and elated by the number of entries in this year's festival. Many visitors told us they can not wait until next year." The proceeds this year benefited the Dove Center's new building fund. Pictured above left with Santa is Heather Hanline, director of the Dove Center, standing with the DOVE tree. Lexie Trickett, above right, trims the "Hannah Montana" tree. Below left are various gingerbread houses on display for the live and silent auctions, being admired by attendees of the festival. Scholarship Fund Established For Area Vet Students

DR. JOYCE COLBERT

The Joyce Colbert Veterinary Scholarship Fund has been established to help address the shortage of large animal veterinarian services in the local region.

"We just don't have any veterinarians to serve the farm community," said a spokesperson for the Garrett/Preston Rural Development Coalition.

The fund was established for students in Garrett, Tucker (W.Va.), and Preston (W.Va.) counties who are planning careers in rural veterinary medicine. Scholarships will be awarded to animal science and veterinary majors from those three counties.

Any student may apply each year during the scholarship cycle, as financial need arises, according to the spokesperson. Scholarship applications are accepted February through April of each year.

The Joyce Colbert Veterinary Scholarship Fund is administrated by the Tucker Community Foundation.

"We have raised over $20,000 for the fund this year," said Robert Burns, the foundation's executive director. "Students may download application forms from the foundation's web site: tuckerfoundation.net."

The fund was established in memory of Dr. Joyce Colbert, a long-time resident of Deer Park. She established her practice, Deer Park Veterinary Services, in the 1980s. Colbert died on Nov. 7, 2007.

"Dr. Colbert was a dedicated livestock veterinarian for the many farmers and ranchers of Garrett, Preston, and Tucker counties," said the coalition spokesperson. "The Colbert Scholarship Fund is established in her honor and directed to building rural veterinary resources through promotion of production-animal veterinary education."

Two scholarships of $1,000 each were awarded to students this year, Burns noted.

"A successful scholarship program needs the continued support and contributions of all of us in the area," he said.

Tax-deductible contributions may be mailed to the Joyce Colbert Scholarship, TCF, P.O. Box 491, Parsons, WV 26287. One may also call the foundation at 304-478-2930.

Oakland Man Handed Three Months' Jail Time

Clifford Frank Elliot Jr., 36, Oakland, was found guilty in Garrett County District Court for his charge of reckless endangerment. He was sentenced to three months in jail and 18 months of supervised probation by Judge Edward Malloy.

His charges stem from a May incident when Garrett County sheriff's officers were dispatched to the Hutton area. Elliot had allegedly threatened two victims, who explained they were threatened by him because they would not hand over his guns.

Officers, after questioning the first victims, were called to the Sand Flat Road area for a report of a disturbance by Elliot. Officers were able to detain Elliot and transported him to the Garrett County Detention Center.

Douglas Ray Ferguson, 25, Oakland, pleaded guilty for his charge of indecent exposure and will serve a three month jail sentence, with 84 days of credit time served, and supervised probation for two years, with no fines.

He was charged in August after an altercation with a minor. He was not prosecuted on a charge of sexual solicitation of a minor.

Cindy Renae Bolyard, 29, Oakland, was placed on stet for her charges of assault in the second degree and reckless endangerment, with conditions being to have no contact with the victim of attack. She was charged in June.

William Allen Brashear, 44, Westernport, not prosecuted on a charge of theft of $500-plus value and malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500. Reports stated that he was arrested in April after breaking and entering into Tri-Star Mining grounds, damaging a gate, and stealing a piece of equipment.

New Assistance Web Site Noted By Gov. O'Malley

Governor Martin O'Malley recently announced the launch of www.problemsolver.maryland.gov, a new state web page that provides access to state and federal resources during these challenging economic times.

"We have seen our share of challenges with a downturn in the national economy and a national mortgage crisis. This hasn't been an easy year and far too many Maryland families are struggling to make ends meet," said Governor O'Malley. "We know that these winter months and these uncertain economic times will not be easy for many Maryland families, but it is our hope that this web page will help Marylanders gain access to programs and services available to them if they qualify."

"Governor O'Malley and I have committed ourselves to strengthening the middle class and we know that working families are struggling during these difficult times," Lt. Governor Anthony Brown said. "We will continue to use every tool we have to reach out and educate Marylanders about the programs and services available to them. This web page is one of those tools."

Marylanders can go to the site to find information on a range of services, from heating and energy assistance, to employment assistance including job training and unemployment services to services for seniors and those living with disabilities. The web page also provides a link to an assistance eligibility calculator, which helps Marylanders determine what services they may qualify for, such as food stamps, the Temporary Cash Assistance program, Medical Assistance, the Maryland Energy Assistance Program, and the Electric Universal Service Program, among others.

"Governor O'Malley has been working to ensure state agencies who provide social services to those in need are doing so in a coordinated and cooperative fashion," said Department of Human Resources Secretary Brenda Donald. "The people we serve will now have a much easier way to access information about services they may need."

Marylanders looking for information on heating or utility assistance can click on the utilities and energy icon to find information and resources on programs such as weatherization assistance, telephone services, and utility service protection, in addition to the Maryland Energy Assistance program and the Electric Universal Service Program.

The web page also provides information for job seekers, including links to local employment agencies, vocational training centers, and information on unemployment compensation and how to file a claim. Information for senior citizens including in-home aide services, assisted living programs, respite and attendant care, medical assistance, and prescription drug price assistance, is also available on the site.

Marylanders wanting to finance a college education can click on the Education icon and will find a number of state resources on financial aid, scholarships, and college savings plans. Maryland's veterans can find information on education and training programs, scholarships, employment opportunities, and other benefits available to them.

Marylanders looking for ways to cut costs on driving to work can click on the Transportation icon to find ride-sharing information, information and incentives on using mass transit and van-pooling to work, and information on discounts for students and seniors.

The announcement about the web site came one day after Governor O'Malley announced a partnership with Share Our Strength to end childhood hunger in Maryland within five years. The partnership aims to increase enrollment in food assistance programs, including the School Food and Nutrition Program, the Summer Food Service Program, and the Child and Adult Care Food Program, all of which are administered by the State Department of Education, and the Food Supplement program, which is administered by the Department of Human Resources.

Children's Group To Present Play Called Angel Alert!

The Loch Lynn Church of God's Kidz Factory children, from ages 6 to 11, will perform the play Angel Alert! this Friday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. and again on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m.

The production is under the direction of Jennifer Loughry and Krystal Shreve, who invite the public to attend.

"Angel means messenger, and what better way to spread the message of Christmas time than with angels?" a church spokesperson said. "In Angel Alert, our entire children's choir is made up of angels, all waiting to be told when to go to Earth and make the grand announcement. The music is full of worship and plenty of celebration, since the angels understand the love God has for his people in sending his Son to earth."

The children who are 5 and younger will sing in the Cherub Choir each evening before the play performance.

The church is located along Rt. 560 in Loch Lynn, next to the WKHJ radio station. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3221.

SATURATED AND UNSATURATED FATS
by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. I'm all confused about the different kinds of fats – some are good for you and some are bad. What makes them different?

A. This topic is cluttered with a lot of big words, including things like LDL cholesterol, poly-unsaturated, and so forth. I'll try to explain the basic ideas:

The categories of things you eat are proteins, carbohydrates, fats, and fiber. Good health requires some fats in your diet, and fats are present in all foods. Not just fatty meat; fat is present in lean meat, beans, nuts, and grains. Leafy and root vegetables contain fat, but only a tiny amount.

An ordinary vegetable oil is a poly-unsaturated liquid, while margarine and butter are solids (at least at room temperature). Therefore, there must be some small difference in their chemistry.

The word unsaturated refers to the type of chemical bonds between atoms in the molecules of the particular fat in question. When adjacent atoms in a molecule share two pairs of electrons, it's called a double bond. When only one pair of electrons is shared, that's a single bond. This characteristic is the basic difference between different types of fats.

In chemical terminology, you "saturate" a bond by changing it from a double bond to a single bond. A molecule that contains several double bonds is termed poly-unsaturated, but if there is only one double bond, that's mono-unsaturated. If all the chemical bonds are converted from double bonds to single bonds, then the molecule is termed saturated.

The way to get from unsaturated to saturated is by bringing up hydrogen atoms and attaching them to carbon atoms in the molecule. Naturally enough, the process of doing so is called hydrogenation.

Now look at an actual food: Vegetable oil starts out as mostly an unsaturated fat. On bottles of vegetable oil you'll find information like this: saturated fat, 2g (grams); poly-unsaturated fat, 9g; mono-unsaturated fat, 3g; total fat, 14g.

If a vegetable oil is converted to mono-unsaturated fat, the product would be margarine or a vegetable-based shortening such as Crisco®. Animal fats tend to have fully saturated bonds, so that's called saturated fat.

What gives margarine its solid shape, compared to vegetable oil? The poly-unsaturated molecules tend to be loose and wiggly, and remain in the liquid state. On the other hand, mono-unsaturated molecules are stiffer, and can build structures, making the whole assembly stay put, virtually a solid. But if you heat it up, it readily melts back to the liquid state.

There is one more important detail, about exactly how the newly added hydrogen molecules attach to the carbons. They can attach in two slightly different ways. That means (still within the realm of unsaturated molecules) that there are two different isomers possible, known as cis and trans. The two isomers are chemically identical, but the trans isomer tends to be straight, not wiggly, and its behavior resembles a saturated fat. Such molecules are called trans-fatty acids.

Saturated fats tend to promote the formation of LDL-cholesterol, also known as "bad" cholesterol. Since trans fats do likewise, FDA rules will not allow trans fat to be labeled "unsaturated."

Trans-fatty acids have some good features, notably that they can be heated to higher temperatures for deep frying. They also resist going rancid (oxidation) and hence lengthen the "shelf life" of a product. Their stiffness retains a solid shape at room temperature, so that you don't have margarine melting during dinner or vegetable oil oozing out of donuts. French fries are crisper when cooked in trans fat.

But there is a price: The trans fats produced by hydrogenation are rare in nature, and our bodies don't cope very well with them. People who want to live a long time should reduce both saturated and trans fats in their diet.

Additionally, omega-3 fatty acids are thought to increase the production of "good" (HDL) cholesterol. The term "omega-3" refers to the number and placement of unsaturated bonds in the fat molecule. Foods rich in omega-3s include dark-colored fish such as mackerel, olive oil, nuts, and some brands of margarine. Foods with "bad fat" include fatty meats, lard, and pastries. A "heart-healthy" diet increases your omega-3 intake while reducing your total calories.

It's getting easier to reduce bad fats. New labeling laws make your choice clearer, and some fast-food restaurants have eliminated trans fats from their recipes, although they still use saturated fats. By reading labels in stores, you can adjust your diet a little and still have healthy and nutritious meals.

Jobless Benefits Will Be Paid By Debit Card

Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation Secretary Thomas E. Perez has announced that all new recipients of unemployment insurance benefits will receive automatic payments through prepaid debit cards, eliminating the need for paper checks and saving the state $400,000 a year.

"Marylanders who find themselves unexpectedly unemployed need access to unemployment insurance benefits fast, so they can continue paying for their living expenses and contributing to the local economy," Secretary Perez said. "As the national economic downturn leads to more Marylanders out of work, this switch to prepaid debit cards will create a more efficient and safer process for the State, and for its residents in need."

Maryland's Treasurer's Office and the Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation have entered into a contract with Citi® Prepaid Services to provide the debit cards, which will receive electronic payments automatically. Claimants will have the option of having payments directly forwarded to their own bank account. The switch to plastic substantially reduces the costs of postage, paper, staff time, and processing associated with the nearly one million checks issued each year by the Division of Unemployment Insurance.

"This new program eliminates the problems caused by lost or delayed checks, and can save beneficiaries the costs of fees sometimes associated with cashing checks. It's a great program for our state, and for our residents," Unemployment Insurance Assistant Secretary Thomas Wendel said.

With their Citi Prepaid debit cards, unemployment insurance claimants will be able to:

- Access fee-free funds at ATMs within the Citi network;
- Make fee-free purchases everywhere Visa debit cards are accepted;
- Access fee-free cash at Visa member banks;
- Access fee-free cash at participating retailers;
- Manage their account online or make bank transfers for free; and
- Access their account via toll-free interactive voice response system.

Also, cardholders are supported by 24/7/365 multilingual customer service to assist with any questions or issues that may arise.

Unemployment Insurance claimants are required to register with the Maryland Workforce Exchange Web site, which can help them connect with employers. They will receive an informational brochure with instructions for registration after an initial claim for unemployment benefits is filed.

*Annual Percentage Yield. Offer effective 11/10/2008 and will be paid based on eligible initial balance of $25,000 or more or $100,000 or more, maximum $1,000,000. This is a variable rate product. Interest rate may change daily. For 6 months from the date of deposit, the interest rate will be at least the initial promotional rate, but could increase. Initial APYs would be: $25,000 - $99,999.99 3.00%, $100,000+ 3.50%. At the end of the promotion period, the rate will be the standard variable rate offered for Premium Money Market accounts and will be paid on eligible balance. As of 11/10/2008, non-promotional balance tiers and corresponding APYs would be: $10,000 - $24,999.99 1.00%, $25,000 - $49,999.99 2.00%, $50,000 - $99,999.99 2.25%, $100,000 - $249,999.99 2.50%, and $250,000+ 2.50%. $10,000 minimum daily balance required to avoid a monthly service fee of $16. Fees could reduce earnings. Premium Money Market is a consumer account. Businesses not eligible for this promotion. Federal regulation limits total transactions paid (excluding unlimited "over the counter" withdrawals) to six per statement cycle, of which three may be by check, draft or debit card. Excess transactions will result in a per transaction fee and if repeated could cause the account to be changed to a non-interest-bearing account. No brokered deposits accepted. Offer limited to one promotional account per customer. This is a limited time offer and subject to change without notice.

A Susquehanna Senior Checking, Power Checking or Premium Choice checking account is required for new customers ($25 minimum balance to open) in order to be eligible for promotional rate on the Premium Money Market. Senior Checking has no minimum balance requirement or fee. Power Checking: $5,000 in combined Power Checking, personal savings and money market account balances are required to avoid $15 monthly service fee. Premium Choice Checking: $15,000 aggregate minimum daily balance includes balances for Premium Choice Checking, personal savings, money markets, CD/IRAs, and the outstanding balances on personal loans and lines of credit.

Existing Susquehanna customers must deposit $25,000 new money (funds not already on deposit with Susquehanna) and have a checking account with Susquehanna in order to qualify for this promotion. The applicable promotional interest rate for existing customers will be based on the account balance with the addition of the new money. The interest rate may change daily and the other terms of this promotion as described above will also apply to existing customers.

NMS AND SHS STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN "REAL DEAL" PROGRAM – Eighth graders at Northern Middle School and juniors from Southern High School recently participated in "The Real Deal," a simulated real-life activity in which students were provided a life situation, received a pre-determined occupation ledger sheet, and were tasked with purchasing homes, cars, insurance, amenities, and dealing with real life situations. Many local businesses participated in the event as well, providing students with the numbers and statistics on making the necessary purchases that were required. The activity forced students to make some serious financial decisions and prioritize purchasing in order of necessity. They had an opportunity to be creative in their decisions and to work together to develop solutions to their problems. For instance, several students could not afford to purchase a house on their own, so they became roommates and rented a home together. "It was really wonderful to see how much thought students put into this activity," noted a spokesperson, "and how excited they became when they successfully completed the activity with money left over at the end of the monthly ledger." The activity was designed to teach financial literacy, goal setting, and teamwork. Plans are under way for Northern High and Southern Middle schools to experience the program in the spring. The Real Deal committee comprises high school and middle school counselors, case managers, administrators, and college partners. The committee also extends thanks to the local agencies and businesses that contributed to the program: Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Maryland State Police, First United bank, Team One Auto Mall, Coldwell Banker, Garrett College faculty and students, Mtn. Top Travel, Hershberger Insurance, Bill's Marine Service, Perfection Plus, Shear Image, Child Protective Services, and the Garrett County Health Department. "Having actual business members participating in the activity added authenticity for our students," said the spokesperson. "Your time and commitment to our students is greatly appreciated."

Forrester Installed As New Pastor Of Cranesville Church

The Laurel Glen Church of the Brethren, Cranesville, W.Va., recently installed its new pastor, Brother Donald D. Forrester, Mtn. Lake Park.

Forrester has been serving the Laurel Glen Church since March 2007 as both pulpit supply minister and acting pastor. He received his license to minister in the Church of the Brethren on June 22, 2008.

Brother Steve Abe, executive minister, West Marva District, Church of the Brethren, conducted the ceremony, and Forrester delivered the sermon.

A number of individuals from the Laurel Glen Church and the surrounding community attended the Sunday service and installation, which was followed by a Thanksgiving dinner in the church basement.

Lutheran Church To Hold Holiday Sing Event Dec. 7

St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, will be holding its 28th annual "Christmas Melodies" sing on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 2 p.m.

IT'S TIME!
With the economic situation this year, we expect great need...
WARM THE CHILDREN
Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 11th year, The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican and the GWFC Civic Club of Oakland

The Civic Club and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 10, 2008. Those collected after December 10 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Waiting to Hear

Life without a mailbox would be pretty lonely. Everybody likes to hear from someone. Why is communication so important to our well-being? Because connecting with others can bring us joy!

To stay connected and up-to-date with what is going on in the lives of our friends and family, we just have to pick up the phone, or write a letter, or send an e-mail. The people in our lives are a source of support and friendship.

What about God? We need divine guidance as much as we need human support. We need to keep in touch with God, too! We can communicate with God by prayer.

Are you waiting to hear from God? Visit your house of worship this week. "The Lord is near to all who call on him..." (Psalm 145:18).

The Universal Language of the Spirit

The German philosopher, Arthur Schopenhauer, claimed that music is a universal language, and that we understand it intuitively since it speaks to our innermost being with an immediacy that ordinary language lacks. We can usually understand and "feel" the music even when we are at a complete loss about what the lyrics are saying. To take this comparison one step further, we might say that spirituality is like music, and religion is like the lyrics. Spirituality is like music in the sense that it is universal, and everyone can understand and relate to it. Religion, on the other hand, is like the lyrics, which are relative to culture, language, and different ways of life which everyone may not understand or be able to relate.

Witnessing an unfamiliar religious ritual is often like listening to a foreign language, in that we have no idea what we are looking at, and therefore it doesn't make much sense. But, spirituality is something that everyone can understand, and when we see or hear a great spiritual leader of any religion, we intuitively understand and can more easily relate to them. The gentleness of Mother Teresa is the same as the gentleness of the Dalai Lama or the Pope. The messages of Jesus, or Mohammed, or the Buddha are surprisingly similar because they were all singing the music of spirituality, not the lyrics of religion. Religion has more to do with the specific legalistic ways in which people are bound by their respective sects. Indeed, the word religion comes from the Latin word "religare" which means "to tie fast." So, we are bound by the ties of religion, but we are freed by the Spirit.

But if you are led by the Spirit,
you are not under the law.

New K.J.V. Galatians 5:18

Wormwood May Have Anti-Cancer Effect

Wormwood is also known as sweet wormwood. It has been used traditionally in Chinese Medicine to treat infections, malaria, fever, headaches, and bleeding. It is also consumed as a food in some Asian countries. This herb contains numerous substances that contribute to its activity. Terpenoids and flavonoids in the herb exhibit cell-killing activity against some cancer cells. These substances inhibit cancer cells' ability to use iron, and produce reactive oxygen species, which destroys the cells.

Researchers recently combined wormwood with another chemical substance to form a compound that specifically targets human leukemia cells. The new compound destroyed leukemia cells in test animals while harming very few normal body cells. This means that the compound might cause fewer side effects compared to traditional chemotherapy drugs when given to humans. Studies in humans are needed to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of the new compound. Wormwood increases the amount of acid produced in the stomach; therefore, persons with ulcers or other stomach disorders should not take it.

Finding 'Crusoe' – in a surprising location

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: Where is NBC's "Crusoe" filmed? –Gordon Irons, Cypress, Calif.

A: The show inspired by Daniel Defoe's classic novel is being made in South Africa, which executive producer Jeffrey Hayes told us was one of two locations that became the final choices, Australia being the other.

Some thought was given to taking title star Philip Winchester and the other cast and crew members to an actual remote island, but setting up the facilities and all other needs for doing the series under those circumstances would have been quite costly. Thus, the decision was made to go someplace that already had an existing film-production infrastructure and still provided the look necessary for the show.

Q: What happened to Rose on "Two and a Half Men"? We have not seen her in any of the episodes this season. –Rita VanDenHeuvel, Oneida, Wis.

A: Actress Melanie Lynskey left the regular cast CBS sitcom to become a star of the Fox series "Drive," which didn't last long after it premiered in the spring of 2007. While the New Zealand native (yes, that's how well she does an American accent) didn't rejoin "Two and a Half Men" full time afterward, she did resurface as Rose in several post-writers-strike episodes last season.

Lynskey also has appeared recently on such series as "The L Word" and "Psych," and she has completed prominent roles in several forthcoming movies, including Steven Soderbergh's "The Informant" – with

Philip Winchester

Matt Damon, who made the "Ocean's Eleven" series with Soderbergh – and a yet-untitled film by "American Beauty" director Sam Mendes that also stars Maggie Gyllenhaal and John Krasinski ("The Office").

Q: Can you tell me what has happened to Glenn Beck? I had been watching him on Headline News for a few years, and suddenly, he was gone. –Tom Caruso, Port Saint Lucie, Fla.

A: Beck recently was hired away by Fox News Channel for a late-afternoon program; at this writing, reports were suggesting it could start as soon as January. Since Fox News and CNN (which operates Headline News) are fierce competitors in the cable news market, it's not a surprise that Beck's existing television program came to a halt almost immediately after the deal was announced. In the interim, you still can get your fix of him from his syndicated weekday radio show.

Holiday Fare, Pets Don't Always Mix

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: Can you tell me which foods are dangerous for dogs? — Clara in Phoenix

DEAR CLARA: With many pet owners throwing holiday parties for family and friends, it's more important than ever to remember that pets do not have the same digestive systems as humans and that we need to keep certain foods away from them.

Dogs and cats should never eat chocolate, grapes, raisins, onions, macadamia nuts, walnuts, tomatoes, avocadoes, nutmeg, coffee, tea or breath mints. All of these are toxic and can cause severe health problems or even death. Cats should not be allowed near lily plants especially, and most houseplants are toxic to them also.

All pets should avoid foods that are high in fat, salt or sugar, bones that are likely to splinter (such as chicken bones) and alcohol — meaning do not give beer to your dog, even if you think it's funny. If you are baking, keep pets away from yeast dough or bread dough, baking soda or baking powder — ingesting these ingredients can cause serious problems. The seeds, leaves and stems of many kinds of fruits and some vegetables can be toxic to pets.

Supervise all feeding times and make sure your pets eat only what you give them. Seal the kitchen garbage can (or take out the trash twice as often) so pets won't root around. Move plants out of pets' reach.

During holiday gatherings, if you can't keep an eye on your pet at all times, isolate the pet in an unused room — place its bedding, toys, food and water in the room as well, and check on your pet frequently — until your guests have left.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was American humorist, satirist, lecturer and author Samuel Langhorne Clemens — better known today as Mark Twain — who made the following sage observation: "In certain trying circumstances, urgent circumstances, desperate circumstances, profanity furnishes a relief denied often to prayer."

• If you're planning a trip to North Carolina in June, try to make it to the small town of Spivey's Corner for the annual Hollerin' Contest. If you'd like to participate but are worried about straining your vocal cords, you can always enter the conch-blowing contest instead of one that involves actual yelling.

• Woody Allen is multitalented: He is a director, an author, a comedian, a playwright and an actor. In light of his successful careers, some might be surprised to learn that in college he received an F in English and a C in film production, then flunked out of New York University for poor attendance.

• On the Pacific Island of Fiji, tattoos are considered to be beautiful enhancements to the body, and a traditional bride is expected to get tattooed before the wedding ceremony takes place.

• If you're like the average American, your Thanksgiving meal contains a whopping 3,000 calories. If you were to try to walk that off, you'd have to trek a total of 30 miles before you were finished.

• You probably won't be surprised to learn that the word "surreptitious" comes from the Latin words meaning "snatch secretly."

• If you're a parent, you probably already know this: A recent poll shows that the favorite food of kids between the ages of 3 and 11, regardless of whether it's for lunch or dinner, is pizza.

Thought for the Day: "Politics is not the art of the possible. It consists in choosing between the disastrous and the unpalatable." — John Kenneth Galbraith

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Dec. 13, 1621, the first American furs to be exported from the continent leave for England. The colonists developed an economic system in which their chief crop, Indian corn, was traded with Native Americans to the north for highly valued beaver skins, which were in turn profitably sold in England.

• On Dec. 12, 1913, two years after it was stolen from the Louvre Museum in Paris, Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece "Mona Lisa" is recovered inside Italian waiter Vincenzo Peruggia's hotel room in Florence. Peruggia had participated in the heist with a group of accomplices dressed as Louvre janitors.

• On Dec. 9, 1926, young clarinetist Benny Goodman records his first solo, 16 bars of a song called "He's the Last Word." Sadly, his father was hit by a car and killed on the same day Goodman recorded the solo.

• On Dec. 11, 1936, after ruling for less than one year, Edward VIII becomes the first English monarch to voluntarily abdicate the throne. He chose to abdicate after the British government, public and the Church of England condemned his decision to marry American divorcée Wallis Warfield Simpson.

• On Dec. 10, 1963, Frank Sinatra Jr., who was kidnapped in Lake Tahoe, Calif., is allowed to talk briefly to his father. The kidnappers revealed the drop point for the ransom money and the location where Frank Jr. could be found. To avoid a public scene, law enforcement officials picked up the young Sinatra and brought him home in the trunk of their car.

• On Dec. 14, 1980, a CIA report claims that the Soviet Union delivered nearly $7 billion worth of military assistance to Third World nations such as Syria, Iraq and South Yemen. The report suggested that Soviet arms sales were dangerously increasing instability and the chances for war.

• On Dec. 8, 1993, the North American Free Trade Agreement is signed into law by President Bill Clinton. NAFTA was heavily criticized by Reform Party presidential candidate Ross Perot, who argued that if NAFTA was passed, Americans would hear a "giant sucking sound" of American companies fleeing the United States for Mexico.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: I recently inherited a box of 8-track tapes with a player. The player is in working condition, and most of the tapes are playable. Are these tapes collectible, and when were they first made? — Stephen, Port Orange, Fla.

A: Eight-track tapes are an icon of obsolescence. They were developed by Bill Lear of the Lear Jet Corp. in 1964. Lear produced a tape that was an endless loop of standard one-quarter-inch magnetic tape, housed in a plastic cartridge. The tape had eight parallel soundtracks that corresponded to four stereo programs. In September of 1965, the Ford Motor Company offered the system as an option in its new automobiles.

Although sound quality was fairly good, there were problems. For example, songs were sometimes interrupted as the cartridge changed tracks. There also was bleeding of one track into another. The demise of this technology occurred in 1982 with the introduction of compact discs. The last 8-track tape issued by a major American company was in 1988. In Mexico, a limited number of 8-tracks were made as late as 1995.

Are 8-track tapes collectible? Yes, but on a limited basis. Most 8-tracks sell for about a dollar each. The players are getting difficult to find, but occasionally one can be found at a garage sale or flea market for less than $50, sometimes much less. Some of the more popular tapes include the Original Broadway Cast recording of "Hair," and collections by such artists as Janis Joplin, the Mamas and the Papas, Dean Martin and the Tijuana Brass.

Enrollment For Prepaid College Trust Now Open

The College Savings Plans of Maryland (CSPM) announced that the Maryland Prepaid College Trust (MPCT) opened its 2008-09 enrollment period on Monday, Dec. 1, and will continue enrollment through April 6, 2009. The MPCT is one of two Section 529 plans offered by the CSPM that give families an opportunity to help hedge against tuition inflation by locking in tomorrow's tuition at today's prices, and is backed by the security of a Maryland Legislative Guarantee.

Prices for the MPCT University Plans have increased by only 1.1% over last year, primarily because of no tuition increase at most Maryland public four-year colleges for the 2008-09 academic year. Prices for the Community College Plans have remained the same.

The CSPM, an independent state agency, also administers another tax-advantaged 529 plan – the Maryland College Investment Plan (MCIP), managed and distributed by T. Rowe Price. Recognized for the second year in a row as one of the best 529 college savings plans in the country, the MCIP offers a variety of investment options, with no sales commissions, loads, or enrollment fee, and enrollment is open year-round.

Both plans offer substantial federal and Maryland state tax benefits and may be used at nearly any accredited college in the country.

"We continue to be pleased that more families are starting to save for college by choosing one or both of our affordable plans and we are eagerly anticipating the start of our 11th enrollment period in the Prepaid College Trust," said Joan Marshall, executive director of the CSPM. "In these volatile economic times, the trust provides a measure of comfort to families by allowing them to lock into fixed payments that are based in part on the cost of college today for the assurance of future tuition benefits that may be used at nearly any college in the country."

Persons can obtain more information about the program by telephoning 1-888-4MD-GRAD; going to the following web site: www.collegesavingsmd.org; or e-mailing mpct@collegesavingsmd.org.

RETIREES PRESENT DONATION – The Verizon Retirees Breakfast Club recently donated $75 to the Garrett County Meals on Wheels program. "Our group likes to donate to one or more worthy causes near the end of the year, and we are so happy to be able to help the Meals on Wheels program this year," said Patty Croston. Adina Brode, Area Agency on Aging director, is pictured at right accepting the check from Croston. "These donations mean so much to the program, and regular, continued financial support from the community is so appreciated by all who rely on home-delivered meals," Brode said. To make a donation to Meals on Wheels, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 140, or mail it to Area Agency on Aging, 104 E. Center St., Oakland, MD 21550.

SHS To Offer Seniors Financial Aid Workshop

A financial aid workshop will be offered at Southern High School on Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 7 p.m. in the media center of the school. This is open to all seniors and their parents.

Angie Hovatter, director of financial aid at Frostburg State University, will explain step by step how to complete the Free Application for Federal Financial Aid (FAFSA) form, as well as answer any questions concerning the financial aid process.

"This workshop is specifically aimed toward high school seniors and their parents," stated Beverly Sincell, SHS guidance counselor. Sincell will also be at the workshop to discuss information on scholarships and how the Guidance Office counselors can assist families through the process of applying for college, financial aid, and scholarships.

Students planning to attend a technical or business school, community college, or a 4-year college are encouraged to attend the workshop. For more information, persons may call Sincell at 301-334-1660.

Contestants For Miss Western Md. Pageant Sought

The board of directors of the Miss Washington County/Miss Western Maryland Scholarship Foundation is extending an invitation to area women between the ages of 13 and 24 to participate in the annual production and competition, scheduled for February. Many scholarships and gifts will be awarded.

The Miss competition is for young women ages 17-24 and at least a high school senior. The Teen competition is for girls aged 13-17, but not yet a high school senior.

The event will be held on Saturday, Feb. 14, at 7 p.m. at the Kepler Theater on the campus of Hagerstown Community College. Four winners will be selected: Miss Washington County 2009, Miss Western Maryland 2009, and their teen counterparts, Miss Washington County Outstanding Teen 2009 and Miss Western Maryland Outstanding Teen 2009. The winners will represent the four-county area in the annual Miss Maryland Scholarship competition and the Miss Maryland Outstanding Teen competition at the Maryland Theatre in Hagerstown in June.

In order to compete for any of the titles, a contestant must live, work, or attend school in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, or Frederick counties. The areas of competition are interview, evening wear, physical fitness in swimsuit for Miss, physical fitness in sportswear for Teens, on-stage question, and talent. There is no entrance fee for Miss and a nominal fee for Teen.

All interested contestants will be required to attend an orientation on Saturday, Jan. 3, from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Plaza Hotel, Hagerstown. Parents are welcome to attend. Speaking at the orientation will be Miss Maryland 2008 Louise Schlegel, and Maddie Bohrer, Miss Washington County Outstanding Teen 2008. Professional photos will be taken at 8:30 a.m.

This competition is part of the Miss America Scholarship Program and Miss America Outstanding Teen Program, which is the largest source of scholarships for young women in the world, last year awarding over $45 million on the local, state, and national levels.

Those interested in either the Miss or Teen competitions are invited to telephone Sandy Miller at 301-791-5974 or Denise Apple at 304-274-2346 as soon as possible, but prior to Dec. 31, for more information and to register for the orientation.

DEC. 7-14 PROCLAIMED AS GC HOUSE OF HOPE WEEK – The Garrett County House of Hope's annual food drive will be held on Saturday, Dec. 13, from 9 a.m. to noon, in front of Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy on S. 2nd Street. This year, the House of Hope is celebrating 30 years of its annual food drive, and in honor of this, it has been announced that the week of Dec. 7-14 is Garrett County House of Hope Week. "The Board of Garrett County Commissioners admires all the volunteers of the House of Hope Food Drive, and encourages more involvement from the local residents and students by participating in this very worthwhile event," a spokesperson said. Pictured above are members of the House of Hope and county commissioners who signed the proclamation. Seated are Commissioners Ernest Gregg, Dennis Glotfelty, chairman, and Fred Holliday. Standing are Arthur Lake, HOH volunteer; Brenda Reckner, HOH food drive volunteer; and Charles Nolan, HOH food drive chairman. Not present: Little John Smith, HOH food drive volunteer. Persons interested in donating may do so by giving food items or a cash donation.

Local Churches Taking Orders For Holiday Groceries

Three local churches are taking orders for a special Angel Food Ministries "Christmas Box."

Deep Creek Baptist Church will accept orders today, Thursday, Dec. 4, from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m., and Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 6, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The World Lighthouse Worship Center, Grantsville, will accept orders tomorrow; and Glade Mennonite Church will take requests until Monday, Dec. 8, at 4 p.m.

The distribution day at all churches will be Saturday, Dec. 20.

The box will contain items needed for a traditional holiday dinner, including the dressing, and contains enough food for six to seven people. The cost is $35, payable by cash, money order, certified check, or food stamps. Personal checks will not be accepted.

Glade Mennonite and World Lighthouse spokespersons noted that for each box they sell, $1 is placed in a Benevolence Fund to benefit needy families who cannot pay for boxes.

"Angel Food provides individuals and families with fresh, brand name food for a fraction of the retail price," said a ministry spokesperson. "By purchasing food in bulk, directly from some of the top suppliers in the country, food is discounted by up to 50 percent of retail."

A standard medium-sized box of food may be purchased for $30, and contains food staples from every food group, including chicken or beef, eggs, vegetables, and fruits. Each of the regular boxes of food feeds a family of four for about one week, or a single individual for almost a month.

The menu selections vary each month, and consist of both fresh and frozen items. There is also a box geared toward the nutritional needs of senior citizens.

Angel Food Ministries' services are for everyone, regardless of economic circumstances, according to the spokesperson. There are no limits to the quantity of boxes per individual, nor are there any applications or qualifications for eligibility.

"In response to current economic conditions, Angel Food has stepped up its efforts to meet the growing needs by adding new distribution centers and host sites as quickly and as efficiently as possible," the spokesperson added. "The demand for Angel Food's services nationwide has increased substantially, with September and October shattering all previous months' orders."

Currently, Angel Food Ministries serves hundreds of thousands of families across 37 states and the District of Columbia. The nonprofit, non-denominational organization helps every local host site with direct financial donations in proportion with the number of units distributed from a site. Since 1994, over $14 million has been donated back to houses of worship, community centers, and other host sites throughout the country, according to the spokesperson.

For additional information, persons may call Deep Creek Baptist Church at 301-387-5688 or 301-533-0968. The church is located across from Uno's at 19841 Garrett Highway.

One may call Glade Mennonite Church at 301-245-4285 or the World Lighthouse at 301-895-3868 or 301-895-3292.

INDUCTED INTO PHI THETA KAPPA – Sixteen Garrett College students were recently inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, an international honor society for two-year college students. The society was established in 1918 and has more than 1,200 chapters internationally, according to a GC spokesperson. "Having a chapter of Phi Theta Kappa on the Garrett College campus provides a way for us to recognize the achievement of academic excellence by our students," said Dr. Rebecca DiLiddo, dean of academic affairs. "Such recognition is important in creating and maintaining a learning environment that promotes and supports hard work and high performance in the classroom." To be eligible for the society's Alpha Omicron Phi chapter at Garrett College, students must have earned at least 24 credit hours and have a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. Pictured, left to right, are Renate Rimsaite, Lithuania; Natalie Rohrbaugh, Oakland; Amy Chesia, McHenry; Dimitry Kubin, Russia; Madara Kanele, Latvia; Daniel Wampler, Accident; Jenny Andersson, Sweden; Karl Scarborough, Swanton; Emily Sisler, Friendsville; Seth Friend, Oakland; Andiswe Sicwebu, South Africa; Susan Abe, Oakland; and Martina Parra, Ecuador. Not available for the photo were Trevor Feikner, Union Bridge; Andrea Maust, Grantsville; and Jonathan Shadel, Frostburg.

Drunk Driving Charges Handed To Swanton Driver

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office were called to the area of Maryland Highway and Broadford Road last Thursday for a report of a drunk driver.

Deputies discovered a silver Nissan Xterra and followed it onto Ollie North Road. The vehicle was stopped and the driver was identified as Tonya Lynn Collins, 36, Swanton. An investigation led to her arrest on charges of driving under the influence and driving while impaired.

Collins was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center for further processing.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

My family was uncertain as to whether we would have my mother at home for Thanksgiving. But during a visit from her doctor Thursday morning he said, "Why are you in here today? You should be at home with your family!"

We all enjoyed a wonderful, delicious feast at Rodney and Marci's home with our mother, who was the center of attention. After dinner we had a choice of pumpkin pie, cheese cake, and chocolate pie. There was no way for me to choose between them, so I ate a small piece of each. Everyone settled down to watch the basketball game between the University of Maryland and Michigan State, which to everyone's delight, Maryland pulled off a nice upset.

Please keep my mother, Ruth DiPaolo, in your prayers as she recovers from her illness. She is staying with Rodney and Marci at 7312 Rock Lodge Road, Accident, MD 21520.

Another family Thanksgiving event was held at Dave and Nancy Beachy's home. They hosted the Beachy clan from Bittinger, including their son Brent and his family from Michigan, Lenny's daughter Pamela from Pennsylvania, and Torrey from Greensboro, N.C. (Such a long drive in this horrible winter weath-er.)

A few days before Thanksgiving, Bittinger lost a great lady in the passing of Ida Reckner, at the age of 103. She was a teacher of many Bittinger persons, including my Aunt Dot Glotfelty, at Bittinger School. She also taught second grade at Accident Elementary, and among her students were Rodney Glotfelty, Cindy Stanton, and I.

Her funeral was held at St. John's Meadow Mountain Lutheran Church. It featured a duet performed by her very talented granddaughters, with Kathy on the flute and her husband on the keyboard.

Pastor Randy and Cindy spent their Thanksgiving holiday at his brother's lake home in eastern Ohio.

I cannot think of anything that has less appeal to me than Christmas shopping on "Black Friday." Not even big bargains would make me be a part of it. I try to avoid the "mega stores" for shopping.

It is very clear that the holiday season is in full steam. I got my first Christmas card, the somewhat nasty winter weather seems to say Christmas, and on Monday was the traditional event of caroling by Emmanuel Lutheran Church, with a handful of people from St. John's and Zion, at Goodwill Nursing Home.

The first joint Advent service was held last Wednesday evening at Emmanuel Lutheran Church. This week it will be at St. John's Meadow Mountain, and then it will return to Emmanuel next Wednesday with a meal following the service.

Everyone is reminded about the soup and bake sale at Bittinger fire hall this Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. All are welcome.

I receive many phone calls at this time of year asking for various dona-tions. Many are important charities, and I have a hard time saying no. I feel guilty when a commercial for St. Jude's Children Hospital, ASPCA, or any international children's charity are aired. It is sometimes unpleasant being a "bleeding heart liberal."

Universal Health Care In Maryland Tough Sell In Struggling Economy

by Jenn Bogdan
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Health care advocates unveiled a plan that would provide health insurance to all Marylanders at a joint committee meeting Tuesday, but lawmakers cautioned it would be a tough sell in a weak economy.

The plan, which would cost the state $2.8 billion in the first year and $15.5 billion over five years, would be primarily financed by a 2 percent payroll tax on all businesses, as well as increased cigarette and alcohol taxes.

"I'm hopeful we can make progress each year, but we have to be cognizant of the fiscal constraints," said Sen. Robert Garagiola, D-Montgomery, who called the plan an ambitious solution to a complicated problem.

Garagiola said approval of the plan could depend on whether universal care would create savings or cost the state more money in the long run.

Some studies show universal coverage costs more in the long run because of added demand. Others suggest it actually saves money as more take advantage of less costly preventive services rather than expensive emergency care, Garagiola said.

An estimated 700,000 individuals are currently uninsured in Maryland.

Officials from the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative, a non-profit that developed the plan, said they could not provide data on long-term results, but agreed to further research the topic for the committee.

The group — which has created a coalition of professors, economists, and others interested in universal health care — is primarily concerned with making health care more affordable. They argued that their plan would allow more small businesses to offer competitive insurance plans, and therefore improve the business climate in the state.

"This plan is about prevention and keeping people healthy," said Vincent DeMarco, president of the Maryland Citizens' Health Initiative.

Alexis Coates, CEO of the Baltimore-based software company dEVNIX Inc., said he may have to export jobs oversees since his company stopped offering health insurance last year when the cost became unmanageable. That is making it tough for him to recruit employees.

"If I can't offer health care, I can't compete in this market," said Coates.

Lawmakers said they were concerned about increasing taxes on both individuals and businesses in light of an unsteady economy.

Delegate Donald Elliott, R-Carroll, said he feared significant taxes on alcohol and cigarettes would drive Marylanders to purchase products out of state.

Under the plan, cigarette taxes would increase from $2.00 a pack to $2.75.

Taxes on alcohol, some of which have remained unchanged since 1955, would also see large spikes. The tax on distilled spirits would jump from $1.50 per gallon to $10.03 per gallon.

Tuesday's presentation served to introduce lawmakers to the intricacies of the health care plan. Delegate James W. Hubbard, D-Prince George's, is expected to introduce the program as a bill in the next legislative session beginning in January, DeMarco said.

This Anemia May Require Hospitalization

Aplastic anemia is a rare but serious condition characterized by the body's underproduction of new red blood cells, white blood cells, and platelets. Bone marrow is a substance contained in bones that is responsible for continuously producing new stem cells, which are essential for producing new blood cells to be released into the bloodstream. Because blood cells only live for a limited period of time, it is essential that the bone marrow continually produce new blood cells. When the bone marrow is damaged, aplastic anemia may result.

The severity of this anemia ranges from mild to severe. Severe aplastic anemia requires immediate hospitalization because it is life-threatening. When the condition is not severe, treatment ootions include blood transfusions and immunosuppressant medications. Treatment with immunosuppressants such as cyclosporine and anti-thymocyte globulin may be appropriate. These medications suppress immune cells that cause damage to the bone marrow. Corticosteroids such as methylprednisolone are typically given in combination with immunosuppressants. Granulocyte colony-stimulating factor medications, such as filgrastim, work to stimulate bone marrow production of new blood cells.

Ask Sheila

Decorating Dilemma? Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:

I have an old, old sofa that is super comfortable. My kids love it, my husband loves it, and even the dog loves it. The problem is that we have worn out the fabric! I would like to have it recovered in one of the micro fabrics. Is this a doable thing?

couch potato family

Dear cpf:

If the couch has held up this long I would say it has a strong frame and was well built. Come in and browse through our selection of fabrics and we can have it re-covered and back in use by the holidays!

GIRLS' VARSITY

Girls' varsity will be collecting food for the animals again this year during the week of Monday, Dec. 8, through Friday, Dec. 12. Then they will give the food to the animals before the Christmas break.

SENIOR PANORAM PICTURE

The senior panorama picture is scheduled to be taken next Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 10 a.m. Students are expected to pay the $16 fee for the photo at the time it's taken. Envelopes will be given out in homeroom tomorrow, Dec. 5.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education department recently held a badminton tournament for all P.E. students at the high school. The following doubles teams placed first: Brody Fike and Steven Holtschneider, and Bethany Shaw and Emily Menges; second place: Aaron Valentine and Dustin Stough, and Amber Miller and Nicole Collins; third place: Cody Humberson and Jeremy Beitzel, and Lauren Adams and Monica Keller. Staff and faculty congratulate all students who participated.

WEB STREAMING BASKETBALL GAMES

All of the varsity boys' and selected varsity girls' basketball games will be streamed over the web. To access the live feed one must go to the live streaming page of Northern High School at www.nh.ga.k12.md.us. It is located in the athletics section on the boys' basketball page, where instructions and access are explained. The live feed will begin approximately one-half hour before the varsity tip-off.

BOWLING SCHOLARSHIPS

There are over 6 million dollars in bowling scholarships awarded each year, with roughly 60 unused bowling scholarships for females left last year. Those who have students who are bowlers may want to provide them with the following information and websites – particularly females.

SCHOLARSHIPS

•Grantsville Lions Club: This scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to graduating seniors of Northern High School who are pursuing post secondary education and/or training. Applicant must be entering a post secondary institution in the fall semester following graduation, be in the top 50% of the graduating class, and must prove a definite financial need. The award amount is $250, and four awards are given annually. The deadline for submission is March 16.

•Connie Higgins Memorial Scholarship: This award was designed to provide financial assistance to a deserving senior at Northern High School who is interested in majoring in teacher education. Applicant must be planning on majoring in a teacher education program at an accredited two- or four-year college/university. The award may be used for tuition, textbooks, and/or other institutional educational expenses. The application consists of a student-written essay describing his/her career goals, interest in teaching, and why he/she is deserving of the award, including the applicant's financial need. One letter of recommendation is required from a teacher, counselor, etc., describing above criteria. The award amount is $500. The deadline for submission is March 16.

•Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society Int'l.: This scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to young women planning to major in teacher education. Applicant must be a female planning on majoring in a teacher education program at a two- or four-year accredited college or university. The award amount is $300. The deadline for submission is March 1.

•Garrett County Farm Bureau Scholarship: This award was established to provide financial assistance for postsecondary education. Applicants or their parents must be current Garrett County Farm Bureau members. Agricultural majors will be given preference, but that is not a requirement to receive this scholarship. Applicant must possess a minimum cumulative GPA of 70 to 79% or higher. He/she must be a resident of Garrett County and receive a high school diploma from a program approved by the state of Maryland. Applicant must also be planning to enroll as a full-time student or enrolled in the Lead Maryland Program. The award amount varies. The deadline for submission is April 15.

•McKelvey Foundation Entrepreneurial Scholarship: This award was established to provide financial assistance to enterprising high school seniors. Applicant must demonstrate entrepreneurial spirit by owning and operating his/her own business while in high school with at least one paid employee. (Non-profits are also eligible.) Students should apply online at www.mckelveyfoundation.org and click on link titled "Entrepreneurial Scholarship." The award amount varies and can be up to $10,000 (renewable up to 4 years). The deadline for submission is Jan. 25.

•Maryland Mensa: The Maryland Mensa is a scholarship essay contest open to people of all ages. The contest requires an essay of no more than 550 words that describes the applicant's career, vocational, or academic goals. It is not required that the applicant be a member of Mensa. Applicant must enroll in a degree program in an accredited postsecondary school in the academic year following the award. He/she must reside in a area designated as a participating American Mensa local group (e.g., zip code in the range of 20600-20699 or 21000-21999). Applications are available in the Counseling Center or at www.mensafoundation.org/scholarships. The award amount is $300 to $1,000. The deadline for submission is Jan. 15.

Previously announced pending deadlines:

•AXA Achievement Scholarship: 12/15

•Ron Brown Scholar Program: 1/9

•Burger King Scholars Program: 2/15

BLOODMOBILE

Thanks to all of those who donated and helped save lives at this year's fall bloodmobile. Our goal was 55 units, and we ended the day with 56 productive units. A total of 70 individuals showed up to donate, with 35 people as first-time donors. Each pint of blood has the potential to save three lives.

WINTER WISH WEEK

SGA is planning Winter Wish Week once again since it was a huge success last year. The goal is to grant even more wishes than last year. In order to secure gifts and plan appropriately, we will be distributing a "wish" form to all students and staff prior to break. Homeroom teachers will be receiving packets of wish slips along with instructions. Anyone wishing to donate may do so. Checks should be made payable to Northern High School for deposit in the student government account. Just like last year, a list will be compiled of requests. That list will also be sent to faculty and staff for those who are interested in donating specific items. "Feedback last year was nothing but positive," said a spokesperson for SGA. "We truly appreciate everyone's generosity. Thanks again."

CINDERELLA'S CLOSET

For those who don't know, Room 108 has a closet full of formal wear for those students interested in purchasing, trading, etc., dresses for special occasions. Any student who has an event coming up that requires a formal/semi-formal dress may see Ms. Harman in Room 108 before or after school. Students can stop by to make an appointment. Ms. Harman is constantly taking donations. "Please feel free to donate any used dresses, formal wear, accessories, shoes, etc.," said Harman. Those who wish to receive money for their donation can ask a price, which will then be given directly to the donor. Donor forms are available in Room 108. This is also tax-deductible. "Thanks to the many who have donated already."

STUDENT NIGHT LIVE

The drama club's first theatre production, Student Night Live, will be playing at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Dec. 9, 10, and 11. Admission is $5, with children under age 8 admitted for free. A portion of the proceeds will benefit Hunter's Hope. Hunter's Hope was established in 1997 by Pro Football Hall of Fame member and former Buffalo Bills quarterback Jim Kelly and his wife Jill after their infant son Hunter was diagnosed with Krabbe leukodystrophy, an inherited, fatal, nervous system disease. Those interested in learning more about this charity should go to www.huntershope.org.

ROBOTICS RAFFLE

The High School Robotics Team 1629 is selling raffle tickets for the following prizes: Dell laptop computer; iPod Touch 16GB; $100 gas card; iPod Nano 16GB; and iPod Shuffle 2G. Donation are $1 per ticket, and the drawing will be held on Monday, Dec. 15. See any of the following students to purchase a ticket: Shaun Adams, Aaron Beitzel, Andrew Beitzel, Dylan Beitzel, Dominic Dolan, Kevin Haenftling, Blake Harman, J.P. Law, or Rosemary Rosser.

HUSKY PAW MART

A new shipment of NHS clothing and school supplies has come into the school store, located in Room 112. The store is open in the morning before homeroom.

MAKE-UP PICTURES

A new date will be announced for those students who missed picture day or those who would like their pictures retaken. Students are reminded to check the daily FYI at school for the information, or they may see Ms. Theriot in 216.

STUDENT COUNCIL SHIRTS

All student council members who wish to buy a 2008-09 T-shirt must turn in their money to Michelle Harman or Ian Aiken no later than Thursday, Dec 4. The cost is $10, and there is a sample design on display in Room 108

DPG MEMBERS

The winning T-shirt design was design #1, submitted by Ashleigh Clapper. The faculty and staff thank all who submitted designs, and thank all who voted. Coach Opel will still be taking T-shirt orders at the cost of $10 per shirt until all of the shirts are sold out.

WRITERS AND POETS

Students are reminded to not forget to turn in a short story or poem for the Young Author Contest. Students should see their English teacher or Mr. Nicklin for details. The work must be turned in by Saturday, Dec. 20.

WORK PERMIT INFORMATION

The Counseling Center no longer has work permits. In order to obtain a work permit students must log on to the state of Maryland web site at www.dllr.state.md.us and click on "work permits" under the quick links section. For additional information, students should stop by the Counseling Center.

LETTERMEN

Students are reminded that RADA order forms are due into Coach Carr as soon as possible.

Md. High Schools Rank Among Best For College Prep

Maryland schools are among the very best in the nation at preparing students for college, according to a new report released Wednesday.

"Measuring Up: 2008," a report from the National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education, gave Maryland a grade of A– in college preparation. The report cited the state's strong record in Advanced Placement scores, noting it is the nation's "top state in student performance" on the rigorous exams.

Only six states received a grade in the A range in the report. Connecticut and Massachusetts received A's, while Colorado, New Jersey, and Vermont joined Maryland with an A– grade. Maryland has received an A– in preparation for college in each report since 2004.

"Our goal has always been to prepare our students for whatever direction they choose, be it college or employment," said State Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "This report is another indication that we are on the right track here in Maryland."

The National Center for Public Policy and Higher Education, a San Jose-based nonprofit organization, has been publishing "Measuring Up" on a biannual basis since 1990. The report also looks at college participation, affordability, completion, and benefits of a college education.

The report noted that Maryland has continued to improve its record in preparing students for college. Ninety percent of young adults in the state earn a high school diploma or GED by age 24, a growing number of students are taking algebra in the eighth grade, and students are performing very well on national assessments.

There remain performance gaps among racial subgroups, the report cautioned. African-American and Hispanic students complete a high school credential at a lower rate than white students, mirroring the completion patterns found throughout most of the nation.

NOW BOARDING!

One recent example of technology's vast potential to benefit hearing-impaired individuals can be seen at Michigan's Gerald R. Ford International Airport, where improvements in the public address system enable flight announcements to be transmitted directly into hearing instruments with a special receiver. This induction-loop technology, which is quite widespread in churches, meeting rooms, and other venues, works with the telecoil switch found on many hearing instruments. The system, in use in most British airports, enables hearing-impaired travelers to rest assured that they will not miss important announcements or their flights. As a result, they can relax a bit more. It is hoped that this technology spreads to other airports across this country and serves as a notional model.

The many marvels that exist in the hearing industry make it easier than ever to enhance your hearing. And you'll be glad to know you can always expect to find the best way to get the sounds of life back when you put your hearing healthcare needs in the expert, compassionate hands of a hearing specialist at AUDIBEL. Together, we will investigate ways to improve your hearing, and we'll set realistic goals for better communication.

P.S. An induction-loop system transmits magnetic energy to telecoil-equipped hearing instruments through a wire that surrounds the building

The following activities have been scheduled for this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Programs and center hours are subject to change without notice. All programs meet or begin at the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted. Further information can be obtained by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067, or by visiting the web site: www.dnr.state.md.us/publiclands/western/deepcreeklake.

Saturday, Dec. 6

• 11 a.m. – Nature Hike. Guests may join the naturalist on a nature hike on the trail system to possibly see wildlife preparing for winter. Trails are rocky, so proper hiking footwear is required. (Approx. 90 min.)

• 2:30 p.m. – Critter Encounter. Meet in the Discovery Center to watch the naturalist feed the fish, turtles, and snakes. (30 min.)

Sunday, Dec. 7

• 11 a.m. – Reading Naturalist. Guests may join the park staff to hear a story about nature and then make a related craft or explore nature, or both. The book titles and craft/hike rotate. $2 per child. (30 min.)

• 1:30 p.m. – Aviary Encounter. Naturalists and volunteers will provide a close-up look at the birds of prey. The birds will be perched in the open for photographs and unobstructed viewing. Naturalists will demonstrate the cleaning and care of the animals, providing a "look behind the scenes." (Approx. 90 min.)

Cherry Grove To Host W.Va. Choir

A Christmas musical program will be presented by the Sandy Creek Choir of Bruceton Mills, W.Va., at Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, Grantsville, on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located along U.S. Route 219 just past the Grantsville Plaza.

"BUY-IN" FEE DEADLINE NOTED

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminded nursery producers this week that, in order to be eligible for certain disaster programs under the 2008 Farm Bill, producers must pay a "buy-in" fee for those crops that currently do not have a crop insurance policy and the sales closing date was August 14. The deadline to pay the buy-in fee is January 12.

"According to the 2008 Farm Bill, nursery producers in our area who did not meet the crop insurance coverage criteria can 'buy-in' or be 'waived in' to be eligible for the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments (SURE) Program," said McCartney.

To be considered to have obtained at least the minimum level of insurance under the SURE Program, a producer must obtain a plan of insurance with not less than 50 percent yield coverage at 55 percent of the insurable price for each crop grazed, planted, or intended to be planted for harvest on a whole farm. To be considered to have met RMPR, producers must pay a buy-in fee in an amount equal to the applicable CAT fee for those crops that currently do not have a crop insurance policy on or before January 12.

The buy-in fee for CAT is $100 per crop, but not more than either of the following: $300 per producer per administrative county; and $900 total per producer for all counties.

For more information, persons are invited to visit their local USDA Service Center or FSA County Office. More information on disaster assistance programs is also available online at: http://www.fsa.usda.gov/.

4-H Club News

TRAILBLAZERS
by Laura Smith, reporter

The October meeting of the Trailblazers 4-H Club was held at the Southern Rescue Hall. The meeting was called to order by Melinda Smith, president, and pledges were led by the Clover members. A total of 12 members and five guests attended.

Beef raffle tickets were collected. Members were reminded about fall weigh-in for beef project holders.

Following the meeting, a fall social was held for club members and their families. The evening included games and food.

The November meeting was held at Yough Glades Elementary School on Nov. 20.

The meeting was called to order by fill-in president Levi Sweitzer until John Zimmerman, vice president, was able to take over.

Roll call was answered, with 11 members in attendance.

Under old business, club members discussed fall weigh-in. There will be seven members with beef projects this year.

Following the meeting, members put together food baskets that were delivered to needy families in the area on Nov. 22.

Under new business, members were reminded that record books are due at the January meeting.

Re-enrollment forms for 2009 were passed out, along with information on 2008 member participation. These forms also need to be turned in at the January meeting.

Election of 2009 club officers was held with the following results: Levi Sweitzer, president; Laura Smith, vice president; Anna Tressler, secretary; the Zimmerman family, treasurer; Erika Ritchey, reporter; Nicole Pysell, photographer; and Clover members, pledge leaders.

Plans were discussed for the December meeting, which will be held on Friday, Dec. 5, at 6:30 p.m. at Yough Glades School. The meeting will include a Christmas party. Pizza will be provided by the club, and members are asked to bring a drink or dessert. The group will play games and have a gift exchange.

Anyone who would like to join 4-H may contact the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on December 23, 2008, at 10:00 a.m. in the County Commissioners' meeting Room, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD. The purpose of the hearing is to review and take public comment on a proposed new ordinance entitled Garrett County Agricultural Land Preservation District Ordinance.

The proposed Garrett County Agricultural Land Preservation District program is voluntary on the part of landowners. The purpose of the Ordinance is to screen and prequalify landowners eligible for participation in the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Easement Program and to encourage landowners to participate in the preservation program by allowing qualifying district owners to participate in the Garrett County Agricultural Tax Credit program adopted on July 6, 2000.

Copies of the draft ordinance are available in the Planning and Land Development Office, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland MD or on the County's website at www.garrettcounty.org. The draft ordinance may be viewed by clicking on Ag-land District Ordinance under News on the County home page.

Interested citizens are welcome to attend.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
Notice of Applications Received for State Permits Issue Date: December 4, 2008, In The Republican

The Water Management Administration is reviewing the application for the State Permit listed below. The application and related information are on file at the Administration; arrangements may be made for inspection and copying. Opportunity is afforded individuals to provide written comments or to be placed on an interested persons list for the listed application. Any further notices about actions on an application will be provided only by mail to those individuals on a mailing list of interested persons. Comments must be received in writing by the Administration on or before December 18, 2008. All inquiries and requests should include the permit application number; your name, address and telephone number; and should be addressed to John Grace, Chief, Source Protection and Appropriation Division, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230. Telephone: 410-537-3590.

GARRETT COUNTY

GA1986G001/7 — The Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, MD 21550, has applied for a Water Appropriation and Use Permit to withdraw ground water from two wells (1 & 5) in the Greenbrier Formation, for a municipal water supply for the McHenry Water Service Area. The Administration is considering an increase in an existing appropriation from an annual average of 165,000 gallons per day (gpd) and 248,000 gpd during the month of maximum use to an annual average of 200,000 gpd and 300,000 gpd during the month of maximum use. The wells are located on the west side of Marsh Hill Road, at the junction of Marsh Hill Road and Winding Way, McHenry, Garrett County, Maryland.

The existing production wells, installed in a leaky fractured rock aquifer, are 210 and 309 feet deep. Impacts to the resource and nearby users were evaluated using data from geological reports and investigations available to the Water Management Administration and two on-site aquifer-pumping tests. Pumping of the two wells during periods of maximum use may lower the water table more than 25 feet in the nearest other user's well. In making this evaluation, water withdrawals were modeled with the well pumping continuously for 90 days with no recharge to the aquifer. The County Intends to connect any affected well user to the public water system at their expense.

Mt. Storm UMC "The Nativity" Program Slated For Dec. 7

The Mt. Storm United Methodist Church Christmas program titled "The Nativity" will be held on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 5 p.m.

All are welcome to attend. The church is located along Rt. 50 in Mt. Storm.

Wreath-Making Class Scheduled At Center Hall

Arthurdale Heritage Inc. has scheduled a wreath-making class for Saturday, Dec. 13, at the Center Hall, located along Rt. 92 south of Reedsville, from 9 until 11 a.m.

The class will involve making a wreath with live pine, bows, and pine cones. The fee is $25.

"Extras of your choosing can be added to the pine wreath during the class if you bring them along," said Deb Miller, publicity volunteer.

A limited number of swags may also be purchased for $20.

Pre-registration for the class is required. Persons may call 304-864-3959 Tuesday through Friday between noon and 4 p.m.

The Arthurdale Heritage Craft Shop, featuring handmade gift items, will be open for the class at 11 a.m. Parking is free.

TERRA ALTA

TREE-LIGHTING CEREMONY

Terra Alta's Tree Lighting ceremony will be held on Dec. 5 at the community building after a parade through town. Santa Claus will be in town, with gifts to give out. Refreshments will be served by Terra Alta Betterment Inc. and the Terra Alta Civic Club, and will include Jean Yester's cinnamon buns. A live nativity scene will be staged, and there will be other entertainment, as well as the drawing for the two Buckwheat Festival hogs donated to TABI by Clear Mountain Bank and Gregg's Pharmacy.

This annual event is made possible in part by area businesses and residents who donate money and toys. The businesses will be open late on Dec. 5 and 6, and residents are encouraged to visit and support them.

TRAILS COMMITTEE

Connie Ervin of the Trails Committee and Friends of the Cheat has announced the monthly meeting for December has been canceled. The next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 5.

AURORA/EGLON

TREE LIGHTING

The public is invited to the tree lighting service to be held at the Aurora Community Building on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m. There will be Christmas carols sung and cookies and hot chocolate provided at the lighting ceremony. This community effort is being sponsored this year by the Aurora CEOS, the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club, and the Aurora Area Historical Society.

COMMUNITY DINNER

Members of the EMS services in Union District – the Union Ambulance and the Mt. Grove and Aurora VFDs – met last Sunday at the Aurora fire hall for a Christmas dinner and party. The dinner featured turkey, ham, and lamb, along with covered dishes. The party also included a visit from Santa Claus.

BABY SHOWER

Expectant parents Chaz and Melinda Stoner, Eglon, were honored last Sunday afternoon with a shower of gifts for the baby A luncheon and games added to the party effect at Maple Grove Church of the Brethren.

PERSONAL

Scott and Laah Wolford recently moved from Aurora to Swanton to Laah's family farm since her father Willard Broadwater's Aug. 13 death. Her mother was living there alone until they moved in. Laah will continue to teach in the Vo-Ag Department at Preston High School.

Tim Blossom has returned to North Carolina to have further training in the Marine Corps. He used his 10-day leave to visit relatives, including his parents in Eglon, Doyle and Cathy Harsh, and his sisters, Samantha, Sidney, and Sabrina.

David and Delores Stemple, Aurora, and their granddaughters, Kristen Stemple and Kaylen (Fike) Albright, recently visited in Buffalo, W.Va., with David's sister, Wanda Melton and her daughters and their families.

Tom Teets, Arlington, Va., spent several days visiting with his parents, Mark and LaDeana Teets, Amboy, and his grandparents, Ellis and Marie Teets, Horse Shoe Run.

Jackie and Alma Snyder visited in Fairmont with Alma's sister and brother-in-law, Grace and Jerry Winter. Having experienced several illnesses since recent surgery, Grace was admitted to Monongalia General Hospital and then moved to HealthSouth for therapy on Wednesday. Her address there is 1160 Van Voorhis Road, Morgantown, WV 26505.

Relatives were notified of the Dec. 1 death of Ruthie Peterson at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. As her body has been donated to the Human Gift Registry at West Virginia University, there will be a memorial service held at a later date.

A funeral service was held for Theta Roth Maxey Shaffer, 90, on Wednesday, Dec. 3, at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland. She was a daughter of the late Oscar and Susan (Bittner) Roth and lived much of her life in Horse Shoe Run. She was preceded in death by two husbands and two sons. She is survived by one daughter-in-law, Ruth Teets Maxey; and two granddaughters.

Visiting in Aurora with Jessica Fedorow during the Thanksgiving holiday were nieces and nephews Linda and Ken Brockel, Neptune, N.J., Richard and Janice Myers, Shenandoah Junction, W.Va., and Jim Myers and his friend, John Porter, Baltimore.

A family Thanksgiving dinner held last Thursday at the Aurora home of John, Shirley, and Steve Parsons included Evelyn Johnson, George, Rhonda, and Zach White, Van, Janet, and Jonathan Marceau, all of Martinsburg, Tasha, Denny, and Eva Hockman, Cumberland, Carlton and Jean Skipper, Kingwood, brent and Brandon Skipper, Aberdeen, and Leonard, Tammy, Daniel, and Michael Parsons, Horse Shoe Run.

Glenn Strawser, Eglon, was admitted on Sunday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he is undergoing diagnostic testing.

Both Mark Harsh and his brother, Stanley Harsh, Eglon, underwent sinus surgeries, Mark on Nov. 19, and Stan on Nov. 26. Both are at home recovering.

Tom, Linda, and Sara Lewis returned to Eglon on Saturday after spending the previous week visiting with daughters and families, Emily, Chuck, and Noah Young, Martinsburg, and Julie, Gary, Grayson, and Madison Baker, Virginia Beach.

Joe and Stacy Fint and their daughters Cortney and Rebecca were Friday Thanksgiving guests of Joe's mother Ilene Fint, along with other family in Old Fields.

Amanda Douglas has come from Ohio to reside with her grandparents, Keith and Dee Douglas, Aurora.

Bonnie Douglas was recently transferred from a nursing home in Oakland to one near her home in Ashland, Ky.

SING AT RED HOUSE

St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, invites the public to its annual Christmas sing on Sunday, Dec. 7, beginning at 2 p.m.

KIDS' CLUB PROGRAM

The Aurora After-School Kids' Club invites the public to Maple Spring Church on Sunday evening, Dec. 7, where the club members will present a program at 7 p.m. and exhibit some of their projects.

RECYCLING SATURDAY

Recycling materials will once again be collected at the Aurora School on Saturday, Dec. 13, between 9 and 11 a.m. Plastics, paper, cardboard, and metal cans will be accepted.

VISIT IN GERMANY

Allen and Debbie Simmons, Eglon, recently returned from a 10-day visit in Schnaittenbach, Germany, with their son Justin and his wife Kristine, along with their new granddaughter, Emilie Grace, born Sept. 9. While in Germany, they also visited Amberg, Munich, and Grafenwohr, which is where Justin is stationed at the U.S. Army base.

MAPLE GROVE ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Maple Grove Assembly of God will be having a Happy Birthday Jesus party for children of the community, ages 2 to 5, this Saturday, Dec. 6, at 10 a.m. at the church. For more information, persons may call Pastor Shaun at 735-3117.

The church will hold a special presentation by the children's hand bell choir on Sunday, Dec. 14, as well as a Christmas musical titled Joy to the World by the adult choir at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

OBITUARY

Ruth Ann Peterson, 46, died on Monday, Dec. 1, 2008, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. A former resident of Baltimore, she had been a resident at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home since 1997.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Norma Lee (Kight) and Sibbett Peterson, who were both killed in a March 11, 1978, automobile accident. The accident caused Ruth to go blind, as well as suffer from several other physical problems.

She is survived by her sister, Teresa Peterson Mallow, Canaan Valley; and her uncle, Orville Kight, Mt. Grove. The girls were reared by their uncle and his late wife, Shirley Pancake Kight.

Despite her physical afflictions, Ruthie was cheerful and loved to sing. In her desire to help others, she arranged for her body to be donated to West Virginia University. There will be a memorial service at a later date.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Keith and Dee Douglas, Aurora, will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Dec. 20. An open house is planned from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. The couple request that there be no gifts given; however, cards are appropriate. All are invited to the occasion.

PERSONAL

Sue and Steve Hauser and Barbara and Jerry Hauser, all local, have returned from a holiday trip to Branson, Mo., where they were joined by Everett and Darlene Hauser, Blissfield, Mich. They also visited with Richard and Pat Hauser in Oklahoma.

Amanda Douglas has moved to the home of her grandparents, Keith and Dee Douglas, Aurora, from Dayton, Ohio, and will be living here. She hopes to be able to find work, as well as complete her schooling.

Preston Chorus Schedules Annual Holiday Concerts

The Preston County Chorus, under the direction of Wayne Williams, will present its annual Christmas concerts on Saturday, Dec. 13, at the Kingwood Baptist Church and Sunday, Dec. 14, at the First United Methodist Church in Terra Alta. Both presentations start at 7 p.m.

"We invite you to join us to begin this joyous season," said a chorus member.

Various selections for the Christmas season will be performed. The event is free of charge, but a free-will offering will be taken.

Chorus members are from various areas of Preston County, as well as Morgantown.

READY TO BE COUNTED is this dapper pair of northern cardinals, who seem to be posing for the camera of Caroline Blizzard. The annual Oakland Christmas Bird Count, in which all interested birders are invited to participate, will be held Saturday, Dec. 20. See story on this page for details.

HALLELUJAH! The Garrett Choral Society, under the direction of Julie Turrentine (pictured at right), will present George Frederick Handel's Messiah this weekend. The performances will be presented at St. Peter's Catholic Church, located along 4th Street in Oakland, on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2 p.m. The performance will feature solos by tenor Michael Horton, professional singer and performer. Also serving as soloists in the performance will be David Callis and Wayne Callis, basses; Karen Winkelvoss and Mary McEwen, altos; and Jane Nolan, Carolyn Deverse, and Mikal Zimmerman, sopranos. Accompanying the group for the performance will be Lynn Grimm and Muriel Franc, pianists/organists. The approximately 60-member chorus is made up of singers from across Garrett County and from nearby West Virginia. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for youth under 18. They are currently available from any choral society member, or at Jan Florist or Gregg's Pharmacy in Oakland. The performance is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council. Man Sentenced For Incident With Female Juvenile

A 28-year-old Arnot, Pa., man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court on Tuesday to committing a third degree sexual offense. Related charges against Andrew Jason Pettit, including two counts of second degree assault, were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Pettitt to five years in the Division of Corrections, with 4½ years suspended. Upon his release from incarceration, Pettitt will be on unsupervised probation for three years.

In September, sheriff's deputies found Pettitt while investigating a suspicious vehicle at a business located east of Mtn. Lake Park. It was learned that Pettitt was wanted on outstanding charges and that a 14-year-old female traveling with him had been reported missing five days earlier from Bronx, N.Y.

During questioning, criminal investigators determined the two had traveled from New York to a location in Pennsylvania and then into Maryland.

"During this time, the two had engaged in inappropriate contact, leading to the sexual offense charge," said State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch.

Investigations remain open in Pennsylvania and in New York. The juvenile had reportedly met Pettitt on an Internet gambling web site and had left home willingly. Following Pettitt's arrest, the girl was returned to her parents.

Pettitt will also stand trial on Feb. 4, 2009, in Garrett County District Court on a marijuana possession charge.

In other Circuit Court proceedings from Tuesday, Robert Earl Heilig, 51, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. Sherbin granted Heilig probation before judgment and placed him on probation for one year. A $1,000 fine was also assessed.

He was charged in July by a sheriff's deputy who observed Heilig's vehicle on Garrett Highway north of Sand Flat when it crossed the center and edge lines.

Early Snowfall Creating Problems For Garrett Co. Roads Department

The Garrett County commissioners heard an update report on Tuesday from general roads superintendent Jay Moyer about winter operations. Representatives from the county's three roads garages also attended the meeting.

"At this point, we're almost 50 percent through the budget year," Moyer said. "And we're maxing out on some of our line items, due to increased costs and the relatively early start of winter."

He gave the commissioners a handout, detailing increases in the cost of anti-skid materials and hauling fees.

The superintendent told the commissioners that he would be back at a later date to request budget amendments in order to move money from other areas to compensate for the amount that is being spent on winter operations.

"But we're still okay, as long as we don't get a tremendously bad winter," Moyer said.

His department was allocated $460,000 for winter operations overtime in its fiscal year 2009 budget. There is also $11,000 for summer overtime.

Moyer said the department has already accumulated 2,691 "man hours" of overtime for winter operations just within the last two weeks. This equates to roughly $73,000 in overtime pay.

Moyer noted that the county did not receive much snow in November and December last winter. He said last year's total overtime amount was about 19,000 hours, which equated to nearly $650,000.

The superintendent also reported on traffic accidents that occurred after the last couple of snowfalls. These incidents were not the result of a lack of anti-skid or treatment to the roads, he said.

He noted that early snowfall can cause thaw-freeze conditions on roadways. In November and December, the ground may still be warm, but the air may be cold. As a result, snow will melt, then freeze, and anti-skid will not penetrate the hard surface. It just basically blows off, Moyer said.

The superintendent indicated that he had complaints about icy conditions on Glendale and New Germany roads, which tourists use when they are headed to Deep Creek Lake and the ski resort. Moyer asked permission to use salt, under certain conditions, on those roadways.

"What we'd like to do is be allowed to mix [salt] with the anti-skid, or just have one truck, sparingly, put some salt on, simply to loosen that surface up so we get penetration and a sticking to the anti-skid," Moyer said.

He indicated that after daytime temperatures decrease in January, salt probably would not be needed. The slickest time of the year is November and December, Moyer said.

Joe Tichinel, Oakland garage foreman, said the State Highway Administration averages 300 pounds of salt per lane per mile. The foreman said he would use no more than 600 pounds per mile on Glendale Road, which is 4.5 miles. At $73 a ton for salt, the cost would be $197 to treat that road. Tichinel noted that Glendale has a high traffic count in the winter after the ski slope opens.

The foreman said he would treat Glendale "moderately" and only when the salt would work, during the day before the temperature drops at night. Salt will not activate below 18 degrees, he said.

"I believe we can help the condition of that road greatly by treating it just once a day," Tichinel said. He also asked the commissioners to also consider applying salt on Sand Flat Road.

Moyer said he knew the county's concerns about what salt does to road surfaces, the cost of the material, and what it could potentially do to drinking water.

"We're not going to do anything comparable with the state," Moyer said about using salt.

Commissioners Fred Holliday and Ernie Gregg, however, opposed Moyer's request.

"Keep in mind Chestnut Ridge has a lot of those shallow springs," Holliday

County Landfill Will Be Closed On Saturdays

The Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division office, scales, and landfill, all located along Oakland Sang Run Road, will be closed Saturdays to commercial haulers and individuals bringing large loads of commercial trash from Jan. 3 through March 15, 2009.

"This is a cost effective benefit to the county because of the low number of customers who use the landfill and office on Saturday during this time period," said a division spokesperson.

The Sang Run facilities will reopen for Saturday business on March 21 from 9 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. for large loads. The office will be open until 4 p.m.

Homeowners may continue to bring their weekly household trash from 8 a.m. until noon on Saturdays at the Sang Run collection site.

Applications for refuse site stickers are available there from the attendant and can be filled out and

Maryland's Emergency Care Ranks Fourth Overall In National Study

by Anath Hartmann
Capital News Service

Maryland ranked fourth in a national "report card" of emergency care systems released Tuesday, receiving high marks for disaster preparedness and injury prevention, but lagging in other areas, including access to care.

This is the second report card released by the American College of Emergency Physicians. The organization released its first in 2006.

This year, Maryland's overall grade was a B–, the same grade it received in 2006. An A in quality and patient safety environment and a B in public health and injury prevention helped offset categories in which the state fared worse, such as medical liability environment, in which it earned a D–, and access to emergency care, where it earned a C–.

Grades were determined based on information obtained from states, such as ambulance diversion and emergency room wait times.

The nation received an overall grade of C–. Massachusetts ranked first, with a B, then Washington, D.C., with a B–, and then Rhode Island with another B–. Wyoming ranked last with a D+. Virginia earned a C.

"This is frightening news – 90 percent of the states earned mediocre or failing grades," said Nick Jouriles, president of ACEP, at a Tuesday news conference announcing the report card's findings. "When our new policymakers take office in January ... they should immediately hold hearings on the findings of this report card."

Hospital crowding is an issue of major concern in Maryland, according to the ACEP report card, which cites a shortage of inpatient beds.

But Maryland officials say they are working on it. One of the ways they hope to lessen overcrowding is through an online alert system that allows hospitals to divert patients to other hospitals based on capacity levels. The online system is

Christmas Bird Count Scheduled For December 14

The annual Oakland Christmas Bird Count (CBC) will take place on Saturday, Dec. 20, according to local compiler Connie Skipper.

The Oakland count is part of the 109th annual Christmas Bird Count, which will be held in locations throughout North America and beyond between December 14 and January 5.

Results go into Audubon's "State of the Birds" re-ports, which not only shape conservation initiatives, but have made news around the world, according to the National Audubon Society.

Persons wishing to participate in the Oakland count are asked to contact Skipper by telephone at 301-387-5227, or via e-mail at connieskipper@hohnet.-com.

The Oakland count area is a 15-mile diameter circle, with the Mayhew Inn Road/ Lakeshore Drive/Bray School Road intersection as its center point.

On September 22 of this year, a BirdLife International report revealed precipitous declines in populations of many of the world's most familiar birds, broadening the alarm first sounded by Audubon's 2007 Common Birds in Decline analysis. Twenty common birds in the U.S. more than halved in number in the last four decades. The northern bobwhite quail fell most dramatically, by 82%.

The holiday bird count also contributes to Audubon's WatchList, which identified 176 species in the continental U.S. and 38 in Hawaii in dire need of conservation help. On a positive note, the counts also STUDENT NIGHT LIVE!, an original work written and directed by Northern High School drama teacher Nathan Marshall, is currently being performed at the school. Local residents have one more opportunity to attend, which is tonight, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. According to Marshall, the play is "a farcical compilation of eight ridiculous skits, which touch on subjects ranging from mid-life crisis dating to one man's struggle with a demonic house cat." Tickets are available at the door for $5 each, with those age 8 and under admitted free. Proceeds will benefit both the Northern High School Drama Club and the charity Hunter's Hope, a foundation founded by Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Jim Kelly and his wife Jill which funds both medical research and screening for newborns. Cast members are pictured above. From left, front, are Laura Butner, Amanda Brenneman, Kristen DeWitt, and Mallory Brenneman. Being held in the air is Lara Beltzal, and standing from left are: Dylan Gallagher, Linzi Sisler, Jesse Blaar, and Travis McFarland. The narrator of the show is teacher Michelle Harman. Each member of the cast performs a variety of roles. Also part of the evening is a musical performance by local alternative rock band ReDefined in Red, members of which are Jeremy Beltzal, Justin Beltzal, Neil Buckel, and Jesse Storey.

DUI, DWI Charges Given To Accident Man By GCSO

A traffic stop led to the arrest of an Accident man last Saturday on drinking and driving charges.

Brandon David Georg, 20, was stopped by Garrett County sheriff's deputies at approximately 1:15 a.m. on Herrington Manor Road near Fingerboard Road. He was initially stopped for an equipment violation.

Once deputies made contact with Georg, field sobriety tests were conducted, which subsequently led to Georg's arrest. He was charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, and violating a license restriction. He was later released from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office pending trial.

Arrested For Theft, Burglary At Deep Creek Pharmacy

Maryland State Police recently apprehended the suspect who allegedly burglarized and stole prescription medication from Deep Creek Pharmacy early last Thursday morning.

James Aaron Joshua Campbell, 22, Oakland, was taken into custody later that same day by MSP troopers.

GC TEACHER OF THE YEAR RECEIVES PLAQUE FROM BOE – Jenny Neville, teacher at Broad Ford Elementary School, was named Garrett County's 2008-09 Teacher of the Year (TOY), and was recently presented a plaque by the Garrett County Board of Education. While speaking at the meeting, Neville was asked to describe some of the highlights of the events in which she has had the opportunity to participate throughout the year. Following the initial recognition luncheon, she participated in a cruise to St. Michael's, Annapolis, as well as the TOY Gala, which was held in October. She was a participant in the Autumn Glory Parade, and spoke very fondly of the Teacher of Year retreat to Smith Island, which involved all of the TOYs from around the state. Neville was also a guest at the annual GC Chamber of Commerce dinner. She has yet to attend the TOY day in Annapolis this March, the Teachers of Promise Institute in April, a TOY day in Washington, and a TOY day at Camden Yards. Neville is also looking into organizing a Western Maryland Retreat, with TOYs visiting Garrett County for a similar experience to the one they had at Smith Island. All of the activities are educational and geared toward not only rewarding the TOYs, but providing them with valuable knowledge as well. "We appreciate all Jenny has done for our students, and we are proud to have her represent Garrett County," stated Dr. Wendell Teets, GC school superintendent. When it was discovered that Neville's presentation would not convert on the computer available at the meeting, she turned around and pulled her own laptop computer from her bag. "You can see why she was such an easy choice," noted Broad Ford principal Suzie Sincell. "She is always prepared and on the cutting edge of technology. She's never stagnant, and is always looking forward. We are very, very lucky." From left are BOE vice president Rodney Durst, Sincell, Neville, and Teets.

Terra Alta, W.Va., Man Arrested After Fleeing Police

A Terra Alta, W.Va., man was arrested after a Garrett County sheriff's deputy witnessed the driver travel over an embankment. The driver attempted to elude the deputy on foot and was arrested following a short chase.

The deputy was traveling south on Garrett Highway near Cork's Cars, when he observed a red passenger vehicle drive over the south bound embankment of the roadway. The deputy made contact with the driver, Richard Lynn Elliott, 49.

When Elliott exited the vehicle, he attempted to run through the woods on the southbound shoulder of Garrett Highway. The deputy pursued Elliott, and after a 30-yard chase, took him into custody.

Elliott was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center and charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, attempting to elude a uniformed police officer, failure to control speed to avoid a collision, and failure to reduce speed in dangerous highway conditions.

He was taken to the detention center to await a bond hearing.

Woman Driving On Suspended License Arrested After Stop

A West Virginia woman was arrested after a Garrett County sheriff's deputy observed her traveling at a high rate of speed on Maryland Highway last Saturday

The deputy conducted a traffic stop and made contact with the driver, Sharon Kay Albert, 36, Elk Garden. A check through the MVA revealed her Maryland driving privilege to be suspended.

Albert was placed under arrest and charged with a speed violation and driving on a suspended license. She was transported to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Toys Made By WCI Inmates Donated To Garrett Mentors

Wooden toys made by wheelchair-using inmates at Western Correctional Institution (WCI), Cumberland, were donated yesterday to Garrett Mentors Inc. The Oakland-based mentoring program will give the toys to children at a Christmas party this week.

"This is a wonderful way to give back to the community, and a way to engage men whose disabilities and medical conditions might otherwise limit their ability to perform other jobs," said WCI's assistant warden Dr. Harry Murphy Jr., who oversees the inmate program.

WCI has more than 40 inmates who use wheelchairs, according to the Maryland Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (DPSCS).

Using wood donated by 84 Lumber in LaVale, the inmates crafted planes, trains, trucks, and other toys. The pilot project will be expanded in the near future to involve more inmates and other nonprofits.

Murphy is also in the process of identifying other inmate projects that would benefit children with medical disabilities and other good causes.

Tricia Cheesman of Garrett Mentors Inc. came to the prison Wednesday afternoon to pick up the toys and expressed gratitude to both the staff and inmates. Cheesman's nonprofit organization provides mentoring services to Garrett County children in grades kindergarten–5.

"WCI, under the leadership of warden Bobby Shearin, is a significant contributor to communities throughout western Maryland, and prides itself on good relations with its neighbors and nonprofits," said a DPSCS spokesperson. "Programs like this toy-making effort allow inmates to learn skills, reduce idleness, and give back to the society they harmed."

Four-Vehicle Wreck Ends In Citation; One Sent To GCMH

A four-vehicle accident on Rt. 219 last Friday resulted in a traffic citation for one driver, as well as the transport of that driver to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Dorothy Irene Carr, 65, Friendsville, had been traveling north on Rt. 219 near Trader's Landing, when her 2009 Ford Escape crossed the center line and struck a second vehicle traveling south, driven by Ashley Lynn Whitacre-Tasker, 18, Kitzmiller. Whitacre-Tasker's vehicle then struck a third vehicle, also traveling south, driven by Charles Lincicome, Lewisburg, Pa.

After hitting Whitacre-Tasker's vehicle, Carr's vehicle came back into the northbound lane and struck a fourth vehicle that was waiting in the northbound lane to make a left turn. The fourth vehicle was a Ford Edge operated by Sharon Hoover, Friendsville.

Carr was the only driver taken to Garrett Memorial by Northern Rescue Squad. She was charged with failure to drive right of center.

Man Charged With DUI, DWI

A traffic stop led to the arrest of a Pocomoke man by Garrett County sheriff's deputies on drinking and driving charges last Wednesday.

Deputies stopped a 2008 red Ford truck along Garrett Highway and the Mountainside development. Carlton Edward Massey, 49, was allegedly found to be intoxicated. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, DUI per se, driving while impaired, and failure to drive right of center.

Record Number Of Guests Attend After-Hours Event

A record 121 guests attended Tuesday night's Business After Hours, a Garrett County Chamber of Commerce event held at the McHenry Visitors Center. The chamber announced the new 2009 format for business after-hours events.

In an effort to allow smaller chamber-member businesses an opportunity for additional participation, the chamber after-hours get-togethers will be held at central locations in different communities throughout the county.

"Following the motto that 'people do business with people they know,' whether you have a small office, are home-based, or work out of a business vehicle, chamber members will now be able to join in as hosts for a business after hours just like those with storefronts or meeting rooms have done in the past," said Charlie Ross, chamber president and CEO.

The first after-hours event for 2009 will be held on Jan. 7 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Mountain Lake Park Town Hall. Business-owners in and around Mountain Lake Park who are interested in having a display at January's get-together may contact Lou DiCarlo at 301-334-8222.

The remainder of the 2009 schedule is McHenry in February, Accident in March, Deer Park in April, McHenry in May, Friendsville in June, Oakland in July, Grantsville in August, McHenry in September, Loch Lynn Heights in October, and Kitzmiller in November. Dates and exact locations will be announced.

Tuesday night's event, for which food and beverages were provided by Brenda's Pizzeria, was also in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Visitors Center's opening. Ross reported that the county's accommodations tax collections have been up over the last year in 6 out of 10 months in 2008, including record high collection numbers in five of those months. Ross also announced additional chamber initiatives including an ongoing year-long tourism survey of guests to the area and an advertising campaign on Pittsburgh television station, WTAE, set to begin airing in late spring 2009.

"Events like the reformatted business after hours, coupled with the strong accommodations tax collections and our continued marketing initiatives show that the Garrett Chamber is continually working to provide useful tools for future business and tourism growth to stay ahead of the curve," Ross said. "These days, to be competitive, we are moving at the speed of Internet communications."

For additional information about the chamber of commerce or the business after-hours events, persons may call 301-387-4386 or visit the web site at www.garrettchamber.com.

VISITORS CENTER DAY PROCLAIMED – The Garrett County commissioners this week declared Wednesday, Dec. 10, as Garrett County Visitors Center Day. The proclamation was made, in part, to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the center's grand opening: Dec. 10, 1998. The proclamation states: "Garrett County is a flourishing tourism destination for visitors from within Maryland and its surrounding states, and Garrett County's chamber of commerce seeks to promote a consistently high level of service and hospitality among its members and the tremendous economic impact of tourism in our communities enhances business opportunities, creates employment, and increases revenue for state and local government. The Garrett County Visitors Center has welcomed travelers and provided them with the information and services they need to have a safe and enjoyable visit to the region." Chamber of Commerce board and staff members accepted the proclamation from the commissioners. Pictured, left to right, in the front are Commissioner Ernie Gregg, chamber staff members Regina Sweitzer and Jessica Stullenburger, Commissioner Denny Glotfelty, chamber board member Jimmy Flanigan, and Commissioner Fred Holliday. In the back are board members Tony Doerr and Oakland mayor Asa McCain; staff member Sarah Duck; board members Phil Rodeheaver, Bob Browning, and Rob Michael; and staff member Karen Reckner. Driver Hits Second Vehicle After Losing Control In Whiteout

A two-vehicle accident on Rt. 219 South near Red House sent two people to Garrett County Memorial Hospital on Sunday.

Through investigation, it was determined by Garrett County sheriff's deputies that Fred Cole, Wheeling, W.Va., had lost control of his 2005 Ford during whiteout conditions while traveling north on Rt. 219. Jessica Uphole, Oakland, had been traveling southbound in her 2005 Honda SUV. Cole traveled into the southbound lane and was struck by Uphole.

Cole and his passenger were taken to GCMH for treatment by Southern Rescue Squad. Gorman Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene for extrication of the passenger in Cole's vehicle.

New Arrivals

The births of three babies were announced this week, all boys.

A son, Cameron Jay Lee Bernard, was born to Kimberly Stephens and C.J. Bernard, McHenry, on Dec. 3 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Andrew Michael, was born to Michael and Misty (Sanders) SanJulian, Oakland, on Nov. 24 at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

A son, Matthew Kieran Painter Taylor, was born to Kieran Cannistra and Matt Taylor, Oakland, on Dec. 5 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Correction Noted

In last week's issue, an article read that Daniel Stuart Rhodes was arrested on charges that stemmed from a domestic assault complaint by a concerned citizen. It was incorrectly written that Rhodes was reportedly "dragging a female down the road by her hair." The police report read that she was allegedly being dragged down the road. Nowhere did it say that it was by her hair. The error is regretted.

Among the Morals...

A couple of interesting events in politics seem to warrant some comment, with one of those events being exceedingly negative (and thus has the major media drooling), and the other having a much more positive flavor to it (therefore almost ignored by the media)

The former is the arrest of Illinois governor Rod Blagojevich on corruption charges. While one is innocent until proven guilty in our legal system, the various recordings of this guy more than suggest that he is in deep trouble. It seems to be the classic case of allowing the power of political office to go to one's head, of feeling that one is above the law because of position – an outcome that is even more likely when a narcissist is involved.

The latter case is that of the election of Anh "Joseph" Cao to the U.S. Congress, representing Louisana. Cao, who is the first Vietnamese-American elected to Congress, defeated Democrat William Jefferson on Saturday in an election that had been postponed for a month because of Hurricane Gustav.

Cao was born in Vietnam and at age 8 had to flee the country after Saigon fell in 1975. His father, a South Vietnamese army officer, was imprisoned by Communist forces and later released. The 41-year-old Cao earned a degree in philosophy from Fordham University and moved to Louisiana in 1992 as a seminarian. He then earned his law degree from Loyola University in New Orleans.

So typical of Southeast Asian immigrants, Cao has worked extremely hard to be where he is today. He resides in a New Orleans community that consists primarily of Southeast Asian refugees; a community that, not surprisingly, has been totally rebuilt by the residents after nearly being wiped out by Hurricane Katrina, without any waiting around for government assistance.

Sadly, and somewhat ironically, the reason in part for Cao's election victory is that Rep. Jefferson, a longtime incumbent, seems to have been cut from the same mold as that of Gov. Blagojevich. He is also facing trial on charges of money laundering, racketeering, and bribery. These were leveled against him after FBI agents found $90,000 in alleged bribe payments in his freezer. (Would that be cold, hard cash... or cold "hot" cash?)

So among the many morals here are (1.) that, in America, crime really doesn't pay, even if you hold a high elected office; and (2.) that part of what makes our nation great is that a refugee from a distant land can move here, work hard, become a citizen, and be elected to a high office.

To the Editor:

On December 19, 2008, we are asking all drivers to show your support for the movement to focus attention on the dangers of impaired driving by participating in Lights On for Life Day.

The Garrett County Health Department is asking people from the community to drive with their headlights on for the whole day as an acknowledgment of those who have been killed or injured by impaired drivers, and to remind the public that these kinds of crashes are preventable.

Every year more than 16,000 people die in crashes in which one or more of the people involved were under the influence of drugs or alcohol. That is equal to one person dying every 33 minutes.

When impaired drivers take to the road, they not only put themselves at risk, they also put the public's safety at risk.

To save lives and decrease the number of people driving impaired, the community as a whole needs to raise awareness and show support.

Sincerely,
Morgan Anderson and

To the Editor:

To those of you who choose to drink and drive, stop doing it!

My close friend and her family were hit last week by a drunk driver, a 19-year-old, someone who never should have had alcohol in the first place. He drove right through a red light and changed my friend's life forever. He died and the passenger in his car is still in recovery.

Not only did my friend lose the baby growing inside her (she was five months pregnant), but she lost her 2-year-old son, the love of her life.

She and her husband had to face something they should never have had to. Their son was brain dead; they chose to let him go Monday night.

She would not let her son suffer. She is a firm believer in "things happen for a reason," and God is most definitely on her side.

But why did this have to happen? Why did a 2-year-old child have to suffer for someone else's negligent behavior? Do people not think about the consequences of their actions anymore? Will it take your losing someone close to make you stop being so reckless?

There are people out there who would be glad to get a call at 2 a.m. and come pick you up from wherever you are rather than have you drive drunk.

No one is perfect, but that doesn't mean we can't change or help to make a change.

The less we supply to those who are under age, and the more we take the keys away from those who are incapable of driving, are just two ways of possibly preventing fatalities.

Be that designated driver for someone. Be the responsible one.

Perhaps if someone had made the right choice, to not give this 19-year-old alcohol or to not let him drive, my friend would not have to bury her son.

To the Editor:

When will the voters of Garrett County be fairly and impartially represented?

Garrett County commissioner Dennis Glotfelty, prior to the recent election, indicated that the reason for placing Sunday sales of alcohol on the ballot for referendum was that he felt "the people" should decide the issue.

The people of Garrett County have decided. Four times, since 1984, a majority of county voters have voted against Sunday sales of alcohol. It seems quite obvious that "the people" do not want alcohol to be sold in Garrett County on Sundays.

In the recent election, not only did the legislators place the issue on referendum on a district-by-district basis, rather than as a county-wide vote, they also excepted the two districts already serving alcohol on Sundays. Could it be any more evident that they are attempting to accommodate special interests?

In order for the Garrett County commissioners, Del. Beitzel, and Sen. Edwards to justly represent all of their constituents, I suggest there should be a countywide vote, including all districts, which would decide whether or not alcohol is sold on Sunday by all duly licensed establishments.

Let's really allow "the people" to decide this issue.

Sincerely,
Thomas E. Doyle

The actions of Richard L. Fries reported on the front page of last week's issue of The Republican was not brought on by one isolated incident. It was a result of a long struggle to get help for a mentally ill person. The extreme situation came about by a total failure of a system. We will not name persons or agencies who could have prevented this situation and would do nothing to help.

If you are mentally healthy, thank God and be grateful for it.

To the Editor:

I am writing on behalf of PAWS to thank The Republican and its readers for their kind support this year, and to wish them and their pets all the best in this holiday season. Even with the difficult economic climate, many residents of Garrett County have continued to be generous and caring.

Our non-profit organization depends entirely on volunteers, and I also would like to thank the wonderful people who, despite busy lives, give so much of their time and energy to make the PAWS program possible.

Spaying and neutering pets reduces the number of "unwanted" puppies and kittens that too often are dropped off at shelters or simply abandoned on roadways. Most people are aware of this problem and want to help by spaying and neutering their pets. But many of these families simply can't afford to pay for these procedures. Their money must go to more pressing needs, such as buying food and heating their homes.

PAWS spends most of its funds helping eligible families spay and neuter their pet dogs and cats. Families who qualify can take their pets to any vet in the county, and PAWS will pay for approximately two-thirds of the cost of the procedure.

A large portion of our funding comes from kind-hearted individuals who have donated everything from $5 to hundreds of dollars. Each contribution is greatly appreciated, whatever the amount. Many donations are given each spring at the restaurants that help us in our Passion for Pets Challenge by hosting guest bartender nights – with all tips on those nights donated to PAWS. Jonny Rock deserves special thanks – he has donated his outstanding DJ and karaoke skills and equipment to every one of these special PAWS nights and has contributed greatly to the success of our Passion for Pets Challenge.

As each year comes to an end, we measure our success by the large number of families that we have helped. Unfortunately, at this time of year our funds always begin to run out. We are asking your readers to help us with donations this Christmas season so that we can continue to help families in Garrett County. Tax-deductible donations can be sent to PAWS, PO Box 745, McHenry, MD 21541.

To the Editor:

Governor O'Malley destroyed Baltimore city as mayor, but the liberals of the state of Maryland could not wait for him to do the same destruction to the whole state. As soon as he had the governor's seat, he raised the sales tax from five to six percent! Wow, we are having fun now.

It is my understanding that last week he asked Barack Obama for a bailout, but he was about the 481st in line. But he felt very comfy with all the other liberals, socialists, and communists.

The least of worries for all Garrett County citizens is wind turbines, with your loss of liberty, money, and freedom at stake.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

Concerning criticism of my recent letter, please note that the Washington Times (Washington, D.C.) reported at least three times about Barack Obama's birth certificate controversy. In one report they named Phillip Berg as the attorney who filed a suit in Pennsylvania concerning it.

Other print media reported that the California secretary of state had informed her electors to withhold their votes until the legal matter was settled and that more than 10 other state secretaries of state (which were listed) were considering similar actions. The print media later reported that the case has been referred to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If all of this was the result of an "Internet rumor," then some people who make their living reporting and acting on legal matters could lose their jobs for not verifying the truth of these reports. Since the subject of false reports has been raised, it might be well to consider that now that televised media is going to be digital throughout the U.S. (as of February 2009), all citizens should be concerned about how much of the news they see and hear on television is true.

Respectfully,
Nancy Dobson

To the Editor:

Beware, hunters and landowners! My father always told me, and now I tell my kids and grandkids, that opening day of Maryland rifle season is the biggest thrill of the whole hunting season. The experience I had this year on opening day was very disappointing.

We were in the woods hunting and were very surprised to see two four-wheelers with two riders dressed in camouflage drive up in the middle of the 380-acre tract of land at 8:30 in the morning of opening day. I thought they were trespassers and asked them what they were doing there. I was then showed a DNR badge.

I still asked if they were trespassing and they replied "No, we have probable cause." They drove up and down every road on the tract of land and checked the hunters' licenses. We had two violations of license-not-in-possession in our group of hunters. Is that enough probable cause to run around on 380 acres of land interrupting our hunting on opening day?

I don't want anyone to get me wrong. I do believe in enforcing the law and supporting the people who do it. I just think that licenses could have been checked on the road that we travel to go in and out of our land instead of in the middle of the land and the hunt.

According to Section 10-422 (b) of the Natural Resources Article Annotated Code of Maryland Interference with Hunters: Prohibited Acts – "While on private land that is owned by another person or in a hunting area on land managed by DNR, a person may not (1) Interfere intentionally with the lawful taking of wildlife by another person; or (2) Harass, drive, or disturb any game animal intentionally for the purpose of disrupting a lawful hunt."

If the DNR has authority over that rule, to go in on private land and do "whatever we want to do," as DNR officials have been quoted, they should pay taxes on that land.

I don't understand how our elected officials can pass laws allowing someone to come in on your private land and do whatever they want to do.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Governor Martin O'Malley requested that it be published in this column.

Dear Governor:

I am writing as a private citizen to respectfully request that you consider supporting a repeal of the act (SB 566) which allows land-based industrial wind turbines to be built without a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity (CPCN) being required.

Off-shore projects still must undergo a thorough and comprehensive administrative and regulatory process. Prior to its passage in 2007, at the request of Senate president Miller and Wayne Rogers, CEO of Synergics, a wind LLC, an electric generating facility had to go before the Public Service Commission for a CPCN. Several other state agencies, including DNR and MDE, had major responsibilities in assessing environmental, health, safety, cultural and historical resources, and land-use conditions. I would point out that the Public Service Commission, DNR, and the Office of People's Counsel opposed the bill primarily for reasons supporting the primacy of open government and citizen protections.

The act virtually scuttled all of these environmental review protections for land-based, wind-generating stations. State regulation of facilities is minimal, and local oversight in the case of Garrett County is non-existent, as there is no countywide zoning and the Board of Garrett County Commissioners refuses to enact any type of protection whatsoever.

Thus the conundrum of little state oversight and no local oversight. This unintended consequence needs to be remedied, and it is for this reason that I am seeking your assistance.

Sincerely,
John N. Bambacus
Friendsville

To the Editor:

Your response to Governor O'Malley's recent televised comments about a wind project proposed off Ocean City's shore, taken in tandem with his comments in the same interview about the importance of preserving our state's natural heritage, was a remarkable distillation of the basic issue. The governor's good intentions continue to be blindsided by his unexamined support for one of the dumbest energy ideas around. Belief that wind technology will reduce our dependence on fossil fuels is a fairy tale promoted to sell snake oil; it is nothing more than political and economic bromide.

Equally problematic is the governor's evident inability to see the elephant in the room. The essence of green technology is that it strives to leave little or no environmental footprint. The essence of wind technology is a massive environmental footprint with, in our region, hundreds of turbines planned, each nearly 500 feet high, with continuously moving rotors longer than a football field, extending for scores of miles throughout hill and dale. The contradiction between green intentions and wind reality is rivaled only by the way Cinderella's stepsisters tried to make that darned slipper fit their own outsized feet....

Governor O'Malley also referred to a new state organization, Smart, Green, and Growing, which has developed an interactive land conservation map designed to help save "our most important ecological, cultural, and historic landscapes" – "lands that will help us restore the health of the Chesapeake and coastal bays, provide critical habitat for fish and wildlife, and improve the quality of life for all Marylanders."

This map (www.greenprint.maryland.gov/greenprint_map.asp) shows most of Garrett County (and much of Allegany County) to be a Targeted Ecological Area, lands identified by the state as conservation priorities by the DNR.

That the governor – and evidently his staff, as well as key officials with the DNR – cannot understand how gargantuan wind technology subverts their laudable conservation goals seems a triumph for political spin, if not for hypocrisy. Still, his wishful thinking and incongruous statements notwithstanding, Governor O'Malley remains the political leader of this state, which is one of the wealthiest in the nation, both economically and environmentally. He is obligated to provide enlightened leadership, using our precious resources with wisdom and concern for posterity.

We should demand nothing less.

Man Sentenced

After the vehicle was stopped, observation by the officer led to the administration of field sobriety tests and Heilig's arrest.

In an unrelated case, Jeffrey Anderson Hall, 30, Owings Mills, pleaded guilty on Tuesday to possession with intent to distribute psilocybin (mushrooms).

Sherbin sentenced Hall to six months in the Garrett County Jail and suspended the sentence in favor of probation. Hall was fined $1,000, and $450 that was seized from him at the time of arrest was forfeited.

Hall was arrested by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in July during a criminal interdiction operation on I-68. A deputy stopped Hall's vehicle for speeding on the interstate.

A certified drug detection dog scanned the vehicle and gave a positive alert. A search of the SUV was conducted, and a large quantity of mushrooms, packaged in 35 separate plastic bags, was located in a plastic storage container bin in the rear of the vehicle.

In other court proceedings, Mary Ann Kamp, 41, Lonaconing, was found not guilty of second degree assault. She was charged by the Maryland State Police, following an incident that occurred in July.

said, adding that residents in other areas also rely on springs.

He said the first person who loses his well to salt is going to say the county screwed up his water and demand a new well.

"I have a problem with salt," Holliday said. "And I don't think the county has pockets deep enough to provide wells for these people who are going to come in wanting water."

Holliday asked when driver responsibility entered the picture, noting that he frequently drives New Germany and Glendale roads without any problems.

"There's no question about the condition of Glendale; the wind blows across there, and it is a high-traffic area," Gregg said. "But, like Fred, people have to realize that it's not an interstate, and you don't drive 65 miles per hour."

Gregg said he was philosophically opposed to applying salt.

"Maybe if it could be done judiciously," he said. "But I wonder if we're opening a Pandora's box, and in a few years we'll be using it countywide."

He indicated that the ill effects of salt would not be realized immediately, but in four or five years there would be many requests for new wells from residents.

Moyer said it was a safety issue, and noted that former superintendent Fred Polce applied salt. The commissioners pointed out that it was only used in a few restricted areas.

They unanimously rejected Moyer's idea. In lieu of salt, Tichinel requested that signage be purchased stating "icy conditions, adjust speed" and placed along Glendale Road from December through March. He and the commissioners also discussed the idea of lowering the speed limit.

"We appreciate your concern," Gregg told Moyer and the roads garage representatives. "And certainly, we want the safety of drivers to be our primary concern, but the long-term implications are more than we want to deal with."

updated approximately every minute.

"What we've done is to try to develop strategies to reduce delays and hospitals going on yellow alert (no emergency patients), and we've made some great strides," said Richard Alcorta, state medical director for the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems.

State officials did find a bright spot in the emergency preparedness category, new to the report card this year. Maryland's A there is due in large part to its coordinating inter-jurisdictional emergency response plans and its outreach to the special needs community, which often lacks transportation plans in the event of an emergency, said Richard Muth, director of Maryland Emergency Management Agency.

"We've been looking at preparedness for special-needs folks, which has made us, from a planning perspective, better prepared," Muth said. "And we have very close interaction with local governments to make sure that the plans all come together and don't contradict each other."

DUI, VOP Cases Heard In Garrett Co. Circuit Court

A case involving a Frederick man was heard in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday. Alexandre Vierareznde Rattes, 50, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail and fined $1,000 for driving under the influence (DUI).

Eleven months of the sentence was suspended, and Rattes will be on probation when he is released from jail. He had pleaded guilty to the offense in September, and sentencing had been postponed.

Rattes was charged by Maryland State Police in October 2007 after a trooper observed him driving on Garrett Highway in the area of Rock Lodge Road. The trooper stopped the vehicle and conducted an investigation, including observations of the driver's abilities and field sobriety tests, leading to Rattes' arrest.

In another Circuit Court case from Monday, Curtis Mitchell Granger, 27, Goodview, Va., formerly of Oakland, admitted to violation of probation (VOP).

Judge Jim Sherbin then reimposed the suspended sentence of one year and resuspended all but 30 days. Granger will be on supervised probation again for one year after his release from the Garrett County Jail.

Granger was originally convicted of a DUI in September 2007 and placed on probation, which was violated in May when Granger was arrested for another DUI in Roanoke County, Va., where he currently resides.

Curtis Lester Hamilton Jr., 19, Cumberland, also admitted in Circuit Court that he had violated probation.

Hamilton was arrested in May and convicted last month in Allegany County with failing to notify an address change to the sex offender registry.

Hamilton was originally convicted in Garrett County in 2005 for a second degree rape. He was then sentenced to five years in the Division of Corrections, with 3½ years suspended.

For a prior violation of probation, Hamilton had served an additional eight months.

This week, Sherbin reimposed the balance of the sentence and again suspended all but 30 days in jail for the violation. Hamilton will then continue on probation, with all of the conditions as previously ordered.

Douglas Ray Ferguson, 25, Oakland, also admitted to violating his probation. Sherbin then reimposed 30 months and suspended one year of the sentence. After serving the 18-month sentence, Ferguson will again be on probation.

He was originally convicted in May of third degree sex offense and served six months in the Garrett County Jail. After he was released, he was convicted of indecent exposure for events that occurred in August.

Three Arrested After MSP Stops Man Walking On I-68

Three people were arrested last Saturday after Maryland State Police stopped a man walking on I-68 around 8:45 that morning.

Tfc. LeMay stopped the man walking westbound on I-68 near Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop. The man falsely identified himself as Christopher Patrick Strader, 32. LeMay ran a check of the name, and a "hit" came back on a man named Shawn Ryan Strader, 28. The individual was asked his Social Security number, which matched with that of Shawn Strader.

Strader stated that he had been traveling toward West Virginia, when his Jeep suffered a flat tire. He explained to the officer that he had left his vehicle parked in the McDonald's parking lot at Keyser Ridge.

While LeMay was in his patrol vehicle trying to identify the suspect, the man asked if he was free to leave. LeMay said, "Not yet," but the suspect began walking and then running east on the shoulder of the roadway. He fled into a nearby wooded area, and a search was immediately initiated.

Tfc. Wagoner and Tfc. Upole responded to the scene. Trooper 5 also responded and assisted with the capture of Shawn Strader, who was apprehended at approximately 10 a.m.

Deputy A. Wilson with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to the area as well, and then went to the McDonald's parking lot to look for the Jeep Strader described to LeMay.

A silver 2002 Jeep Grand Cherokee bearing West Virginia license plates was found in the parking lot with a flat tire. Wilson attempted to identify two people found inside the vehicle. The male in the vehicle also identified himself as Christopher Patrick Strader and provided two separate Social Security numbers. He was later identified by FBI as Michael Jason Strader, 35.

The female identified herself as Michelle Renee Schrier, but was later identified by FBI as Billy Jo Pfeffer, 35. Her left eye was bruised, but she refused medical treatment.

When LeMay arrived at the parking lot, he asked the two people who they had been traveling with. They first both said they were traveling alone. Then two different names were given, first Tom Strader, then Mike Strader.

Michael Strader said that they had been traveling to Morgantown to visit his sister, and that they did not know the man who had fled on foot. Further investigation revealed that the three had eaten a meal at the Truck Stop and failed to pay any money for the meal.

The identities of all three were revealed through the FBI, and it was discovered that all three suspects had outstanding warrants for larceny and burglary from Pennsville, N.J. All three had been living in Morgantown for the past several weeks. They were all taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await bond hearings and extradition proceedings.

Why should you take your vehicle back to the dealership to get your maintenance done?
ANSWER:
When a Repair Order is written, an Oasis (tells the dealership of any Recalls, Service Messages, or Technical Service Bulletins) on your particular vehicle comes up automatically. Recalls are covered under warranty, & most SMs & TSBs are covered under bumper to bumper warranty.

In Memory of Rich Humberson Jr.

May 3, 1964 - December 11, 2005

My son, "Little Rich," the one that I have been so proud of for so long, the one that taught me more than I taught him, the one that when we would divide anything would take about 1/3 and give me 2/3. Just a phone call away and I called lots of times. You would come help me every time. You were always there for me and your mom. Son, you led me home lots of nights. Son, everybody I talk to thinks so much of you and that makes me so happy and so very proud. Son, after your mom passed away, you and your family gave me so much love, kindness, and respect, and I say thanks, and what an honor it is to have you for a son.

Son, you cast a large shadow; I am walking in it and I cannot find you. Rich, memory lane is a long and never ending road, as in sorrow. Rich, so many unsaid words, so many unfinished things still to do. We all talk about the one set of footprints in the sand-son, when I see that one set, I know that it is when you are carrying me. Son, it has been 3 years since I last gripped your hand and saw your face and clear blue eyes. But son, 1 Corinthians 13:12, this is what I am waiting for--to see you and your mom. Son, you were the fifth commandment. Son, the Bible tells me God will only tempt me, that I can be tempted. I keep telling him the load is heavy, "raise me up." Son, it is just like David said, the boy cannot come to me, I shall go to him. Son I know you are watching me from a far away place, but I keep waiting for you to call, that always says you're just checking in.

Son, I love you,
Love always, Dad

ELSIE O. CROSS

Elsie O. "Billie" Cross entered the Kingdom of Heaven on Monday, Dec. 1, 2008. Billie was much loved by her family and countless friends.

She was born in Phillipi, W.Va., on Sept. 26, 1909.

She married Ralph E. "Froggie" Cross on Jan. 18, 1930, in Oakland. They moved to Washington, D.C., where her husband of 50 years worked as a White House police officer.

Upon her retirement from the Interstate Commerce Commission, they moved to Deep Creek Village in 1960.

After the death of her husband in 1980, she remained in her house overlooking the Youghiogheny River on her own for 28 years. She was also preceded in death by one daughter, Elizabeth "Betsy" Wray; and one granddaughter, Allyson E. Cross.

She is survived by her son, Richard E. Cross and wife Dolores, Viera, Fla.; two grandsons, Keith Cross and wife Nancy, Ashburn, Va., and Andy Wray, Waynesboro, Pa.; two great-granddaughters, Katie and Michelle Cross, Ashburn, Va.; and one son-in-law, James Wray, Waynesboro.

Always known for her kindness and generosity, she crocheted numerous "Linus Blankets" for children with cancer. She also made over 200 Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls, which went to children all over the world, with the proceeds going to her church.

Her body was donated for medical research.

There will be a memorial service in the spring, with the date to be determined, at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland.

Memorial donations may be made to St. Paul's Methodist Church.

Interment was held in Salisbury Cemetery.

MARTIN J. WINSTON

Martin J. "Win" Winston, 79, Loudon, Tenn., passed away on Tuesday, Oct. 21, 2008.

He was preceded in death by his parents, James O. and Ione M. Martin.

He was a member of Tellico Village Community Church. He was a veteran of the Korean War, flying over 100 missions with the U.S. Air Force.

Following four years of military service, he attended the University of Missouri, where he graduated with his doctorate in education and psychology. His work led him to Washington State University and then to the University of Nebraska. He became dean of students at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville before assuming the role of vice president of student affairs at the University of Maryland.

He returned to the military full time at the Air War College, Montgomery, Ala., and moved on to work at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. His last military position was at the Strategic Air Command Headquarters, Omaha, Neb., where he served as a representative for various National Guard units. He and his wife, Bethly Sanders Martin, Oakland, then retired to the Tellico Village Community.

He was active in the Tellico Village Property Owner's Association, serving as the first resident representative. He was also a member of the Retired Military Club in the Village.

He is survived by his wife of 54 years, Bethyl; three sons, James W. Martin, Omaha, Lt. Col. Lewis M. Martin, Vacaville, Calif., and Ernest M. Martin, Houston, Texas, and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be conducted at Tellico Village Community Church on Monday, Dec. 22, with the Rev. Martin Singley officiating.

Entombment will take place in the church columbarium, where full military honors will be accorded.

A reception will follow in the Christian Life Center at the church.

Click Funeral Home, Lenoir City, Tenn., is in charge of the arrangements.

EILEEN SLAUBAUGH

Eileen Slaubaugh, 89, Oakland, formerly of Beltsville, died Thursday, December 4, 2008, at her residence.

Born April 2, 1919, in Aurora, W.Va., she was a daughter of the late Hugh and Pearl (Wotring) Foreman.

FRESH CHRISTMAS TREES! Christmas trees are available from Boy Scout Troop #1 in the CVS parking lot in Oakland. The trees are $20 each (any type or size) and were cut on Dec. 4 at a local tree farm. A variety of sizes and heights are available. The Scouts will have the trees set up beside the pharmacy's drive-through lane on weekdays from 5 to 8 p.m., Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sundays from 1 to 8 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the troop's "trek" to Philmont Scout Ranch, N.M., in August 2009. For those not wishing to purchase a Christmas tree but wanting to contribute to this effort, individual donations can also be made at the CVS site. The Boy Scouts expressed their appreciation to Doug Riley, who has donated all of the Christmas trees to Troop 1 for the last three years.

Adorable Adoptables

reveal the return of the bald eagle, for example.

"Audubon compiles these reports because we care about birds and the quality of the environment they share with us," said Tom Bancroft, head of science for the National Audubon Society. "These birds are sending us a clear message that their fate is determined by human activity more than anything else. As we've seen with the bald eagle, when we help them through conservation, their chances improve. But when we damage their habitat, they are more likely to become rare or extinct."

The Christmas Bird Count began over a century ago when scientist Frank Chapman changed the course of ornithological history. In 1900, Chapman led a small group on an alternative to the "side hunt," when teams competed to see who could shoot the most game. Instead, Chapman proposed they identify, count, and record all the birds they saw, founding what is now considered to be the world's most significant citizen-based conservation effort.

"Each CBC volunteer observer is an important contributor, helping to shape the overall direction of bird conservation," said Geoff LeBaron, Audubon's Christmas Bird Count director.

The Arts

Author To Hold Book Signing At LaVale Mall

CATHERINE DONALDSON

Former Garrett County resident Catherine R. Donaldson, 26, will be signing copies of her three books this Saturday, Dec. 13, at Waldenbooks in Country Club Mall, LaVale, from 2 to 6 p.m.

Donaldson was 23 years old when she published her first novel: The Captains Marshall: A Promise of Freedom. The book tells the story of two cousins who seek freedom in the early 1660s. Challenging the society of their time, the young women go to sea in a ship built by their fathers.

Donaldson's second book, Radiance and Shadows, told about the cousins four years later. Saoirse and Giselle Marshall sail north and encounter the Royal Navy and tragedy in Britain's newly acquired colony.

Published this year, the third book of her Captains Marshall series, Fading Seas, Finding Home, takes place in 1668. Changed by love, loss, and the harsh realities of life on the seas, the cousins find themselves with more adventures.

Donaldson is a 2000 graduate of Southern High School and graduated from McDaniel College (formerly Western Maryland College) in Westminster.

Her first book received a favorable review in Pyrates Way magazine, and, so far, two of her books were reviewed on bilgemunky.com. Donaldson's interview for blogradio is available on her web site at catherinedonaldson.com.

More information about her books is also available at that site and at kindredpens.com.

Also participating in the book signing at Waldenbooks will be Cassanda Zaruba, author of Liquid Bones.

Nana And The Jabbywalker Children's Book To Be Released On Jan. 10, 2009

Theresa Helbig-Miller's Nana and the Jabbywalker, her second children's book, is set to be releasod on Jan. 10, 2009 by PublishAmerica of Frederick. Thc book is illustrated by Sherri Wilt-Evans and also contains a poetry section by Alma Costly Ream.

The book has been dedicated to Helbig-Miller's daughter Makayla, and to Wilt-Evans' two sons Theo and Trenton.

Helbig-Miller's first publication, Benny the Raccoon, was released earlier this year. She said she has used that book as a source of inspiration for other family-oricnted children's presentations.

"The story of Nana and the Jabbywalker is adapted from a family tale passed down for two generations through the author's mother," noted the publisher. "Just as the children who have heard this tale recited to them, a young audience will be captivated by the country charm and somewhat mysterious nature of the tale, and will benefit from the importance placed on listening to parents about safety."

Helbig-Miller and her husband Wayne reside in Garrett County. She is a Frostburg State University graduate, and is employed by GC government as administrative coordinator for the Roads Department. She is the daughter of Richard "Butch" and Carolyn Helbig, Oakland.

Wilt-Evans is the daughter of Alice Wilt, Oakland, and the late George Wilt. She is a legal secretary for GC Department of Social Services, and she and her husband Terry continue to operate the family farm.

St. Mark's Hosting Free Showing Of Christmas Movie

The Christmas movie It's a Wonderful Life will be shown as a holiday event for the public at St. Mark's Lutheran Church on Friday, Dec. 19, beginning at 7 p.m.

The event is free and open to the public. There will also be free popcorn and drinks. The movie, which will be shown in the downstairs fellowship hall, is being hosted by the church's evangelism committee.

St. Mark's church has obtained a CVLI license, which allows the showing of a movie to the public, a spokesperson noted.

The church is located at the corner of Second and Center streets in Oakland. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

DNR Announces Bear And Bird Stamp Contests

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources invites artists to submit original artwork for the 13th annual Black Bear Conservation Stamp Design Contest, and waterfowl artists to enter the 35th annual Maryland Migratory Game Bird Stamp Design Contest.

Entries will be accepted for both until March 20, 2009. Both Maryland residents and non-residents may enter the bear stamp contest.

"The proceeds from the sale of the Black Bear Stamp and other related products are used to compensate farmers in Maryland experiencing agricultural damage caused by black bears," said Jonathan McKnight, acting director of DNR's Wildlife & Heritage Service.

All entries must be original, previously unreleased artwork. Each contestant may submit one entry for a non-refundable $10 entry fee.

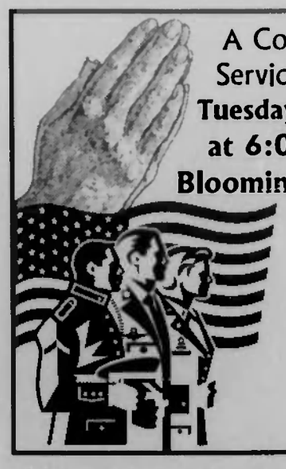
For contest rules and more information, persons may go online to http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/bbcp/bbstampcontest.html, telephone Doug Wigfield at 410-713-3852, or e-mail dwigfield2@dnr.state.md.us.

"Proceeds from the sale of the migratory game bird stamps help fund waterfowl and migratory game bird projects, as well as much needed research," said McKnight.

All entered designs must be the artist's original work, neither copied nor duplicated from any previously published paintings, drawings, prints, or photographs of the contestant or any other artist. Each contestant may submit up to three entries. The entry fee, signed "Agreement to Enter the Contest" form, and entries with completed "Entry Identification Forms" attached to the back must be received via mail by 4 p.m. on March 20 at the Maryland Migratory Game Bird Stamp Design Contest, Friends of Patuxent, Patuxent Research Refuge/ National Wildlife Visitor Center, 10901 Scarlet Tanager Loop, Laurel, MD 20708-4027.

Entries in both contests will be judged on March 28 in conjunction with the 20th annual Patuxent Wildlife Art Show at the National Wildlife Visitors Center in Laurel. Contestants and the public are invited to attend the contest judging process. Admission is free.

The stamp can be purchased by any citizen for $9 and is required for all migratory game bird hunters in Maryland. For a list of species eligible for depiction and full contest rules, persons may go online to http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/duckstamp or contact Doug Wigfield, contest coordinator, at 410-713-3852 or dwigfield2@dnr.state.md.us.



A Community Prayer Service will be held on Tuesday, December 16, at 6:00 p.m. at the Bloomington Methodist Church

We will be lifting up our nation and our military in prayer. Please come out and join us.

Sweitzer Leads Southern Girls To Season-Opening Win Over Keyser

Shayna Sweitzer's 26 points helped boost the Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team past Keyser last night, claiming a 69-38 victory for the Rams' 2008 season opener.

The Rams held the Golden Tornados at 27-5 at the end of the first quarter, and remained 25 points ahead at halftime.

Southern pushed even harder in the third period, which ended at 53-23.

Southern's Emillee Bosley also scored in double figures with 13 points, as did Torie Bosley with 12.

Abby Wildesen led the Rams in rebounding with eight.

Keyser's Julia Ludwick scored a team-high 16 points.

The Southern jayvees started the evening with a 48-36 first game win. Laura Griffin had 10 points for the Rams, and Molly Cuthbertson scored 11 for Keyser.

Southern will host Tucker tonight at 7:30 p.m. They will hit the road on Saturday to face Hampshire and travel to Petersburg on Monday.

NHS Girls' Basketbaii Team Records Victories Over Mtn. Ridge, Allegany

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team has had a great start to the season after opening with a 67-57 Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference win over Mtn. Ridge last Friday, 67-57, in Frostburg.

The Huskies went on to host and defeat Allegany in another AMAC contest Monday night, 53-50.

In Friday's game against Mtn. Ridge, Northern's Kaitlynn Fratz scored 24 points, and had six steals and four assists with three of her goals being three-pointers. Teammates Kerry Conroy and Megan Wiley both added 14 points, with Conroy also recording five steals.

Leading Mtn. Ridge was Maura Jones with 20 points, five rebounds, and two steals. Heather Shipe and Danielle McGinnis both had eight points.

Shipe had a team-high nine rebounds for the Miners.

The Mtn. Ridge jayvees recorded a 25-22 victory in overtime over the Northern junior varsity Northern's Sydney McFarland contributed nine points, and Mtn. Ridge's Laura DeVore had 10.

In the varsity game against Allegany on Monday, Fratz and Conroy were once again the leaders for the Huskies, scoring 17 and 16 points, respectively.

The Huskies trailed 15-12 at the end of the first quarter, but held a 26-25 edge at halftime. Going into the fourth period, the score was tied, 40-40.

Fratz's second three-pointer gave the Huskies a one-point lead with less than a minute to go in the game. She then hit a pair of free throws, which gave the Huskies the three-point victory.

Conroy and teammate Megan Wiley each had six rebounds, with Conroy also providing five assists and five steals.

Allegany's Leah Wormack led with a game-high 19 points, and was the Campers' only double-figure player in the game.

In the first game, the Allegany junior varsity edged the Northern jayvees, 40-39, backed by Stephanie Dawson's 12 points. Northern's Taryn Brenneman had 11, and Brittany Mallow scored nine and provided 10 rebounds.

The Huskies were scheduled to play Union last night, but the game was postponed until Monday, Jan. 26.

Northern's next game will be at home against Keyser on Wednesday, Dec. 17.

Lakers Lose First Of Season, Despite Scoring Over 90 Points

Despite putting 94 points on the board, the Garrett College men's basketball team sustained its first loss in eight starts this season, falling to host Hagerstown CC on Saturday, 102-94, in a Maryland JUCO Conference contest.

It was the ninth win in 10 games for the Hawks, who also upped their JUCO mark to 4-0.

The Lakers were down by seven points, 43-36, at halftime, and stayed close throughout most of the game, but according to GC coach Dennis Gibson, were hurt by too many turnovers.

Leading five Hawks in double figures was Isaiah Hill with 25 points, while Brandon Rascoe finished with 19, Jordan Brooks recorded 16, Jeremy Meyers added 15, and Tyan Andrews chipped in with 10 points.

Matching Hill's 25-point performance was Garrett's Francis Gunn, who scored 24 of his total in the second half of action. Terrance Taylor scored 14 points, all in the first half, and J.T. Lewis finished with 13. Mark Smith and Brian Koonce each recorded 12 points.

"Besides committing too many turnovers, Hagerstown is a very good team, and particularly good at home," said Coach Gibson. "You just can't give them as many opportunities as we did."

Before taking a holiday break, the Lakers will try to get back into the win column this Saturday when they face Mercer CC (N.J.) in the Frederick Quality Inn Classic. That game will tip off at 5 p.m.

Garrett will meet Rockingham CC in the same tournament on Saturday, with that contest set to begin at 1 p.m.

The Lakers will then be off until January 5, when they will travel to Chesapeake CC for another Maryland JUCO clash.

Husky Matmen Open With Easy Wins Vs. Walkersville, Frankfort

Winning their first two matches of the 2008-09 season with ease, both by a lopsided score of 65-15, was the Northern High School wrestling team, as Coach Scott Stough's Huskies flattened visiting Walkersville last Friday, and then posted the same score against Frankfort on Tuesday at Southern.

The Huskies will face considerably tougher competition this weekend when they vie in the annual, and highly competitive, Berkeley Springs Tournament.

In the win over Walkersville, six Huskies earned pins: Adam Finzel in the 112-pound division, Josh Duckworth at 130 pounds, Adam Moranduzzo at 140, Randy Wiley at 160 pounds, Dustin Stough in the 189-pound clash, and heavyweight Justin Meyers.

Huskies Open 2008-09 Season With 70-47 Defeat By Campers

The Northern High School varsity boys' basketball team opened its 2008-09 season with a convincing 70-47 loss to one of its foreseen toughest opponents of the season, Allegany, on Tuesday night in Cumberland.

The Huskies fell behind early, trailing 19-10 at the end of the first quarter and 34-24 at the half They were down 49-31 going into the final period.

Ed Herpel was the lead scorer for the Huskies with 10 points, hitting three-for-three on foul shots, and putting up two 3-pointers.

Jordan Grady and Casey Roberts carried the Campers in scoring, Grady with a game-high 22 points and Roberts putting up 18.

Grady also nabbed 13 rebounds and Roberts had 10, plus seven assists.

The NHS junior varsity was also defeated in the first game, 56-31.

Cody Humbertson finished with 10 points for the Northern jayvees. Allegany's Brady Ellsworth, Sam Hofacker, and Jake Shade had 15, 12, and 10 points, respectively.

The Huskies will go after their first win when they host Southern this Friday. They will entertain Salisbury on Monday and Union on Tuesday.

Ram Grapplers Crush Both Walkersville And Frankfort

The first two matches of the high school wrestling season for the Southern High School squad were little more than a mild warm-up for most of the Rams, as they flattened Walkersville last Friday at Northern, 75-6, and then cruised to a 72-10 thrashing of visiting Frankfort on Tuesday.

Nine members of Coach Dave Taylor's mostly veteran squad recorded pins against Walkersville, with Sean Chapman needing only 51 seconds to get his in the 103-pound division.

Other Rams opening their personal campaigns with pinfall wins were: Nick Stewart at 112 pounds, Josh Arnold at 125 (57 seconds), Lex Ozias at 130, Nicholas Brant at 140, Brutus Scheffel at 145 pounds, Jordan Skipper at 160, Ryan Bennett at 189, and Ryan Fitzwater in the 215-pound division.

Bubba Scheffel won by decision in the 152-pound division, and forfeits were awarded to David Stewart (119), Dakota Workman (135), and Kody Lewis (171).

The only points awarded Walkersville were won by Tim Garlington, who gained a pin in the 285-pound bout.

Winning on pins in Tuesday's match against Frankfort were 10 Rams: Chapman, David Stewart (wrestling in the 112-pound bout), Arnold, Ozias, Brutus and Bubba Scheffel, Skipper, Lewis, Bennett, and Fitzwater.

Awarded a forfeit in the 119-pound division was Dakota Pritt.

The Falcons won only two weight classes, Corey Fair via a pin in the heavyweight clash, and Alec Peer by major decision in the ergy-saving mandates for facilities.

The Maryland Board of Regents will meet Friday to discuss and pass a furlough plan in anticipation of further budget cuts, Kirwan said. The plan will give campuses flexibility, but one principle will be to tier furlough days by income.

University of Maryland, College Park, President Dan Mote announced in a campus-wide e-mail Monday that if O'Malley signs an executive order for state employees making more than $60,000 to take five furlough days, he and university employees will participate. Mote's salary for 2008 was $431,900. Other employees' furloughs will be based on income, Mote said.

Statewide furloughs are expected to save $34 million, according to the governor's plan.

Kirwan attended a College Board news conference Wednesday, along with Rep. Chris Van Hollen, D-Kensington, to discuss the report, "Coming to Our Senses: Education and the American Future." The report said accessibility and graduation rates of higher education need to increase in order for the United States to keep up with the global economy.

Real Estate Facts by... Dale Carpenter
SHELTERING YOU AND YOUR INCOME!
It's easy to be swayed by all the negativity swirling around in the real estate industry. However, home ownership offers benefits you just can't get from other forms of investment, regardless of market conditions. In particular, the US tax code makes buying and owning a home a great deal.
First, you can deduct from your income the interest paid on your mortgage. That applies to second homes, too. You may even be able to deduct your loan's insurance premiums. If you've taken out a home equity loan, that interest is also deductible, regardless of how you've used the money.
If you've sold or plan to sell your home, profits up to $250,000 (or $500,000 for married couples) are free from taxation. While some restrictions apply, you won't get that kind of bargain on the sale of stocks, bonds, or other investments.
Now to get back to that mortgage interest deduction: it's almost guaranteed that if you hold a home loan, the interest deduction will help you reach the threshold for claiming all sorts of other itemized deductions above and beyond the standard amount allowed.
So just simply owning a home puts you in the happy position of being able to claim myriad other deductions from your taxable income. Real estate agents are not tax advisers, but they recognize a good deal when they see one! Call a real estate professional today. If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call at the office or on my cell at 301-501-DALE

Tuition Increase Is Expected For State Colleges

by Allyson Dickman
Capital News Service

University System of Maryland colleges are likely to face "modest" tuition increases next year because of the recession, said Chancellor William "Brit" Kirwan.

"In this fiscal time, yes, we may see some modest increase in tuition," said Kirwan after a College Board news conference on Capitol Hill Wednesday.

Maryland has had a three-year tuition freeze for in-state undergraduate students at public universities under Gov. Martin O'Malley. Before the freeze, the University System of Maryland raised tuition by as much as 33 percent, between 2002 and 2004, to account for budget deficits and declining state funding.

Under the freeze, Maryland went from having the sixth- to the 16th-highest in-state tuition nationally, and O'Malley says he hopes to keep moving down the list, said Kirwan. Maryland is the only state to keep tuition levels from rising for three years, he said.

Keeping a tuition freeze "is going to be a challenge," he said. "I don't think there's any prospect we will return to double-digit tuition increases ... If there is an increase in tuition, it will be what we all consider a modest level."

O'Malley hasn't made a tuition-freeze decision for next year, said spokesman Shaun Adamec.

"The cuts have been felt all around," he said. "The governor would like to continue (the tuition freeze), but it's too early to tell. The governor has been clear that nothing can be off the table."

Maryland will have an estimated $1 billion shortfall in the next fiscal year, which includes the University System of Maryland. On Oct. 15, O'Malley approved more than $345 million in budget cuts and more are expected.

The University System of Maryland will likely take action on tuition in January or early February, Kirwan said.

At the University of Maryland, College Park, in-state tuition is $6,566 and out-of-state tuition is $21,637. Both have $1,439 in additional fees this academic year. At Towson University, in-state students pay $5,180 and out-of-state students pay $15,726 per year. Additional fees are $7,314.

On Tuesday, St. Mary's College of Maryland announced a plan to increase tuition and fees for next year by 5 percent. The 2009 to 2010 in-state price tag will be $22,874, up from this year's $21,559.

The school of 2,000 students is a public college, not under the University System of Maryland, so it does not share the tuition freeze. The college has increased tuition by about 5 percent a year for three years, said Marc Apter, vice president of marketing for the college. This year's increase was because of increasing costs of energy and food, and decreasing endowments, Apter said.

St. Mary's also plans to save $1.7 million through position attrition, reduction in vacation roll-over for staff, deferring salary increases, and initiating en-

TREES FOR TROOPS – Nearly 80 fresh-cut Christmas trees were loaded at Mtn. Top Tree Farm, Oakland, on Dec. 4 for the fourth annual "Trees for Troops," an effort to collect and donate Christmas trees for free distribution to U.S. military bases for the holidays. "Our military and their families have been providing a real service to our country," said Wayne Thomas, president of the National Christmas Tree Association and a tree farmer in Westminster. "As tree farmers, we want military families to be able to experience a traditional Christmas with a real tree." Various tree farms in Garrett County donated to this effort. Mtn. Top Tree Farm sponsored the western Maryland collection of trees in conjunction with the Maryland and National Christmas Tree associations. Pictured above, front row from left, are Robert Paugh, Kodi Dawson, Jeff Bowman, John Forman, Aleta Glotfelty, owner of Mtn. Top Tree Farm, and Randy Sisler, manager. Carl Robison, in the truck on the right, stands with one of the donated trees and the FedEx driver, who was unidentified. The NCTA, through its Christmas SPIRIT Foundation, collaborated with FedEx, which donated its services for the project.

NeXT GEN Team Will Attend FLL U.S. Open Champ.

The NeXT GEN Southern Middle School FLL (FIRST LEGO League) team recently earned top honors at the Pittsburgh, Pa., FLL Championship event, which will allow the team to attend the FIRST LEGO League United States Open Championships at Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, in May.

The Pittsburgh competition was held at the national Robotics Engineering Center, where NeXT GEN received first place with the robot missions on the table with a score of 340 out of 400. The team won first place in research, second place in mechanical design, and third place in teamwork, as well as placing in the top 10 for programming. The team received a callback in each category, earning members the first place "Champion's Award" out of 70 team competing.

"They have worked hard since September and have truly earned the honor of attending the FLL U.S. Open Championships," stated coach Arlene Lantz.

At the U.S. Open Championships, the students will meet and work with teams from all over the country. One team from every championship tournament in the United States will be invited to the tournament. About 60 teams are expected to attend.

NeXT GEN extends thanks to several individuals and agencies who helped and contributed to the team's winning research project: the Garrett County Board of Education; Jim Hart, Garrett County Planetarium; Bruce Taliaferro, hickory Environmental Center; Harry Schwartz and Ken and Harold Harris, Harris Pools; Willie Lantz and Sherry Frick, Extension Office; and Phil Malone, Web Energy Logger. A special thanks goes to Mark Craig, Craig & Associates, for continued support. He also provided lunch for the team at the Pittsburgh Championships. The team was also provided shirts by Keith Handyside, Black Bear Enterprises.

Any individual or business interested in supporting the team's trip to the FLL U.S. Open Championships, may send tax deductible donations to GEARS, P.O. Box 277, McHenry, MD 21541. The team's number #745 should be noted on the memo line.

NeXT GEN EARNS CHANCE TO ATTEND FLL U.S. OPEN CHAMPIONSHIPS – NeXT GEN, Southern Middle School's FLL (FIRST LEGO League) team recently won top honors at a FLL championship event in Pittsburgh, earning them the opportunity to be one of 70 teams nationwide to attend the FLL United States Open Championships. The team won first place in research, second place in mechanical design, and third place in teamwork. The team was also one of the top 10 teams in programming. Above are students and coaches showing off their awards. In the front row, from left, are Daniel Adams, Andrew Hauser, Rachael Huxford, and Devon Jobe. Second row: Levi Lantz, Rebecca Lee, Zachary Frick, and Colin Lynch. Back Row: student mentor Aaron Lantz and coaches Willie and Arlene Lantz, Phil Malone, and Jason Jobe. Not pictured: coach Roni DiGioia. Below is team member Levi Lantz testing his programming changes on a practice field in between robot rounds. Minor changes had to be made because of a difference in the competition field set-up. The team has designed, built, and tested its robot each week since September. See story for details on the upcoming competition.

Medical Coding Classes Offered By Garrett Coll.

Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center will host eight sequential courses in the field of medical coding beginning Jan. 26.

"The series will prepare participants for the medical coding national certification exam and an entry-level position as a medical coding specialist," said a college spokesperson.

People who are new to the field or are re-entering it should first take "Medical Terminology" The class will be held Jan. 26 to Mar. 2, Mondays, Wednesdays, and one Saturday, from 6 to 9:15 p.m., except on Feb. 7. On that day the class will be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The course includes an analysis of medical terminology designed to give a clear understanding of medical terms on the basis of roots, prefixes, suffixes, and derivatives.

The next course in the series is "Introduction to Anatomy and Physiology," scheduled from March 9 to April 8, Mondays and Wednesdays, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

The class is an overview of human anatomy and physiology, including an introduction to structure and function of the human body by systems and on the cellular level.

The third course is "Medical Coding Specialist I," to be held April 11 to May 16, on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This course provides a basic introduction to ICD (international classification of diseases) and CPT-4 coding. Topics include current procedural terminology (CPT) overview, review of conventions used in ICD, and fundamental coding guidelines.

The fourth course, "Medical Coding Specialist II," addresses additional diagnostic and procedural coding and is designed to broaden coding knowledge and enhance coding skills by covering a variety of medical specialties and coding issues encountered in the health care office. This class will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays, May 19 to July 9, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

"After completion of these four courses, the student may want to broaden his/her knowledge and expertise by taking the subsequent final four courses – "Medical Coding Advanced," "Medical Insurance Billing," "Introduction to Pharmacology," and "Study of Disease Process-Pathophysiology" – the next semester," said the spokesperson.

Dates and times to these courses will be released in the near future.

For additional information about these courses, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center director, at 301-895-4700 or terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu. To register for these courses, one may call 301-387-3069.

Christmas Program Slated At Lakeside

The young people of Lakeside Assembly of God Church will present their "Christmas Extravaganza" this Sunday, Dec. 14, at 10:30 a.m.

The black-light performance will include puppets and a candlelight carol singalong.

The church is located along Rt. 219 near the Sand Flat Road intersection.

CDL Training To Be Offered In Grantsville

Garrett College is accepting applications for its next series of courses geared toward training individuals to obtain a Class A commercial driver's license (CDL). Weekend classes will start Jan. 17, with weekday classes set to begin Jan. 26. Training will be held at Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute, Grantsville.

The course is all inclusive, offering classroom, yard skills, and over-the-road training. The program consists of 320 hours of training over a 15-week period for weekday students and a 20-week time frame for those choosing the weekend option.

"This training will qualify students for entry level positions as a driver in over-the-road or local driving vehicles," said a college spokesperson. "Financial assistance may be available to qualifying individuals."

For more information or to register for this course, persons may contact Terry Beachy, institute director, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Northern GOP Women Hold Party, Auction

The Northern Garrett Republican Women recently met for their annual Christmas dinner party at Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville. The event was combined with the annual auction that was postponed in October.

President Lois Rowe welcomed the members and their spouses. Following dinner, a name was drawn, Carolyn Ganoe, for the gift basket, which had been donated by Mildred Husselbaugh, Beverly Wiland, and Carol Frazee.

Ganoe served as auctioneer for the auction. The event raised $150 for the group's Christmas Community Project. This year's recipient is Hospice of Garrett County.

Some announcements were made about upcoming Northern Garrett Republican Women events, and dues were collected for 2009

WOMEN'S DINNER

The date for the Otterbein United Methodist Church Women's dinner at Carol Sweitzer's house has been changed to December 17 at 6 p.m. Members are asked to bring a covered dish and a gift valued at no more than $10. All women are invited.

PUPPET PROGRAM

The Kids for Christ puppet team will present a Christmas program at Swanton Otterbein U.M. Church on Saturday, Dec. 20, at 6 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

BIRTHDAYS

Among Swanton area residents celebrating birthdays this week are Charles McClosky, Luke Riley, Becky Riley, Grace Lee, and Debbie Sweitzer.

Home & Garden Party Recognizes Local Resident

Michelle Michaels, an Oakland resident and designer with Home & Garden Party, has been recognized among the company's top 25 achievers for sales. She was recognized for "phenomenal achievements" in sales for the month of October.

"It's amazing what hard work and determination will do," Michaels said. "I am so appreciative to the Home & Garden Party team for choosing me as a top seller this month. I'm glad to know that my achievements are being recognized."

The business specializes in wall décor, home accents, dining and entertainment pieces, and gourmet food.

"I am thankful that with Home & Garden Party I am able to make my own time and my own money," Michaels added. "It is a great feeling to have the lifestyle of success – running my own business, while still having time to spend with my family"

Revoked License Charge Leads To Two Month Jail Term For Grantsville Man

In recent Garrett County District Court rulings, Ralph Thomas Lloyd, 30, Grantsville, was found guilty for his charge of driving a motor vehicle on a revoked license on public use property. Judge Edward Malloy sentenced him to two months in jail and 18 months of unsupervised probation.

Lloyd was also placed on stet for a charge of theft less than $100, with no conditions given, and all fines were waived.

He was arrested in March by Maryland State Police after officers stopped him for speeding on Rt. 495. Confirmation of his license being suspended and revoked was made by MSP through the Motor Vehicle Administration.

Officers also confirmed through the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) that Lloyd's registration plate was stolen. The defendant had no proof of insurance, registration card, or driver's license.

Lloyd was arrested and taken to the McHenry Barrack. He was not prosecuted on charges of driving at a speed exceeding the limit; driving on a suspended license and privilege; failure to display registration card on demand; operating an unregistered motor vehicle; driving an uninsured vehicle; and failure to display license on demand.

In an unrelated case, Michael Emerson Resh, 19, Grantsville, received a guilty verdict for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of marijuana charge and was sentenced to 10 days with all being suspended, unsupervised probation for one year, and fines of $100 from Judge Malloy.

MSP responded to an assault report in the Grantsville area. The victim of assault said that Resh was acting belligerent and disorderly inside the house and had an altercation with a minor.

MSP found the defendant in the front seat of a vehicle in the driveway of the victim's residence. Multiple bags of marijuana and drug scales were found in the vehicle.

Resh was placed under arrest and transported to MSP barracks for processing. He was not prosecuted on a charge of assault in the second degree.

In another district court hearing, Jaclyn Suzanne Baker, 22, Hamlin, W.Va., was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) from Malloy on a CDS possession of marijuana charge, receiving one day of unsupervised probation and fines of $200.

Baker was arrested in April after MSP initiated a traffic stop. She was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of paraphernalia.

Cody Lee Vanslyke, 25, Friendsville, was placed on stet for a charge of second degree assault, with no conditions given and $40 restitution costs to the victim of assault.

Vanslyke was arrested by MSP in June for a domestic assault and altercation with another adult victim in the Friendsville area.

Eric Carlton Sines, 37, Oakland, was not prosecuted by Judge Malloy on charges of assault in the second degree and malicious destruction of property at $500-plus value.

Sines was charged and arrested by Garrett County sheriff's officers in October for an altercation with two other adult victims.

DUI/DWI CASES

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings:

Deven Richard Brown; 25, Md., was found guilty for his DUI per se charge from April, with a sentence of six months with five months, 28 days being suspended; 18 months of supervised probation; and $250 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Benjamin Eric Santmyer, 25, Md., was handed a guilty verdict for his DWI charge from December 2007. He was sentenced to one year with all being suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $300 in fines. His charges of DUI and DUI per se were not prosecuted.

Brenda Jo Taylor, 52, Md., was found guilty for a DUI per se charge from July. She was sentenced to 30 days, with 30 days suspended, one year of supervised probation, and $250 in fines. Taylor was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Gary Edward Mumford, 50, Md., was given a PBJ for his April charge of DWI, and was given 18 months of supervised probation and $300 in fines. He was not prosecuted on DUI and DUI per se charges.

Donald Jay Livengood, 51, Pa., was handed a PBJ for his DWI charge in March. He was given one year of unsupervised probation and $200 in fines. He was not prosecuted on other charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Warren Brian Weimer, 42, Md., was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

RAM Notes

WIN A FREE TRIP TO DISNEY

Every senior who has met his/her senior obligation by Tuesday, Feb. 13, has a chance to win a free trip to Disney World. One boy's name and one girl's name will be drawn. Students must have obligations cleared as well as have no unexcused absences or tardies from Dec. 15 through the drawing date of Feb. 13. Food and spending money is not included in the trip package. Those with questions should see Ms. Smith or Ms. Sanders.

HUGH O'BRIAN AMBASSADOR CHOSEN

Congratulations go to Paige Fitzwater, who was selected to be Southern's 2008-09 Hugh O'Brian Youth ambassador. Fitzwater will attend a three-day leadership seminar in the spring with tenth grade students throughout the state of Maryland. Samantha Thayer was chosen as the school's alternate HOBY ambassador. Both girls were nominated for their leadership potential and concern for others.

FINANCIAL AID WORKSHOP

A financial aid workshop will be offered on Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 7 p.m. in the media center of Southern High School for seniors and their parents. Angie Hovatter, director of financial aid at Frostburg State University, will explain item by item how to complete the Free Application for Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form as well as answer questions about the financial aid process. "This workshop is specifically aimed toward high school seniors and their parents," stated Beverly Sincell, SGHS guidance counselor, who will also be at the workshop to discuss information on scholarships and how the guidance office can assist families through the process of applying for college, financial aid, and scholarships. Students planning to attend a technical or business school, a community college, or a four-year college are encouraged to attend. Persons may call Sincell with any questions at 301-334-1660.

NEW MERCHANDISE AT SCHOOL STORE

The school store is offering new merchandise, including 6th Man T-shirts for the 2008-09 season, which will be available for sale in the school store for $5. Southern sweatpants will also be in stock before the Christmas holiday. Both open leg and elastic leg styles will be available. Colors available will be navy, grey, or black with red and white "Rams" printed on left leg. These are priced at $20. Long sleeve T-shirts are on sale now that have the contemporary Southern logo, which are priced at $20. Students are encouraged to stop by the school store to see all of the inventory.

YEARBOOK STAFF REQUESTING SEASONAL PICTURES

The yearbook staff is asking for students and parents to submit pictures for the "Outdoors" page. Any photographs of Southern students skiing, snowboarding, tubing, sled riding, wakeboarding, swimming, boating, etc., will be accepted. Students/parents may send pictures to Maria Zumpano at mzumpano@sh.ga.k12.md.us or drop them off at the school to Room 1250. Printed pictures will be returned.

2009 YEARBOOKS ON SALE NOW

The 2009 yearbook, titled Inspired, is now on sale. Invoices from Josten's will be mailed to homes within the next couple of weeks. Once invoices are received, orders may be changed or cancelled. Students and/or parents can pay Josten's directly or Maria Zumpano at the school. There is a link to Josten's web site on Southern's homepage for those who want to pay online. All yearbook payments must be made by Friday, May 1.

INCREASINGLY POPULAR COCHLEAR IMPLANTS

About one million people in this country suffer from profound hearing loss that can be helped by cochlear implants, which artificially stimulate the cochlea, the tiny shell shaped organ in the inner ear that allows hearing. The device has two components: an external system that collects and transmits sounds and an internal system that translates the sounds into electrical impulses that stimulate the auditory nerve and travel directly to the brain (where they are perceived as hearing). Unlike traditional hearing instruments that amplify sound, cochlear implants help users distinguish sounds, particularly those in the higher frequencies, which are essential to understanding speech. While the fastest growth in these devices is among children under age five, seniors are increasingly becoming interested.

There are many options available today to help hearing impaired individuals of all ages live happier, more fulfilled lives. If you'd like to find out more about cochlear implants, contact us at AUDIBEL. If you have a hearing instrument you are not happy with, bring it to us and we'll be happy to check it out and discuss other hearing aid options with you.

P.S. Cochleor implants have been approved by the FDA since 1985 for adults and since 1990 for children.

Some Assembly Required

Those words on the box can bring chills to the spine! Some assembly required. It brings back memories of bicycles and dollhouses, toys to be "assembled" before they can join the gifts under the Christmas tree. Usually rushed, we often dislike following the directions. The result is disaster!

The fact is, you can't get around it. You have to read the instructions, interpret them, and assemble the object at hand one piece at a time. Steadily, patiently, the job gets done well.

God has given us instructions...very clear instructions for a beautifully designed life. They are found in the Bible...and abundant interpretation is available. Yet some assembly is required...at your house of worship each week. Don't wait till the last minute!

Deliberate Thinking

The quality of our lives is directly influenced by the quality of our thinking. If we spend most of our time fretting about the future or regretting the past, it will be nearly impossible to enjoy the present. On the other hand, if we fill our minds with positive thoughts and really work at savoring life as it unfolds, we will undoubtedly have a much happier and satisfying life. And, because our mind is truly where we live, it is important to be deliberate about how and what we think. Just as we try to fill our homes with good and pleasant things (and periodically take out the trash), so too should we fill our minds with good and pleasant things, and discard the garbage of our minds as soon as it comes in; or even better yet, not let the "rubbish" into our minds in the first place. It is all too easy to be a victim of random negative thoughts, whether these are uncharitable thoughts about our neighbors or self-defeating thoughts about ourselves. Sometimes we have to tune out negative thoughts as well as negative people in order to take control of our thoughts and emotions. The mind is the ultimate locus of our free will. And although we can't always control our bodies the way we would like, we should have control over our minds, even in the worst of circumstances. So, we should be deliberate in our thinking and work at keeping things positive, banishing sin and evil from our mind and our life and refuse to let our mind be a home to negativity.

Finally, brethren, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lonely, whatever is gracious, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.

Vitamin Tested For Alzheimer's Disease

Nicotinamide (also called niacinamide) is one of the B vitamins. Unlike another B vitamin, niacin, nicotinamide does not cause flushing when taken orally. It has anti-inflammatory activity and has been shown to protect nerve cells from damage in test animals with Parkinson's disease.

One recent study evaluated the effect of this vitamin on memory and brain function in test animals with Alzheimer's disease. Alzheimer's disease is associated with confusion, memory loss, and dementia. Currently, there is no treatment to reverse the process of Alzheimer's disease. Laboratory test animals with and without Alzheimer's disease were given water containing nicotinamide or plain water. The animals that drank the water containing nicotinamide performed as well as animals without Alzheimer's disease on memory function test. Even the animals without Alzheimer's disease who drank water and nicotinamide showed slightly Improved memory function. Scientists are now testing the effects of nicotinamide on memory function in humans. This vitamin is generally considered safe at normal doses.

Don't be in a funk about 'Monk' - not yet

By Jay Bobbin

Tony Shalhoub

Q: What happened to the USA Network show "Monk"? Will there be more of its new season? –Stacy Harris, Seattle

A: New episodes are slated to resume in January, and you should catch them while you can. After the current seventh season concludes, there will be a final run of 16 new episodes scheduled to begin in the summer, and that will be all there is for the show that has earned title star Tony Shalhoub many awards as the obsessive-compulsive sleuth.

Q: Where is "Mad Men"? It hasn't been on for several weeks. –Jean Scudero, Port St. Lucie, Fla.

A: The Emmy-winning AMC show's second season ended, but it will be back with a third round of episodes in 2009. At this writing, it remained to be seen who would steer those stories; the advertising-world drama's creator and executive producer, "Sopranos" alumnus Matthew Weiner, and production company Lionsgate were trying to reach agreement on a new contract for Weiner. The company maintains that with or without him, the show will go on.

Q: A movie about money starred Jane Fonda, Kris Kristofferson and James Mason. What was its title? –Welter Roloff, Toledo, Ohio

A: "Rollover," but Mason wasn't in it. Hume Cronyn was the senior member of the cast in director Alan J. Pakula's 1981 drama about a threat to the international economy.

Q: On "Scrubs," how were the plotlines resolved before its cancellation? -Nicole Alt, Long Branch, N.J.

A: Actually, there's been no such resolution yet, since the medical comedy hasn't been canceled. While its run on NBC has concluded, it was picked up by ABC, which has announced that it will add the show to its schedule beginning Jan. 6 (with Courteney Cox as a guest star in the first new episodes). One character whose story should be resolved soon is J.D., since actor Zach Braff has said he won't be continuing with the series beyond the upcoming round of episodes, if indeed the show itself continues beyond those stories.

Q: Can you tell me the name of the movie in which Abbott and Costello discuss "Who's on First"? –Julie Rodriguez, Oregon, Ohio

A: The baseball-parodying routine first was featured on-screen in the first film the classic comedy duo made, "One Night in the Tropics" (1940), then in "The Naughty Nineties" (1945) – both included in the complete collection of their movies recently released on DVD. Previously, the comic actors had done the piece when they were a burlesque act, and also on Kate Smith's radio program in 1938.

Paw's corner

by Sam Mazzotta

Was Mom Guilty of Cruelty?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I need to comment on a letter by a mom who let her children be responsible for two Betta fish that they let die. Children should never be responsible for any animal! It's the parents' responsibility to care for them. Why should the animal suffer? It's fine to learn by example, but the parent is the one who should care for the animal. This woman is guilty of animal cruelty in letting these fish suffer and die. An animal is not a toy. People like this woman don't deserve the companionship of any animal! —Tina V., PETA member

DEAR TINA: I can appreciate your point of view, and I'm sure that none of my readers condone the suffering of any pet. I think that you missed the point of that letter: the mother refusing to let the kids have another pet after they let their Betta fish die due to neglect.

Part of growing up is learning responsibility, and learning the consequences of failing to take responsibility. The consequences of failing to take care of their Betta fish was that they could not have another pet.

Could the mother have stepped in and taken care of the fish? Possibly. I don't know all the circumstances, and the sad fact is that small fish can go downhill very fast when signs of distress are missed. But she gave those kids responsibility and gave them her trust to care for those fish. This is a very important part of child-rearing. You cannot wrap your kids in cotton until they're 18; they need to learn certain things if they're to be at all useful.

Learning to care for another living creature is one of the most important lessons in a child's life, and I'm not going to stand in judgment of a mother trying to teach that lesson.

HIDING IN PLAIN SIGHT – Pictured above are participants in the "mock teen bedroom" training held recently at the Garrett County Health Department. Participants had three minutes to search through the bedroom and find items that might suggest drug or alcohol use. Sgt. Rob Corley, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, said there were about 55 indicators of drug and alcohol use in the bedroom. See story.

"Mock Teen Bedroom" Provides Insights Into Possible Drug Use

by Diane Lee, public information officer, GC Health Department

A "mock teen bedroom" was on display at the Garrett County Health Department last Tuesday, with 56 members of local community planning groups attending the drug/alcohol awareness training event.

The display illustrated how teens might use everyday items in their bedroom to conceal their drug use, often in plain sight. Grand Central Station donated the use of the furniture for the bedroom.

As the audience members entered the bedroom, they had three minutes to get an "up close and personal look." Some items in the room clearly indicated potential signs of drug use, but others were so common they were hard to pick out. Even an empty water bottle or soda can may be used to store or smoke drugs.

"The training was a real eye opener, with the up to date information about underage drinking and drug use," said Lisa Arnold, planning group member.

"How many items do you think are indicators of drug use in the mock bedroom?" asked Sgt. Rob Corley, Garrett County Sheriff's Office. "There are about 55 indicators of drug and alcohol use in the bedroom."

Corley gave an informative presentation about the signs, symptoms, and current trends associated with drug and alcohol abuse among teenagers. He emphasized that you should not overlook the obvious.

"If your teen's room is filled with alcohol and/or marijuana posters, it doesn't automatically mean they're using, but it means they've got some level of interest," Corley said. "If you think something's up, address it directly and quickly."

A panel was also available during the presentation to answer questions about legal consequences and where to get help. The panel included State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch; Penny Proudfoot, Southern High School counselor; and Renee Page, Juvenile Services.

"Our goal is a parent or guardian will see something during these events and a voice inside their head will be screaming to them that something is not right with their child," said Brenda Sisler, event coordinator. "Even if we reach one parent, that could be one teen we save."

Community planning groups were invited to schedule this training in the spring. The training is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department through a Drug Free Communities Grant, with help from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Additional information about the places and times of future trainings will be available at garetthealth.org or by calling 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Governor Notes Availability Of Energy Assistance

Governor Martin O'Malley, joined by Senators Barbara Mikulski and Benjamin Cardin, announced this week that Maryland's energy assistance program is expected to provide help to approximately 102,400 households this year, thanks to a large boost in federal funding. The governor encourages low-income families to apply early for the available assistance.

The state has received $110 million of federal funding for the Maryland Energy Assistance Program, a significant increase from the $35 million in federal funding for the last fiscal year.

"These are historically difficult times, and Maryland is not immune from the national economic downturn," said Governor O'Malley. "Maryland's working families are the cornerstone of our economy, but are also the most significantly impacted during an economic downturn. Maryland's energy assistance programs are designed to ensure that eligible families are not left in the cold simply because of an inability to afford their energy bills."

The Maryland Department of Human Resources administers the state energy assistance programs to help low-income Maryland citizens pay their heating bills, minimize heating crises and make energy costs more affordable. The governor urges these historically underserved populations to apply for these funds, including Maryland's senior citizens.

"Families in Maryland and across the country need our help. They are feeling stretched and strained by high energy costs and a sluggish economy, and they need a government that is on their side," said Senator Mikulski. "I am proud to have fought to make funding for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) a priority in the federal checkbook. I know how important these funds are – and I know that no family should have to choose between heating their home and feeding their family this winter. Now, because of these funds, more than 100,000 Maryland households will be eligible to receive help for their home energy costs."

"Many Maryland families will need help this winter to pay their energy bills, and the federal government is providing Maryland with $110 million in energy assistance funding," sdded Senator Cardin. "Approximately 100,000 Maryland families qualify for this assistance, and it's important that they understand that this money is there to help them through the cold winter months."

The state's energy assistance program has increasingly served more households in Maryland. A total of 89,108 households received assistance during fiscal year 2006, while 93,175 households were served in fiscal year 2008. The department will serve a projected 102,472 households during this fiscal year.

A Maryland household of four earning up to $37,100, or a single person earning up to $18,200, is eligible to apply for the program. Households currently with energy service and those without service are each eligible to apply for the program.

Applications are accepted from July through May. A turn-off notice is not necessary in order to apply for assistance.

Applications for energy assistance are available by visiting http://www.dhr.state.md.us/meap. Completed applications must be returned in person or by mail to the local county offices listed at http://www.dhr.state.md.us/meap/local.htm.

For an application to be complete, applicants must provide a photo identification, proof of residence, copies of Social Security cards for each member in the household, proof of total gross income for the last 30 days, the name of the home energy supplier and the account number, a copy of a utility bill, and a copy of a rental lease if the property is rental.

For information on the Local Home Energy Programs office, persons may telephone 1-800-352-1446.

VFW Announces Results Of Youth Essay Contest

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10077 in Deer Park has announced the results of the 2008 Voice of Democracy and Patriot's Pen contests in Garrett County. The VFW conducts the essay contests annually for high school and middle school students. The events are sponsored by the VFW with the purpose of promoting civic and patriotic themes, a spokesperson said.

Winners receive cash prizes, and their essays are advanced to higher level competition in the VFW. There were 163 entries from Northern and Southern middle schools for the Patriot's Pen contest, and three for the Voice of Democracy contest from Northern and Southern high schools.

The winners of the Voice of Democracy contest were Ashleigh Friend, Shayna Sweitzer, and Rachel Margroff, who received cash prizes of $300, $200, and $100, respectively. Friend's entry was advanced to the district level competition this month.

STUDENTS AWARDED FOR VFW ESSAY CONTEST EFFORT – Several area students took part in this year's VFW Voice of Democracy (high school) and Patriot's Pen (middle school) contests. The students were presented with cash awards and other gifts early this month. Northern High School winners are pictured above. In the first row, from left, are Ashleigh Friend and Rachel Margroff. VFW Quartermaster Randall Kahl is also in the front row. In the second row from the left are Post Senior Vice Commander Ron Umbel, Vice Principal Paul Edwards, and contest chairman and Post Adjutant Wayne McCaughey. McCaughey is shown below as he presents a check to Shayna Sweitzer of Southern High School for her second place finish in the contest. See story.

The top three in order of finish for the Patriot's Pen contest were Kayla McKenzie, Jordyn Folk, and Chris McCann. They received the same cash awards as the Voice of Democracy winners. In addition, runner-up prizes of $25 went to Rebecca Flinn, Amanda Paape, Dallas Hetrick, Amanda Sweitzer, Justin Derato, Trenton Friend, and Ryan Wilburn. All 10 entries were advanced to the district level competition this month, at which each essay will be judged independently from its placement at the local level.

Ceremonies were held at the students' schools on Dec. 2, during which the students received their awards from Post 10077.

Judges for the contest were Peggy and Jerry Campane, Judy and Andy Niedenthal, and Judy and Wayne McCaughey. The VFW Post 10077, under the leadership of Commander Paul Everly, noted its appreciation to all the participants and judges for their contributions.

Single-Vehicle Accident Sends Two To GCMH

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a motor vehicle accident on Hutton Road near Dilly Road that ended with the transport of a driver and passenger to Garrett County Memorial Hospital last Saturday.

Kathryn Beckman, Oakland, had been traveling west on Hutton Road in her 1995 Chevy Tracker, when she lost control on the icy road. The vehicle crossed over the eastbound lane and struck a tree before rolling onto its top.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene. Beckman and her passenger were taken to Garrett Memorial. No citations were issued.

Garrett College Assisting With Toys/Happiness

Garrett College will once again be assisting the Toys for Happiness program in collecting and distributing toys to Garrett County families within the Mc-Henry and Accident areas. Ann Wellham, GC athletic director, announced that the college will be collecting new toys and gifts for children ages infant through 16 through next Tuesday, Dec. 16.

Distribution of all collected toys will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 17, weather permitting, to families in the McHenry and Accident areas. Families receiving assistance are asked to come to the Garrett College Continuing Education office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Dec. 17 for toy pick-up. Questions regarding toy pick-up may be addressed to Wellham by calling 301-387-3052.

According to Wellham, Toys for Happiness has provided toys to families in need for 27 years. Each year an average of 2,000 children receive toys, hats, and gloves from Toys for Happiness.

"This year the need appears to be greater than in recent years in the past," said Wellham. The program could not have remained in existence if it weren't for the support of volunteers and businesses throughout the tri-state area."

Local business owners interested in making their location a collection point for Toys for Happiness, and/or to receive recognition for their donations, are invited to telephone 301-724-8676 for more information.

Discovery Center To Host Holiday Open House

The Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center will hold a holiday open house on Saturday, Dec. 13, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Santa Claus will be on hand for photo opportunities, and guests may then make their own frames for the pictures.

Hot chocolate, coffee, and home-baked cookies will be available, offered by the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers Inc.

For more information about the open house and other programs held at the Discovery Center, persons may call 301-387-7067 Friday through Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Although we have gotten heavy snowfall on several days since November, I believe this past Sunday was the most winter-like day so far. The new factor is the terrible winds, which bring with them the deeper windchill cold. Luckily, the next day was much better; still pretty cold, but with much calmer winds.

A common thing in the Bittinger area during the winter is that someone will lose electrical power sometime. I don't know how the power outage affected Cherry Glade Mennonite Church between 9 to 10 a.m. (I hear they had a short service during the Sunday school hour instead of Sunday school, and without lights and sound.)

I was a bit surprised that I didn't lose power because several Allegheny Power trucks drove in my lane to go back to the shop. It is not quite so bad when the power is off during the daytime. At least you can see to get around. But on the other hand, the furnace and other utilities will not work.

Cindy Richardson, wife of Pastor Randy, rushed the holiday preparations for their open house last Sunday afternoon. One dish that was a hit, especially to Bill, was the venison sticks from a deer Randy got pre-Thanksgiving at his family farm in the Wheeling, W.Va., area. About 20 were in attendance, in spite of the bad weather.

My mother, Ruth DiPaolo, enjoyed many visitors over last weekend, including her friend Betty of Winchester, Va., her son Barry Glotfelty of Thurmont, and Pastor Randy and his wife Cindy.

My youngest daughter Meredith is getting her first taste of a major event in every college student's life – final exams. Her first final was in my former class, English 101 (freshman comp).

While Meredith is busy at Garrett College, her sisters are doing the same thing at West Virginia University. This is Claire's last round of finals, since she is due to graduate this month.

Things are changing too fast in America's culture. Our domestic automobile industry, including the Ford's first mass-produced automobiles and some of our finest national newspapers, the Baltimore Sun, Chicago Tribune, LA Times, and even the New York Times, are on the verge of bankruptcy.

I can't imagine America without them. Newspapers are the best source for international and national news, and investigative reporting. No one is unaware of the role the Washington Post had in the reporting of the Watergate scandal.

They say that people now get their news from the Internet. To me that doesn't seem the same as the morning ritual of reading the Sunday paper.

My Buckle grandparents had many big scrapbooks full of landmark clippings. Many Americans bought and saved historical editions of our most important newspapers. There was a huge demand for the most recent editions that proclaimed Obama the winner of the 2008 presidential election.

Our newspaper morgues are also a fertile source for historical research. I can well understand how my grandparents were dismayed at the passing of the horse and buggy.

Certainly the major national newspapers perform an important function, but equally important is the role of the smaller, local newspapers like The Republican. They are the life blood of our communities. The small-town newspaper spreads the news of very important local events. They give a picture of life in their areas.

I often hear from many former Garrett County residents that The Republican gives them "a taste of home." I hope that the days of paper newspapers are not going to be over.

4-H NEWS
Snowy Creek Club
by Derrica Friend

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club met November 19 at Friendsville Elementary School. All members and family enjoy a pizza and wing night.

The following 2009 officers were elected: president, Colton Grove; vice president, Derrica Friend; secretary, Madi Gallagher; treasurer, Carley Sisler; and reporter, D.J. Fisher.

Carley Sisler and Madi Gallagher gave demonstrations. Members made decorated Christmas ornaments and planned to meet on November 22 at Goodwill Nursing Home to decorate trees for the patients.

The next club meeting will be held this Sunday, Dec. 14, at 4 p.m. at Friendsville Elementary for the club's annual Christmas dinner and officer installation.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Warm Winter Clothing for Needy Children

The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are finishing up the 11th year of Warm the Children. The program provides new winter clothing and footwear for Garrett County children in need. Because the program is a function of the newspaper and of volunteers, every penny donated goes toward the purchase of these items. The following individuals and/or organizations donated to the fund this week. The donation period for 2008 has now ended. Contributions made now will be put in savings for next fall.

PRESTON CO. CHORUS PROGRAM

The Preston County Chorus Christmas program will be given on Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church. The program will include both sacred and secular Christmas music. The public is encouraged to attend.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

The Terra Alta First United Methodist Church will hold its Christmas Eve service beginning at 9 p.m. The service will include children's moments, Christmas carols, Holy Communion, and candlelight. Rev. Daniels invites all to attend.

Local Churches Reschedule Tree Trimming Prog.

Mt. Storm area churches have rescheduled their annual Trim-a-Tree program for this Saturday, Dec. 13, at 3 p.m. at the Mt. Storm United Methodist. The event had been slated for Nov. 30.

The program will feature special music and guest speakers, including Rev. Clifford Schell. Refreshments will be served after the program in the fellowship hall.

"Bows will adorn the pine tree in front of the church to remember, honor, encourage loved ones, and to remember our military, past and present," said a spokesperson. "If you have an address of a soldier overseas, please bring that with you to the program."

The public is also asked to bring a non-perishable food item to donate to the new food pantry. A dedication ceremony and open house for the pantry will be held the same evening as the Trim-a-Tree program.

MEN OF ACCORD TO PERFORM AT KINGWOOD ARTS EVENT – A special arts and music event will be held in Kingwood, W.Va., this weekend and will feature a performance by an area barbershop quartet, the Men of Accord, pictured. Also performing will be JoAnn Peterson. The event will take place on Saturday, Dec. 13, at the gallery shared by the Arts Council of Preston County and clay artist Gail Anderson at 137 S. Price Street in Kingwood. The singers will perform from 5 to 6:30 p.m., prior to the Laurel Mountain Coffeehouse, to begin at 8 at Monroe's Restaurant, Main Street. Local artists and artisans will have displays of handmade jewelry and pottery, baskets, wooden spoons and bowls, porcelain pottery, handcrafted body care products, paintings, and CDs. The items will be for sale, and refreshments will be available. The Men of Accord are well-known throughout the area and performed at Red Skelton's 82nd birthday party. Peterson, vocalist, performs songs from the 1940s and '50s, Broadway, patriotic, Christmas, and Christian music. Raffle tickets are on sale for an artificial Christmas tree decorated with ornaments crafted by arts council artists. Some ornaments contain gift certificates redeemable at area businesses. Tickets are $3 each or two for $5. Proceeds from the ticket sales benefit the arts council. The drawing will be take place on Friday, Dec. 19, at 5 p.m. during an open house at the gallery that day, slated for 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. For more information, persons may call the gallery at 304-329-0017, or visit the art council's web site at www.prestonartscouncil.org.

AURORA/EGLON

MAPLE GROVE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Maple Grove Assembly of God, Accident, will present special numbers by the children's hand bell choir and the Christmas musical, titled Joy to the World. One presentation will be at 10:30 a.m., and one will be at 6:30 p.m. this Sunday, Dec. 14. Everyone is welcome at either or both services.

SANTA IN AURORA

Santa Claus will be visiting Aurora School on Friday, Dec. 19, from 4:45 to 7 p.m., at which time Aurora Elementary will present its Christmas program. The Mountain Lions Club is sponsoring Santa's visit, and the Aurora Historical Society will provide refreshments during the program. The public is invited for both events.

"NO ROOM"

The annual Christmas presentation by the children and choir at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will be held this Sunday, Dec. 14, at 7 p.m. at the church, located on Rt. 24, south of Eglon. The public is invited to see this drama interspersed with carols. The evening will conclude with Christmas goodies.

RECYCLING DAY

Time to bring in paper, plastic, cardboard and metal, and steel and aluminum cans for Recycling Day on Dec. 13. Items should be brought to the Aurora School parking lot between 9 and 11 a.m. for pick-up. This service is sponsored by Mtn. Lions, and everyone is encouraged to participate.

SEND A SOLDIER A CARD

This year, while addressing Christmas cards, the public is encouraged to take the time to send one to: A Recovering American Soldier, c/o Walter Reed Army Medical Center, 6900 Georgia Avenue, N.W., Washington DC, 20307-5001. Those sending cards are asked to sign their names and send nice messages.

DEATH

Eileen Forman Slaubaugh, 89, Oakland, Md., died Thursday, Dec. 4, 2008, at her home.

She was a daughter of the late Hugh and Pearl (Wotring) Forman, formerly of Aurora.

She is survived by her husband, Quinter Slaubaugh; one son, Eugene, Adelphi, Md.; two grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and one sister, Dove Stemple, Aurora. Other relatives in town for the viewing and service were Quinter's sisters, Nellie Kaminski and husband Tony, Warren Mich., and Geraldine Armentrout and husband Devaux, Charleston, and other friends and family from a distance.

Interment took place at Eglon Cemetery on Monday, Dec. 8.

PERSONAL

Phra Paugh, Eglon, sustained a head injury after falling last Tuesday while at work. Following emergency room treatment at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, he was taken to a Morgantown facility, then returned home on Thursday, where he continues to recover.

Carolyn and Darrell Rhoades, Uniontown, Ohio, and Erma Heise, Arthurdale, spent nine days during the Thanksgiving holiday with their brother, Carl "Ed" Shaffer, in Grove City, Ohio. His male caretaker will be leaving, and will leave him dependent on help from a neighbor until further arrangements can be made.

Grace Knotts Winter has been receiving therapy at HealthSouth, Morgantown, and seems to be improving.

Ruth Maxey made an extended stay with her mother and brother, Audra and Curt Teets, Eglon, and returned to her home in Solomons, Md., on Monday.

Joe and Mary DeLauder and their children, Hunter and Abigail, Delmont, Pa., were weekend visitors in Terra Alta and Aurora with relatives, including Joey's grandmother, Dorotha Forman, Amboy.

Tom Lewis, Eglon, went to Parkersburg this weekend, where he attended a Christmas party for his WVANG Unit, from which he is now returned.

Church services were recalled throughout the area because of Sunday's blizzard, which did not deliver much snow fall, but high winds made visibility difficult, as well as caused drifting.

4-H Club News

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
by Chad Vandevender, reporter

The annual Achievement Program was on schedule for the evening when the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club met November 10 at the Eglon Community Building. Trevor Spaid and Jesse Schalker read the devotions.

Awards were given to members for their achievements throughout the 4-H year. Perfect attendance awards went to Danielle and Jonathan Blamble, and Trevor Spaid. Faithful attendance awards were given to Nathan Cussins, Jesse Schalker, Wesley Spaid, and Chad and Sydnee Vandevender.

Outstanding first-year member was Sydnee Vandevender, outstanding younger member was Danielle Blamble, and outstanding older member was Trevor Spaid.

Outstanding talk/demonstration for the year was given by Wesley Spaid, and the outstanding quiet member was Nathan Cussins.

The 4-H's went to Danielle Blamble for Head, Jesse Schalker for Heart, Jonathan Blamble for Hands, and Chad Vandevender for Health.

Linda reported on the club's achievements at the county achievement day. The club was awarded a gold ribbon by the county and had 100% project completion. Many members were recognized as blue-ribbon winners for the state poster contest and the state photo contest.

Linda reported that Sydnee Vandevender's "This Is 4-H" project exhibit was chosen to be on display in the Chamber of Commerce building in Kingwood for National 4-H Week.

The members presented their leaders with a plaque and flowers in appreciation of their years of service with 4-H: Linda Lewis serving 35 years and Elaine Roth serving 30 years.

A door prize drawing was led by Angie Spaid.

Members in attendance were Nathan Cussins, Jesse Schalker, Jonathon and Danielle Blamble, Wesley and Trevor Spaid, and Sydnee and Chad Vandevender. Also attending were Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth, club leaders, and Ron and Angie Spaid, Jackie Blamble, Brian and Teresa Vandevender, Don and Charlotte Cussins, and Marilyn Schalker.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

Miss Dixon Weds Mr. Reckner In Double-Ring Ceremony

Brenda Sue Dixon and Randall "Jake" Reckner were united in marriage on Aug. 8 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. C. Scott Robinson.

The bride is the daughter of Barbara Ann Luzier Shaffer, Oakland, and the late Benjamin F. Shaffer III. The groom is the son of Richard Reckner, Swanton, and the late Helen Rose Wright Reckner.

The bride was given in marriage and escorted down the aisle by her mother. Musical selections and a solo by George Scheffel Sr. were played before the ceremony. A solo by Chelsea Luzier was sung during the ceremony Serving as matron of honor was Elaine Geroski, friend of the bride. Niece of the groom Brittany Carr served as flower girl.

Serving as best man was Roger "J.R." Glotfelty Jr., friend of the groom. Cousin of the bride Ryon Luzier served as ring bearer.

Friends of the couple Brenda Steffan and Carole Walls attended the guest book and distributed programs and bubble containers.

Guests attended a reception at the Oakland Elks Lodge, where entertainment was provided by Charlie Kenny and Fire Creek. The three tier wedding cake was made by Lois Dolan, friend of the bride.

The couple and wedding party were taken from the church to the reception in a horse-drawn carriage.

Jake and Brenda extend thanks to their families and friends for sharing the day with them, as well as a special thanks to Elaine for hosting a bridal shower.

Miss Paugh Marries Mr. Lyons At Kitzmiller Assembly Of God

Kara Paugh and Michael Lyons were united in marriage on Jan. 5 at 5 p.m. at Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church. The bride's brother, Matthew Paugh, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Daniel and Diane Paugh of Kitzmiller. The groom is the son of Michael and Brenda Lyons of Elk Garden, W.Va.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore a beaded schiffli lace and satin princess-line gown with a cathedral train. She carried a bouquet of white stargazer lilies.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Pam Evans. The attendants wore black tea-length dresses and carried white hydrangea stems.

The best man was the groom's best friend, Michael Droppleman. The groomsmen wore black tuxedos with red vests and ties.

The groom's children were also in the wedding party.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at Kitzmiller Elementary School.

The couple spent a week in Myrtle Beach, S.C., for their honeymoon. They currently reside in Elk Garden.

Kara is a senior at Frostburg State University, and Michael is employed at NewPage Corporation.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Four couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buekel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court. One couple requested that their names not be published.

David Wayne Welch, 46, and Mary Frances Booker, 51, both of Accident.

Harry Earl Rohr III, 30, and Tabitha Jo Booher, 27, both of Reedsville, W.Va.

Charles Raymond Blessard, 62, and Nancy Yvonne Ramsey, 62, both of Fairmont, W.Va.

LL Church Of God To Present Angel Cantata

The Loch Lynn Church of God choir will present the cantata Hark! The Angels Sing on Friday, Dec. 19, at 7 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 21, at 6 p.m.

"The story of Jesus' birth is told through the eyes of angels, watching in anticipation, as the Son of God is sent to earth to become the savior for all humankind," a spokesperson said.

The church is located along Route 560 in Loch Lynn, next to the WKHJ radio station. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3221.

Ask Sheila
Decorating Dilemma?
Sheila offers helpful advice.

Dear Sheila:

It is my understanding that wallcoverings last longer than paint on a wall. I love the look and feel of wallcoverings, and I am seeing more and more in my magazines. Is this true? Will it become old after a while? What if I get tired of it?

Asking

Dear Asking;

Yes, generally wallcoverings last longer than a paint job. Yes, they are more durable. Yes, they definitely look and feel more luxurious. As to getting old and you getting tired of it, I don't feel that when you put something up that you truly like you will get tired of it. All our wallcoverings are 20% off every day and we truly have the most wonderful selection for you to chose from.

OAKLAND OAK LEAVES HELP DOVE CENTER – Members of the Oakland Oak Leaves 4-H Club recently decorated wreaths to be auctioned at the Festival of Trees to benefit the Dove Center. Pictured above, from left, are Mickayla Mellinger with her cats and dogs wreath, Catlin Carrico with her John Deere wreath, and Lexie Trickett with her gingerbread man wreath. Club members also held a quilt raffle to benefit the Dove Center's capital campaign. The quilt was hand-embroidered by Camille Carrico and hand-quilted by Arletta Bittinger. The winner was Linda R. Fike with ticket number 0239. Club members raised a total of $332 for the Dove Center. Catlin Carrico, club president, is pictured below with the quilt, holding the winning ticket.

OAKLAND OAK LEAVES
by Catlin Carrico, president

The regular monthly meeting of the Oakland Oak Leaves was held on Nov. 14 at the Garrett County Extension Office.

The meeting was called to order by Catlin Carrico, president. Pledges were led by Lexie Trickett and Mickayla Mellinger. Roll call was answered by naming a favorite Thanksgiving food.

During the October meeting, members had voted to have the club purchase wreaths and decorations to be donated to the 2008 Festival of Trees in Garrett County. The wreaths were auctioned on Nov. 28. The monies collected were to benefit the Dove Center's capital campaign. Catlin decorated a John Deere-themed wreath, Lexie decorated a gingerbread man wreath, and Mickayla made a dog-and-cat-themed wreath.

Members met on Dec. 6 to make cat quilts for Catlin's Diamond Clover project.

Members were reminded that the next meeting will be the Christmas part on Friday, Dec. 12.

This Syndrome May Require Several Drugs

Metabolic syndrome, a combination of conditions related to metabolism, can increase a person's risk for stroke, heart disease, and diabetes. Increased blood pressure, elevated insulin, excess abdominal fat, and abnormal cholesterol levels are usual components of the metabolic syndrome. All may be attributable to the body's resistance to insulin. Insulin resistance prevents glucose from entering cells as it normally would, leading to increased levels of insulin and glucose in the blood. increased blood levels of glucose may lead to diabetes. Increased insulin causes triglycerides to increase and blood pressure to increase.

When lifestyle changes such as a healthy diet and regular exercise do not work to bring blood pressure, cholesterol, and glucose levels back into the normal ranges, medications may be prescribed. There are a variety of medications available for the control of high blood pressure. For abnormal levels of cholesterol, statins, fibrates, and niacin may be prescribed. Metformin and sulfonylureas may be prescribed to treat diabetes. In addition, treatment with aspirin may help to decrease the risk of heart attack and stroke.

A summary of the proposed amendments is as follows:

McHenry Water System

Water service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the McHenry Water System. The water line extension will consist of approximately 15,800 lineal feet of 10-inch water main and will connect to the present system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. A 250,000 gallon aboveground water storage tank will be located on Garrett County Airport property and will provide fire suppression for the MPB, Airport and proposed workforce housing development, and supplement domestic service for the business park and housing development.

Deep Creek Lake Sewer System

Sewer service for the MBP and workforce housing development will be provided by the Deep Creek Lake Sewer System. The sewage system within the MBP will include a sewage pump station, and a collection system consisting of 8-inch gravity and 3-inch and 8-inch force mains which will discharge into the present sewer system at Garrett College on Mosser Road. The concept for the sewage collection system for the proposed housing development is to connect to the 8-inch force main serving the MBP.

Mapping of the proposed project area and the complete text of the proposed amendment can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, January 6, 2009, in order to determine if the proposed amendments are necessary for the public health, safety and welfare and if the project is feasible financially and from an engineering standpoint.

Plaintiffs

George D. Browning and
The Unknown successors in Interest of George D. Browning and all other persons having or claiming to have any interest in all that lot, piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 02, containing 3.00 acres, more or less, SE/S Yough River, Kendall, and described in deed conveyed from The Preston Railroad Company to Charles Ream and George D. Browning on December 12, 1929, and recorded on December 20, 1929, in Liber No. 100, folio 106, one of Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on November 25, 2008, a complaint was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County by the Plaintiff against the Defendants whose whereabouts are unknown. This is an action in rem for partition, involving property within the jurisdiction of this Court filed under the provision of Section 14-107, Real Property Volume, of the Annotated Code of Maryland, to sell at that certain property containing 3.00 acres, more or less, Election District No. 02, Garrett County, Maryland, bounded SE/S by and located between the land now or formerly owned by the Confluence and Oakland Railroad and the Yough River in Kendall, being the same as conveyed in a deed from The Preston Railroad Company to Charles Ream and George D. Browning, as tenants in common on December 12, 1929, and recorded on December 20, 1929, in Liber No. 100, folio 106, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. The relief prayed in the petition is substantially that the Court issue a Judgment for the sale of the above described property, along with reimbursement of reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred by Plaintiff in the prosecution of this action for the common benefit of the parties hereto, and reimbursement of the taxes paid by the Plaintiffs to keep the property from tax sale proceedings.

Whereupon, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County this 5th Day of December 2008, that the Petitioner (Plaintiff) cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper of general circulation published in Garrett County, once a week in each of three successive weeks, before the 5th day of January 2009, giving notice to the said Defendants of the object and substance of the complaint and warning them their response must be filed no later than February 3, 2009, and that if they fail to file a timely response judgment by default may be entered against them, or the relief sought may be granted.

HUSKY Notes

WRESTLING

The Northern Garrett wrestling program invites all Northern and Southern wrestling alumni to attend the wrestling match on Saturday, Jan. 3. All wrestlers will be recognized by decades before the match begins. The Northern wrestling program will also induct Delos and Wanda Carpenter into the NHS Wrestling Hall of Fame. Following the match, all wrestlers, new and old, are invited for refreshments in the cafeteria. Persons should contact as many wrestling buddies as possible and plan to attend.

SENIORS

The senior class trip to Kennywood Park and the Gateway Clipper has been scheduled for Friday, May 8. The trip was planned by the senior class officers and advisors. To reserve their spot, students must turn in the signed form and a $35 deposit. All reservations must be made by next Wednesday, Dec. 17. If a student reserves a spot and then chooses to cancel, the deposit will not be returned. The due date for the other half of the money will be set sometime this spring and will be announced at a later date.

BLIND SKIERS

All students interested in being a part of the Blind Skier Program should see Mrs. Law in Room 200 to get the necessary information and paper work. Participants need to be good (not great) skiers willing to spend a day on the slopes with a student from the Maryland school for the Blind. Service learning hours can be earned through this program. Those with questions should see Mrs. Law before the meeting.

SENIOR CLASS FUNDRAISER

The senior class is selling the following:
-large sweat pants for $15
-large long sleeve t-shirts for $18
-large hoodie sweatshirt for $20

SOFTBALL TRY-OUTS

All girls grades 9 through 12 who are interested in trying out for the Girls' Softball Team are advised that there will be a short meeting in the gym lobby on Monday, Dec. 15, at 3 p.m. All interested girls need to pick up a softball letter in the main office before the meeting.

GIRLS' VARSITY

Girls' varsity will be collecting food for the animals, mainly cats and dogs, again this year during the week of Monday, Dec. 8, through Friday, Dec. 12. The food will then be given to the animals before the Christmas break.

WEB STREAMING BASKETBALL GAMES

All of the varsity boys' and selected varsity girls' basketball games will be streamed over the web. To access the live feed one must go to the live streaming page of Northern High School at www.nh.ga.k12.md.us. It is located in the athletics section on the boys' basketball page, where instructions and access are explained. The live feed will begin approximately one-half hour before the varsity tip-off.

SCHOLARSHIPS

•Grantsville Lions Club: This scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to graduating seniors of Northern High School who are pursuing post secondary education and/or training. Applicant must be entering a post secondary institution in the fall semester following graduation, be in the top 50% of the graduating class, and must prove a definite financial need. The award amount is $250, and four awards are given annually. The deadline for submission is March 16.

•Connie Higgins Memorial Scholarship: This award was designed to provide financial assistance to a deserving senior at Northern High School who is interested in majoring in teacher education. Applicant must be planning on majoring in a teacher education program at an accredited two- or four-year college/university. The award may be used for tuition, textbooks, and/or other institutional educational expenses. The application consists of a student-written essay describing his/her career goals, interest in teaching, and why he/she is deserving of the award, including the applicant's financial need. One letter of recommendation is required from a teacher, counselor, etc., describing above criteria. The award amount is $500. The deadline for submission is March 16.

•Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society Int'l.: This scholarship was established to provide financial assistance to young women planning to major in teacher education. Applicant must be a female planning on majoring in a teacher education program at a two- or four-year accredited college or university. The award amount is $300. The deadline for submission is March 1.
